This year we cut the bushes all over town with the exception of perhaps six or seven miles. The exact number of loads of gravel has been lost track of, but is somewhere between 900 and 1,000 loads, distributed as usual.

Since assuming the position of Road Agent, I have maintained a policy of keeping well within the sum appropriated for highways. This has enabled us year by year to accumulate a sum amounting at the present time to $1,633.69.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

This certifies that we have this day examined the foregoing accounts of the Town Treasurer, Tax Collector, Road Agent, Library Trustees, Town Trust Fund Trustees and Selectmen and found them correctly cast and duly vouched.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Citizens of Dunbarton:

This year electric lights have been installed in the library.

The books, "Great Teachers and Mental Health" and "The Normal Mind," have been presented to the library by the author, Dr. William H. Burnham, one of our townsmen. It is worthy of mention that the latter book is dedicated to Miss Fannie Burnham and Miss Annie Burnham, two former teachers, and well remembered by all.

We believe there is but one other book in our library by a Dunbarton author. This is "The Memoirs and Official Correspondence of General Stark," a valuable work by his grandson, Caleb Stark. This book contains a very complete history of the activities of the celebrated ranger, Major Robert Rogers, in the French and Indian War.

A "History of Dunbarton" by the same author is wanted for the library, also certain numbers of the Town Reports of this town for a complete file.

We extend our thanks to the librarian for her services and to all who have given books, or helped in any way.

WESTON P. LORD,
 MARY C. BARNARD,
School Board.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board of Dunbarton:

I herewith submit my fifth annual report.

Our work for the past year has followed the regular lines. We were able to maintain a good record for attendance and progress, as shown by the statistical report.

The per cent of attendance, 93%, is the same as the previous year. In fact it is a little better, because during that year we lost on account of holidays and other causes $6\frac{1}{2}$ school days, as against 5 days this year.

The efficient school year is a very important matter. The New Hampshire State Law provides for a school year of 36 weeks, or 180 school days. Teachers are engaged for 36 weeks, and the district pays them for 36 weeks of service. While one week, made up of a day here and there, lost out of the year is not a very serious matter, anything more than that begins to be a real monetary loss to the district and a very great time loss to the children. This year each child averaged to lose through sickness or other causes one week of his school year. Adding this personal loss to the calendar loss, we will see that each pupil received on the average 34 weeks of schooling. In other words, each pupil had to do the work of 36 weeks in 34 weeks. The average loss for the past eight years has been much greater; hence it is safe to say that each child graduating this year lost during the eight years one-half year of his elementary school work. The remedy for this is a longer calendar year. A number of districts in different sections of the State have arranged their school calendars on a basis of 37 or 38 weeks, thereby making provision for "No School Days." Thus their actual school year amounts to from 177 to 183 days.

I emphasize this point because the majority of our children now enter High School and they, with a school year of 34 weeks or less, are finding it increasingly difficult to maintain their place in High School in competition with children who have had the advantages of longer school years, and two years of Junior High, in place of the old line work in grades 7 and 8.

It is the constant aim of the Superintendent and teachers to so organize and plan the work that the increasing requirements of High School standards can be successfully met. The majority of our High School pupils have thus far been able, by industry and earnest effort, to overcome their handicap in scholastic preparation, and maintain good ranks in their High School course.

In this connection I wish to say further that in planning the work for the different grades in the schools we have to combine classes in such a way that distinct grade lines are more or less obliterated. In the natural progress of events this enables some pupils to reach the limits of the eighth grade at the age of 11 to 13 years. Most children under 14 years of age are generally considered too immature, both physically and mentally, to do High School work with success or real satisfaction. A case of this kind recently came up in our schools: a pupil graduated at the age of 12½ years. He was considered too young for High School, so returned to his local school for another year, did very good work, then entered High School, much better prepared to undertake the difficult tasks involved.

During the spring term of last year we underook too many outside activities. All of these were very good in themselves, but they placed a heavy burden upon teachers and pupils, which of necessity interfered to a certain extent with the regular school work. Two of these, Memorial Day and graduation, are a regular part of the school program. Of the two, graduation is more important in so far as carrying out the regular school program goes.

I do not wish to recommend that the other activity, namely, the local Grange Children's Night, be considered unimportant. What I do recommend is that the Grange arrange to have their exercises in October or November, when traveling conditions are almost equally good and no special demands are being made on the schools.

I further recommend that we make our Memorial Day exercises much less elaborate, in so far as the participation of the school children is concerned. I am fully convinced that all of these activities have very great educational value and that the schools can profit a great deal from participation in them; but that it should all be done with due regard for the limits of the regular school program.

The consolidation of the Page's Corner and Waite schools at the Waite District has proven a very happy way out of a number of difficult situations. The enrollment of 15 pupils makes an efficient school from the point of view of business economy as well as from that of the administration of the school work. With the increased numbers we have been able to organize classes that are working well together and are making very satisfactory progress.

In closing, I wish to express appreciation for the loyal co-operation of teachers, school officials, parents and children, which has made the work of the year not only successful but very pleasant in every way.

Respectfully submitted,

GAIUS H. BARRETT,
Superintendent.
