SCHOOL REPORT

OF THE SCHOOL BOARD OF WOLFEBOROUGH, N. H., FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1st, 1888.

To the Citizens of Wolfeborough: — Although our schools have fallen very far short of perfection, and have failed to attain even that degree of excellence which we may yet expect them to acquire, still the improvement has been such as to make their future prospects encouraging.

The most serious obstacle to the progress of the schools has been the same this as last year, the want of punctual attendance, we must not expect our children to stay at home and work while the school is in session. Do not let them have a chance to say to us, when they are old enough to have a good education, "We were kept at home to work, and now we have to be behind those who went to school all the time, and it is not our fault, now, if we have any more education, we have to work and pay much more than we then earned to get the education we might have had, if we could only have had what the law and our rights gave us." Children do not always see and know what they are losing at the time; therefore parents should see that they improve all the time that our schools provide. We are happy to report, however, that this evil great as it is, is decreasing.

Another of the great drawbacks to the full success of our common schools is the want of properly qualified teachers. Not that a fair proportion is not found whose qualifications are sufficient to teach the most that is found in the text-books used; but there is a want of properly digested general information. No normal-school training nor any patent process supplies this deficiency. To say nothing of tact, which is an indispensable requisite for a good teacher, what does the average boy or girl of 18 know beyond what is found in the text-books? They may be able to solve all the problems in common arithmetic, to tell a noun from a verb, and the difference between a sea and an ocean; and what of that? Why, it is not a modicum for a full-fledged teachers qualifications.

We often hear it said, that "Such a person would make a good teacher, but —" or, "Another do well, if —."

There is too much truth in such sayings; but we doubt if Diogenes, with his lantern, in broad daylight, would have been able to find a person who would suit every one in an average school district.

With some, the order is too severe; with others, it is too lax. Some talk too much; some too little. Some belong to a certain church, and some to no church, and a hundred and one things that are not just right.

We must not expect many young teachers to be well qualified. The general drift of their minds is not to acquire general, useful knowledge. If they have any taste for reading at all, it is for the sensational literature of the day, which will never make any one a whit wiser or better. However, there are some praiseworthy exceptions to this statement, and the persons who are the exceptions (all other things being equal) make successful teachers.

There is another class of teachers, who are eye-servants; they "keep" school for a certain number of dollars per week. The watch or clock in the school-room is their greatest solace; they hear every tick; time, for six hours in twenty-four, is a slow coach. They never organize for success; they have neither aim nor ambition; they awaken no enthusiasm in their pupils: they are slip-shod in all their undertakings; still, their other qualifications may be good. The last day of school has peculiar charms for them. This class must be winnowed out notwithstanding their good qualifications. Teachers are not the embodiments of perfection, we admit, but they should receive better treatment than they often do at the hands of a set of captious, mischief-making spirits who may be found in almost any school-district. Some parents are critical in their observations, which is not a fault, if their criticisms are applied for doing good, while others are hypocritical for the sole purpose of making mischief. Many of the petty annoyances incident to teaching one of our common schools, which drive a teacher almost to frenzy, are known only to the teacher. No one can really sympathize with a teacher but those who have run the gauntlet a few summers and winters in our district schools. In most cases, we should throw the mantle of charity over all little defects in our teachers, remembering at the same time that perfection in poor human nature is seldom found.

The district at its annual meeting voted to raise $500 for repairs, the trustees of John Brewster estate gave us $500 for repairs. We have during the year, besides our necessary repairs, thoroughly repaired the school houses at South Wolfeborough and Wolfeborough Centre. These houses are neatly finished within and furnished with furniture of modern patterns.

Now if the town will continue in this way we shall in four or five years, have all of our school-houses in thorough repair and furnished with the best of furniture, which will be an honor to the town, and once in good repair the expense of keeping them in such a state, will be but a trifle.
