J. C. BLAIR, Sexton.

Campton, N. H., March 1, 1881.
SCHOOL COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

John M. French, who was elected school committee at the last March meeting, superintended the summer schools in districts Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 14. Dr. French having removed to Simsbury, Ct., I was appointed to fill the vacancy. His report is herewith transmitted:

DISTRICT NO. 2—HOLLOW.

Miss Emmons has taught seven terms in town, this being the third in this district. She is an unusually efficient teacher, and has made her school, all things considered, the best in town. Every pupil seemed interested, and all have made good progress.

DISTRICT NO. 3—VILLAGE.

School money, $163.71. Prudential committee, Sylvester J. Philbrick. Summer term of 9 weeks, May 17th to July 16th. Teacher, May A. Gordon, of Thornton. Number of pupils, 30; average attendance, 27.

Miss Gordon is a graduate of the Normal school, and a conscientious and faithful teacher. The school, however, is not an easy one to manage. The cause of this, in my judgment, lies very largely in the lack of co-operation on the part of the parents with the teacher.

District No. 4—West Campton.

Miss Whittemore has done thorough work, and secured good discipline in her school.

District No. 5—Campton Bog.

School money, $61.82. Prudential committee, John Calley. Summer term of 8 weeks, May 3rd to June 25th. Teacher, N. Ella Wilkinson, of Plymouth. Number of pupils, 13; average attendance, 12.

Miss Wilkinson gave her pupils good drill, and taught a successful school.

District No. 6—Beech Hill.

School money, $84.90. Prudential committee, Edgar Merrill. Summer term of 8 weeks, May 10th to July 2nd. Teacher, Emma F. Stevens of Rumney. Number of pupils, 20; average attendance, 19.
Miss Stevens is a Normal graduate, and a successful teacher. The school shows the results of good training, not only during this term, but for previous terms.

District No. 8—Cook's Hill.

Miss Huckins has had a pleasant school, and done creditable work.

District No. 9—Blair's.

School money, $82.31. Prudential Committee, Joseph C. Blair. Summer term of 10 weeks, May 3rd to July 9th. Teacher, Gertrude H. McCallusland, of West Campton. Number of pupils, —; average attendance, —.

Miss McCausland has given excellent satisfaction, and with experience and training will make a first-class teacher.

District No. 11—Bump's.

School money, $62.85. Prudential committee, Herbert H. Brown. Summer term began June 1, with Miss Hattie E. Horne, of Sandwich, as teacher. At the end of a week the teacher left for home. After a week's vacation, Miss Emma A. Etteridge, of Holderness, re-opened the school. It was soon after broken up by measles, which attacked both teacher and pupils.
DISTRICT NO. 12—LOWER VILLAGE.

School money, $95.44. Prudential committee, William Stickney. Summer term of 8 weeks, May 3rd to June 29th. Teacher, Ellen M. Blakely, of Campton. Number of pupils, 12; average attendance, 11.5.

Miss Blakely has done her work quietly, but well. The school as a whole has made good progress.

DISTRICT NO. 14—LIVERMORE FALLS.

School money, $57.18. Prudential committee, Mrs. J. W. Rogers. Summer term of 8 weeks, May 24th to July 17th. Teacher, Mrs. Mattie R. Wallace, of Campton. Number of pupils, 10; average attendance, 8.

This school is a very pleasant one, pupils intelligent and interested. Mrs. Wallace is one of our best teachers, and is at home in the school.

JOHN M. FRENCH.

There has been a school in each of the 14 districts during the fall and winter, numbering in all, 258 different scholars not less than five years of age, all of whom have attended to reading and spelling. Not one in town between the ages of 14 and 21 who cannot read and write.

The number in town between 5 and 15, who have not attended school, as far as reported, five. The selectmen report the number of children in town, April 1880, between the ages of five and fifteen: boys 108, girls 90, total 198.

The school committee has been censured for giving certificates to the undeserving, and for allowing schools to continue which proved to be unprofitable. It is doubtless, sometimes, better to allow a poor school to continue, than to dismiss the teacher; every one is liable to err in judgment.

Prudential committees have evidently desired good schools, and have aimed to secure teachers of supposed ability. In some instances their desire to economize was too strong, quite likely, for the best interests of the scholars. It is a fact more and more evident to the mass of people that the best teachers are the cheapest. For a good school is of great value not only to the scholars but also to the community. And a poor school is a serious damage to the scholars and the community. Those purposing to teach should be encouraged to endeavor to qualify themselves for first-class teachers. None others ought to be sought or accepted. The public school ought to be a safe place for the children of the community, where they would be under the best of influences, qualifying themselves for noble positions in life. But also, in some instances the reverse of this is true.

Teachers should teach thoroughly and according to the best approved methods, ever remembering that there is a marked difference between telling and teaching; they should lead the pupil to think for himself, and to do a great deal of good work. They should be held responsible for a proper development of the physical, intellectual and moral natures of their pupils; for a faithful oversight of them from the time they arrive on the school ground in the morning until they leave it at night, if not from the time they leave home for school until they return; for the proper care of the school house and its furniture, that they be not injured, that the school room be properly warmed and ventilated. In some instances there has been a sad neglect of duty in these respects; considerable telling but little teaching, and very little thinking on the part of scholars or good work done by them. Scholars have been allowed to annoy and abuse their schoolmates, the school house and its furniture shamefully injured, the temperature of the room very irregular, thus the comfort and health of the scholars imperiled. The average boy or girl will do many things at school, that are out of the way, if the teacher allows it, and that which they would not think of doing at home. A man or woman who cannot maintain proper authority over a school is not a suitable person for a teacher. Several forces combine to give character to a school, but the most important is the teacher. With a good teacher we almost invariably have a good school, and with a poor teacher, as invariably, we have a poor school. A suitable house, proper appliances, well trained children, parents co-operating, are, of course, necessary for the highest success. Other things being equal, those teachers who have had the advantages of the Normal school, secure the best results. Still there are those whom no amount of normal training can make superior teachers; and there are those who are most excellent teachers who have never attended a Normal school.

Parents and citizens generally, may do much to secure a high order of school; by truly appreciating the value of such a school, both to the children and to the community; by a hearty sympathy for the teacher in his or her perplexing work—than whom no class in community are more deserving;—by not withholding friendly criticism when occasion requires it; by encouraging the scholar with a word of commendation when deserving, or a kind word of admonition, when guilty; by never affording the mischievous or wayward scholar the least moral support in his wrong; and by using their influence to prevent the pupils from becoming so interested, in term time, in matters of less importance, that their attention is diverted from the legitimate work of the school.

Parents, sometimes, find it difficult to properly control, and interest in their studies, their own two or three children at home. We need not wonder that teachers find it difficult to manage and interest 25 or 30 children of every variety of temperament, and from homes where a great diversity of management prevails. Let parents and all good citizens heartily co-operate with teachers in their efforts to interest the children in the legitimate work of the school, and to lead them to place a proper value on their school privileges.

Teachers report the following as not having been absent or tardy a single half day during the term:

Note.—S. stands for summer, w. for winter, b. for both terms.

No. 7. Martha E. Blaisdell.

No. 8. Austin W. Avery, s.

Nos. 9, 12, not any. Nos. 5, 10, 11, 13, 14, conduct not reported.

Misses S. A. Badger, E. M. Blakely, J. S. Emmons, A. M. George, G. H. McCausland, A. C. Sargent, L. P. Whittemore and Mattie R. Wallace, filled out their registers properly and apparently with a good degree of accuracy—Miss Willoughby still teaching. But the failures in this regard on the part of other teachers will subject the committee to a great deal of extra labor, to enable him to make report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, as by law required. No teacher is required, by law, to his or her wages, until they have caused all proper entries to be made in the register. If prudential committees would insist on obedience to this law, it would often save the school committee a great deal of expense in time and labor.

District No. 1.

James B. Rogers, Prudential committee. One term, 16 weeks; Miss Ida A. Willoughby, of Holderness, teacher; 10 scholars: attending to penmanship 8, arithmetic 10, geography 8, grammar 6, algebra 1, philosophy 1.

Miss Willoughby is an excellent teacher. This is her fourth term in this district, and ever with general acceptance. School appeared well, the best classified of any in town, all in one class in reading and only two classes in spelling.

District No. 2.

Miss Winnie R. Dow, teacher, 12 weeks; 29 scholars: attending to penmanship 21, arithmetic 25, geography 14, grammar 6, history 5, physiology 1, book keeping 1, algebra 2.

Miss Dow did not give as good satisfaction as in some schools she has taught. There has been a great deal of complaint both by pupils and patrons, and not without reason.

District No. 3.

Mr. Charles H. Glidden from Dartmouth College, teacher, 9 weeks; 34 pupils: attending to penmanship 26, arithmetic 27, geography 25, grammar 3, composition 3, algebra 3.

Mr. Glidden is a man of fine attainments, very quiet, yet active in the school room. If the scholars had been as faithful as the teacher, and parents had more heartily co-operated with him, better results might have been reached. Miss Jennie M. Kinsman is now teaching a private school here which is being patronized also by some from the lower village.
DISTRICT No. 4.

Miss Whittemore recommenced her school Aug. 23 and taught with excellent success 5.4 weeks, when school suddenly suspended on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever in the district. On this account and the fact that so long a time has been consumed in extensive repairs on the school house there has been no more school.

DISTRICT No. 5.

Miss Mary L. Gilbert, of Rumney, teacher—her first school, 9 weeks; 17 scholars: attending to penmanship 17, arithmetic 13, geography 5, grammar 2, physiology 1, algebra 2.

Miss Gilbert has the elements of a good teacher; age and experience will, I trust, develop them to a high degree. Scholars apparently paid marked deference to the wishes of the teacher and made good progress.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Miss Winnie R. Dow taught 7.5 weeks in the fall; 24 scholars: attending to penmanship 16, arithmetic 19, geography 12, grammar 1, history 4, composition 1.

Miss Dow is a teacher of considerable experience, energetic, and met with fair success. School appeared well at the time the committee was in.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Mrs. E. C. Southmayd, Prudential committee. One term, 14 weeks, commencing Oct. 4, Miss Ellen W. Smith, of Holderness, teacher, who has taught several terms in town, and as now giving general satisfaction; 12 scholars: attending to penmanship 12, arithmetic 12, geography 4, grammar 4, history 1, book-keeping 2. An orderly school.

District No. 8.

Miss Sarah S. Huckins, of Holderness, teacher, 7 weeks; 16 scholars: attending to penmanship 6, arithmetic 14, geography 6, grammar 1. School closed unexpectedly. Some in the district expressed dissatisfaction with the school, and the teacher voluntarily retired from the field.

Miss Huckins really needs more maturity in age and better intellectual attainments before undertaking a winter school of ordinary demands.

District No. 9.

Miss McCausland continued teaching, and continued to maintain her well-deserved, good reputation as an instructor and a disciplinarian. School 12 weeks; 18 scholars: attending to penmanship 9, arithmetic 18, geography 5, grammar 8, history 3, book-keeping 5. Scholars well disposed and studious.

District No. 10.

Frank A. Avery, Prudential committee. One term, 12 weeks, 10 scholars, commencing in Sept. Attending to penmanship 10, arithmetic 9, geography 9, grammar 1, history 1, composition 1.
Miss N. Ella Wilkinson, of Plymouth, teacher, who gave general satisfaction, as she had done in this district before. Scholars well disposed, evinced a good degree of interest in their work, and made good improvement.

District No. 11.

Miss Alice M. George, of Holderness, teacher, 8 weeks; 19 scholars: attending to penmanship 16, arithmetic 18, geography 10, grammar 1, book-keeping 1.

Order and discipline excellent, method of teaching good, fair progress in studies made.

District No. 12.

Miss S. Addie Badger, of Meredith, teacher, 10 weeks; 18 scholars: attending to penmanship 13, arithmetic 17, geography 12, grammar 7, history 1, composition 2, book-keeping 2.

Miss Badger's theory of teaching is good; scholars intent on learning made commendable advance; the government of the school not quite as good as desirable.

District No. 13.

Archie Robie, Prudential committee. One term of 11 weeks, taught by Miss Augusta C. Sargent, of Bridgewater, who has had a large experience in teaching. 7 scholars: attending to penmanship 7, arithmetic 7, geography 2, grammar 1.
If such excellent instruction can be given, and such admirable order maintained, and such commendable advance in studies attained, in such a school house, what might we not hope for, with the same teacher and pupils, in a more convenient and desirable school house.

District No. 14.

Mrs. Mattie R. Wallace, teacher, 11 weeks; 11 scholars: attending to penmanship 7, arithmetic 10, geography 7, grammar 6, book-keeping 2, philosophy 1, astronomy 1.

Mrs. Wallace has had a long and successful career in teaching, and maintains her deep interest in the work, and, in a good degree, meets all reasonable demands as to teaching and governing. School appeared to a good advantage in their pleasant tidy schoolroom.

Respectfully submitted,

Quincy Blakely,
