REPORT OF THE FIREWARDS

During 1959 we answered 25 calls; 7 more than for the previous year 1958. These consisted of:

- 3 General Alarms
- 2 Chimney Fires
- 12 False Alarms (several of these occurred on Halloween, but most of them were caused by thunderstorms affecting the red network)
- 4 Dump Calls
- 3 Grass Fires
- 1 Car Fire

25 Total

Our equipment is in excellent condition, and the members of our fire department have shown interest and loyalty, and have done excellent service on the calls that have been made on them.

During the year we have connected our fire alarm system with an automatic alarm system installed in the school by the school system. This should give better protection for our school children. In addition, we have added 800' of hose which enabled us to give a bit better protection. The fire alarm testing has been done through the courtesy of the Troy Blanket Mills for which we are very thankful.

We recommend that there be appropriated for general operating expenses for the year 1960 the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00.)

We want to extend our appreciation, not only to the members of the fire department, but also to the interest which has been shown by the citizens of our town.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES A. LEPISTO,

ROBERT H. CONGDON,

GEORGE K. RIPLEY,

Firewards of Troy.

TROY WAR MEMORIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

The 1959 season at the Sand Dam was the first under a largely new committee. Basically we tried to follow the recommendations given us by the previous committee.

- a. Reduce the staff from 4 to 3 members.
- b. Discontinue the morning program.
- c. Offer an evening adult or family program.
- d. Enlarge the committee to include more female members.

Again we enjoyed the participation of Fitzwilliam children on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday throughout most of the season. This not only gave us the benefits derived from larger participation but also provided $300 for operating costs.

This year we had no major capital improvements, but we did do some minor work. We wish to express our thanks to the Cumings Lumber Co. for their donation of a new diving board. We also wish to thank the Troy Blanket Mills for the new metal flag pole. The Troy Junior Chamber of Commerce donated a Saturday of labor during which we rebuilt one section of fence at the tennis court and made repairs to the wharf sections.

A Little League representative attended one of our planning meetings at which time we worked out a co-ordinated evening program, giving the Little League their choice of evenings. Two evenings were then scheduled for our adult activities.

Unfortunately, few adults took advantage of the opportunity to participate in land or water sports or to receive free instruction in them. This phase of our program will be discontinued and the time will be spent developing a teen-age program.

One serious problem which confronted the committee again this year was vandalism and destruction during off-program hours. As a result, extensive repairs and replacements will be necessary in the spring. We urge all the citizens of Troy to realize that the facilities at the Sand Dam are community property for community enjoyment and that the program can continue effectively only if the property remains in good repair. Continued destruction can only result in a reduced program because more of our effort will be needed in protective measures and repairs. We will appreciate the cooperation of anyone concerned in this situation.

At our final planning meeting of the season, we discussed plans for the 1960 season. Among things we hope to accomplish are the following:

- a. To again offer a morning program, thus giving a full day of activities.
- b. To install a shuffle-board court.
- c. To have greater coordination with the Little League.
- d. To revise our evening program—keeping someone on duty to sign out equipment.
- e. To devote considerable attention to teen-agers, trying to develop a program to fill their needs.

At this time I wish to thank the members of the Troy War Memorial Committee who gave so generously of their time and energy; and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scout Troop 309, Girl Scout Troop 525, and the numerous citizens of Troy who assisted in many ways with our program.

Respectfully submitted,

We are very happy to have had 6 teen-agers complete Senior Life Saving and/or qualify as Instructors Aids. The committee feels that these people will be valuable assets to our 1960 program. One of these, Marylen McQuestion, proved to be a great help in our 1959 program and possesses excellent potentialities. Other swimmers who completed Senior Life Saving and/or qualified as Instructors Aids are Bill Paju, James McGinness, Richard Oman, James Dunn, and Robert Tucker.

The Elementary School

A good average class is reported in grade one. From home to school is one of the big adjustments each pupil has to make on his climb up the ladder of education. It is a very short period of time before they become a studious group known as the "Class of 1971." It is during this first year that the printed word takes on meaning both in reading and writing.

In grade two, pupils further develop their skills in reading and arithmetic. Science is introduced into the curriculum. Saving stamps program is started in the second grade. We hope to encourage thrift in this way.

Manuscript printing ends in the middle of grade three, and cursive writing begins. A senior who is interested in teaching, comes into grade three several times a week and is getting practice in teaching. This is new this year to encourage students to take up teaching.

GRADES 4-6

This year the Joplin Plan in reading is being used in grades four, five, and six.

Again the competent practice teachers from Keene Teachers College are a welcome help in grades four and five.

In February, grade four will participate in the T.V. in-school, fourth grade Social Study program entitled "The Story of the Granite State,"

A French television program is used every Tuesday and Thursday morning by the fourth and fifth grades. Mrs. Hildreth and Mrs. Feagley are the classroom instructors.

The Safety Patrol Program is under the direction of the intermediate teachers.

One of the main projects that the sixth grade is undertaking this year is a study of conservation and the natural sciences. At appointed times throughout the year, a member of the Massachusetts Audubon Society gives classes to the students in these areas. This is supplemented by our own work in the areas concerned. The class is to spend one week at Camp Union continuing their studies in the month of May. The parents and the students have been working diligently all year trying to raise money for this trip. This week at camp should be a wonderful climax for a year of such study.

TROY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

This year, as in past years, the teachers in the Troy Junior High School have tried to help the incoming students adapt to the changes found in the 7th and 8th grades. On this grade level we hope to prepare the students for the more difficult years in high school. We hope to do this by giving them enough background in varied subjects to give them a basis on which to build future knowledge.

Over and above this, the Troy Junior High School is given an introduction to Vocational subjects which we hope will help those not wishing to continue their education. Overall, we have tried to develop a comprehensive program for the students on this grade level.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

During 1959 the Business Department was fortunate enough to receive several pieces of new equipment. The outdated and irreparable mimeograph was replaced with a BDC Rex-Rotary manual-electric mimeograph. The one electric typewriter, which was also beyond repair, was replaced by three new IBM electrics—one of which was placed in the school office.

As it is advisable to replace typewriters approximately every five years, a rotation program was started which will replace one or several typewriters each year, starting with the oldest models and working upward. To go along with this plan, three Underwood manual typewriters were traded in for new models. At the present time, the business room is badly in need of new tables and adjustable chairs for the typing students.

In regard to further expansion of the business room, it might be well to consider the fact that this past fall three students had to be turned away from Typing I (personal and 1st year business typing). How many will be turned away in 1960 and 1961? None, we hope!

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

Industrial Arts is one of the most popular offerings in Troy's School program because it provides an opportunity for young people to explore industrial opportunities and gain information relative to industrial methods and techniques in today's world.

Believing that experience is very important we have tried to create as many industrial situations as possible in the shop so that the students would have a chance to learn how to solve problems using their minds as well as their hands.

The courses offered in Industrial Arts this year were: Mechanical Drawing, Woodworking, Cabinet Making, and Electricity.

Driver Education is also taught under the Industrial Arts Department.

MATHEMATICS

The Mathematics Department of Troy High School is offering four complete years of college preparatory mathematics this year. The new senior mathematics program, which will be of tremendous help to seniors preparing to enter college, covers thoroughly all the topics recommended by the State Department of Education for a twelfth grade sequential mathematics program, and also includes units on modern mathematics or new concepts in high school mathematics. Regular courses of practical and general mathematics are, of course, also taught.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Physical Education is required of all students in grades 7-10 and is an elective for students in grades 11 and 12. As time progresses it would be advisable to include the elementary grades in an organized physical education program.

The fall program utilized the area below the school grounds for cross-country, speed ball, touch football, and soccer. The winter program moves inside the gymnasium for such activities as volleyball, basketball, table tennis, calisthenics. The spring program will move outdoors again for such activities as baseball, softball and track.

At the present the physical fitness testing program set up by the National Education Association and the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation are being administered to the students. Their scores are comparing well, against the national average.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department of Troy High School is most grateful for the addition of two new sewing machines. These machines have made the clothing department much more efficient and capable of serving the needs of any girl interested in learning to sew. We continue to appreciate our fine unit kitchens but we hope that the fourth unit will be forthcoming before too long so that the girls will be able to work more efficiently. There is a very fine class of junior and senior girls this year who are becoming acquainted with some of the many phases of homemaking which should enable them to become better homemakers in the future.

GUIDANCE

This year the guidance director has been available to students four periods daily and to students and parents after school hours. That there is a definite need for a guidance program in Troy High School has been shown by the number of students and parents who have availed themselves of its services. At the half year mark, in addition to the regular individual conferences with each high school student, there have been more than 100 student requests for conferences or information and 10 conferences with parents.

Besides the usual achievement and mental maturity tests, an occupational aptitude test has been given to grades 10, 11, and 12. An algebraic aptitude test for grade 8, a test of critical thinking ability for grades 11 and 12, and special national tests for college bound students will be given this spring.

Pupils were polled in the fall on career interests; and from this survey, speakers have been engaged to speak to interested students. All seniors have been urged to make definite plans for next year, and catalogs and other pertinent information is available for them.

Pupil records, interests, and abilities are being carefully studied to assist them in a wiser choice of subjects for 1960-61.

Students and parents are welcome to seek information on careers, schools, curricula, etc. or just to avail themselves of the opportunity to talk out any problems.

SCIENCE

In keeping with the speedup of Science Programs throughout the country, the Troy High School Science department is concentrating its efforts in presenting a well-rounded program of basic scientific knowledge with special emphasis on Scientific Methods and Thinking.

In conjunction with the new Science Aid Program, necessary equipment has been added to our laboratory so that more students may participate in experimental work rather than teacher lectures.

We are grateful to the citizens of Troy for matching the Federal funds to make this possible.

Mrs. Vollertson.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

With the continued interest in and emphasis on foreign languages, oral French is being taught to the fourth grade and continued with the fifth graders. This year we have a bi-weekly TV program in elementary French which is used as a basis for the short daily oral class lessons. The enthusiasm and progress evinced by the children are evidence of the youngsters' early ability to learn a second language.

Two years of French and of Latin are scheduled in the high school. We plan to offer a third year of French to promote ease in reading and speaking the language.

THE JOPLIN READING PLAN

The Joplin Reading Plan was started in grades 4-5-6 this year. The children in these grades have been divided into six reading groups according to their ability.

The teachers feel that the pupils are receiving more help in reading skills because of the Joplin Plan. Mrs. Lagrenade has noted a larger number of pupils in these three grades are now using the town library. Outside reading has increased from a maximum of 13 books to a minimum of 2 books per pupil for the half year.

ALBERT R. FURLONG, Principal

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT TO TROY SCHOOL DISTRICT

It is a pleasure to submit to the citizens of Troy my first report as Superintendent of Schools. To date I have visited nearly all classrooms and talked with teachers and students. I found many good teaching procedures and techniques within our school. My main concern and problem is the simple matter of overcrowded classrooms due to lack of space. Basic to any consideration of the school building is the simple matter of space, and we must ask this question: "Are there enough classrooms and related facilities to give all children a full day of schooling without such overcrowding?" This is a problem across the land today, and it is hoped that some type of construction can take place in the near future in order to give our students in Troy the opportunities necessary for good education. It is our responsibility to develop the strengths and discover the weaknesses of each individual child to enable success in later life, and our program should provide for ALL children without reducing the quality of learning for any. As we all know, the most important part of a school program is what is being taught in our classrooms.

The quality of a school reflects the community in which it functions, and education is a cooperative enterprise needing the support and understanding of everyone in the community.

May I express my appreciation for the fine cooperation which exists among our school board members, study-committee, faculty members and parents with whom I have been associated during these past few months.

PAUL L. CLARK,
Superintendent Of Schools.

REPORT OF SCHOOL STUDY COMMITTEE

As required by article three of the Special School District Warrant approved on May 14, 1959, the School Study Committee submits this report of the school needs.

This committee consisted of the following persons as representatives of their respective organizations:

Calvin Cumings	Selectmen
Donald Austin	Budget Committee
John Callahan	P.T.A.
Esther Lepisto	P.T.A.
Albert Furlong	Faculty
Robert Bellevance	Faculty
George Lloyd	School board
Shirley Lang	School board
Maurice Clark	Town at large
Lillian Congdon	Town at large

At the first meeting of this committee, which was held on July 22, 1959, John Gallahan, Esther Lepisto and Albert Furlong were elected chairman, secretary and publicity chairman, respectively. It was agreed that the problem of school needs was to be considered in its broader aspects, including such factors as community relations, teachers, curriculum, facilities and the legal and financial obligations involved in operating the school. To effectuate as thorough a study of these aspects of school needs as possible, the committee was re-organized into a series of sub committees.

Regardless of how modern, how well equipped or how competently staffed any school may be, it requires basic understanding, acceptance, and constructive support of its objectives by the community as primary requisites, if the objective of adequate education of the student is to be achieved. Ignorance and indifference spawn that carping criticism which negates the achievement of all educational objectives. Therefore, to test the quality of school community relations in Troy, the school study committee devised the questionnaire which was used in its survey of community attitudes last October.

The secondary purpose of this survey was three fold: first, it gave many of the citizens an opportunity to participate directly in the activities of the committee; second, it disclosed "sore spots" which might have been over-looked by the committee; and third, it indicated the degree of interest and the extent of the knowledge possessed by the community relative to the school problems. The committee was aware that to some extent the answers given might pertain to the immediate past rather than to the present situation. But, since opinion is as much a determinant of attitudes as is knowledge of fact, the results would be a reasonable evaluation of community relations.

The survey was directed to 240 families by either of two means; personal interview and mail interview. Of the 120 persons interviewed in person, 118 took the time to complete the questionnaire. Response on a person to person basis was excellent. On the other hand, response to the mailed interviews was disappointing; only 27 of the 120 who received copies bothered to answer. It is apparent that unless some form of moral coercion is exercised, or, as evidenced by activities during the spring of 1959, unless some degree of emotional excitement is induced, there is a dangerous degree of indifference to school problems.

Five facets of the school needs were embodied in the questionnaire: finance, teacher—community understanding, curriculum, facilities and community solutions.

In matters of financing, the tabulation of the survey indicated that the townspeople are not dissatisfied with the use of the tax dollar being made by the school. However, the number of those who did not answer the question or who answered, "don't know", disclosed no basis for complacency in this matter. Although a great majority recognized that the school budget should be flexible enough to permit improvements, several who recognized this need for flexibility also indicated that the budget should be fixed so that it would not raise taxes. This apparent contradiction has been interpreted to mean that cautious appraisal of any proposed improvements will be insisted upon and will be justified only by the degree of necessity involved. This healthy attitude of critical progressiveness is buttressed by the willingness implied on the affirmative answers given to the questions concerning the financing of a good science program and enlargement of the science laboratory.

A substantial number felt that a re-evaluation of property assessments by state authority with a view to equalization would make it easier to raise the money for the school budget.

Since this is a matter not directly under school district authority, it was felt that the townspeople should initiate action along these lines only after careful consideration of all alternatives and the attendant consequences involved.

An overwhelming majority agreed that our teachers should be paid salaries equivalent to those being paid in the state for towns of comparable size. However, they also signified that the school board should be permitted to pay higher salaries to retain the services of outstanding teachers.

The general conclusion derived from the answers to the questions pertaining to teacher—community relations was that these relations are solidly grounded on a basis of respect for the teaching profession with the recognition that such work is difficult and often trying. The majority of citizens indicated either confidence in the personal conduct of the teachers or regarded this as an individual matter not within their competence to judge. No "double standard" was disclosed by the questionnaire. The townspeople are also fully aware of how serious the problem of high turnover of teachers really is.

Most of those people answering the questionnaire felt that our teachers are fully qualified for their jobs, fair in giving out homework assignments, and fair in marking the students for class work.

The larger group of those answering the questionnaire said that homework requirements and social activities were about right. They were equally divided on the question of class discipline: one group feeling it too lax, and the other group feeling it to be about right.

There was an almost even division of opinion regarding the present sizes of the elementary classes; one group thinking thirty five pupils to a class about right and the other holding this to be too large. The majority concluded that an average size of 30 pupils for the Jr. High Classes is about right.

The answers to the questions relating to curriculum were less susceptible of clear cut interpretation than the others on the questionnaire. However, it was evident that no individual course was generally regarded as a "frill". There was no conviction that the school was teaching courses which really ought to be left to the home. In very few instances, "Driver Training" and "Home Economics" were singled out either as "frills" or courses that ought to be left to the home. The townspeople overwhelmingly rejected the suggestion that there ought to be a course in sex education.

Although general satisfaction with the emphasis placed on science, mathematics, English and social science was disclosed, there was implicit criticism of the student's proficiency in reading, written expression and spelling. Ability to handle mathematics was considered satisfactory.

The college course was selected as the one to be taught in the event it became necessary to teach only one basic course. Yet the townspeople heartily approved the continuation of courses in Art and Music and expressed a willingness to finance a good science program with enlargement of laboratory facilities.

A substantial number of people were not satisfied that they were getting enough information to advise their children about selection of courses and vocation. They did, however, recognize the need for a part time guidance director. Considerable interest in an Adult Education program, principally in the area of practical arts courses, exists.

There was general satisfaction with the use of the school facilities and recognition of the need for a library room and a teachers room.

Probably the most interesting question asked on the School Study Committee Questionnaire was the one relative to the best solution to our school problem. Eight basic solutions were listed. Following in brief are the results:

Solution	no. of votes	Approx. %
a. cooperative school	68	20%
b. send high school students to Keene	35	10%
c. build an addition	47	14%
d. use existing facilities	43	12%
e. convert gym to classrooms	33	10%
f. work out plan with 2 or more towns	58	17%
g. convert Ripley building to school	37	11%
h. convert town hall to a school	22	6%

At a glance, it is obvious that no single solution received a majority of the votes cast. Items a. & f. both are of a cooperative nature and show a combined strength of 37% of the vote cast.

The above figures show the total vote cast for first, second, and third choices. When the first choice vote is considered alone, cooperative received 44% of the total.

It is on the basis of these strong showings that the committee began its investigation on cooperation along with investigations on each of the other solutions in the belief that each solution deserved careful consideration. This is apparent when the closeness of the vote item by item is noticed.

One question asked was what should be done with the Ripley Building? The most interesting observation drawn from these answers is the fact that only 30% wished to continue the use of the Ripley Building for teacher housing. This would indicate that the school board should consider disposing of the property, preferably selling it to a private ownership, thus returning it to a taxable property status.

Another pertinent question concerned people's feelings regarding whether or not they are receiving sufficient information about our school. A large number of people feel that they are not getting sufficient information about their school.

Looking further at the question, they found that a large majority of people feel:

1. The school board has sufficient members at this time.
2. Mixed dancing should be permitted in the Junior High (7th grade).
3. The use of cars by students should not be permitted.
4. We should not have a longer school year.

The overwhelmingly positive reply (72% favorable) to the question of accepting Fitzwilliam students as tuition students indicated that the citizens of Troy place true value on continuance of this practice.

Two general conclusions were reached after analysis of the survey:

1. There exists a radical distinction in attitude toward the school. Whenever citizens are approached on a direct personal basis, interest and response to school affairs is healthy and hearty; yet, without some such stimulation, an apathetic attitude prevails. This was immediately evident in the discrepancy between responses to the personal interviews and the mailed questionnaires. Public school meetings held since last September have been poorly attended.

2. Somewhere there is a breakdown of communication between the school and the public. This was manifested by the many contradictions of fact which appeared on the questionnaire. However, the school has made use of the normal means of communication (P.T.A., open house, public meetings) but the attendance has been disgracefully low. The citizen who fails to avail himself of these means of learning about school labors under a handicap and becomes particularly susceptible to the wiles of the "five minute expert" at town meetings.

The committee concluded that community relations between school and public need substantial improvement and that the burden rests primarily with the public.

Only two "sore spots" were outstanding; they concerned the use of cars by teenagers and the condition of the playground. Both matters are being reviewed by the school board. A study of the relationship between the use of cars and scholastic standing has disclosed a positive correlation between poor scholarship and the use of an automobile. Once again, the solution to this problem depends as much on proper exercise of parental responsibility as it does on school authority.

Several steps have been instituted to resolve the reading problem. These include the use of the Joplin plan method and a more intensive coordination between testing programs, guidance work and remedial reading.

The members of the Troy Study Committee felt that a survey should be conducted among the teachers. Mr. Calvin Cummings, Mr. Furlong, and Mr. Bellavance therefore proceeded to make one for the explicit purpose of finding how the teachers felt toward the town and the school.

It should be remembered, on the one hand, that Troy has many new teachers and therefore we could not get a complete evaluation of the situation.

However, it should be stated that the teachers who did comment seemed to be generally happy in the present situation. They also followed very closely or agreed with similar questions found in the town survey. On the other hand, the only adverse answers pertained to school facilities or materials which many felt were inadequate, particularly in Art, Reading and Library facilities.

In a small school, such as Troy has, some of the teachers time has to be devoted to non-teaching activities, such as the collection of hot lunch money, conducting "drives" for charitable purposes, etc. It is, also, to be noted that in many instances teachers who have majored in a particular area of study are required to teach in fields in which they are not as well trained.

One of the sub-committees of the School Study Committee made a review of curriculum and the facilities of the school needs. The purpose of this study was to evaluate our present curriculum in terms of its adequacy for fulfilling the educational needs of the students, to ascertain whether facilities and materials were available for achieving this goal, to consider any other factors affecting the quality of the curriculum and to suggest such changes as may have seemed practicable to improve the curriculum.

It was agreed that the educational needs of the students should be viewed from two aspects: the first concerns the fundamental requirements for enlightened citizenship in this era of political, social and scientific crises; the second involves the necessity of providing for individual development. The community of Troy, in order to preserve and foster its own civic life, should impose certain minimum standards relating directly to the duties and rewards of citizenship. Such are the following; proficiency in written and oral expression, including sound knowledge of spelling and grammar; knowledge of literature, political theory, and history is needed to protect our civic heritage; an understanding of geography and economics, is required to know our place in the world, and finally some basic skill in mathematics is necessary to hold a job and maintain a home, while an appreciation of science is required to keep in touch with our modern world.

These requirements are substantially fulfilled by the present curriculum. Provision has been made for individual development through the courses in Home Economics, Shop, Music, Languages (Latin and French), and Fine Arts. Troy High School qualifies at present as a Comprehensive High School under the State Board of Education minimum standards. In addition Troy is also developing an effective guidance department which will be of inestimable value to the students in high school. It must be admitted nevertheless that this is a minimum offering.

In spite of the fact that Troy is offering a sound but limited curriculum for a school of its size, it is unable to achieve the level of proficiency desired because the facilities and materials needed are inadequate, in the opinion of the committee. The lack of storage room is hampering effective teaching of Science, Music, and Art. Laboratories for individual experimentation in science are completely lacking. It is also to be noted that without a central library the use and control of reference materials is extremely limited and the quantity of such materials is deficient.

Other factors affecting the quality of the curriculum in specific areas are these:

1.) The Troy Junior High classes are in excess of the number recommended by the state (30); the seventh grade has 39, the eighth 33.

2.) The assignment of study pupils within the regular classes. Although this practice has existed for some time, it has reached the point where in several instances the number of study pupils exceeds the number of regular class students. Such a system is unanimously deplored by the teaching staff, and the committee concurs. The reason is that the classroom teacher has to conduct the equivalent of two classes at the same time. Thus, the regular student is deprived of the instruction time he should be getting.

3.) One class, Shop 7, has a total of 25 students but only 16 working stations. This is not only a poor classroom situation, it is also physically hazardous in this instance.

4.) There is no classroom available for Art and Music courses. These courses are being taught either in the gym, or on the stage or in the shop room. This is an almost hopeless situation.

5.) Because of the crowded condition in the high school there is little or no opportunity to group the students by ability which would assist each to achieve his maximum potential.

6.) Although Troy is actually classified as a comprehensive High School, it does not meet the minimum requirements, lacking specifically a library and facilities for the teaching of Art and Music as major deficiencies.

7.) High teacher turnover makes it difficult if not impossible to maintain a coherent integrated curriculum which in turn affects the quality of the courses. It also forces the students to undergo a continuous series of personal adjustments, year in and year out. No effective rapport is ever built up between teacher and student or parent under these conditions.

The most pressing problems are related to the operation of the Troy High School. The elementary school is in excellent condition compared to the high school; it should serve the community for many years to come.

Deficiencies in space, facilities and curriculum in the high school, already mentioned by the Study Committee, will be aggravated with each passing year. The High School population will increase steadily during the next five years, after that a drop off is indicated. Projected enrollments will be 110, 125, 136, 131, 135 respectively, followed by a drop to 101, 106, and 115 at the end of eight years, but this is still larger than the present enrollment.

The committee is convinced that the town of Troy must make a decision to solve its school problem permanently within one year. The tax burden is already excessive. The cost per pupil is $403 which is 10% more than the state average and 20% above the state median for all schools. Reducing curriculum requirements will cost the school its comprehensive status. This approach will not really save money because, if comprehensive status is lost, students may take courses not offered in Troy at a nearby school on a tuition basis, thereby eliminating any anticipated savings. Such an approach would also be greatly unjust to the children since the money saved, if any, would cost them some portion of the education they need to prosper in life.

Unless Troy can maintain the services of a good comprehensive high school, families with relatively stable or high earning potential, those who usually have school age children, will leave this area. But there will be no inducement for similar families to take over the property available. This cycle will ultimately reduce property valuation, thereby automatically increasing the tax rate, even if school and town costs remain constant—a condition not likely to be achieved.

With these thoughts in mind the committee has investigated the suggested solutions mentioned in the survey.

Converting the Town Hall for school use would require an expensive renovation of this building. In order to make the main auditorium into a classroom the following alterations would be required:

1. Addition of toilet facilities, installation of hot water system, and addition of fire escape.

2. Alteration of the room for blackboard space and storage closet for supplies.
3. Installation of desks, chairs, and other classroom necessities.

It would be inconvenient for the youngsters to take part in the hot lunch program, or the regular or special assemblies at main school, nor would they have the use of special equipment, such as educational TV, located at the main school. There is no playground area; use of the common would be unsafe. There would be no assistance available if the teacher had to leave the room.

For these reasons the committee rejected this suggestion both as permanent or temporary solution to the school problem.

A thorough check was made of the possibility of converting the Ripley Building for school use. In 1952 an estimate of $5,100.00 was furnished the School Board for just such a change. Allowing twenty percent for cost increases, the sum of $6,120.00 would be needed now. The committee believes this would be too great an expense for the slight benefit derived.

Early in 1959 the State Department of Education was contacted with reference to the above, and their comments were as follows: "After review of these plans it is the opinion that such a proposal would not result in good educational planning. In addition, it is felt that such renovation would create many structural as well as maintenance problems, which could be both expensive and inefficient. . . . In summary, this office does not think it is the best judgment to consider such renovation and would hope a more suitable plan could be sought and developed."

The following factors also influenced the thinking of the committee in studying this possibility:

1. This building would be very expensive to maintain. Last years expenses were $2,764.88.
2. Heating, the major cost, is approximately one third the cost of heating the regular school building. Conversion of the furnace for use of No. 5 oil might reduce this somewhat.
3. Use of the Ripley Building would also require additional janitor services.
4. The location of this building so far away from the regular school area would create problems of administration in the areas of hot lunch, playground use, and special education aids.

5. Money already spent on converting the building to apartments would be wasted by converting the building to classrooms. While there would be some rental property available, it would create problems to have school rooms and apartments in the same building.

In conclusion we feel that this plan would not result in a good educational program, and would be very expensive to maintain. We, also, feel that while two classrooms could be added to our school system by these plans, this space could be obtained and maintained more economically from other sources.

Conversion of the gym to classrooms is impractical. It is being used full-time for the following activities: regular physical education classes, hot lunch program, and for scheduled assemblies. Portions are in use for the teaching of art and music. The structural problems presented for any permanent alteration are practically insurmountable, and proportionately expensive.

Maximum practical use of existing facilities is now being made. Continued use of these can be done only under one of the following two conditions:

1. Increase the class load to the point where a double session is necessary. This would make it possible to maintain comprehensive curriculum, temporarily. This plan has already been rejected by the town.

2. Reduce the curriculum offerings to the minimum approved status, dropping such courses as shop, home economics, fine arts, music, etc. Comprehensive status would be lost and the town must pay tuition for all who desire the courses dropped from our curriculum.

A study of proposal to send the high school students to Keene was made. If this was done, it would have to be on a three year basis, since Keene operates on a 6-3-3 basis. For the ensuing year the costs would be:

Keene tuition cost @ $480.00 for 77 students	$39,960 00
Troy High School cost @ $403.00 for 77 students	31,031 00
Loss of tuition from Fitzwilliam	7,800 00

If Troy paid transportation 6,930 00

Transportation figures have been included because this cost will have to be paid by the town through its taxes or by the individual family, out of hand. Either way, the committee believes it ought to be taken into consideration in evaluating the economic effect of this proposal. Because this proposal has been ardently advocated as a temporary solution to our school problem, the committee contacted the Keene School Board for a full review of all aspects of the proposal. Unfortunately, their reply to this inquiry will not be available until after the deadline for the preparation of this report.

The committee did not make a detailed study of the proposal to build any addition to the present facilities. Our best estimate of the cost of the minimum requirements (two classrooms and enlargement of the shop) indicated that an expenditure of $80,000-$90,000 for the building would be necessary. Even this would not solve the space problem permanently. Taking into consideration the interest in the cooperative movement which has been displayed by several of our neighboring towns, the committee recommends that this proposal be bypassed until it becomes evident that no possibility for the formation of a cooperative district exists.

Throughout this study, the School Study Committee has accepted the principle that the school which provides a comprehensive curriculum offers the best possibility of obtaining a thorough education for all children. This type of curriculum includes a wide range of academic subjects, such as, mathematics, sciences, English, foreign languages, history and other social sciences, which are taught at different levels to permit the slow, average and bright student to realize his maximum potential. It also provides for training and development in vocational arts, home economics, fine arts, music, etc.

The need for the comprehensive school is based on the accepted fact that approximately twenty percent of the youngsters of school age are incapable of assimilating in a meaningful way the subject matter taught in the traditional academic courses. Yet these same youngsters are required by law to attend school until the age of sixteen and prevented by federal law from employment in most businesses until the age of eighteen. In fact business firms generally require that a prospective employee possess a high school diploma before being considered for employment. Under these conditions simple justice demands that our schools provide the means for developing whatever potential such a youngster has. On the other hand, it is also another commonly accepted fact that the small school, even though it does offer the academic curriculum, cannot create the competitive stimulus or allow the range of subject matter necessary to develop the potential of the above-average student. According to the American Association of School Administrators:*

A school district with a total enrollment of 800 pupils will have about 200 pupils and from 8 to 10 teachers in the four-year high school. Simple arithmetic and a little plain common sense quickly show that a school of this size can't have a very wide range of course offerings. In a work schedule that provides for instruction in several different subject matter fields and four grade levels, the time of 8 or 10 teachers is about all used up in meeting basic minimum requirements. There is little opportunity left for:

Advanced courses or accelerated programs that challenge gifted pupils and develop their full potential.

Remedial work that corrects deficiencies and helps slow learners over difficult places.

Course offerings to meet the special interests and to develop the unique abilities that can be expected in a school that serves children from every level and segment of community life.

The School Study Committee believes that it is financially and physically impossible for Troy to continue its courageous but futile effort to provide a comprehensive curriculum in the high school. Guided by this consideration, the committee has participated in several joint meetings with the school boards and other representatives of Swanzey, Winchester, Marlboro, Fitzwilliam and Chesterfield, to examine the possibility of forming a cooperative school district. The results of these meetings indicate that the formation of a cooperative school district is the most economic and practical solution to the several problems of overcrowding, limited curricula, high teacher turnover rate and excessive costs which afflict each town in some degree. A cooperative consists essentially of a pooling of resources and a sharing of expenses to the mutual benefit of all. The sharing is determined by calculating the ratio (made up of 50% equalized evaluation and 50% average daily membership of the school population) between the total equalized valuation and A.D.M. of all towns and the individual towns involved.

It is our opinion that the formation of a twelve year cooperative school district and the construction of a separate senior high school for 800-1000 students with any five of our neighboring towns would provide the following benefits for Troy :

1. General improvement of the educational level for all high school students. Such a school would correct all the deficiencies that now exist and would extend and enrich the high school program in every area: curriculum, remedial services, adequate guidance and extra curricular activities such as athletics, dramatics, academic clubs, etc.

2. Stabilization, if not reduction, of school costs and consequent stabilization of the tax rate. Although the studies conducted so far indicate that a reduction of taxes might be obtained, the committee believes that it will be more realistic to expect a stabilization rather than marked reduction of taxes. It is absolutely certain that a greater educational return will be realized from the tax dollar under a cooperative system than will ever be possible on a "go it alone" basis.

3. Improvement in the competitive status of Troy. Troy can no longer afford the luxury of a static population. The town must either grow or decay. Having an excellent school system is one of the essentials for attracting new families to locate here. This should help to distribute the tax burden to a greater degree than is possible now.

The twelve year cooperative is recommended in order to prevent duplication of administration and competition for the tax dollar by two districts. Troy will be represented at all times on the School Board of the district. The state will provide a 55% of the principle payment for the construction of the new building if five towns participate in the cooperative. The towns which have participated in the discussions appear to be ideally suited culturally, socially, economically, and geographically for the successful formation and administration of this cooperative district.

However, in order to provide for full verification of the studies which have been made to date, the School Study Committee recommends that the citizens of Troy avail themselves of the services of the firm of Engelhardt, Engelhardt, Leggett and Cornell, of New York. This group can offer the professional objectivity of specialists in their study of all the towns in the proposed district. Their study will cost Troy approximately $1,500.00. It will include :

1. Analysis of the possibilities of developing a cooperative school district both for all grades or for secondary school alone.

2. Study of the desirability of any combination of districts consolidating or of any district maintaining a separate school organization.

3. Analysis of the present school buildings with regard to safety, sanitation, obsolescence, and adaptability to present and future educational programs.

4. Report on child population trends based on an analysis of total population trends, number of births, residential growth and school enrollment statistics over a period of years.

5. Recommendation of a future school site and building program, including estimates of the cost of construction of essential facilities, the cost of operation of the school system, with estimates of tax rates both for going it alone and as a cooperative district, or in any combination that seem to be advantageous or worthy of consideration.

6. Conferring with State Department officials in conjunction with the proposed recommendations.

7. During the course of the survey the Consultants may confer with such officials, lay citizens and groups as may be necessary in accomplishing their purpose.

8. The broad implications of the curriculum of the schools will be studied by the Consultants in the course of the survey for the purpose of ascertaining the influence of curriculum developments upon new school building planning.

9. The report submitted to the Boards will be reproduced and bound and 20 copies will be furnished to each of the Boards. A combined report will be submitted by the Consultants including all the recommendations for each of the towns as well as the recommendations on cooperation.

10. A summary of the complete report will be prepared for public distribution. Three thousand copies of this summary will be provided by the Consultants at the quoted price given in item 12.

11. The consultants agree to present the findings of their study at one public meeting in each town.

This concludes the report of your School Study Committee. The committee thanks all who assisted it during the past year and urges every citizen of Troy to take an active interest in school affairs.

PREVENTION IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

The year 1959 was fortunate from a forest fire standpoint. New Hampshire had the best record in the nation. Fewer acres were burned, suppression costs were substantially reduced and damage to woodlands held to a minimum. The record resulted from a combination of favorable weather conditions, an alert warden service and a cooperating public.

Yet, despite all this, there still persists a disturbing note 58%, or 6 out of every 10 fires in 1959 were caused by careless smokers and debris burners.

10%, or 1 out of every 9 fires was caused by children.

Careless, indifferent, thoughtless and independent minded individuals and failure of parents to properly supervise children and keep matches out of their reach, annually cause these unnecessary fires which cost large sums to extinguish and cause extensive damage. The elimination of these three causes of fires would radically change this picture. The rules are simple—

1. Before burning, secure a permit from your local forest fire warden—the law requires it.
2. Be sure to properly supervise your burning.
3. Make certain your fire is DEAD OUT before leaving it.
4. Don't throw lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes from moving vehicles—use your ash tray.
5. Don't burn at home—Use your town dump and save yourself much possible difficulty, both personal and financial.

Number of local fires 5

Number of acres burned 13

Number of permits issued 108

HOW TO DESTROY YOUR TOWN

In closing this 1959 Report, we would like you to read a quoted article from the Dawson (Ga.) News and was compiled by the Sedalia (Mo.) Democrat. An interesting observation is to figure how many of the ways apply to our own lives or to our fellow townman.

Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.

Get all the town will give you and don't give anything in return. Write unsigned letters to the selectmen demanding more for your tax money.

Talk cooperation, but don't do any work for your town unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse unless they make you chairman.

Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker. (Or a crook.)

Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a town better, howl because that town is run by a clique.

Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring the insurance rates down, tell everybody that is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the police for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment; raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.

Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.

If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down every thing they do.

Don't work on any committee. Tell them, "I'm too busy."

Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up its short-comings. Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be residents of some other town who will visit you while you are ill; bring in their department if your home is burning; comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.

And don't support your local retail stores and industries. Claim the prices and services in stores of other towns are better. Claim industry and its payroll hurts the town. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores and industries for it. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 steps don't ruin your town, it isn't your fault.
