REPORT
OF THE
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
OF THE
Town of Madbury for Year Ending Mar. 1, 1883.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Amount of money, $106.21.
Ira T. Jenkins, Prudential Committee.
Summer Term—Miss Lizzie P. Thompson, Teacher.
Wages per month, $24.00.
Length of Term, 9 weeks.
Number of pupils, 3.
Average daily attendance, 2.8.
No. of pupils who have not been absent, 1.
No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 0.

Fall Term—Miss Lizzie P. Thompson, Teacher.
Wages per month, $24.00.
Length of Term, 8 weeks.
Number of pupils, 3.
Average daily attendance, 2.6.
No. of pupils who have not been absent, 0.
No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 0.

This school is small, yet contains some fine scholars. This was Miss Thompson's first attempt at teaching. Miss Thompson is a student of Worcester Normal School, and no one could visit her school without being convinced of the benefit of her training as a teacher. She was perfectly at home in the school room, and everything was done with the order and regularity of clock work. Such teaching could but be beneficial to the pupils. This school made moderate advancement in all of the classes, and the closing examination showed conclusively that there had been earnest work on the part of both teacher and scholars.

Winter Term—Miss Addie F. March, Teacher.

Wages per month, $32.00.

Length of Term, 13 weeks unfinished.

Number of pupils, 3.

Average daily attendance, 3.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 1.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 1—Charles E. Jenkins.

This term was presided over by one thoroughly competent to teach such a school. Miss March is a graduate of Gorham Normal School, Maine. Here we find the benefits of the training of the Normal School were obvious to the most casual observer. Miss March kept a good school and faithfully discharged her duty. The scholars made good advancement, and were much benefited by this term of school.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Amount of money, $255.57.

Ivory H. Kelley, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—Miss Sarah K. Page, Teacher.

Wages per month, $30.00.

Length of Term, 10 weeks.

Number of pupils, 18.

Average daily attendance, 15.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 4.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 4—George O. Berry, Stephen W. Berry, Herbert Berry and Chas. B. Pineo.

This school is composed mostly of small scholars. Although by the efforts of Miss Page, the school at the close showed that the teacher had succeeded in keeping quite good order. One of the greatest failures in this school has been in spelling and writing. Any one by visiting could have seen that there was a deficiency on the part of the teachers, in terms past; and perhaps more in the interest manifested by the parents.

Fall Term—Miss Elizabeth A. Henderson, Teacher.

Wages per month $30.00.

Length of Term, 9 weeks.

Number of pupils, 22.

Average daily attendance, 18.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 4,

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 4—Cora M. Henderson, Herbert Berry, Walter T. Fernald and Charles B. Pineo.

This was Miss Henderson's second attempt at teaching, and she seemed to understand the wants of the school, and therefore she wisely directed their course. Commendable progress in reading and writing. The influence of parents is gratefully regarded when they visit the school room, and by their presence and kind words, encouraged both teacher and scholars. It is very desirable that they should do this in this district; but there are other ways in which their instrumentality may become effectual in producing a reanimation in the operation of the school.

Winter Term—Mr. Henry L. Felker, Teacher.

Wages per month, $30.00.

Length of term, 12 weeks.

Number of pupils, 19.

Average daily attendance, 16.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 5.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 5—Herbert Berry, Harry Jenkins, Albert Jenkins, Charles W. Jenkins and Irving E. Young.

The school gave evidence of a moderate advance in all its classes, without any marked progress in any particular branch. The school was found to be very noisy, and under no very good discipline, at commencement. If you think your children are not advancing as fast as they might in their studies which is no uncommon thing for parents, before uttering complaints, obtain from the teacher and from other proper sources all the information you can, and act accordingly.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Amount of money, $152.18.

Charles W. Hayes, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—Miss Nellie L. Locke, Teacher.

Wages per month, $24 00.

Length of term, 11 weeks.

Number of pupils, 11.

Average daily attendance, 11.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 7.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 7—Arthur Fernald, Addie J. Evans, Rosa A. Emerson, Nellie M. Hayes, Anna L. Hayes, Annie A. Varney and Effie L. Varney.

Miss Locke's former experience as a teacher needs no comments from the Committee, for she has succeeded well in this school, the present term as well as heretofore. It would have been more satisfactory to some in the district if she had attended strictly to the school progress, rather than follow other pursuits.

Fall Term—Miss Anna M. Glidden, Teacher.

Wages per month, $24 00.

Length of term, 11 weeks.

Number of pupils, 12.

Average daily attendance, 11.46.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 7.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 7,—Elvin K. Varney, John N. Young, Rosa A. Emerson, Nellie M. Hayes, Anna L. Hayes, Effie L. Varney and Addie J. Evans.

Winter Term—Miss Anna M. Glidden, Teacher

Wages per month, $24 00.

Length of term, 10 weeks, 3 1-2 days.

Number of pupils, 12.

Average daily attendance, 11.72.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 9.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 9—Mortimer Blackmer, Arthur L. Fernald, Elvin K. Varney, John N. Young, Rosa A. Emerson, Nellie M. Hayes, Anna L. Hayes, A. A. Varney and Effie L. Varney.

Excellent order in the school, progress and discipline good. The closing examination showed that there had been commendable progress in all the classes. Prudential Committee and parents, encouraged and stimulated the teacher to do her best, and she performed well her part. Your scholars are all well disposed and waiting for thorough practical instruction. You need a good teacher for every term. It will be hard for teachers to govern your schools and leave plenty of time to give instruction, if you do not help to govern. It will take you all, parents, teachers and scholars to make your schools what they should be. It is the decided opinion of your Superintendent that these schools have in a great measure, accomplished its purpose.

DISTRICT No. 4.

Amount of money $163.51.

Isaac G. Feiker, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—Miss Lillie L. Young, Teacher.

Wages per month, $24.00.

Length of term, 8 weeks.

No. of pupils, 14.

Average daily attendance, 12.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 4.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 4—Elery M. Feiker, Walter T. Twombly, Lavina H. Twombly and Esther S. Young.

This school was overtaken by sickness, and was closed without any examination. We trust this has been a very profitable term, and has given satisfaction to all. Miss Young is a graduate of the Normal School at Plymouth, and actually knew the requirements of a teacher. It is a hopeless matter, in some districts, to give satisfaction to all. It is the easiest of all things to find fault. It would be well if some of the parents had to take the place of a teacher; they might learn to appreciate the difficulties of the position.

Winter Term—J. Edward Pickering, Teacher.

Wages per month, $30.00.

Length of term, 11 weeks.

No. of pupils, 21.

Average daily attendance, 17.

No. of pupils who have not been absent, 4.

No. of pupils on the roll of honor, 4—John J. Higgins, Ellery M. Felker, Charles G. Sanders and Mary A. Huckins.

Notwithstanding this was Mr. Pickering's first school he succeeded well; the progress was good, better than many schools with teachers of much experience. The closing examination was very satisfactory. This school is more advanced in mathematics of any in the town. There was a little trouble in this school but not of much consequence as it was caused by some previous term. There are elements of success that never fail to secure a good school, viz., industrious, obedient scholars and the hearty co-operation of all parents and guardians. The question is have we these elements of success? If we have not we ought to be ashamed of ourselves and never hope for anything better than failure. It is a lamentable fact that many of the parents do not co-operate with the committee and teachers to secure a good school. Years ago parents brought up their children; now children bring down their parents. The parents are too jealous of their prerogatives, their children are as good if not better than any in town, and their attendance at school is an honor to the district and a compliment to the teacher.

CONDITIONS.

A few practical remarks will terminate this report. I believe there has been a greater degree of harmony in the schools this year than there was last year, and as much aggregate advancement in the sciences pursued on the part of the pupils. Quite a number attended the schools the last term who will probably never again attend a district school, unless very soon, and taught by a cultured and first class teacher. It is well to provide for the education of our most advanced ambitious pupils as long as possible at home. You must also insist upon getting the best teachers possible. There is a vast difference between a teacher who is barely legally qualified and one of superior and first class qualifications.

As is the teacher, such usually will be the school. In nearly all the school houses there is an entire absence of any thing like school apparatus or outline maps. There is not a single clock or thermometer in all the school houses in town.

Blackboards in many cases are the merest apologies. A small sum appropriated either by the town or by the districts to furnish these things would be of material benefit to the schools.

EXAMINATIONS.

We have heard of instances when the teacher spent a large portion of the latter part of the term in a special preparation for examination by the rehearsal of set questions, reading lessons, etc. We like to have every question answered at an examination if possible; but still, this matter should not be carried so far as to neglect the remainder of the text book, and only be prepared to answer such portions as have received a particular drill. A review of the whole ground gone over should be taken sufficiently often to keep the study fresh in the minds of the class; then they will be prepared to answer any question proposed.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

Allow your committee to call your attention to the subject of school houses, as this deserves to be presented. Most of our school houses are convenient and suitable abiding places for our children. What are others but "old dilapidated, insignificant ruins of former days." Compare them with our dwellings, our barns, if you please, and will any one say they are not a disgrace to the districts to which they belong and to the town. Will not the parents in district No. 2 take this matter in consideration? The place where scholars are required to spend a great portion of their youthful days, should be made as home like, inviting and agreeable as possible. This place is the school room and in it should be such conveniences and attractions as to make it as much like "sweet home" as it can be made to be.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY L. FELKER,

Supt. School Com.
