Cherenko Convicted For Knifing in Drunken Brawl

Case Appealed

Mike Cherenko was sentenced by Judge Hening at the Police Court Tuesday night to 60 days in jail and ordered to pay a fine of $100 for knifing Wilfred Bilodeau in a drunken brawl which took place in Cambridge Monday afternoon.

Bilodeau was badly injured as a result of the fray. Eleven stitches were taken in his neck and four on his left arm. According to Bilodeau's version of the story given at the Police Court he was on his way fishing when he reached a clearing where three men were consuming a gallon of alcohol which they invited him to partake. He started to wrestle in fun with one of the men, who is now sporting a black eye.

Another witness stated that after Bilodeau got through with the above mentioned he pitched into Cherenko. At this point Cherenko admitted using a jack-knife on Bilodeau but further stated that he didn't intend to hurt Bilodeau. After being knifed Bilodeau ran towards the state road where he met a car and was given a ride to the St. Louis Hospital where he received treatment for his wounds.

The case was appealed by Attorney Matthew J. Ryan who is defending Cherenko. Judge Hening set bail at $300. The case will be tried in the Superior Court at the next term which will be held next October.

Workers Voted 504 to 89 on Deadline to Brown Co.

In a poll taken last Wednesday (June 13) at the Stahl-Clarke building the employees of the Brown Company voted 504 to 89 to give that Company notice that unless the matters of a wage increase and seniority rights were taken to the State Board of Arbitration, they would take more drastic action.

The notice as served to the Brown Company officials gave them until Thursday, June 21, to answer and as this issue of the Guardian goes to press the officials of the Coos County Workers Club have not yet received a reply.

The fact that the vote was so low was no doubt due to a misunderstanding among the men as to the exact date of the poll. Some men got the impression after the mass meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. park that the vote was to be held a week from Wednesday, (meaning June 20). Then also a rumor got under way in the Cascade mill that there was to be no poll at all, that it had been called off, that an agreement had been reached. This all kept many men from casting their votes and accounts a great deal why the vote cast was just one-half of what club officials expected it to be.

Members Fully Discuss Report at Club Meeting

Club Joliette Hall, June 19—The regular business of the weekly Coos County Workers' Club meeting was followed by discussions on the matters of a wage increase and seniority rights which the Club is attempting to obtain from the Brown Company.

President Legassie read and explained a report received from Labor Commissioner John S. B. Davie. After hearing the report the Club voted to send Commissioner Davie a reply concerning the recommendations as to unit committees. The report of Labor Commissioner Davie is as follows:

Report of Labor Commissioner on Conference before him between representatives of Brown Company and Brown Company Division, Coos County Workers' Club held at Berlin, N. H., June 1, 1934.

Under date of April 23, 1934, the Brown Company was presented by representatives of the workers with a request which practically meant they restore the 1929 wage scale. Several conferences were held between the company and representatives of the workers but the workers claimed they could receive no definite answer on their request.

On May 9, 1934, the Commissioner visited the City of Berlin and conferred with the workers' committee and representatives of the company. At that time it developed the men were ready and willing to submit their whole case to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. On recommendation of the Commissioner the company's representative agreed to take the matter under consideration.

After this visit of the Commissioner, conferences were held between the parties. The company representatives stated they could see no reason why they should go before a board of this character, feeling the request of the men was out of line with present day conditions.

The Commissioner was notified by the workers that no progress was being made on his recommendation and he again visited the City of Berlin on June 1st and arranged a meeting between representatives of the Brown Company and the men. Mr. Paul Brown, who represented the company, reaffirmed what he had already told the men and gave his reasons for the position taken by the company.

It developed in the hearing there was now pending advances in wages in thirteen competing plants and the men felt, in the light of what was transpiring outside, the Brown Company should take steps to increase its wages.

Taking Gihnan, Vermont, as a guide on these proposed increases that are now pending, Mr. Brown, at the request of the Labor Commissioner, consented to place before his board of directors the proposed increase to the end that should the same be adopted the Brown Company would get in line with her nearest competitors.

POLITICS

It is notorious how politicians change in two aspects on the eve of an election in which they are interested. As a matter of fact they do not really change, they simply pose and appear to change. The change that we refer to occurs in their principles and in their conduct.

Just before an election they are nice to people, accommodating to everybody, inclined to do favors, and all very democratic. They submit to profuse handshaking and some go so far as to stop baby carriages on the street and pinch baby cheeks with an adroit compliment to the mother of course. They make a lot of soft tongue speeches that they do not mean at all and appear before audiences and groups for whom they have no real sympathy. The wealthy ones will choose such an occasion to make a donation to a charitable institution to attract votes or establish a camp for boy scouts for the same reason. During the campaign we find them in sections of the state in which they are never seen except on the eve of an election going about much in the nature of messiahs with great revelations pertaining to the public good and the common welfare.

They appear to change as much in principles. They keep their ears to the ground to catch the popular feeling which makes us believe sometimes that some must be deaf. But then sometimes they catch on when the rumblings are loud enough. When they do the old principles which they claimed were based on immutable truth soon get a shaking up. Then the politician will attack and denounce that which he has stood for. Witness Ogden Mills attacking the cherished high tariff at Kansas City not long ago. Note the Republican National Committee getting into the spirit of the times and discovering at the Palmer House in Chicago last week that "Our country has been backward in legislation dealing with social questions." We always understood social legislation to be opposed to "rugged individualism." But of course the National Committee is not giving a course in government. They are out to elect candidates. At the present time social legislation, relief, and other recovery measures seem to be the political "thing" governmental theories notwithstanding. Therefore it becomes expedient for the "rugged individualists" to "go in for" social legislation. However, there is a limiting proviso to their condescension. The social legislation "a la Republican" must be "within the framework of our American institutions."

We wonder just what that means. Anything that is not within this framework must perforce be unAmerican. The Roosevelt dictatorship is denounced as "seeking covertly to alter the framework of American institutions," hence where does this leave the whole of the N.R.A.

Of course such a platform means absolutely nothing. It is not intended to carry any meaning but simply to be high sounding and vote getting. There is no specification as to what institutions are meant. Wall Street is an American institution and so is big league baseball, so are Harvard University and the Daughters of the American Revolution. One could enumerate the Elks, the supreme court of the United States, the Standard Oil Company, the Boy Scouts, the library of Congress, the Republican party, and Henry Ford for they all have become "institutions."

The Democrats were not slow at coming back at the Republican attack on their policies or accusations of betrayal and insinuations of unAmericanism. General Johnson called their platform a "kippered herring" because it has no "insides." The New Deal is far from satisfactory but it seems to us that the Republicans will have to do "better than that" to stage a comeback in national politics. The "back to Hoover" last minute campaign headed by Mark Sullivan failed in 1931 and we fear cannot be revived now with the proposals in the recent Republican platform. Although Roosevelt is "slipping" by and large 1934 will be a Democratic year at the polls. Better "fireworks" were expected to be forthcoming from the Republicans, but evidently they too are "slipping."

SPECIAL SESSION

According to the Concord Monitor the special session cost the state something like thirty-six thousand dollars, cash money. In return the state has a new liquor law to show for it and on the whole we believe, a good law.

The liquor traffic, for the most part, has been taken out of the realm of private profit and if not thrown into the realm of politics this ought to prove wholesome for the state. There is yet the danger also that the long awaited stuff may eventually be so taxed that the price will be raised unduly. The liquor should be dispensed as near cost as possible with only a reasonable tax on it. As to politics in the administration of the state system it must remain limited to employment of a personnel and the purchase of stock.

The buying of the liquor may give rise to considerable "politics." Firms outside the state supplying the Commission may become interested in New Hampshire elections to the extent of contributing funds thereto. Judging from the personnel of the Commission this danger does not appear to be imminent.

However, there is a clause in the liquor law that may prove unwise. "No licensee, sales agent, nor any other person, shall sell or give away or cause or permit or procure to be sold, delivered or given away any liquor or beverage to a minor, to an habitual drunkard, to an insane person, to a person under the influence of liquor, or to any other person to whom any court, selectman of a town, chief of police, overseer of the poor or the Commission shall prohibit sale . . ."

This power may be readily abused by some selectman, police chief, etc. If the officer should happen to dislike someone, there is nothing to stop him from prohibiting sales to the victim. This law can be amended by the legislature.

BARBERS TO HOLD MEETING JUNE 28

The next meeting of all barbers to discuss the new code, will be held a week from Thursday (June 28), Mr. Brady has announced to the Guardian. The meeting place will be announced in next week's Guardian.

The matter of price-cutting and working over the code hours will be thrashed out, definitely it is hoped.

WORKERS' REPLY TO LABOR
COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

The federal code governing this industry is being revised at the present time and employers are looking forward to a definite code within the period of the next two weeks. Whatever minimums are established by this code will be adopted by the Brown Company.

The hearing showed that collective bargaining between the company and its employees at present was being conducted through a general, or executive committee. The men presented an argument claiming, on the vote taken by the employees on this subject, that 98% were in favor of that type of committee through which they could bargain with the company on questions affecting their interests. It appeared from arguments presented by the Brown Company that the employer and workers were not receiving, through this method of negotiations, the results both ought to obtain as the business of this company was diversified in its character, i. e., paper making, pulp making, maintenance, etc. After hearing this phase of the problem discussed the Commissioner most respectfully recommended, to the committee representing the men, that they present to the workers, whom they represented, the advisability of adopting a plan whereby committees be chosen to represent each unit of the industry.

He also recommended these committees be chosen by the workers, themselves, without dictation or supervision of any sort from the employer. He advised they retain their general or executive committee to whom they could refer any question taken up by the unit committees, provided satisfactory adjustments could not be reached through the proposed form of collective bargaining.

It was agreed by Mr. Brown that he would present the request of the men, dated April 23, 1934, to his board of directors but he seemed positive that they would sustain him in his position of refusal to grant the request of the men to restore the 1929 wage scale.

I sincerely hope both parties will give these recommendations due consideration and trust you will let me know, at your earliest convenience, what action is taken by both parties on this very important subject.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN S. B. DAVIE,
Labor Commissioner.

The Workers Club voted to send the following reply to the Labor Commissioner:

John S. B. Davie,
Labor Commissioner,
Concord, New Hampshire.
Dear Sir:

The Club acknowledges receipt of your letter of June 16, 1934.

In reply the Club at its regular meeting of this date voted to send you the following communication: "We understood that you were informed when in Berlin that the unit committees recommended by the Commissioner are already in existence and functioning. The same can be produced any time or a roll call of the same. These representative unit committees recommended by the Commissioner are so constituted to take up grievances with the management in the different units and mills of the Brown Company and in case of failure the problem is then taken up by a large cross section committee such as the one you met. Hence the Club feels that this particular phase has been anticipated and is settled."

We trust that this will meet your objection to the method of collective bargaining that you supposed was in force here.

Brown Company Division—Coos County Workers Club.

Edward Legassie, President.

Norman J. Coulombe, youthful local attorney, has received notice of his appointment as assistant United States District Attorney for New Hampshire with headquarters in Concord.

Mr. Coulombe was recommended for the office by Senator Fred Brown and United States District Attorney Murchie of Concord. Apparently this is the first political appointment to be granted Berlin by the new administration.

Ex-Mayor Ovide J. Coulombe was one of the original Roosevelt men in this state and he was delegate from New Hampshire to the National Democratic convention held in Chicago in 1932.

Stabilization of Industry
Expected from New NRA "Pricing Policy"

Stabilization of industry and removal of business uncertainty can be expected to result from the new NRA "pricing policy" which more firmly imbeds into the fundamentals of NRA policy "anti-chiseler" price protections, Gerard Samson, President of the Berlin Food and Grocery Distributors' Code Authority, asserts in commenting on the effect of the new ruling on the largest single NRA code.

The food code, embracing close to 400,000 wholesale and retail grocery establishments, doing more than ten billion dollars' business, protects every member of the sales practices by a provision to insure a return of a part of the labor costs involved under NRA increases. Mr. Samson specifically explained that the labor mark-up remains undisturbed as an integral part of the NRA policy by the price policy announcement.

"We grocers have fought for years to protect ourselves and our customers from uneconomic competition and also from unnatural restraint of competition. With NRA cooperation, the trade is moving toward a rational solution of the price problem," he stated.

Mr. Samson cited the following statement by A. W. Riley, Administrator, Division 6, NRA, who is the Administrator of the food code: "NRA announcement of price policy does not amend any approved codes; (Wholesale Food and Grocery Trade and Retail Food and Grocery Trade) Code is in full effect as now written and continued compliance with all provisions is required."

Twenty-four men awaiting execution recently were confined in "death row" at the state penitentiary in Raleigh, N. C., the largest number ever held there at one time.

Rumford Beats Berlin 6 to 5

Rooney Pitches Fine Game, But Receives Poor Support

Y.M.C.A. Park, June 15—The local baseball club, through the efforts of Watson who booted away a two-run lead held by his mates in the ninth inning when he committed two successive errors, lost a thrilling 6 to 5 battle to the strong Rumford Tides, leaders of the Pine Tree League.

Fraser Heavily Bombarded
Christianson, who started on the mound for Rumford, was relieved by Fraser in the sixth. The locals immediately bombarded the new hurler for six hits and four runs getting a two-run lead until that fateful ninth. Christianson returned to the mound in the ninth and allowed Berlin one more run but stopped further scoring.

"Itchy" Martin chalked up his fourth straight win Sunday afternoon when he limited Livermore Falls to six well-scattered hits while his team-mates pounded out 15 hits, including 5 doubles and a triple, to score a 10 to 1 victory over the Pine Tree Leaguers.

Gus Rooney continued to receive poor support and as a result dropped a heartbreaker last Friday evening, to the strong Rumford Tides. The score was 6 to 5. "Smoky" Mortenson lost his first game of the season in a twelve inning battle with Groveton. Saturday afternoon Mortenson hurled his team-mates to their second straight win over Gorham.

Sunday when they touched two visiting pitchers for a triple, 5 doubles and 9 singles, or a total of 15 hits.

Tough to see the poor support given Rooney whenever he toes the mound for the locals. In the Rumford game Friday, Gus was leading 4 to 2 going in the ninth when the board of strategy decided to do some needless substituting. Richards, who had just practically won the game when his triple scored two runners, was yanked in favor of Watson. Watson immediately booted away two grounders placing Rumford men on first and second. You fans who saw the game know the rest of the story.

Mortenson did it. He pitched Berlin to its second straight win of the season over their suburban rival, Gorham. "Stubby" Jacques did fine relief work in the eighth and ninth inning of this game which, by the way, was played in Gorham.

Friday evening the local team will face a strong Lancaster-Gilman aggregation at the local park. Gus Rooney is due to toe the mound for Berlin.

Sunday afternoon the Y Park will be the scene of what will probably be another close game when Plymouth will lock horns with the local aggregation. Nothing much is known of the visiting nine except that it is made up mostly of college players.

Methodists that the best Berlin line-up is as follows: Agrodnia lf, Barbin cf, Savchick rf, Jacques 3b, Richards 2b, Couture c, Delorge lb, Sullivan ss, Martin, Rooney or Mortenson p.
