

CATHEDRAL OF LEARNING

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

To the Spirit of Achievement in Pittsburgh

To all who share the Spirit of Achievement in Pittsburgh, Greeting:

BE IT KNOWN that Ivory Cobb of the Watt School, Pittsburgh, has given Ten Cents, which he has earned, to the building fund of the University; and that he is hereby admitted to the fellowship of the builders of the Cathedral of Learning.

AND BE IT KNOWN that the Cathedral of Learning is to open chances to boys and girls, first, to do honest and useful work; second, to learn what work is best for each to do and how to do it; third, to gain life within themselves, which is creative and beautiful, thereby making themselves happy and others about them happy; and, fourth, to help in these ways to make Pittsburgh a city in which they will always be proud to live.

Given under the seal of the University of Pittsburgh by the authority of the Trustees of the University, this fourth day of May, 1925.

A. B. Mellon

Treasurer of the Fund

GEORGE H. CLAPP,
President, Board of Trustees

HOMER D. WILLIAMS,
Chairman Citizens' Committee

JOHN G. BOWMAN,
Chancellor of the University

HAMILTON STEWART,
Chairman of Organization