FOREST FIRES — OUR MOST SHAMEFUL WASTE

Everyone apparently fears fire but too many are careless with it. This is particularly true of fires in and near woodlands. Official figures show that more than 98 per cent of all forest fires result from human carelessness and can be prevented. Consequently, we may say "Forest Fires are our most shameful waste."

Annual forest fire losses are tremendous and their effects far reaching. Such fires destroy the raw products of the forests, the protection forests provide for game and the supply of ground water. They upset local economies by drawing men from gainful employment and requiring the expenditure of public funds to extinguish them.

Our forest fire organization is doing a good job in keeping the size of fires small but the number of fires is increasing. In 1949 there were 100 more fires in New Hampshire than in 1948, but they burned 500 acres less. For the warden and his deputies to do the job they are capable of, they must have the cooperation of the public — YOU!

The primary objective of all fire fighters is PREVENTION—fire stoppage. This is the goal toward which your local forest fire warden and his deputies are constantly working. It can be achieved ONLY if YOU and YOU and YOU cooperate with them. It is worth YOUR effort and can be accomplished by:

1. Being careful with fire in or near woodland, being particularly careful with matches and cigarettes.
2. Securing the required written permit from the warden when the ground is not covered with snow.

3. Insisting that others be careful and comply with burning requirements.

4. Calling the warden promptly when fire is detected and aiding him to extinguish it.

Let's reduce the number of forest fires and eliminate our most shameful waste.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of East Kingston, New Hampshire:

I take pleasure in submitting my second annual report as Superintendent of Schools.

The school year 1949-1950 opened with three changes in personnel. Mrs. Pearl Wilbur replaced Mr. Frank Robinson as teacher of grades 5-8 at Brown's Academy. Mrs. Eleanor Henry started her work as music supervisor in place of Miss Prudence Hayes, and Miss Nancy Carnegie the school nurse for Supervisory Union No. 16, replacing Mrs. Constance Cooper. Mrs. Eva Philbrick continued her effective work as teacher of grades 1-4.

As it was not possible to find suitable instructors to teach sewing and art, these two subjects have been dropped from the curriculum this year.

The problem facing all of us is to decide how our children can have the best education possible within the means of each town. East Kingston at the school meeting in March, 1949, voted to appoint a committee to study with similar committees from other towns the possibility of forming a cooperative elementary school district. This study has been completed and a report made of the findings. From the study it has been found that there are two avenues of approach to our school problems.

1.) Each town can face its own problems independently.

2.) The towns of the area can combine their resources by forming a cooperative elementary school district and by building a centralized school for the children of all the towns.

Probably East Kingston prefers to adopt the first course at the present time because of the advantages which the town has due to Brown's Academy. However, I would encourage the citizens to become familiar with the other possibility in case in the future you might wish to consider it more seriously.

I believe that there is a serious problem facing the school district of East Kingston. It is one of whether or not in the near future it will be possible to obtain the services of competent teachers who are willing to teach four grades in a room. With the continued shortage of qualified elementary teachers, there is every reason to believe that we may not be as fortunate in this respect in the years to come as we are at the present time. Serious consideration should be given to this matter in an attempt to find the best possible solution.

It is encouraging to have a Parent-Teacher Association organized during the past year. Members of such an organization can do a great deal of good and the schools can benefit in proportion to the interest and activity of the group.

Appreciation should be expressed to the Trustees of Brown's Academy for their splendid contribution to the schools in the form of a moving picture projector and beaded screen. This up-to-date equipment makes it possible to start an audio-visual program in the schools for the first time. Use of such equipment was proven to be the most effective method of instruction in the armed services during the recent war and the school program should be greatly aided by this fine gift.

I call your attention to the reports and tables which follow. I trust that these will be of interest to all parents and citizens.

In conclusion, I wish to express my deep appreciation to the citizens, the members of the School Board, and the teachers for their splendid co-operation and support during this year.

Respectfully submitted,

RAYMOND A. HOYT, Superintendent
Supervisory Union No. 16

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Following is the report of the school nurse from September 7, 1949, to January 1, 1950.

Bi-weekly visits have been made to the schools at which times the first aid kit was checked and fresh supplies were added; children have been weighed and measured—a weight and growth chart is kept in the schools which is of great interest to the children and of value to the nurse; vision and hearing have been tested, teeth and tonsils have been checked, skin and hair examined frequently. If time permitted, little health talks were given in the classroom. All defects found were reported to the parents. If the defect was not corrected in a reasonable length of time, home visits were made to determine the cause of delay.

This year the Maico Individual Audiometer, a recent gift of the Exeter Kiwanis Club to the schools of this Union, was used. This made it possible to test the hearing of the children in the first and second grades as well as the other children.

There is yet much that can be done in planning and carrying out a health program for school children. Ideas and theories have changed in this field, as in other fields, and it is hoped that as time and opportunity avail themselves these will be put into effect.

Following is a report of the physical examination:

Number of pupils examined	57
Defective vision	17	Corrected 10
Defective teeth	16
Defective tonsils	8
Defective hearing	3
Orthopedic defect	1

All children have been vaccinated. The P. T. A. had as one of their special projects a health examination by a physician. This was a more complete examination than a nurse could give and was felt to be very worthwhile.

At this time I would like to express my appreciation for the cooperation of our superintendent, teachers, School Board, Red Cross, and P. T. A. Everyone has been most gracious in helping me get started with my work here.

Respectfully submitted,

NANCY CARNEGIE, R. N.,
School Nurse.

REPORT OF MUSIC SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

My duties as teacher of music in the schools of East Kingston were assumed in September, 1949. Training in the fundamentals of music, the learning of new songs, and work on two part music have formed a major part of the first term work.

A Christmas program was given at the Pound School, which included specially prepared Christmas music.

After the Christmas vacation, school was resumed the first week of January, 1949. Plans are being made for a musical program which will be given before the end of the school year.

Knowledge of the fundamentals of music and love and appreciation of good music can mean a great deal in the lives of all of us.

I wish to express my thanks to Mr. Hoyt, the members of the East Kingston School Board, and the teachers for their co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

ELEANOR HENRY.

REPORT OF THE COOPERATIVE SCHOOL DISTRICT COMMITTEE

The towns of Exeter, Stratham, Newfields, and East Kingston voted in March 1949 to consider the possibility of forming a cooperative elementary school district. A committee was formed to study the building requirements of such a district and to determine the probable capital investment and operational cost involved. The following pages summarize the findings of this committee and their recommendations. Representatives from Kensington were invited to serve on this committee unofficially because it was understood that Kensington is facing the same problems in elementary education as the other towns.

Something Must Be Done

The major problem facing the five school districts studied is one of overcrowding caused by increased elementary school enrollment, combined with buildings and equipment which are for the most part obsolete or in need of major repair. The overcrowding of schools has been steadily increasing and a census of pre-school children aged one to six years show that it will continue to increase. The situation in Exeter is thought to be critical at the present time, and as a result Exeter will consider at its next school meeting the possibility of building its own new and centralized elementary school on the Robinson Seminary grounds. The situation in the other towns is somewhat less critical, but all of these towns realize that major improvements are needed in their present elementary schools.

The problem facing all of us is to decide how our children can have the best education possible within the means of each of the towns. There are two avenues of approach to this issue:

1.) Each town can face its own problem independently.

2.) The five towns can combine their resources by forming a cooperative elementary school district and by building a centralized school for the children of all the towns. If a cooperative district is to be formed, the decision should be made soon and before the several towns invest new capital in their own independent districts.

Why a Cooperative School District?

New Hampshire was dotted with small one-room schools not many years ago. Today most of these are gone. Better transportation and an appreciation of the economies and educational advantages of larger schools have caused the towns to concentrate their pupils in central buildings.

Why not carry this consolidation one step further and permit adjoining towns to pool their educational resources? This idea is being put into effect in more than 15 states at the present time. New York state passed a law authorizing consolidated school districts in 1925; between 1925 and 1946, 350 consolidated districts were formed. Our New Hampshire legislature, realizing that rural education in New Hampshire is far from perfect, passed a law in 1947 authorizing two or more towns to get together and form what is called a "cooperative school district."

According to this law the towns must individually decide by a majority vote of those present at an authorized school meeting that they desire to join such a cooperative district. They must also individually decide 1.) the name of the district. 2.) the number of the members of the cooperative school board. 3.) the number of members to be elected from each local district and the length of their initial terms of office. 4.) the purchase or lease by the cooperative district of any existing facilities in the local districts. 5.) provision for supervisory service by a superintendent of schools. This plan of organization must then be approved by the state board of education. All the affairs of a cooperative school district are administered by a cooperative school board. The membership of this board is discussed elsewhere in this report.

The cost of capital improvements such as land, buildings, furnishings, etc., for a cooperative district are divided among the local districts in the proportion that their separate equalized valuation bears to the total equalized valuation of the property within the cooperative district. The costs of operation of a cooperative district, including costs of transportation, are divided among the local districts in proportion to the average daily membership from these districts for the preceding school year.

A new town may request to join an existing cooperative district by a majority vote in its own meeting. This request must be approved by all of the then cooperative districts, each in its own meeting and by majority vote. A town may withdraw from a cooperative district in a similar fashion and upon similar approval from the other towns.

Would a Cooperative School Mean Better Education?

The committee believes that better education is possible in a large centralized school than is possible in smaller units. A large school offers:

- 1.) Separate rooms and teachers for each grade.
- 2.) Classes of accepted size. (25 pupils per class.)
- 3.) Working conditions which will attract good teachers.
- 4.) A large group of teachers who receive stimulation from working together and who have more diversified talents than is possible in a small group.
- 5.) Availability of more consistent specialized teaching such as that in music, art, and remedial reading.
- 6.) More effective school nursing.
- 7.) Services of a dental hygienist.

8.) Special help for handicapped children.

9.) An opportunity for each child to be placed in classes with children of his own age or ability.

10.) Physical education under the supervision of a trained director. At the present time only Exeter has supervised physical education.

11.) A modern plant to work in—well heated, well lighted, well equipped, and with good sanitation.

Disadvantages of a Cooperative School

There are admittedly some disadvantages. Some of these are more apparent than real.

1.) Many children would receive all of their education outside of their own town. The towns would thus tend to become less important as social centers for their children and "town spirit" would suffer.

2.) Many children would have to be transported over longer distances than they are now. With a central school in Exeter, however, no child could live farther than about 8 miles from the school. Bus routes have been planned and they appear to be unexpectedly short and efficient. It is probable that some of the younger children in the smaller towns would spend less time on buses than they do at present.

3.) The smaller towns would lose control over the education of their children. The present law attempts to avoid this by stating that each member town must have at least one representative on the cooperative school board. The committee suggests that each small town which might vote to join a cooperative district should have one representative and that Exeter should have as many representatives as there are small towns in the cooperative. This would make for equal balance between rural and central representation.

The Tentative Plan

The committee has based its planning on an elementary school for grades 1 through 6. Such a school would have about 570 pupils (1949-50 enrollment) from the towns included in this report. Exeter has plans already drawn for an 18 room school which includes a combined lunch room and auditorium able to seat 600 people and a kitchen for serving lunch. The committee suggests that 6 more rooms be added to this proposed Exeter school to convert it into a cooperative school for Exeter, Stratham, Newfields, East Kingston, and Kensington. The proposed location on the grounds of the Robinson Seminary had adequate space and is the most central location possible. The existing elementary school buildings in Exeter and the outlying towns, with the possible exception of the Brown Academy in East Kingston, would not be used. The cooperative district would assume no responsibility for them. Each local district could sell its present land and buildings to aid in the payment for the new school. Exeter might plan to use its present School Street school as a public kindergarten.

Tentative Building Cost Estimates (including land and equipment)

The building cost of Exeter's proposed 18 room school has been estimated at $330,000. The committee believes that if 6 rooms are added to the school, the cost would approximate $426,000. To this figure must be added perhaps $12,500 for the purchase of the land since the cooperative district would buy the land from the Exeter district which now owns it. The total cost might, therefore, approximate $438,500. According to their percentage of equalized valuation, the towns would divide this building cost as follows:

	Equalized Valuation	Percent of Total Equal Val.	Share of Total Cost
Exeter	9,624,274	79.3	347,730.50
Kensington	652,703	5.4	23,679.00
East Kingston	520,776	4.3	18,855.50
Newfields	501,328	4.1	17,978.50
Stratham	836,903	6.9	30,256.50
			<hr/> 438,500.00

Exeter's share of cost as shown above would in effect be reduced $12,500 as Exeter might be paid this sum or even more for the purchase of the land by the cooperative district. These figures appear to show that Exeter stands to neither lose or gain significantly by joining a cooperative district. The other towns appear to gain significantly in that none of them could build modern facilities for themselves for the amount which they would be called upon to give to the cooperative. This is apparently true because of the fact that one large building is cheaper to build than several small ones. Also one large building is able to make more economical use of its space than is possible in several small buildings. Although Exeter appears to gain nothing in original capital investment, over a period of time the town might profit by the fact that 200 new children would be going to school in the town. These children and their families would be likely to consider Exeter as their shopping center.

Cost of Operation

The costs of operation including transportation have been estimated in some detail. They are based on current salary scales in this community.

The estimated operating cost for each town is approximately equal to what the towns have budgeted for elementary school education for 1949-1950. It has not been possible to make an exact comparison in each town. Experience with cooperative schools in other states has shown that in most instances educational opportunity equal to that offered in numerous small units can be obtained for less expense in cooperative schools. In the majority of cases, however, cooperative schools have actually spent more money because more and better educational services were needed and the communities were willing to pay more for the improved education. The primary purpose of school district reorganization is not to reduce the total cost of education but to obtain better educational opportunity and a more effective use of funds expended for education.

Reccommendations

The Cooperative School District Committee believes after thorough study that a cooperative elementary school district such as outlined in this report offers definite educational advantages to the towns concerned. As is true throughout the country, the education will not be cheaper but it should be better.
