REPORT
OF
Superintendent of Schools,

The time is passed when the lore of the world is controlled by a few monks and contained in a few manuscripts. Our ancestors, when seeking greater freedom, established the church and school together, which gives our country the precedence among nations in public instruction. Now all educators are seeking the best means of inculcating the elementary studies, for the foundation must be sure or all later culture will lack symmetry. Nearly a half century has passed since Pestalozzi promulgated the principles which made teaching the order of nature and not of a subject. The prime principle, "educate the hand," is of utmost importance, and of practical benefit as a factor of school instruction and discipline and ^{the} business life. The child's perception of form and size, his conception, real or imaginary (for we must pass from the known to the unknown), are devolved by the word-pictures made by his own hand. We find the same hand departing from angular letters of printing to connecting artistic forms of writing and drawing; and we recognize the importance of the educated hand when we view the machinery that needs guiding, and we acknowledge "the pen is mightier than the sword."

In Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 6 a point has been made of map drawing, and in all the schools printing and writing have been taught, and another step in the same direction has been made by written lessons in spelling.

Our scholars lack ability to express themselves, which does not arise from want of intelligence, but from neglected instruction in Grammar, which should be commenced at an early age in easy language lessons. Again, History should occupy a prominent place in common school studies, instead of higher Arithmetic and Algebra, that the pupils may know about the failures and successes through which we have struggled and give an abstract in their own words of that read.

* Board furnished.

The schools in Districts 1 and 6 are in progress and the record cannot be given in this report. District No. 6 has third term being taught by Mr. George Coffin, who receives $32 per month, including board.

The average per cent. of each school, obtained from examinations in Reading, Spelling, Writing, Geography, Grammar and Arithmetic, is as follows: District No. 1 is 87 per cent.; No. 2 is 83; No. 3 is 83; No. 4 is 83; No. 5 is 84; No. 6 is 81; No. 7 is 83. The rank of the schools is very nearly the same, as there is only a difference of six per cent. between the highest and lowest average. Each school has an excellence, viz.: Lee Hill school ranks first in Reading; Hook, first in Spelling; Turnpike, first in Arithmetic; Hanson, first in Writing; Wadley's Falls and Wednesday Hill, first in Geography; and the Lang, first in Grammar. There is no report to give of History, except it has been studied in four schools by seven scholars.

The teachers secured the past year were those having experience, with one exception, and five terms were taught by teachers having Normal training. At least seventy-five per cent. of the school money has been applied to the highest good as shown by personal observation and examination. The order of the schools has been generally well sustained.

District No. 1 has set an example, in building a new school house, which might be followed with profit by other districts to supply the wants and tastes of the present decade. All our school rooms lack an outfit. The active minds of the learners need a stimulus which will lead them outside the meagre statement in the text, and will call for explanations and illustrations by maps, globes or books of reference. Two schools have dictionaries, two have globes, and only two have maps. Although too much must not be exacted of the teacher, yet he must be far in advance of the scholars in our district schools to supply the lack of appa-

tus. Shall the teacher become a walking dictionary and fill such wants that a small sum of money would more surely do? But we must have teachers of the highest rank, for the time has passed when anyone would do.

In closing this report of the schools, your Committee would have each scholar consider whether or not he has made the school year one of profit, and urge each pupil to prize every moment of school hours as if it were golden treasure; to store the mind with that which in after life is to be the source of individual intelligence and measure the wisdom of our country.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPHINE D. JENKINS,

Superintendent of Schools of Lee.
