In report of last year the sum of two thousand dollars due from that part of the town annexed to Gilford in 1876, reckoned as an asset of the new town, is this year placed as an asset of the old town. In comparing the assets of the new town this year with those of last year the sum of two thousand dollars should be deducted from the assets of the new town, as reported last year, and added to the assets of the old town. By doing this it will be noticed that the assets of the new town, above its liabilities, are $3,850.88 more than last year.

The Torrent Co. was organized since March 1, 1877, and were paid State aid, making the expenses for firemen larger than the amount voted by $120.00, and the total amount of expenses $267.62 larger than the amounts voted.

REPORT UPON THE SCHOOLS IN DISTRICT NO. 1, FOR YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1878.

The number of schools during the past year has remained the same through the year, there having been eight schools, one English high school, two grammar schools, two intermediate schools and three primary schools. The high school has been made an English high school and does not admit of the study of languages other than English, excepting French, in some cases, and Latin in the case of one class which has been allowed to complete the old course of study, which included Latin.

As a whole the schools have done well; in one of them owing to sickness of the teacher and the substitution of a new one, the effects natural to a change of teachers in term time, for a time impaired the efficiency of the school, but no permanent injury has resulted to the same, and this school is now doing well. The Board of Education take pride in the general efficient state of our schools and cannot too strongly urge upon our citizens the necessity of cooperation with the Board in all points calculated to sustain our schools in first-rate condition. There have been, as always will be the case, instances where the pupils have not received benefit from the school; there have been cases of antagonism on the part of some scholars to the teacher, and in such cases, when investigated by the Board, it has been found the fault was not with the teachers; there have been cases also where the Board has felt that the home influence over the pupil was a hindrance to the pupil's progress and some such cases have been investigated by the Board with good results to the schools and pupils; in this connection the Board of Education ask the earnest help of parents; habits of subordination and study can be encouraged by parents, which will not only lighten the burdens of the teachers but will help along the pupils in their studies; the old time custom of helping the scholars at home, of encouraging and assisting, of explaining and rendering tasks pleasant, is earnestly urged upon the consideration of parents. Lack of interest among parents is the enemy the schools have in our district, and while many parents show proper regard for the schools, we think we are right when we say the majority do not. It is your money we are expending, your children we are trying to benefit and we cannot too strongly ask your aid.

Tardiness is still a great evil, though we think our schools are doing as well as the average and perhaps better: tardiness is often chargeable to parents, and by a little cooperation can be reduced to a minimum.

Absences also are injuring our schools. It is very discouraging to a pupil to have to make up lessons lost by absence, but we are obliged to insist upon this in justice to the scholar and to the class to which the scholar belongs. Parents should be careful to insist on constant attendance and sickness should be the only excuse offered to the Board for absences.

We feel that our system of schools offers to every scholar the opportunity of becoming a good scholar, in all the common English branches, and in the rudiments of the sciences; the system costs money, we are taxed for it heavily, the board feel the responsibility and desire parents to feel it as we do and we think then we shall secure their more efficient cooperation.

Some citizens have expressed a desire to have the languages taught in the high school. The reason the Board do not do so is that it would necessitate the employment of another teacher and considerable additional expense; the Board felt that the present plan gave the greatest benefit to the greatest number and so adopted it. In case the demand for a classical course in the high school is such as to render necessary the engagement of another teacher it will be necessary to raise more money than is now at the Board's disposal. The attention of our citizens is called to this and we commend it to their careful consideration.

The number of children in the district between five and fifteen years of age not attending school is 59.

A table containing the usual statistical information is hereto annexed.

Laconia, March 1, 1878.

Although the schools, in District No. 1, are not under the direct care of the committee, yet they have been visited occasionally and with a great degree of interest. It is a matter for congratulation that the untiring labor of the board has been so signally acknowledged by the citizens in this District.

District No. 3 has had two terms of school. A statistical report of the summer term cannot be given as the school register has not been returned—see General Statutes, chapter 81, section 15. The winter term taught by Mr. H. H. Quimby, of Sandwich, was a model school. In consequence of sickness among the pupils the school closed abruptly, not giving the teacher a chance for review, notwithstanding which the scholars reciting in arithmetic answered 75 per cent. of the questions asked in a long and thorough examination. In the other studies they appeared well.

District No. 4 has but few scholars and a small amount of money. The one short term was lengthened somewhat by the tuition paid by scholars coming from adjoining districts—eight in number. It is but justice to the scholars to say that they each and all tried to do their best and were eminently successful in the knowledge gained. There were ten who were not absent from a single recitation although part of the number lived two miles away.

In Union District—No. 5 in Laconia and No. 7 in Meredith—they were particularly fortunate in the selection of teachers for the past year. The first term was taught by Miss Annie E. Trafton, of York, Me. Miss Trafton is a superior scholar and only lacks experience to place her among our very best teachers. Her closing exercises were very interesting.

The second term was under the care of Miss Julia L. Ellis, of Lancaster. Miss Ellis brings to bear upon her school the advantages of experience, love of teaching and devotion to her work. Her drill in reading was very successful and worthy of mention. The higher class, for pupils of their years, displayed remarkable force and skill in their reading and elocutionary exercises. The record of attendance at this term was far above the average,—there were six scholars who were not absent one half day.
