Magazines given are: Open Road, Literary Digest, Woman Citizen, Granite Monthly, Atlantic Monthly, Horticultural Magazine, Christian Register, Humane Review, and Christian Science Monitor.

Many changes have been made in the library the past year. The books have been rearranged according to authors and subjects. Worn out books and those so out of date as to be of no use have been discarded. Miss Amabel of the state library commission worked here a week sorting the books and starting the work of cataloguing.

Mrs. Charles Bancroft gave us electric lights, children's table, librarian's desk, chairs and rugs, and also helped in many other ways.

We are indebted to many for gifts of books, pictures, etc.

The ladies' circle meet here Wednesday afternoons. After school the children have a story hour. Arrangements have been made so that those who are unable to come Saturday but come Wednesdays may take out books.

The library still needs a small table about 2 feet by 2 feet, an appropriate sign, and all the worth-while books anyone wants to give us.

It is the thought of friends, trustees and librarian to supply a wider and better range of reading for all—an opportunity to read for more than pleasure.

We would call your attention particularly to our reference books, the Encyclopædia Britannica and Webster's new unabridged dictionary. We hope you will look these books over and discover for yourself the wealth of information and pleasure that awaits you.

The library was open for reading Wednesday evenings during November and a part of December. We plan to keep it open as much as the people will really use it. And we hope they will become as interested in all departments of the library as they are already in the borrowing of books and magazines.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Hebron School Board:

I take pleasure in presenting my first annual school report. My duties as superintendent of your schools began the first of last August. When my work began, the yearly budget had been made, the programs of studies for the various schools had been adopted, and the teachers had all been engaged. Consequently in the main I have carried out the plans formed previous to my arrival. Now and then some things have been changed to meet the conditions of the present year.

The newly organized supervisory union consists of six towns namely, Ashland, Bridgewater, Groton, Holderness, Hebron, and New Hampton. Since I have been on the job I have managed to become acquainted with the geography of the six towns, with the school boards, and with the six groups of teachers and scholars. I have observed and studied the social, economic, and educational factors of the communities over which my duties extend.

I have secured and furnished textbooks, and supplies for the teachers and the janitors. I have visited schools often, and helped teachers with their class room problems. Teachers' meetings have been called in order to discuss our problems as a group. I have done all my office work without clerical assistance. I have attended board meetings no less than once a month in each of the six towns in the supervisory union. I have spoken in the interest of the schools before various organizations in the different towns. These statements are made to give the reader some conception of the way in which the superintendent uses his time.

I regret to have to report continued absence in the village school, because of sickness. Parents should look after the health of their children. Obedience to the ordinary laws of hygiene both at home and in the schools will keep contagious diseases away from both places. Physical ailments keep children from achieving their highest mental and physical development. A word to the wise is sufficient.

During the fall term achievement and intelligence tests were given in the Hebron schools under my direction. Space does not permit a detailed account of the results obtained. Suffice it to say that the results were not satisfactory for any one concerned. There are many reasons why children often fail to make normal progress. Unsatisfactory home conditions, poor home training, continued absence from school, poor teaching, sickness, failure to fit the schools to the needs and capacities of the children, all play a part. We should strive to eliminate as many of these causes as we can. This is a problem which concerns the home, the school, and the whole community.

We have arrived at a point in American life when we must give children the best educational advantages which the community can afford, if we wish to fit them for intelligent participation in life. Hebron cannot afford to neglect its greatest treasure namely, its boys and girls. The greatest recommendation which I can make, and feel it my duty to make at this time, is for the school district to raise sufficient funds at the annual meeting in order to enable the school board and the superintendent to go out on the market and secure well trained, experienced, and successful teachers, for the children of Hebron, who in my estimation are just as good as the children of any other community, and deserve just as good advantages as the children of any other community. On general principle I will say that as the teacher, so is the school. It is no disgrace for any community to be faced with difficult problems. It is a disgrace, however, if after the community recognizes the existence of a problem, the people will do nothing to find a solution.

Hebron has great possibilities for development in the way of agriculture, fruit growing, as a summer resort, and in other ways. If we develop an educational system in keeping with these possibilities, the schools will contribute greatly toward attracting ambitious and energetic people to settle here, and transform this little community into a greater center of human activity.

This is all I am ready to say at this writing, five months after I am on the job. I am aware of a few elementary, and secondary school problems facing the community. I am leaving these problems for further consideration. In due time I shall submit before the school district, through the school board, the results of my continued study, investigations, and observations, with my suggestions to raise the Hebron school system to a higher level.

Respectfully submitted,

VINCENT GATTO,
Superintendent of Schools.
