March 4, 1865.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be clearly documented and supported by appropriate evidence. This includes receipts, invoices, and other relevant documents that can be used to verify the accuracy of the records.

In addition, the document highlights the need for regular audits and reviews. By conducting periodic checks, any discrepancies or errors can be identified and corrected promptly. This helps to ensure the integrity and reliability of the financial data being recorded.

Furthermore, the document stresses the importance of transparency and accountability. All transactions should be recorded in a clear and concise manner, making it easy for anyone reviewing the records to understand the details. This level of openness is essential for building trust and maintaining the credibility of the organization.

Finally, the document concludes by reiterating the significance of diligent record-keeping. It serves as a foundation for sound financial management and decision-making. By adhering to these principles, organizations can effectively track their performance and ensure the accuracy of their financial statements.

Superintending School Committee's Report.

In compliance with the requirements of law, the Superintending School Committee submits the following

DISTRICT NO. 1.

A fall term of 10 weeks was taught by Miss Mary E. Patten. At my first visit the school appeared well, and the teacher seemed interested in, and well qualified for the duties of the school room. The closing examination was prevented by the illness of the teacher, but I learn the school was decidedly successful.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

I found this school in session, at the time of my appointment as committee, in charge of Miss Helen S. Locke. This was Miss Locke's third successive term in the same district, and she well sustained her previous reputation of being a thorough and accomplished teacher.

The second term was commenced by Miss Narcissa T. Nutter, who remained but a short time in consequence of the illness and death of a sister. The remainder of the term was taught by Miss Sara M. C. Musgrove. The order was good, and the improvement satisfactory.

Miss Nutter was employed for the third term, but she did not succeed in maintaining good order. I dismissed the scholar who was the most troublesome, but that did not remedy the difficulty. The teacher tried hard but lacked the power to govern so difficult a school. She was sick and left the school at the end of the seventh week, without notifying me of its close. Consequently there was no closing examination, and I am unable to speak of the advancement made.

The fourth term was taught by Miss Sara M. C. Musgrove, who soon brought order out of chaos, and she succeeded in her determination to make this one of the very best schools in town. The advancement was rapid and the instruction thorough. The town needs the services of more such teachers.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

The summer term of 8 weeks, and the fall term of 7½ weeks, were taught by Miss Julia A. Wallace. The same teacher was employed during the preceeding year, and no time was lost in becoming acquainted with the want and requirements of the school, as is necessarily the case with a new teacher. The school was well conducted in every respect, and no school in town, passed a better examination than this at the close of the fall term.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

A summer term of 7 weeks. The teacher, Miss Angie M. Yeaton, had taught the same school during the preceeding year with good success, and I think the district acted wisely in securing her services again. The frequent change of teachers is an evil in our schools which ought to be remedied. I found here a good teacher, a school house, of which the district may justly be proud, good scholars, and in fact all the elements of a good school. I hardly need say that this was one of the best schools in town.

Miss Addie H. Emmons taught the winter term. I will only say that the previous good reputation of the teacher and of the school, was fully sustained.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

One term of 9 weeks was taught by Miss Josephine Moore. Some of the closing exercises, especially the recitation of Scripture, were very creditable; but as a whole the school did not equal my expectations. The order was not as good nor the instruction as thorough as the great experience and high reputation of the teacher, had led me to expect.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

The summer term of 6 weeks, was taught by Miss M. Frances Stewart. This was her first experience as a teacher, but she succeeded well. The school was orderly, and the improvement all that could be expected in so short a term. Miss Stewart is enthusiastic in her vocation, and experience will make her an excellent teacher.

The winter term was taught by Miss Nella T. Burleigh. The order was good, the instruction thorough, and the closing examination showed good advancement in the branches taught.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

The sum total of schooling in this district for the year, was one term of 4 weeks, taught by Miss Anna M. Mitchell. I was not notified of the time it closed, and consequently visited the school but once.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

One term, taught by Miss Emma A. Sibley. There was some trouble in this school near the close of the term, but as I was not called upon by either party to investigate the matter, I cannot speak from personal knowledge in regard to it. But if I am not misinformed in regard to the facts, the trouble was caused more by ill feeling between some of the parents, than by any fault on the part of the teacher. One party seeking to prejudice the teacher against some of the scholars, and the other by not sustaining the teacher, in her efforts to maintain good order. It is an old and true maxim that the parents rule the school. The scholars who remained during the term, made good improvement.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

The summer term was taught by Miss Mary A. Locke. This was her first school, but she succeeded in making it pleasant and profitable.

Miss Sarah G. Sumner taught the winter school. This was a good school, one of the best that I have visited during the year.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

The summer term was taught by Miss Addie C. Leavitt, a teacher of much experience. She worked hard, but did not succeed in giving entire satisfaction, still the order was quite good, and some improvement was manifested.

The second term was taught by Miss Hattie E. Darling. Miss Darling stands deservedly high as a teacher. The order was excellent, and thorough progress was made.

The third term by the same teacher, was not quite so successful. This was due in part to the teacher's putting the school in charge of another teacher for a few days while she was absent in consequence of illness. Several of the larger scholars absented themselves from the closing examination which detracted very much from its interest.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

The summer and winter schools were both taught by Miss Emma H. Dolloff, who was without any previous experience as a teacher. She succeeded well. The order was good, the instruction thorough, and improvement was made each term.
