Difference	$10,357 00

We recommend that the District raise and appropriate the amount of $10,000.00 for school purposes for the next school year. Our estimates are based on the only information available. The Academy Trustees are trying to increase the funds for the benefit of the school. We have no knowledge, however, that any money in addition to the tuition will be available for the next school year. We should strive to maintain our present standards, and can be certain of that with no less appropriation than the amount raised for the past few years.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The enrollment in your schools last year was 128, distributed as follows—35 in the senior high school, 21 in the junior high grades, and 72 in the elementary grades. The average membership was 119.6, the average attendance 113.4, and the per cent of attendance was 94.8. This attendance record was excellent. This year the total enrollment is 141. The senior high school has 46 pupils, the largest number for several years. The attendance thus far has been good.

The resignation of Miss Gale at the close of last year necessitated the employment of a new Domestic Arts teacher. Miss Alta Mitchell of Concord, a graduate of New Hampshire University in the class of 1930, is doing good work in this department. Otherwise the teachers are the same as last year.

The standard tests given at the close of the last school year and occasional tests given this year indicate that good work is being done in all departments. On my visits to the school I have rated the teaching good, excellent in many instances. The pupils have a live interest in their extra-curriculum activities and a strong school spirit. The school morale is good.

At a meeting of the Trustees of Dow Academy last June suggestions were made for a revision of the financial agreement with the school district. This agreement was put in the form of a contract and signed by the Trustees and by the School Board during the present school year. The contract provides that the school district shall maintain the high school (Dow Academy) to its present college entrance certification grade. At present Dow has certification privileges with Dartmouth College and with the New England College Entrance Certificate Board. This standing is sufficient to satisfy practically all colleges in the East which admit without examination.

The contract also provides that the school district shall maintain the Academy building in good condition and shall pay all operating expenses for the support of the school and plant. It further provides that the Trustees shall pay annually to the school district the interest from all of its investments and all school money in its possession.

In actual practice this agreement means that thenceforth the Trustees will have the same supervision over the invested funds as formerly, and will make every effort to increase those funds. A plan is already in process of development for increased funds by subscription from the summer residents interested in the maintenance and expansion of the school. The Trustees will try to make the cottages self-supporting. The school district will furnish the fuel, pay the janitor service, pay for the water and lights, and finance all repairs for the Academy building and gymnasium, obligations hitherto assumed by the Trustees. The school district will collect the high school tuition in addition to receiving the interest on the invested funds.

The outlook is that the school district will receive more money from the Trustees than the requirements of the obligations it assumes. In future years this should place the school district in a position to choose one of two policies—the appropriation of less money or the creation of a surplus with which to make conservative expansion. Better equipment and a more varied course of study might attract a larger number of non-resident pupils and increase Dow's prestige in the community, among other schools, and with the colleges.

The immediate financial effect is not definitely known. Whether the financial transactions will be consummated to affect the district treasury during the present school year cannot be stated at this writing. The school board has proceeded with the collection of the high school tuition. It has assumed the part of Mr. Rowell's salary formerly paid by the trustees as a guarantee of its good faith. The trustees have continued to pay for the janitor service and bills for lighting. These payments will probably stop during the school year as they are understood to be obligations of the school district now.

The special interest that the Trustees are showing for the school's financial future should stimulate your interest and efforts. The school board is asking for an appropriation equal to that of last year, the sum of $10,000. By another year a more definite estimate of needs can be presented. In the meantime you will have a better knowledge of the finances of the school and its possible development.

Respectfully submitted,

DANA S. JORDAN.
