Open Access Policy

UNH Library Faculty

The Library Faculty (hereafter Faculty) of the University of New Hampshire (hereafter University) is committed to distributing the outputs of its research and scholarship as widely as possible. In keeping with that commitment, the Faculty adopts the following policy: Each Faculty member grants to the University permission to make available their scholarly articles and to exercise the copyright in those works. More specifically, each Faculty member grants to the University of New Hampshire a nonexclusive, irrevocable, worldwide license to exercise any and all rights under copyright relating to each of his or her scholarly articles, in any medium, provided that the articles are not sold for a profit, and to authorize others to do the same. The policy applies to scholarly articles authored or co-authored while the person is a member of the Faculty except for any articles completed before the adoption of this policy and any articles for which the Faculty member entered into an incompatible licensing or assignment agreement before the adoption of this policy. The Faculty Chair will waive application of the license for a particular article or delay access (embargo) for a specified period of time upon express direction by a Faculty member.

Each Faculty member will either 1) publish in an open venue that allows the author to retain sufficient copyrights to grant the university a license as described above or 2) provide an electronic copy of the author's final version of each article no later than the date of its publication at no charge to the appropriate representative of the University in an appropriate format (such as PDF).

The University may make the article available to the public in an open-access repository, such as the UNH Scholars Repository. The Faculty Chair will be responsible for interpreting this policy, resolving disputes concerning its interpretation and application, and recommending changes to the Faculty from time to time. The policy will be reviewed after three years and a report presented to the Faculty.
