THE UNH LIBRARY

WELCOME WILDCATS!

VISIT THE LIBRARY

IN PERSON

There are four libraries on the Durham campus. You are welcome to study at any or all of them. If you need help navigating library spaces, ask us!

Dimond, the largest library, is our main library. In addition to library services, it houses walk-in help from UNH Information Technology (IT Help Desk) and the Connors Writing Center.

There are three science branches serving the Physics department (in DeMerritt), Chemistry department (in Parsons), and the Engineering, Mathematics, and Computer Science Library (on the second floor of Kingsbury).

ONLINE

The library website, library.unh.edu, has a search box that will allow you to search both the physical and electronic library resources.

The website has the most up-to-date hours information for all library locations.

Services such as the Ask a Librarian chat or booking Spaces to Study & Work are also available on the library website.

Follow us on social media (@unhlibrary) to stay up to date on all library services, hours, and events, or to find out when we are hiring!

RESEARCH SUPPORT

The library has lots of resources to help you jump-start your research. Research Guides provide a great starting point for the research process. Hundreds of guides on different subjects are available at libraryguides.unh.edu.

If you need help with research, ask us! You can find us in the library or reach us through our Ask a Librarian service. The UNH Library has subject-specialist librarians that work with each college. You can get help via chat, email or make an appointment for one-on-one research help!
