SCHOOL REPORT.

Report of the Superintending School Committee for the Town of Durham, for the Year ending March 1, 1878.

DISTRICT No. 1.—There were three terms, all taught by Miss Stella M. George. Miss George is a lady of ability, and long experience, having taught several terms in town before, and two terms in this District last year. Some of the scholars made good progress, others not so good; and as a whole, the school did not come up to that standard which is desirable, considering the amount of money expended. More punctuality on the part of the scholars is needed, also the co-operation of parents; and a most thorough discipline must prevail, before the labors of the teacher will show any marked results.

DISTRICT No. 2.—The Spring and Summer terms kept by Miss Zella A. Stevens, was entirely satisfactory. The scholars appeared well, made good progress in their studies, and sustained their former reputation.

The Winter term was taught by Miss Cinthia J. Tasker, who established her reputation as a successful Teacher in the Fall term in District No. 10, loses nothing in this attempt. The District has been very fortunate in their choice of teachers for the last two years at least, and the school now stands fully equal with any in town.

DISTRICT No. 3.—This is the smallest school in town, and has the least money.

The Summer term taught by Miss Sophia George, gave good satisfaction, and the scholars made fair progress. No register was returned from her school.

The Winter term taught by Miss Emma S. Nealey, was her first attempt at teaching. She seemed to gain the good will of the scholars, and of their parents, as far as is known—and good results were manifest in the school.

DISTRICT No. 4.—This school is not so well advanced as it ought to be, considering all circumstances.

The Summer term kept by Miss Carrie E. Buzzell, gave good satisfaction, and likewise the Fall and Winter terms by Miss Sophia George. In each instance fair progress was manifest, but the school lacks energy, and needs considerable urging and good discipline.

DISTRICT No. 5.—The Summer and Fall terms were taught by Miss Mattie F. Davis. The school appeared well at each term, made good progress, and would have accomplished more had it not been interrupted by sickness among the scholars.

The Winter term taught by Mr. John L. Stevens, was his first attempt at teaching. The school started well, and it was understood the teacher was well liked, yet at the close but few scholars were present, and it is hard telling what was done. One thing is sure, the parents were in fault for allowing their children to absent themselves from the school, as the teacher was amply able to instruct them, and would no doubt have done his duty.

DISTRICT No. 7.—The Summer term was taught by Miss Annie E. Sanders. Miss Sanders was inexperienced, and the school did not come up to that point of excellence desired.

The Fall term taught by Miss Addie J. Drew, fully made up what the Summer term failed to do. Miss Drew seemed to gain the friendship of the entire District, and the result fully attested the faithfulness of her labors. A large number were present at the examination, and all were pleased at the work done.

DISTRICT No. 8.—The Spring term taught by Miss Helen C. Bennett, was her first school, and certainly did her much credit, as she labored faithfully, and good advancement was perceptible.

The Winter term taught by Miss Mary A. Burnham. The school bid fair to sustain its good reputation, but it soon became apparent that a want of harmony prevailed in the Dist., and it was creeping into the school. Steps were taken to quiet the trouble, and as a last resort, one pupil was dismissed. The attendance was not regular, and at the close many scholars were absent, and of course so much was lost. If parents would keep their children in school, they would be sure to make some progress, but if they allow them to roam the streets at will, they may expect a good showing of ignorance in after life.

DISTRICT No. 10.—Both terms by Miss Cinthia J. Tasker. The choice was a good one, and gave much satisfaction. It is not often that so good results are seen in so short a time, and not always that ones efforts are so well appreciated as in this instance. A great number came in at the examination, and words of praise were freely spoken.

REMARKS.

In closing it may not be improper to say, that the advancement made in the schools during the past year, as a whole, is not satisfactory. The blame does not all belong to the teachers. It belongs to them to urge the school on, and enforce proper dicipline, for without this all will be a failure. If they do this, some parents take exceptions, and perhaps remove their children from the school, and allow them to grow up in ignorance. I earnestly desire parents not to condemn the school, or the teacher, in presence of their children, as here is where much trouble arises. Visit the school and do all you can to sustain the teachers.

There has been only one change in text-books in the last two years—that of English Grammar. There is urgent need of a new reading book, and I would recommend a change at once.

Several of the registers are not properly filled and returned. No teacher should be paid till they perform this duty, and get a line from the committee to this effect.
