LIBRARY REPORT

“Libraries are never finished, they must include not only the books that never die, but those that gather fresh wisdom out of the present and look further into the future.” Books given by Charles Fraser, Kenneth Sten, Elverton Berry, Angelia Courtney, Gertrude Shurtleff, William Glackens, Charles Chamberlain, Robert Kennett, Harold Cloutman, Clarence E. Eastman and the Conway Woman’s Club, have made the year 1938 one of progress. For half a century the friends of Conway’s Libraries have been a forceful factor in giving good material to our town libraries.

On April 25, the State Library Commission sent its first Bookmobile to Carroll County. At this time seventy library-minded citizens from all sections of the State, met at the Presidential Inn to show their interest in and to give their support to, this Regional Library Service that New Hampshire was about to give. The Bookmobile has helped materially the library service at Conway, Center Conway and the branch library at East Conway.

Exhibits at the Conway Library were:

April—W. P. A. Art Exhibit
 August—Camera Portraits Dorothy Jarvis
 September—New Hampshire Landscapes, Sawyer Studio
 October—Pencil Paintings John Pratt Whitman

Report of Superintendent

To the School Board and the Citizens of Conway:

Because of resignations at the end of the school year last June, three new teachers were appointed to our present staff. In the high school Mr. Karl Seidenstuecker, a graduate of Dartmouth College, was appointed teacher of history and assistant coach, and Miss Hugena Dunbar, a graduate of Simmons College, was appointed to the Commerce position. The vacancy in the Shirley school at East Conway was filled by the election of Miss Ruth Banfill, a graduate of the elementary course at Keene Normal school.

During the summer the Redstone school was painted and considerable inside painting done at the high school. These were the major items in the repair program.

The increase in the school population continues. The registration in December showed an increase of about twenty-five over last year and since these statistical tables were compiled, we have had a number of admissions. The average registration exceeds that of ten years ago by about one hundred-fifty.

The North Conway school, the Redstone school, the Grammar school at Conway Center, and the Shirley School are filled to capacity. The situation at the Conway

Grammar school has been relieved by the use of the Primary building, so-called, but this building is unfit for school occupancy and will not be used after this year when the seventh and eighth grades of the grammar school will be housed in the high school addition.

The situation at North Conway is the most serious. Here we expect over 200 pupils next year and fifty or more pupils in the two upper rooms as now organized. Another teacher is needed in this school and some plan can be worked out to relieve the overcrowding.

Additional and adequate school facilities will be afforded at the high school next year. The high school addition provides for a shop for manual arts, a cooking and sewing room for household arts, a cafeteria, a science laboratory, a commerce unit for bookkeeping and type-writing, a combination auditorium and gymnasium, new class rooms and accommodations for the seventh and eighth grades of the grammar school.

In the planning of the building we have had the services of a well-known firm of architects who have had wide experience in school construction. The building committee is spending a great deal of time and effort on the project. Every detail of planning is studied with experts and decisions on design and equipment are made solely on the basis of educational utility. The result should be a modern school plant.

It is not our purpose to incorporate any part of the grammar school with the high school. These grades will have their own teacher or teachers and the same course of instruction which they now have. The so-called junior high school organization is not adapted to the situation in Conway. It is an educational hybrid and is excessively costly in small towns and cities. Whatever contribution the junior high school idea has made to education both as to method and as to content has already been utilized in our grammar school organization with the exception of the manual and household arts. There is ample opportunity for pupils to avail themselves of the opportunities in the household and manual arts during their four years in high school.

JOHN H. FULLER,

Superintendent.

February 24, 1939.

REPORT OF HEADMASTER

John H. Fuller, Superintendent:

The total registration in the High School to February 1st, is 223, divided as follows:

4	post graduates
44	seniors
44	juniors
61	sophomores
70	freshmen

There are 108 boys and 115 girls registered. 16 students have left school, divided as follows: 4 seniors, 2 juniors, 3 sophomores, 7 freshmen; 9 boys and 7 girls in all. Of these, one is married, three have moved out of town, and twelve lacked ambition, courage or ability to do satisfactory school work of the kind offered.

The attendance record to Feb. 3 was 97.2%, an excellent record. There had been a total of 141 tardinesses at that time, the worst record in the history of the school.

At mid-year the following honors were announced, on the basis of college certificate grade, or better: 2 students in six courses, 3 in five courses, 32 in four courses, and 22 in three courses. No listing of honor grades in less than three subjects has been made. During the same period 41 pupils failed in 63 courses. The majority of these failures was due to lack of study both at school and at home. No pupil who fails to be included on the honor list should be excused from home study.

In June, 1938, a class of 30 was graduated: 15 boys and 15 girls. Of these, two boys and two girls are attending colleges or universities, two boys and one girl are attending junior colleges, one girl is at normal school, and three girls are attending nurses' training schools, two boys and two girls are doing post graduate work at the high school level; 15 of the 30 are continuing their education.

Respectfully submitted

ELLIS W. McKEEN,
Headmaster.
