

TRIESTE

8 Sept 54

Dear Elz:

Enclosed is a booklet on Trieste. It is quite interesting and gives one an idea why tourists find this restricted Free City an attraction to be long remembered. I hope you and the children can come here not as ~~tourists~~ tourists but as residents for my entire tour over here.

It's an even outside or inside bet that you will be here too. It's pretty definite now that word either pro or con will be given us within 10 days from official sources. That's the very latest — hot off the griddle today. All are optimistic and plans are going ahead — yes — even being accelerated to accommodate dependents here. That is — all except one important item which we have not heard about yet — school for the school aged children. But when word comes thru — and if it is favorable, schools could be ready by January provided teachers

Dear Elz:

Enclosed is a booklet on Trieste. It is quite interesting and gives one an idea why tourists find this restricted Free city an attraction to be long remembered. I hope you and the children can come here not as ~~an~~ tourists but as residents for my entire tour over here.

It's an even outside or inside bet that you will be here too. It's pretty definite now that word either pro or con will be given us within 10 days from official sources. That's the very latest – hot off the griddle today. All are optimistic and plans are going ahead – yes – even being accelerated to accommodate dependents here. That is – all except one important item which we have not heard about yet – School for the school aged children. But when word comes thru – and if it is favorable, Schools could be ready by January provided teachers sure I'm optimistic based on straws in the wind. But don't get too enthusiastic. The word could be "NO DEPENDENTS." If that is the case I'll just forget about any future plans for you all here and will start concentrating on learning German. ... and hope to be stationed near Munich where we may once again live at number #13 Saarland (Watteau) Strasse.

However, I'm so confident of an affirmative decision that I shall file my application this week for dependent travel to Trieste in order to avoid the ~~rush~~ anticipated rush. Keep your fingers crossed and hope for the best. And also be prepared for a straight and final "NO", in which case we'll forget the city. My opinion is that the failure of E.D.C. means the success of dependent travel to Trieste. Just my opinion.

I really believe we'll be together soon. I shall indicate flight ~~by~~ rather than sea travel. As I have said previously, begin to buy travel clothing. I want you restful, relaxed, and lovely when you arrive.
