SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT No. 1—Blanchard.

Summer term taught by Miss Rose M. Colby. Number of weeks, 10; number of pupils, 14; average attendance, 12; wages per month, including board, $19.80.

Miss Colby was in her own district. The scholars knew her, and did very well, being orderly and quiet, reciting promptly, showing fair progress.

Fall term, of 7 weeks, taught by Miss Mary A. Keenan, of Concord. Number of pupils, 19; average, 13; wages, $20. Winter term taught by the same teacher. Number of weeks, 11; number of pupils, 29; average, 20; wages, $24.80.

Miss Keenan did very well during the short term in the fall with the small scholars, and everything bade fair for a good winter school; but when we visited it near its close, we were disappointed. The interest which manifested itself early in the term seemed lost, and many of the pupils had become careless and uneasy, with very little inclination to study. The discipline, which is so essential to success in our larger schools, was very much wanting, though some of the pupils recited very well, having made some degree of progress.

DISTRICT No. 2—Emery.

Both terms taught by Miss Nellie S. French, of Northfield. Summer term, 6 weeks; number of pupils, 17; average, 12; wages, $17. Fall term, 7 weeks; number of pupils, 11; average, 9; wages, $17.

The teacher took considerable pains in interesting and instructing her pupils, who seemed to appreciate her labors by becoming interested in their studies, by being orderly, and making considerable progress.

DISTRICT No. 3—Borough.

Both terms taught by Miss Mabel C. Gage, of Fisherville. Summer term, 9.8 weeks; number of pupils, 7; average, 5; wages, $20. Fall term, 9 weeks; number of pupils, 8; average, 6; wages, $18.

Miss Gage is a very competent and experienced teacher, being well adapted to her calling, a thorough instructor, maintains good order, and her school was a success.

DISTRICT No. 4—Baptist.

Fall term taught by Miss Minnie A. Bachelder, of Chichester. Number of weeks, 10; number of pupils, 8; average, 7; wages, $26.

Winter term taught by Miss Mattie A. Lake, of Pembroke. Number of weeks, 8; number of pupils, 11; average, 9; wages, $28.

The services of two good, experienced teachers were secured here. They were very practical and thorough, making their recitations interesting, not confining themselves altogether to the text-books. Many important questions were written out, and their answers looked up, thus affording the scholars an opportunity to gain much useful knowledge. Their memory lessons were an excellent feature, the teacher reading a portion of history, and each of the older pupils writing up all they could remember of it, and then reading it before the school. The order was good.

DISTRICT No. 5—Hackleborough.

Fall term taught by Miss Clara A. Johnson, of Warner. Number of weeks, 6; number of pupils, 10; average, 8; wages, $32.

This term was very short. The teacher is a good disciplinarian, and requires considerable of her pupils, but none too much for their good. The recitations and general improvement were quite satisfactory.

Winter term taught by Seth W. Jones. Number of weeks, 8; number of pupils, 11; average, 10; wages, $27.31.

This was Mr. Jones's first experience in teaching, and it was a very good beginning. He labored faithfully and earnestly in the school-room. The scholars appreciated his efforts; all took hold of their tasks willingly; and the result was a good, orderly, profitable term.

DISTRICT No. 6—Hillsville.

Summer term taught by Miss Esmeralda L. Metcalf, of Tilton. Number of weeks, 6; number of pupils, 17; average, 14; wages, $30.

We are unable to speak as favorably of this term as we could wish. A lack of energy on the part of the teacher, with no suitable discipline, was attended by indifference on the part of the scholars, and under these circumstances very little good was accomplished.

Fall term was taught by Miss Lizzie J. Talpey, of York, Me. Number of weeks, 8; number of pupils, 21; average, 15; wages, $30.

This was Miss Talpey's first school. She displayed considerable tact in managing it. Her labor was not in vain. The results were satisfactory, there being considerable improvement in all the branches taught, and good order prevailed.

DISTRICT No. 7—Center.

Summer term taught by Miss Minnie F. Gale. Number of weeks, 10; number of pupils, 38; average, 33; wages, $27.

Fall term taught by Miss May L. Philbrick, of Deerfield, a graduate of the Normal school. Number of weeks, 9; number of pupils, 37; average, 32; wages, $28.

Winter term taught by Geo. Q. Pattee, of Warner. Number of weeks, 11; number of pupils, 51; average, 41; wages, $34.

Here we have had three profitable terms of school. The teachers have all labored earnestly for the good of their pupils, and their works have been crowned with success. Most of the scholars, as well as the parents, appreciated these efforts. Those that did not may look back on their misspent opportunities when it is too late. The order was good.

DISTRICT No. 8—Shakers.

Summer term taught by L. Jeannette Forest. Number of weeks, 14; number of pupils, 28; average, 26; wages, $34.

The teacher spared no effort on her part, and the pupils responded by orderly conduct and good recitations. The most severe punishment inflicted is a gentle reprimand, and the good discipline herein attained is a convincing argument in favor of winning obedience by kindness, instead of enforcing it by physical torture.

N. R. BRIGGS.

Winter term taught by Agnes E. Newton. Number of weeks, 16; number of pupils, 19; average, 15; wages, $34.

This term has been under the same influence as the summer school, and the scholars have responded nobly. Their examination was a marked success. Fine specimens of drawing and mechanical skill were on exhibition.

DISTRICT No. 9—Union.

Reported in Loudon.

DISTRICT No. 10—Depot.

One term of 10.8 weeks, taught by Miss Anna E. Sanborn. Number of pupils, 18; average, 15; wages, $24.

Several large scholars came in from other districts, which helped to make up a fine school. Miss Sanborn labored with her accustomed zeal. Most of the pupils were earnest and faithful, and made good progress.

DISTRICT No. 11—Upper Intervale.

Both terms taught by Miss Clara Pickard. Length of summer term, 5 weeks; number of pupils, 6; average, 5; wages, $16.

Fall term, 7 weeks; number of pupils, 6; average, 5; wages, $16.

This was Miss Pickard's first school. The children being small, and few in number, she could devote considerable time to each one, so they improved finely, and did well.

DISTRICT No. 12—Carter.

One term of 9 weeks, taught by Mrs. Mary A. Cogswell. Number of pupils, 7; average, 5; wages, $22.

This is the second year that Mrs. Cogswell has conducted this school with success. There was no lack of energy on her part, and the recitations, order, and general exercises were all good.

GENERAL REMARKS.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: In presenting to you this annual report, we have endeavored to do it to the best of our ability. Our schools have generally been quite successful: some have taken a high rank, while a few have not been just what we could reasonably desire. The failure we attribute more to a lack of stability of character and energy on the part of teachers than to any other cause. And here we would like to call the attention of those who propose teaching to the importance of qualifying themselves for the responsible position which they wish to fill. Think of what rests upon you. Little characters are being formed, and larger ones are being developed, while the little child looks up to you for instruction. Impressions are easily fixed upon the little minds, and how very necessary it is that they are right, for if wrong, it may be years before they will become righted, and perhaps never. Thus the scholarship of some of our teachers must be raised, or they will have to be dropped from the roll. Also, permit me to call your attention to the following amendment to the law relating to text-books, which passed at the last session of the legislature, and which took effect March 1, 1884. The amendment provides "that in addition to the studies previously named in the law, teachers shall be examined in physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the effects of alcoholic drinks and narcotics upon the human system. The school committee may prescribe suitable rules and regulations, &c., provided that physiology and hygiene, including special reference to the effects of alcoholic stimulants and narcotics upon the human system, shall be prescribed in all schools sufficiently advanced." Our teachers should provide themselves with a broad and liberal stock of information which they can constantly draw from in the school-room. Children want their ideas aroused, then they become interested, and the lessons that have been such tasks to them are learned with pleasure. Some of our scholars may not realize or know the value or real importance of the school register, and to such we would say that it contains a record of your school days, and is kept for future reference, so that any one, at any time, may see at a glance your conduct, and who the tardy and absent ones were. We are glad that so many will be able to look back on this record with pride, while there will be only a few who will turn from it with shame. These tardy and absent marks, which so much disfigure some of our registers, might easily be remedied by a little effort on the part of a few. We, in common with many other visitors, have admired the nicely kept writing-books, and noted the improvement made in penmanship by many of the scholars. We have also listened to many fine declamations, essays, and select readings, which we have recognized as being of vast importance. We hope parents will encourage these things, as they help to discipline the mind, and give that confidence to the scholar that nothing else will.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. BRONSON,

Supt. School Com.
