REPORT OF LITTLETON VILLAGE DISTRICT COMMISSIONERS

In addition to the foregoing detailed account showing disbursements, your commissioners feel that a further explanation covering some of the work accomplished during the past year, would not be out of order, realizing such items may not be readily understood from the published figures of these expenditures.

The past year we have endeavored to carry on the constructive program, which was laid out three years ago, for the improvement and betterment of our sidewalks, roads, drainage of same and a more orderly working sewer system. Also to bring our Fire Department up to a higher standard, thereby assuring ourselves of better protection from the ravages of fire and keeping our taxable property value increasing. Too well we remember the severe losses from fire to our mercantile center and we cannot afford to even consider a repetition. To accomplish this your commissioners last year recommended the purchase of a pumper, motor truck which was voted for and money appropriated by the voters of the Littleton Village District, showing their willingness to cooperate and accomplish this end. Just at this moment we pause to state that it has been a worthwhile investment, as has been demonstrated on several occasions. There is hardly a taxpayer outside the business section who has not received a reduction on insurance premiums to more than offset any slight advance in his taxes, besides the assurance of better protection. Many other items of small equipment have been added to the Fire Department to bring it up to a higher standard. We must not overlook the men of this Department, who stand ready for call to any emergency, and they are certainly worthy of our support and the necessary equipment to perform their duties most expediently. Whereas these items involve quite a sum of money they should be considered as assets, or investments, and not money grossly thrown away.

On the roads a great deal of money was spent which was necessary to build up a gravel foundation over which to apply heavy oil, the start for permanent road beds. Much has been accomplished along this line as we have put into shape all roads inside the District limits with at least one coat of heavy oil base, which will gradually build up into more permanent roads and thus greatly reduce the maintenance and automatically pay for themselves. To accomplish this an expenditure of $6,798.00 was made for cold-patch material, oil and sand for covering, exclusive of labor, necessary for getting old roads in condition to receive the initial application of oil. In addition, the labor for applying sand and material approximates $2,000.00 to $2,500.00. For the year of 1930, $3,867.00 was spent for cold-patch, oil and sand covering. Thus for the fiscal year we spent about double the amount on oil, for permanent improvement.

Other improvements for which no special appropriations were made covers approximately 1,000 lineal feet of new sewer, about $1,000.00, which was necessary due to new buildings constructed, replacing stone retaining wall, iron railing and protection buttresses at Palmer Brook Bridge, Union Street, about $950.00. Several new catch basins to relieve roadside drainage were added, totaling about $300.00.

Special consideration for the protection of our hillside roads which had been Tarviaed were further improved by filling in gutters and applying a heavy coat of Tarvia, thereby assuring a substantial reduction in maintenance cost. This being quite an expensive improvement it is gratifying to note the results achieved and we feel the money was well placed. A few major items requiring further expenditure of money for equipment includes:— a street sweeper, service truck, concrete mixer and numerous small tools, etc., enabling us to carry on our work to better advantage. There are many other items which we could enumerate in the way of permanent improvements that you as taxpayers have undoubtedly observed but lack of space calls for omission.

As to the financial status, we find a deficit of $6,000.00 explained as follows. Of this amount $2,600.00 was carried over from last year; this deficiency having been caused by the rebuilding of permanent road on Saranac Street, two years ago. At the end of the present year we find an additional amount of $3,400.00 making the total of $6,000.00. The $3,400.00 deficiency this year includes payment of $1,000.00 due July 1st on a bond issue of some years back for which no provision had been made, and necessitated meeting this out of our general fund. Therefore we expended $2,400.00 above our appropriation for permanent improvements.

Realizing we would exceed our appropriation if we proceeded to accomplish the permanent improvements outlined, we felt it best, however, to clean up the makeshift and temporary repair work proposition and get onto a solid and permanent basis of construction even though we should be grossly criticised by some. However, we have found our fellow taxpayers acknowledge the soundness of our policy and agree that the additional money spent will automatically be saved by elimination of repairs and waste.

In closing we wish to state that we have found in the past year much cooperation and little criticism from our citizens. Their appreciation of our efforts to perform our duties in the best interest, welfare and future development of our Village, as we have been able to see them, encourages us to carry on.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR A. PENNOCK,
LARKIN R. BRUSH,
RUFUS N. GORDON,

Littleton Village Commissioners.

REPORT OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

TO THE CITIZENS OF LITTLETON:

The School Board hereby submits its annual report for your consideration. We believe our duties to be of an administrative form: to see that the funds appropriated for the use of the public schools are used wisely and advantageously, that the boys and girls of our community may have the very best of modern methods and equipment in order that they may learn to successfully meet the problems and difficulties of an ever changing civilization. No school board or teaching staff can bring this to pass without the loyal support and whole-hearted co-operation of parents and other citizens.

Our superintendent and headmaster, in their respective reports, have outlined a well developed progressive policy with which the school board is in full accord. With the assistance of the treasurer, and bearing in mind present economic conditions, a conservative budget has been prepared which is a part of the financial report and in which we ask the sum of $72,000.00 for school maintenance for the ensuing year.

Please give these different reports your thoughtful consideration. Read them with a tolerant and open mind and withal a spirit of optimism for the welfare of our schools now and in the years before us.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

Dear Superintendent Jordan:

We have had several conferences since last August to consider the possible advancement of Littleton High School as a progressive secondary school. You should have a brief written form of some of the many developmental phases we have discussed. These statements shall constitute my first report to you.

The program of Littleton High School has been studied. Four curricula are organized and offered: college preparatory, commercial, home economics, and mechanic arts. The subjects in grades seven through twelve have been departmentalized under eleven regular teachers. The State Board of Education has now approved this as a Class A— six-year secondary school for 1931-32.

Over three hundred pupils are regularly enrolled this school year, the largest enrollment on record. This does not take into account fifty-five pupils from St. Rose of Lima School and twenty-four from Apthorp, who come here to receive instruction in sewing and manual training. By having the services of a part-time assistant we are able to carry on our program only by placing a heavy teaching load on every teacher. The activities necessary are too extensive for the size of the staff. We have on the average over twenty-seven pupils per teacher; many of our divisions have forty or more pupils in them. The best work cannot be accomplished in these large divisions because of the wide range of pupil ability.

The large enrollment taxes not only the resources of the members of the staff but also of the building. We have given over practically all space which should be devoted to a library and reading room to a study-home room. We cannot do full justice in our general shop practice without providing an entrance large enough to bring in an automobile, form machines, and engines. We have moved the mechanical drawing equipment to the only available space in the building. One small room in the basement must house for the present our mechanical equipment for general shop purposes. Temporarily, a portion of this is used as a conditioning room for athletes. If the enrollment steadily increases, a greater number of teachers, smaller teaching divisions, and additional work room space will be needed.

Health is the first cardinal principle of education but the health work we have been doing is in name only. We have developed our program to include few health activities which pupils as adults may continue through life. If the school is to serve one of its purposes as a training ground to handle life's problems, it must "practice what it preaches." We must put into the life of the school, the activities which will really lead to good health practices in later life. Those which should be a vital part of the school's program include:

1. Incultation of the habit of periodic physical examination of such character as to discover physical weaknesses.
2. Prompt correction of defects.
3. Participation in physical activities which are health promoting; tennis, handball, boxing, dancing, bowling, football, basketball, baseball, indoor baseball, fencing, indoor rowing, skating, hockey, hiking, golf and field sports.
4. Study of personal and mental hygiene, bodily development and care to the end that sane thinking on life problems will replace the questionable, uncertain, incorrect ideas often obtained from various misguided and unsupervised sources.
5. An understanding of the relationship each individual has in human welfare, of the responsibilities in home making and providing, of the needs for clean living, wholesome thinking, and wise use of time for work, recreation, and rest.

Pupils should participate in leisure time activities of value from a social standpoint; reading books, magazines, and papers to acquire a full understanding of the affairs of the world in life and letters, appreciation of art, discrimination of still, sound and moving pictures, preparation for parties and social gatherings, acquisition of charm and ease as host, hostess, or guest, participation as an active member in clubs and societies, appreciation of the wonders and beauties of nature and of man's creations, respect, reverence and tolerance for differing faiths, beliefs, and interpretations.

Consideration of some of these should be given as plans for next year are laid. Soon opportunities should be provided for pupils to carry on physical exercise in school hours, guided by trained leaders. A mature woman giving about half of her time to girls' health instruction and gymnasium or playground work and the other half in the classroom would be a valuable addition. A trained man to teach part-time and promote physical activity and health instruction for boys would well repay in the better development of our future citizens.

The gymnasium or playground should be used by some group during every hour of the school day. A man or woman teacher should be directing groups. We should endeavor to make habitual the health-giving activities which may be carried through the many years an individual may live beyond high school days.

A playground worthy of the name should form part of the equipment. Very little outdoor group work can be done on an uneven, rocky, drainage-washed ground. The beautiful lawn in front of our fine building gives a pleasing appearance to the eye but from an educational point of view much of the charm is lost when the rear lot is considered.

Boys and girls ask many questions their parents do not answer. They also hear many statements in social relations which are not based on sane facts or truths. The school could provide the materials for the careful enlightenment of questioning youth. The boys and girls of high school age wonder and question about the new life that is theirs. Boys, as a rule, receive little help from their fathers in this understanding. Shall we continue to allow them to get their ideas and form ideals from sources dealing in untruths or in half truths? Shall we allow our girls in the senior high school to be graduated without full information about their responsibilities as home makers? Shall we consider we have done right by our boys when we keep them in ignorance of social hygiene problems and of the part each must play as a family head and as an adequate breadwinner? We should think and act sanely about these vital phases of social hygiene to the end that our young people may develop a wholesome family life in their days of responsibility.

Our school library, through lack of space, has been relegated to a corner. This makes the use of the public library imperative. The local librarian takes a real interest in satisfying the reading requests of our pupils. She makes certain that the Library has available the books for supplementary reading which might be satisfied in some schools by provision for adequate library and reading room facilities. The professional books and magazines for teachers' use are furnished by members of the staff. Since the public library has accepted part of the responsibility in relieving the situation, it may be possible for further co-operation in that the public library might serve as a part-time school room in which the teaching of good literature and use of reference, books, magazines, and papers could be accomplished. There are good educative possibilities in this co-operative enterprise.

When the new high school building was erected, a small booth for a moving picture projector was installed in the rear of the auditorium. No equipment was provided for this. The owner of the local theatre has been very willing in assisting the school in the form of visual education offered at the Premier Theatre. We have profited by his generosity. Unless the school can afford sound projection equipment and films, a wise expenditure of limited funds may be made in hiring local facilities. Pupils learn very rapidly through the use of pictures, at least one-fourth faster than by telling them or having them read the same ideas from books. An opaque projector furnishes an excellent means for showing pictures from books.

and magazines, and cuts or prints, particularly when used with a translucent screen. This combination may be used in daylight requiring no expensive dark room. For slides, either prepared or hand made, a stereopticon is valuable. If this is fitted with a wide angle lens, it may be used at short range with a daylight screen. An attachment for projecting strip film may be placed on the stereopticon. A micro-projector is a teaching aid when biology is introduced. With a portable sound projector, the school would be suitably equipped to train pupils through visual channels, a far more effective method than by textbooks.

High school training is an accepted educational minimum by parents and prospective employers. Twenty years ago most pupils in high school considered a college or university education as their goal. With the great increase in enrollment since the World War, many pupils have attended who do not possess the mental equipment to take advanced liberal or technical training; hand work is the sort of training sought. Consequently, the subject offerings for pupils have changed rapidly in the last two decades. It can no longer be expected that all shall go to college; the majority will at best take only a limited specialized training after graduation. This makes a guidance program for vocational and educational choices imperative in the high school. Pupils should be assisted in obtaining information about vocations, and in deciding which to enter. Business and professional men and women in the community may help by giving some time each year to acquaint pupils interested in a particular business or profession with its possibilities. The school may initiate the work, supply the materials, and furnish the inspiration for extended study and organizations in the community can render valuable aid in the guidance program. The churches and young people's leaders, the Chamber of Commerce, fraternal bodies with affiliated boys' and girls' societies, service clubs doing work for young people, boys' and girls' clubs, private training schools, women's clubs, welfare agencies, public library, employment agencies or placement bureaus, outing clubs, parents' associations, and teachers' clubs may have common ground for co-ordination of efforts in training boys and girls in an educational forum. The community organizations should form co-operating units with the school, each endeavoring to do its full share towards the guidance of the young people in this section.

There should be one person in charge of the school's guidance work, starting the program with pupils in grade seven and guiding the graduates through college, normal or business school, hospital or specialized training, and into life's work. It is a position requiring an enthusiastic and careful counselor, a wealth of study material furnished by school and community facilities, an ability to make the needed contacts with administrators of post-secondary institutions and with employers, a full record of a pupil's achievements, habits, attitudes, home environment, interests, career choices, social activities, and leadership qualities, some time during the school day for teaching and conference, available hours for visitation of graduates in post-secondary institutions, who need the assistance and advice of administrators, professors, or future employers.

Employment offices and agencies, and directors of admission of post-secondary institutions considering our graduates now ask the high school to furnish a variety of data about an individual. Formerly, only the scholastic record was called for; now the results of achievement and mental ability tests or examinations, the habits of the prospect, his vocational and educational interests, his environment and home background, his health and his particular strong qualities or detrimental weaknesses are expected. This involves keeping records. By an adequate system a more complete picture of an individual's potentialities is shown than in meager scholastic reports. The school should continually administer achievement and mental ability examinations, secure the results, and modify teaching in the light of findings. A thorough physical examination should be given periodically. Teachers should pool their opinions on the habits and interests of pupils. The counselor in vocational and educational guidance should be alert to make the most of opportunities for pupil development in his work and should record data. The school should promote clubs, organizations, social activities, health programs, assemblies, music, reading, art, dramatics, public speaking and participate in community projects so pupils may have opportunities to develop personal abilities and interests. The home and the school and community organization should work on common ground in promoting an understanding of life's problems by boys and girls, in satisfying the interests in career choices, in providing means for the further education of promising pupils, in developing desirable citizenship practices. To furnish all the information about particular individuals often asked for through legitimate inquiry, record-keeping must form a part of school practice.

The high school should shape its program to develop the whole child, not merely the "book learning" side. It does its work well just so long as its activities give the maturing boy or girl a chance to hear, see and live the best there is, with the means at our command. The major consideration is the future of the developing citizen which included a well-rounded personality, ideals of sterling calibre, habits of unquestioned nature, knowledge of art, music, literature, science, social conditions and world affairs, interest in work which is honorable and for which an honest wage shall be paid, an appreciation of the services rendered by taxpayers, parents and the community, and understanding of practices humans can sanction as desirable to the promotion of society's welfare, and of a desire to succeed and be of service to others.

Upon graduation, many former pupils settle in this locality. Some from other sections migrate here to work. The school might consider using its facilities with adults to continue training or study more advanced than usually offered in high school. Classes for individuals or groups could be held in evening hours, thus the school might be of additional service to people in the community. Subjects of value are office practice, accounting, typewriting, pattern making, cabinet work, millinery, household arts, dramatics, public speaking, language work, literature, art and painting, choral work, instrumental music, gymnastics or physical activity programs.

Our building and lawn give to outsiders an impression of an excellent school; visitors comment upon the excellent manner in which our equipment is kept. However, there are many other factors which must enter into the solution of the question whether a school is serving its greatest usefulness. To summarize, the following phases seem vital:

1. There may be additional space required to care for increasing enrollment.

2. The program may require the employment of additional staff members to bring class divisions into reasonable teaching units.

3. Our mechanical department needs an approach for delivery of larger pieces of machinery.

4. Health activities which form desirable future practices for maturing pupils should be incorporated into the school's program. The gymnasium should be used all day by various groups.

5. A playground worthy of the name should be a part of the equipment.

6. Limited social hygiene instruction, school and home co-operating, should be considered.

7. The Public Library might be used for a part-time school.

8. Equipment for instruction by visual means would be a valuable addition to teaching methods.

9. Guidance into vocational and educational paths should be our practice. A counselor who can use our school and local facilities, those of post-secondary institutions, with adequate time for the work, would prove a real asset.

10. A system of recording data about each pupil's most important activities, accomplishments, possibilities, and interests is necessary to supply growing requests on inquiry blanks, and for future administrators of this school.

11. The practices of the high school should constructively contribute to the development of a well-rounded life for each boy and girl enrolled.

12. The high school should make some provision to aid those adults who wish to continue study.

Without consideration of many details we have discussed, it is a genuine pleasure for me to set before you the factors of major importance which seems to affect this high school in fulfilling its mission. Some of these practices have already been initiated; more can be promoted as the load on staff members is equalized. As time produces its changes, the twelve points stressed may serve as guides in administrative procedure.

To you I must say that the pupils are a clean-minded, alert, energetic group; the teachers have been eager to consider new methods and practices, they are loyal and co-operative; the building is in fine shape, kept so by a very busy janitor; the equipment so far provided is good. The prospects are bright for Littleton High School's development as a progressive secondary school. I appreciate most sincerely the high professional spirit with which you, as superintendent, have regarded the headmaster's position.

Very sincerely,

DONALD P. MATTOON.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board and Citizens of Littleton:

I herewith submit my first report relative to the schools in your district.

I. Attendance—

The total enrollment in your schools during the year closing last June was 712. The average membership was 629 and the average attendance was 606. The total enrollment in the high school was 223 and in the elementary grades 489. The percentage of attendance was 96.44. This shows a good attendance record.

This year the total enrollment to date is 684, with 229 in the high school and 455 in the elementary grades. The present enrollment is distributed in the different buildings as follows: 303 in the high school building, 179 in Kilburn, 151 at Apthorp, 32 at North Littleton, and 19 at Pattenville.

The attendance thus far has been good but the number of tardinesses has been excessive, especially in the high school. Parents should recognize that the habit of punctuality is an important one in the development of character. Punctuality is a requirement in business organizations. High school pupils will soon be responsible for their own promptness in the different fields of endeavor. In their formative years parents should co-operate earnestly with the school officials in this important detail.

II. Health—

The complete medical inspection report for the present year is not ready for publication. The following chart shows the summary for last year.

Record of Medical Inspection and of Remedial Work for 1930-1931 Medical Inspection for Year 1931-1932

Defects	No. of pupils affected	Pupils receiving treatment	Number defects corrected	No. of pupils affected

Miss Bryant and Dr. Page give much time to individual cases of illness in addition to the medical inspection, to the needy cases of malnutrition, and to the contagious diseases that occur. The number of defects corrected last year is a splendid testimony to their untiring efforts in behalf of the school pupils. The report shows that 50 of the tonsil cases were operations at the Littleton Hospital for which several of the physicians gave their services. The school and the community are much indebted to the hospital officials and to these physicians for their interest.

Efforts along the same line will be made this year. Miss Bryant has indicated that she will need approximately $300.00 for remedial work on teeth, tonsils, and eyes. The community should cooperate in the sale of tags or in any other activity for raising this money. Health improvement is one of the objectives of education in all grades. It is one of the aims which will be progressively emphasized in future years.

Medical inspection sufficiently thorough to discover all physical ailments or weaknesses will eventually be demanded in all public schools and universities. This will mean an additional expenditure for health work. Physical training courses will also become a part of the high school curricula. Health and physical strength are as important to the development of a nation's civilization as the classics or the practical arts. While the present year is not an opportune time to encourage increased expenditures in any unit of government, this phase of school work should have careful consideration as soon as better economic conditions exist. Littleton has the facilities to undertake a progressive program in health work in its public schools under normal conditions.

III. School Building Needs—

The most pressing needs in the improvement of your school buildings are at Apthorp and at North Littleton and Pattenville. The Apthorp school is doubtless a permanent institution. The roof should be shingled. The corridors and all of the rooms used should be painted, new lights should be installed, and some new furniture should be purchased. The interior of the Pattenville school should be painted and the interior of the North Littleton school should be painted if that building is used. Weather strips should be placed on the windows that do not have them at the Kilburn building, and the two rooms in the dark finish should be painted light. The Kilburn grounds should be radically improved. At the high school building storage space for text books and for athletic equipment should be provided. A sum of approximately $1,100.00 will be required to meet the most pressing needs. If $1,500.00 is provided in your budget, $400.00 will be left for cleaning and minor repairs. Experience shows that this would not be too much.

IV. Equipment Needs—

The needs for school equipment seem to be a large item this year. More pupils' desks are needed in some of the classrooms in the high school. The most of these rooms have 35 pupil desks. Many of the classes have more than 35 pupils.

is to be made in physical training other than in basketball. The gymnasium has no equipment at present. Additional playground equipment for all of the elementary schools is needed. Some new equipment is needed in the mechanic arts, domestic arts, and science departments. More typewriters are needed. We have had to hire four typewriters this year to meet the needs of the commercial department. Some new reference books for unit courses, health, and vocational work are needed. Some provision should be made for visual education. A sum of $1,000.00 should be provided in the budget for new equipment.

V. Consolidation—

You have at North Littleton a school with 32 pupils and with two teachers in charge. The building was not constructed for two school rooms and does not afford satisfactory school facilities. The new road makes transportation to the village schools a reasonable proposition for consideration. Transportation costs to the village in a modern school bus, owned by the district, would not be much more than the present transportation costs to the North Littleton school. Safe transportation in a well lighted, well heated bus should not be feared by the parents at North Littleton or elsewhere.

All of the pupils in the first six grades can be cared for in the Kilburn building with no additional cost. By giving the high school one additional part time teacher the pupils now in grades seven and eight at North Littleton can be cared for. Thus, by closing that school the total cost of two salaries, fuel, janitor service, building repairs, and transportation would be reduced to the cost of transportation to the village schools and one part time teacher's salary. The saving over a period of five years would be approximately $1,000.00 a year.

The money saving alone, however, is not the only consideration. The opportunities of the village schools are greater than can possibly be provided in a rural school. Teachers in single grades can give better instruction than can teachers of several grades. The pupils of grades seven and eight would have the advantages of the practical arts courses and of better trained teachers in special subjects.

VI. Instruction in the Elementary Grades.

In the Kilburn and Apthorp schools the teachers are the same as last year. One new teacher was required for the school at North Littleton. For this position one of the highest rated girls in the graduating class at Plymouth was secured.

Some of the teachers in the elementary grades have been in their present positions for several years. My work in the elementary schools to date has been largely to get impressions, to formulate policies for future development. Different superintendents naturally have some different ideas—differences in supervision and differences in administration. Some adjustments are necessary when a new man appears as supervisor of experienced teachers—adjustments on his part and on the part of the teachers. Thus, progress as measured by results is necessarily slow. Without exception the elementary teachers have extended to me earnest cooperation and have given me the benefit of their experience and of their acquaintance, with pupils and parents. I am deeply indebted for their interest in the schools of Littleton.

VII. High School Instruction—

In his recommendations for the high school Headmaster Mattoon has presented a progressive program. His recommendations should be carefully studied. The merit of none of them can hardly be questioned. Littleton is entitled to the best in educational practice in the high school grades and in the elementary grades. All citizens should be interested to provide as well as possible for the welfare of the pupils throughout their school career from the first grade to the completion of their high school course. At no time can school pupils have poor instruction without a loss. At all times do they need wise leadership and the opportunity to utilize fully their several abilities. Today the public school fulfills its mission only as it provides instruction in health, in citizenship, in character building, in acquaintance with vocations, and for some actual instruction in home making or in self supporting labor. To provide instruction in the old-time unit courses of study alone would place education out of step with the rest of the world. To offer the required instruction, equipment is needed and trained leaders are needed in all of the departments.

Mr. Mattoon has clearly outlined the needs which the citizens of Littleton should strive to provide as rapidly as a reasonable expenditure for education will permit. Some of these needs are provided for in the budget submitted for your consideration this year. The other recommendations can be adopted as part of our educational program in the near future with but slightly increased expenditure.

Three teachers resigned during the summer. The difficulty of selecting successful teachers of experience for high school departmental work during July and August is sometimes great. Last summer more candidates than usual were seeking positions. The new teachers came to the school well prepared for their work. The high school instruction as a whole this year has been good. The teachers have proved their willingness to work, to co-operate with enthusiasm, and to assist the administration in every possible way. My appreciation to Headmaster Mattoon and his associates for their professional endeavors is very great.

VIII. Supervisory Efforts—

In addition to supervisory visits, conferences with teachers, teachers' meetings, and circular letters to teachers an earnest effort has been made to stimulate the highest professional spirit among all of the teachers. Arrangements were made with the Department of Education of the University of New Hampshire to offer an extension course in classroom teaching at Littleton, open to all teachers in this section. Thirty-five teachers are students in this course, including seventeen from the Littleton staff. The class meets on Saturday mornings. The work assigned requires much study in diagnostic and remedial teaching and in vocational guidance. Its value should be great to all who are members of the group. The willingness of teachers to give Saturday morning and several hours during the week to study in addition to their own class work indicates a sound professional spirit.

A definite plan for determining pupil ability to do school work and for judging teaching has been inaugurated. Standardized mental tests have been given to all pupils and achievement tests to all pupils in grades one to nine. Progress or achievement tests will be given to all high school pupils in the different subjects during the year. The records of these tests on file in the office and available for teachers' use will be a help in our professional work, as one form of measurement.

Several professional books have been added to our school library. Certain bases for judging teachers and teaching have been given to teachers and have been discussed with them.

To make every teacher a student of her job is the goal. If she has the ability, training, and professional spirit her success is ultimately assured. By this road only can progress be attained.

IX. Finances—

Your last school year ending June 30, 1931, showed a balance of $90.50. To pay bills $4,000.00 had been borrowed from the appropriation of this school year. Thus, you had a real deficit of $3,909.50.

The budget for this school year showed no provision to reduce that deficit. A slight saving in certain items may be possible during this year. The deficit on June 30 next is estimated at the present at approximately $3,400.00. This would indicate a reduction of about $500.00 in the deficit during the present year.

The budget for next year is $2,860.00 less than the budget submitted for your consideration last year, and $2,648.00 less than the budget as revised in June. If the same appropriation of last year, $74,000.00, is raised at the district meeting the school board will be able to operate the schools effectively and close the year in June 1933 with a deficit of less than $1,000.00. The budget can be provided for with an appropriation of $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 less if the district prefers to raise a small amount and carry the deficit. After June 1933 the amount of the debt due each year will be $2,000.00 less than at present. If you wish to reduce the appropriation slightly this year you could raise $72,000.00 and close the year in June 1933 with a deficit of less than $3,000.00. A similar appropriation for the following year would probably show a balanced account in June 1934. This procedure seems to me advisable.

In consideration of the slightly increasing annual enrollment in the high school, and the school activities that need attention, a radically reduced appropriation would tend to reduce the efficiency of the school system. This period of economic stress demands economy in every department of government but it also demands the best possible results from education. The budget for next year is presented only after careful consideration of school needs and after reductions for lower costs in all purchases of materials have been made. The most pressing needs for building repairs and for equipment have been provided for and the total amount for teachers' salaries has been retained at approximately the same figure as this year. To reduce the efficiency of the instruction would seem to me disastrous in any plan for school progress. The other items in the budget remain about the same as last year and cannot be materially changed.

X. Appreciation—

My work in your midst for this first half year has been very pleasant. The members of the school board have given careful consideration to all of my recommendations, have adopted nearly all of them, and in every way have shown a keen interest in the welfare of the schools. Their cooperation and the splendid democratic spirit of their meetings are encouraging for the sound development of your school system.

Respectfully submitted,

ELEANOR SHANE,

Librarian.

Attention this year has been devoted to the improvement of the library in physical equipment and arrangement. A rather large proportion of the book fund has been spent on books for the children's room and an effort made to develop interest in the library among the school pupils. The library has been open Saturday mornings since October 1931, so that school children who wished to help with library routine, or to learn library methods might do so. Considerable progress has been made in this way in the work of re-cataloging the books.

ELEANOR SHANE,

Librarian..
