REMARKS.

Fellow Citizens :

It gives us pleasure to report to you a good degree of success in all our schools during the year. There have been no failures.

We have been fortunate in securing teachers who have shown their interest and fidelity by careful preparation for the work of each day.

It is not desirable to change frequently, and we have endeavored as far as possible to retain the services of all competent teachers, and we regret our inability to retain some whose labors have been highly successful.

The examination of each term proved that all our teachers have been faithful in the discharge of their trusts.

It lies, largely, within the power of the teacher, to create conditions favorable to success. If the natural attractions of the school room, are supplemented by an inspiring presence and kindly sympathy, absent marks and tardiness will largely disappear.

But a wise discrimination on the part of parent as well as teacher, is a necessary element of success, lest our scholars be encouraged to read and memorize senseless trash, instead of those inspiring lessons of natural history, biography and other kindred subjects which may be found on every hand, and which will be not only entertaining but helpful. Scholars imbibe in a great measure the spirit of the teacher. That teacher who is not earnest or energetic, who does not like her work and is constantly longing for the close of day, cannot expect satisfactory results. Fortunately we have had none of this class the past year.

Vocal music, a very interesting pastime, has been introduced into some of the schools, and one school had an excellent drill in drawing and gymnastics, disciplinary exercises which more of our teachers would do well to introduce.

The School Committee profess to be the servants of the town, and cordially invite earnest co-operation, with friendly criticism, or thoughtful suggestions, on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the schools.

Let us work together.

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL C. HOOKE,	}	Board of Education.
