SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee, John H. Reynolds.

Summer term taught by Rena T. Breed of Ware. Miss Breed's first experience as a teacher. A good disciplinarian, and well adapted to the duties and responsibilities of the school room. The exercises at the close of the term were satisfactory, and creditable to pupils and teacher.

Fall term. Teacher, Emma F. Robertson of Greenfield. Miss R. is deserving of much praise. She is a superior teacher, and the district that secures her services is fortunate. The quietness and promptness in the recitations, with many other things, rendered our last visit the most enjoyable one of the year.

Winter term. Teacher, John T. Robertson of Greenfield. We are happy to see the parents so much interested. The help some of the families are giving at home will be felt for years to come in the school room. Be not weary in well doing. Your school, we think, stands No. 1 in mathematics, and with care in the selection of teachers may soon rank among the best, if not the best in town. Thanks to Mr. Robertson for his faithful instruction.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee; Charles E. Blanchard.

Teacher, summer term, Nellie M. Atwood of Francestown. This school was under the instruction of a competent teacher. Good improvement was made in all the branches pursued, but particularly in spelling and reading. The ranks of deportment and scholarship were kept weekly, and speak well. We still retain pleasant thoughts of our visit at the close of the school.

Winter term. Teacher, Ann F. Langdell of Francestown. A pleasant and profitable term. All the exercises at the examination were commendable, showing study and advancement. The rules of reading received special attention. Most of our schools show a want of care in this respect.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee, Alfred W. Savage.

Teacher, summer term, Abbie H. Allen of Greenville. The long experience, and the reputation of Miss A. as a successful teacher, is well known. She needs no commendation from me. It is seldom we see so great improvement in all branches. The order and interest manifested in all the recitations were a source of gratification, we think, to all present.

Fall term taught by Hattie L. Pettengill of Peterboro'. Miss P. entered quietly upon her work, and soon gained the respect and love of her pupils. A term of ten weeks was profitably spent, and we think pleasantly, both to teacher and scholars. We heard not a word of fault, and this is an uncommon thing in a village school.

Winter term taught by the same teacher. She sustained her former reputation, and the school appeared well at the close. Miss P. has the requisite qualifications to make her a successful teacher.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Union district with Bennington. Did not receive any notice of this school. I suppose we have no scholars to send.

DISTRICTS NO. 5 & 8.

Prudential Committee, William Munhall.

Teacher, Miss Maria A. Dodge of Bennington. Remembering the good work Miss Dodge did as teacher in this district, we were happy to meet her again in the school room. A glance over the school showed us a kind, patient and faithful teacher was needed, and we felt to congratulate the district on their selection. The examination gave evidence of labor on the part of scholars and teacher. A good school.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee, Levi B. Hardy.

Teacher, summer term, Lizzie E. Winch. We found in Miss W. the qualities desirable in a teacher, and among them perseverance. We think she labored hard to advance her pupils, and with good success.

Winter term, taught by Lewis W. Epps of Francestown. This school commenced with three scholars and closed with the same number. No fault of the teacher that there were not more pupils. We are sorry that the parents did not make a greater effort to have their children attend, for when all are in, the school is quite small. Those attending did well. Mr. E. is a gentleman, and a good scholar. We hope we may have his services as teacher in town another year.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

No school. Hope they will get their school house repaired and have a school another season.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, William H. Marsh.

Teacher, Miss Nellie E. Fletcher of Greenfield. This is an active school, and well deserves the reputation it has had in years past of being orderly and studious. Miss F. entered upon her work with a great desire to gain the respect and love of her pupils, and to aid them in the work of the term. We expected to see good improvement and was not disappointed.

Winter term taught by the same teacher. Good improvement was made in all branches, particularly in reading and spelling. Embarrassment when visitors are in, which we frequently see in the teacher's first term, had disappeared, and a home-like feeling was manifest. We think Miss Nellie, with more experience, may rank among the first class teachers.

ROLL OF HONOR.

FIRST TERM.

Hattie M. Draper, L. A. Butler, Bertie Reynolds, Ella C. Blanchard, Edith M. Holt, John H. Holt, Charlie Holt, Georgie Holt, Eddie Peavy, Willie Richardson, Emma Jaquith, Willie Flynn, Minnie T. Harrington, Emma F. Cain, Ella M. Cain.

SECOND TERM.

Charles Reynolds, Rose M. Lowe, Clarence Lowe, Ella C. Blanchard, Eddie Hopkins, Willie Richardson, Mark Richardson, Alice Hall, Della Anderson, Minnie Harrington, Mary A. Cain, Lizzie Cain, Emma F. Cain.

THIRD TERM.

Lu Butler, Lillie Butler, Rosa Lowe, Hattie Draper, Walter Hopkins, Eddie Peavy, Robbie Richardson, Eddie Ingalls, Eddie Lawrence, Nellie Cummings.

REMARKS.

It is a source of pleasure to your Committee, and to all who feel an interest in education, to know that the schools of the town are taking a higher standard. This may be due in part to the change in text books made by Miss Peavey; but another reason is the aid the children are receiving at home. A number of families are doing a good work in this way. The influence is felt in the school room as well as the households. We wish more of the parents might see and feel this great truth, and do as others are doing. The instruction at home and in the school room should be made practical. We think our teachers fail in this. It brings life and interest into the recitations, and is an incentive to the scholar in the pursuit of knowledge. The teacher's great study should be, how can I best interest and advance my pupils. The mind should be centered on the work before them. No teacher can do his or her work well if the mind be occupied with other things. In the service of the year we shall retain pleasant memories. The report, with the following page of statistics, is Respectfully submitted.
