Fire House

REPORT OF THE FIRE ENGINEERS

During the year 1950 the Fire Department answered fourteen calls plus numerous trips to the dump during the dry spell—ten of these calls were in-town, two out-of-town for house fires, and two for forest fires. There were two house fires in town, Beverly Whiteneck House and Lewis Darling's summer camp. The total valuation of buildings and contents $10,000.00, and a total of $4,203.29 paid in insurance on same. The remainder of the calls were for minor fires such as chimneys, grass and woods. We were called to Sandown for a bad house fire on Rt. 121A and to Atkinson for a bad house fire. This one during the severe wind and rain storm in November. We called for aid from Atkinson and Plaistow for the Whiteneck fire. We were ordered out by the forest fire department to Candia and Derry for serious forest fires.

We have added to our equipment this year a new portable pump which has been very much needed. The town paid $200.00 out of appropriations towards this and the Volunteer Association paid $145.00.

We spent the $600.00 appropriation for stoning up water holes and were very fortunate in getting two holes completed.

There were eleven permits granted for the installation of oil burners and tanks, a new state fire marshal law since August, 1950.

(Signed) FRANK E. HOWARD,
Chief of Board of Engineers

FOREST FIRE PREVENTION PAYS DIVIDENDS

Most forest fires are preventable because someone is responsible for them. State records for 1950 show 94% of 632 fires resulted from human perversness and carelessness. Refusal to secure the required warden permit before burning; failure to use good judgment, lack of equipment and assistance while burning; carelessness in smoking and poorly conditioned woods equipment (trucks, tractors, etc.) resulted in a total of 6090.6 burned acres with a loss of $63,949.10 in valuable property.

Fortunately, these human factors can be dealt with because people can be reached. This the local forest fire warden tries to do by informing his fellow citizens that EVERY-

ONE MUST:

1. Secure a written permit to burn in or near woodlands when the ground is not covered with snow.
2. Use good judgment in burning and have enough equipment and assistance to keep fire under control at all times.

3. Be careful when smoking in or near woodlands and refrain from throwing lighted material from automobiles.
4. Make certain that all equipment used in the woods is in good condition.
His success depends entirely upon public reaction to his appeals. He does his part—the rest depends upon YOU and YOUR compliance with burning requirements YOUR care with YOUR fires and YOUR smoking and YOUR care of motive equipment you use in the woods.

It all aids, materially, in reaching the desired goal, the PREVENTION OF FOREST FIRES—because PREVENTION PAYS DIVIDENDS!

REPORT OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

This last year has been very busy for this department. We investigated 105 cases, most of our trouble came in the summer months.

Motor vehicle accidents were many in the past year.

I am pleased to say that all cases are now closed. All our court cases were convictions.

Your Chief wishes to express his appreciation for the co-operation of the selectmen, police officers of this department, and all other law enforcement officers of the State.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL J. HALL

SEXTON'S REPORT

This past year, due to the dry season, we did not use all of the money appropriated for care of the cemeteries. Therefore, we purchased a new power mower and also a hand mower to take the place of the worn out ones, which were costing too much for repairs.

I want to thank all for their cooperation.

TRUSTEES' REPORT—1950

It is with great pleasure that we, the Trustees of the Hampstead Public Library, submit our report this year, as we have accomplished a project which has been under consideration for the past two years; the redecorating of the interior of the Library. Also, at the time this report is being written, a new set of Compton's Encyclopedia is on order, and will be available to the public.

Owing to the illness of the Librarian and one of the Trustees, these projects were not accomplished before the books were closed at the end of the year, which accounts for the balance as shown in the report.

A new, unabridged Webster's Dictionary, Library size, on a movable stand that can be used in the Reference Room, was purchased last summer.

The Trustees were fortunate to secure the services of Mrs. Beverly Whiteneck, a former librarian, and Miss Nancy Hutton, to substitute during the six months absence of Mrs. Howard Barthelmess, librarian.

We hope the people of Hampstead will visit the newly painted Library and avail themselves of the new books which are constantly being added.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT—1950

Your Library has shown a definite increase in circulation and interest this past year.

Books in the children's room, plus new editions, were arranged according to school grade levels. The non-fiction books were reclassified by Mrs. Bertha Whiteneck, acting librarian. The purpose of these new systems is to simplify the problem of selection.

A story-hour program was not conducted, but stories were read to the children whenever possible.

Current Literary Guild selections, a new group of mystery stories, and other new books were popular with our adult borrowers.

With the cooperation of Mrs. Gladys R. Dyke, teacher of English, we are endeavoring to establish a program of selected and recommended reading for students in the High School.

The Bookmobile renders a valuable service, supplying excellent books for all our borrowers.

We extend a special thank you to all persons who have given gifts of books and magazines to the library.

It is gratifying that so many of our summer residents utilize the library.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the Trustees for granting me an extended leave of absence. To my library substitutes, I am very grateful.

It is our sincere hope that more townspeople will patronize the library this coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

KATHERINE N. BARTHELMESS

Librarian

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PLANNING BOARD

During the past year, the Planning Board held fifteen regular or special meetings and three hearings along with numerous subcommittee meetings. At the first meeting in March, Thomas Franklyn was re-elected Chairman, Edmund Lewis was elected Secretary and Levi Duston, Treasurer. Harry Sunanday was appointed to serve on the board for five years, succeeding David Otis, whose term expired.

A meeting was held in March with a group from West Hampstead, as requested at the previous Town Meeting, to discuss the advisability of breaking the will of the late Martha Ordway, regarding the use of Ordway Field. A copy of the Will was presented and studied by the Board. After a lengthy discussion, the group from West Hampstead agreed to prepare a plan describing in detail, all changes they proposed to make and all activities they planned to conduct, so that the Board could make an intensified study and investigation. To date, no further word has been received from the group, consequently, the Board is unable to act favorably on the matter.

In July, the Board investigated a proposed building development on Brown Hill Road, at the request of owner Paul Covell. Recommendations were made regarding layout, size of lots, price, and provision for future development. This is a progressive step by the owner to help raise more revenue for the Town by encouraging people to build in Hampstead. We will be pleased to work with any other property owner interested in developing property.

We are pleased to state that our Board was the first to join the New Hampshire Planning and Zoning Association. Through its facilities, we expect to gain considerable information and material, which should help us in our work.

Our chief objective has been accomplished after two years of preparation. The proposed "Zoning and Building Ordinance" is ready for acceptance, by the Voters, at a Special Town Meeting, to be held in the near future. The date of the meeting will be voted on at the Annual Town Meeting.

Hearings were conducted on Jan. 20th, Feb. 3rd, and Feb. 17th, 1951, at which time, minor adjustments were made to conform with suggestions of attending voters.

It was most gratifying to find that the N. H. Planning and Developing Commission recently published our "Constitution and By-Laws," and recommended its adoption by all Planning Boards in the State.

Since our organization two years ago, we have been constantly building a library of information. This information is available, upon request, to any resident of Hampstead. Your problems on building, plumbing, wiring, drainage, water supply, fire prevention, State laws and regulations, etc., may be answered by consulting our files.

Regular meetings are held on the last Sunday of each month, at the Hampstead Fire House. Meetings are open to the public and residents of the Town are urged to attend.

It must be taken into consideration that monies appropriated in the month of March, to be used the following year do not necessarily correspond in individual items, because of the impossibility of projecting the rising price indexes twelve months hence.

REPORT OF BUILDING COMMITTEE

According to Special Articles 12, 13, 14 and 15 of the School Warrant of 1949, the Building Committee for the Veterans' Memorial Auditorium reports that in May, 1950, plans and specifications for the building were drawn up by Clinton Goodwin, Architect, from Haverhill. The specifications were put out for bid and the lowest bidder, S. E. LaPerle and Sons of Exeter, was awarded the contract at $9,800.00; $100.00 was reserved for the architect's fee, and $100.00 for hardware.

The sum of $2,000.00 having been received as a donation from the Greater Hampstead Civic Club, your committee took out notes in the amount of $8,000.00 from the Merrimack National Bank in Haverhill, at 1½ percent interest.

Work was started in the latter part of June and the shell of the building completed in late November.

Materials and labor for roofing the building were donated. All work on the interior such as electrical wiring, painting, floor finishing and marking, baskets installed, etc., was done entirely by volunteer workers who put in long hours in their spare time from October through December. The High School boys, under the supervision of the Principal, cleared the basement of the accumulated rubbish.

As there were no monies voted to cover materials and supplies for this interior work, your committee set up a fund in August and asked for donations for same. All residents and non-resident taxpayers of Hampstead, and alumni of Hampstead High School were contacted and asked for contributions. The response has been most gratifying and it should be interesting to note here that contributions have come from six different states, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Missouri, Kentucky, and also Washington, D. C.

A sum of $1,985.70 has been received up to December 31, 1950, with bills paid to date of over $1,100.00 and bills outstanding of around $900.00 to $1,000.00, for excavation and cementing of basement, heating, soil pipe and the laying of it, etc.

The Gymnasium was completed sufficiently for the first basketball game to be played on its floors on December 9th, a game between the Alumni teams, boys and girls, and the High School teams.

Those of you who have seen the gym will agree with us, we feel sure, that we have a very fine building, but you also are aware that there are a great many more things needed; such as, a well, plumbing fixtures, hot water facilities, showers, locker rooms, protective pads for walls in back of baskets, a bronze plaque, grading and landscaping, and painting. Also, the lot of land in back of the gymnasium has been bought by the Greater Hampstead Civic Club and deeded to the School District for a parking lot. There will be expenses to put this lot into condition to be used for this purpose.

Our special Gym Fund is still open for contributions and we ask any and all who can to contribute to help us to complete the necessities for the Auditorium.

The money for the first note due on the building will be turned over to the School Board by the Greater Hampstead Civic Club on or before July 1st when this note comes due.

Your Building Committee wishes to express their appreciation to each organization and every individual who has contributed either in money or in hours of thought and labor given so wholeheartedly and in a cooperative spirit. It is our hope to be able to carry the building through to completion and dedicate it before many more months have passed. This will be possible only through your continued support by contributions upon which we feel sure we can depend.

HISTORY OF HAMPSTEAD HIGH SCHOOL

by

MAURICE AND ABBIE RANDALL

The following "History" was read as a part of the program which was presented November 6, 1950 in conjunction with the 75th Anniversary of the Hampstead High School.

The fact that Hampstead has always been interested in education is proven by old records which establish the Town as being only one year old when, in 1750, at the annual Town Meeting, it was voted "to hire a school master for six months in ye summer season, to teach ye children to read and write." At just what time the higher branches began to be studied and taught in the Town cannot readily be ascertained. They were probably introduced into the regular District Schools at such time as there was a demand for them, and when teachers could be secured who were competent to furnish instruction to them. It is certain that such studies as Algebra, History, and Surveying were taught in the District Schools at the time our forefathers began their school days. For any very extended course in the higher branches, most of Hampstead's young men and women attended Atkinson Academy, which had long afforded superior advantages. Our benefactor, Benjamin D. Emerson, was often seen passing along the road on horseback on his way to and from school, as it was at Atkinson Academy he laid the foundation for his after acquirements, becoming an instructor in later life. Knowing the needs of his native town, and realizing the advantages which would accrue to it from the founding of a free institution of higher instruction, Mr. Emerson, upon his death in West Roxbury, Mass., in 1872, bequeathed a large share of his property for the founding and maintaining of a public High School in Hampstead. His will directed that said school should be under the government of a Board of Trustees. Other interesting stipulations of the will were that the whole number of scholars should not exceed thirty at any one time; that the preceptor or Master should be a College graduate and sustain a good moral character; that on one Saturday the Preceptor would be required to devote one half hour, at least, to instruction calculated to improve the manners and morals of his pupils, and on the alternate Saturday said Preceptor would devote one half hour, or more, to the inculcation of the doctrine and practice of religion as displayed in the Old and New Testaments; and that the school house should be on a lot of land containing not less than one acre, situated on the main road between the Old Meeting House (now the Town Hall) and the corner of "Kent's Farm Road," said lot to be planted with not less than fifty ornamental shade trees, one half elms, and the other half sugar maples. The will was probated on October 23rd, 1872, and in 1873, "An act to incorporate the Trustees of the Hampstead High School" was passed by the New Hampshire Legislature.

After much discussion as to the location for the new school, it was finally voted on the thirteenth day of October, 1873, to purchase the two acre lot with buildings thereon belonging to Jesse O. Bailey, as it met the requirements of the will; that being on a height of land it would require little drainage; that after the removal of buildings it would require comparatively little grading to be ready for use; and that there was an excellent well on the premises. Tristram Little,

Nelson Ordway, and Amos Clark comprised the building committee, and they awarded the contract for the erection of the school to Moulton D. Pressey of Haverhill, Mass. The lumber for the building was purchased in Maine, brought to Plaistow by rail, and conveyed from there to Hampstead by wagon. An early description stated that the house was "48 feet long by 38 feet wide, has 30 foot posts, is covered with a slate roof, topped by a 40 foot spire, with the cardinal points of the compass and a fine metallic weather vane. The hall on the first floor is 36 by 38 feet, and the school-room above is of the same size, is neatly finished and blinded, and is furnished with approved modern school furniture." The building was completed at a cost of about nine thousand dollars, and was conveyed to the Trustees by deed dated April 27th, 1875.

The new High School being ready for occupancy, excitement ran high as to who the lucky thirty would be to attend the first term. From the seven school districts came sixty boys and girls to the upper Town Hall to take their examinations, each hoping they could read, write, and spell the English language with reasonable correctness, even though their exams had to be written on shingles. The school began the first term of its history on May 4th, 1875, with Mr. Miron P. Dickey, a graduate of Dartmouth College, as its first preceptor. The first term, ten weeks in length, was followed by a vacation of seven weeks. Interesting facts from an original report written at the end of the first year of school by one of the pupils, Orrie Belle Little, are that the students bought their own books and supplies; that baseball was started in the first term; that the second term saw the start of music and a paper called "The High School Journal" which was to be issued monthly; and that on the last day of school a public examination and an exhibition was held, with money earned from the exhibition being used to buy an organ for the school.

Apparently, the first pupils of the new High School did not stay to complete the course of study, as the Class of 1880, with five members, was the first to graduate. Invitations were extended for the graduation exercises of "The Hampstead, N.

H. Free High School" to be held in "Emerson Hall," which was the name given to the first floor of the High School.

The Decadel Year Book of 1884 and 1885 records the course of study being followed after the first ten years of school, and it is interesting to note that Latin and Greek were optional for the entire course, and Rhetorical Exercises, with Reading, Spelling, Compositions and Declamations were studied during the whole course. Parsing, Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, and Mental Philosophy are among other subjects listed. Through petition from the Trustees, a Webster's Unabridged Dictionary and a Joslin's Terrestrial Globe had been secured for the school. From the proceeds of entertainments, the People's Encyclopedia, in two super-royal octavo volumes, had been bought. Three years completed a high school course, although a preparatory course of one year was available if needed. The first and second years constituted a Business Course, and a diploma was given any pupil desiring to graduate at its completion.

The Class of 1894 was the last to graduate from "Emerson Hall," and the Class of 1895 established the precedent of holding graduation exercises in the Congregational Church.

In 1900, Hampstead High School celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary on the High School lawn with remarks from former teachers, greetings from each class, music, and a banquet.

For a quarter of a century, the school had been an honor to the founder and a blessing to the town, but time changes all things, and in the early nineteen hundreds, students desiring to prepare for college found it necessary to go to some school outside of town, even though a four year course of study had just been adopted. By the law of the State, no school could be a recognized high school unless it had two teachers. Also, if a town had no recognized high school, it was obliged to pay the tuition of all scholars desiring to attend such a school elsewhere. Consequently, the town voted in 1903 to hire a teacher to assist the Principal, and Hampstead High School regained its recognition as well as the benefit of the Literary Fund from the State. That year, a stimulated interest in athletics became evident. Dumb-bell and Indian Club drills were required by the Trustees; bolo and croquet were played; a boxing club was formed; baseball was played with Atkinson Academy; and the first basketball teams, both boys and girls, were organized, playing in the lower hall of the School. School interest increased and the school paper was revived, appearing as "The Emersonian." However, the interest was short-lived as in 1908 the school year opened with the smallest number of pupils in the High School since its institution. This condition was due to first, a lack of enthusiasm of the members of the school itself; second, the grade schools throughout the town not being uniformly graded; and third, a lack of confidence on the part of the citizens of the town. The second condition is proved by the fact that of eleven taking examinations for entrance into the High School, only two were able to enter. The principle upon which New England schools were established seemed to have been forgotten. Forgotten was the fact that "the school exists for the scholar, not the scholar for the school." Upon pressure by the citizens of Hampstead, the Trustees voted to establish a Ninth Grade even though it was against the rule of the State Board of Education. They also decided to accept out of town pupils, hoping thereby to fill the seats in the school. As an added inducement, considerable money was expended on improvements which were so much appreciated by the students that the following appeared in the school paper, "The Owl," in 1909: "WE WISH TO THANK The Trustees for supplying the school with Physical apparatus valued at $200.00—For engaging an elocutionist of rare talent—For refitting the gymnasium to basketball purposes—For their united efforts to help those who help themselves—For listening to our recitations but once a term." Clarifying the last statement, it was customary for the Trustees to attend school once each term, and to listen to an oral examination of the pupils. Sad to relate, many times during these exams the room would vibrate with the sound of peaceful slumber from the Honorable Board.

The following year, 1910, the Ninth Grade was discontinued, and the school returned to a regular four year course, thereby again becoming a recognized school in the State. Due to the changes in the system, a new interest developed in the town and school. School spirit increased and in 1911 the school song was written to the tune of "Our Director." The Hampstead school banner of blue and gold was presented to the High School, the colors having been adopted back in 1903. In 1912, the first championship basketball team appeared, and by defeating teams from Sanborn Seminary and Pinkerton Academy, it earned the title of "Champions of Southern New Hampshire."

In 1913, because of overcrowded conditions in the grade schools, Hampstead was forced to adopt what was then called the "Six-six Plan," the first six grades remaining in their respective district school, and the next six grades attending the High School. Transportation was furnished the East Hampstead and West Hampstead pupils by a horse drawn vehicle. In order to accommodate these two extra grades in the high school building, the lower hall was partitioned into two rooms, one a class room for the Junior High and the other a laboratory and kitchen. The students were thus deprived of any sort of a gym for the next fifteen years. A third teacher was hired, and Home Economics and Manual Training courses were added to the curriculum. Through the generosity of the townspeople and the Parent-Teacher Association, the Manual Training building was constructed and equipped, answering a crying need for more room.

Other than suffering with other schools during the war years, the school continued quite uneventfully until 1925 when the Board of Trustees relinquished its power and rights, and the School District voted to accept the High School as its responsibility.

The commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Hampstead High School was observed on Sunday, September 6th, 1925, with memorial services in the morning and evening at the Congregational Church. On the following day, Labor Day, a celebration was held on the High School grounds, featuring sports, exhibits, and a very fine program consisting of music, addresses, and the unveiling of a tablet in memory of the founder, Benjamin D. Emerson. A banquet and roll call of graduates concluded the festivities.

In 1929, through agreement with the State Board of Education, the High School, under supervision of a Headmistress, became a training school for the two Teachers' Colleges in the State, namely Keene and Plymouth. This was known as "The Cadet System."

A new consolidated elementary school was built in 1930, and the old district school near the High School was made available for gym purposes. Good basketball teams were developed, and one of Hampstead High School's best baseball teams came along in this period.

The Cadet System worked nicely for a few years, but by 1944 there was so much dissatisfaction with it, due chiefly to disciplinary difficulties and the disadvantages of changing teachers so many times during a year, that the School District voted to terminate its contract with the State, and the system was abolished. When the students entered school that fall, they found a Headmaster and three assistant teachers awaiting them as instructors. They also found that the Junior High pupils had been transferred to a room in the Elementary School.

Under good coaching, sports again played an important part in the school life of Hampstead High. Basketball reached the peak of enthusiasm in 1948 when the team of that year was invited, as one of the twelve best Class C teams in the State, to participate in the New Hampshire Interscholastic Basketball Tournament at the Dartmouth College Gym at Hanover, N. H. Although the boys were not winners there, they went on the next week to win the championship at the Y-Gazette Small School Tournament at the Haverhill High School. The baseball team of the same year went undefeated.

The school paper, "The Trumpet," in its 1929 Christmas number, under the heading "Merely Suggestive," stated, "For years the students of Hampstead High School have lacked certain advantages along recreational, social and athletic lines because facilities were not available. The possible solution to these problems might be found in the annexation of a gymnasium to the present school plant." This problem has finally been solved in this year of the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the High School. Through the efforts of the Greater Hampstead Civic Club, with the cooperation of many townspeople and old High School graduates, the old No. 2 District School has been converted into a new, large, modern gymnasium. The opening games in the new gym were played December 9th, 1950, by the boys' and girls' basketball teams of the High School against Alumni teams.

Scholastically, the school is on a high level at the present time, graduates being qualified to go to higher institutions of learning. Over a period of seventy-five years, its students and graduates have been a credit to Hampstead High.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Hampstead:

It is with pleasure that I submit my first Annual Report as Superintendent of your Schools.

In replacing Mr. L. Munro Grandy, who accepted the position of Superintendent of Schools in Dover, New Hampshire as of August 1950, after serving in that capacity in this area for a period of three years, it is heartening to note the tremendous educational strides which have been made in Hampstead and in Supervisory Union No. 55 during the past few years. Superintendent Grandy, the School Board and citizens of Hampstead, deserve much credit for having made such advances in the educational facilities of the community.

This report, which will be followed by reports of the School Principal, the Supervisors of Art and Music and of the School Nurse, will be presented under the following headings:

1. School Enrollment and Census Figures
2. School Personnel
3. Curriculum and Teaching Aids
4. Finances
5. In-service Training of Teachers
6. Buildings and Equipment
7. Community Organizations
8. Recommendations

I. ENROLLMENT AND SCHOOL CENSUS

When schools opened in 1950 the enrollment was 123 at the Central School, as compared with 115 in 1949, and 54 at the High School as compared with 47 in 1949. Total enrollments were 177 in September 1950 as compared with 162 in September 1949.

The following table shows a comparison of census figures for the last three years:

YEAR	AGE																Total
	Less than 1 Yr.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15		16
1948	18	17	10	13	16	11	7	11	9	12	14	9	16	14	10	20		207
1949	11	19	22	11	15	16	26	12	14	11	9	15	10	18	15	14		238
1950	10	10	17	15	13	13	16	21	15	11	11	9	19	12	15	16	9	232

As may be noted above, we would not expect any great change in the total school enrollment in the next few years unless more children move into Hampstead.

II. SCHOOL PERSONNEL

The shortage of qualified teachers has not only continued, but has increased during the past years. To secure and retain well qualified teachers, it will be necessary to continue to increase teachers' salaries. Hampstead has been indeed fortunate to retain the services of the majority of their staff of experienced teachers. Mrs. Alice Davidson, who has served as teacher in grade 7 and 8 at the Central School for a period of five years, retired after teaching for a total of 42 years. Mrs. Gloria White, a graduate of Keene Teachers College in 1950 with a degree of Bachelor of Education, replaced Miss Elsie Stimson as teacher of Home Economics. Mr. Walter White, who graduated and received his degree from Keene Teachers College in June of 1950, was elected to the other vacancy on the teaching staff. To replace Mrs. Rita Dubrule as the Supervisor of Music in Hampstead, Atkinson, Plaistow and Newton, the School Boards of those towns secured the services of Mrs. Prudence Douglas, who came to this area after having served in a similar capacity in the schools of the Epping, N. H. area.

III. CURRICULUM AND TEACHING AIDS

The basis of all of our teaching is Citizenship Training, Character education and the fundamentals are necessary parts of this training. Our curriculum has been set up and followed as suggested by our State Department of Education, with allowances made so that teachers may vary their work according to their respective groups of children.

Methods of instruction are so designed by the various teachers as to allow to the greatest possible extent for individual differences; the pupil-teacher relationship throughout the school is excellent. An attempt is made in the upper elementary grades to assist pupils in deciding what educational program to follow after they complete the eighth grade work. Pupil self-evaluation and knowledge of occupations is an important phase in upper-elementary grades.

New and modern textbooks and other teaching aids have been purchased as the budget has permitted, to replace those that have been worn and outdated. The present budget has permitted, to replace those that have been worn and outdated. The present budget provides for necessary teaching aids.

Mental ability tests which have been given to the Hampstead children indicate that they are up to average in ability. Standardized achievement tests have indicated that children are generally working up to and in many instances above what might naturally be expected. We can assume from the above facts that the excellent cooperation between the teachers and the children, as well as the general excellent school facilities, are certainly producing the desired results.

The fullest development of a child's potentialities depends upon close cooperation between parents and teachers. They should have the same goals and understand each other's methods and plans for attaining them. Parents should recognize and encourage those experiences in the lives of children which occur outside the school room, which tend to foster desirable physical, social, emotional, spiritual and mental growth. Such experiences, under the guidance of parents, supplement and extend the school experience.

In the High School it has been suggested that we extend our present 7th and 8th grade manual training equipment in order that one or two years of High School work may be offered in Industrial Arts.

A recent National Education Association publication* has stated that, "In the United States of America, where our cherished system of free enterprise involves the right of every individual to work in an occupation of his own choosing, the program of vocational education in the public schools is a matter of great significance. It is, and must always be, an important and integral part of our school studies.

Vocational education is not limited merely to intensive technical training, in order to create certain skills and technics needed in handling tools. It deals with varied aspects of the many problems of the worker in today's world. Its specific aim is to provide information, guidance, and training for entering upon and making satisfactory progress in some line of useful work. Its broader purpose is to educate persons who will understand and appreciate the dignity of work and the economic necessity in our way of life for work which brings satisfaction to the individual and which at the same time serves the needs of society and adds to its wealth.

Vocational education, including guidance, is concerned with assisting the individual:

To analyze his own interests, attitudes, and talents.

To secure and evaluate information about various occupations.

To exercise sound judgment in the choice of an occupation.

To develop required knowledge and skills for success in a chosen occupation.

To make the necessary adjustments to changing occupational requirements in order to become and continue to be a happy and productive worker who experiences the satisfaction of good workmanship.

To develop an enlightened and informed understanding of the relationship of his work to the obligations of citizenship in our democratic society.”

A program of vocational education should be integrated closely with our other school studies in the high school and should include Trade and Industrial Education. This would include development of necessary manipulative and performance skills, technics, knowledge, related industrial information, safety and job-judgment for persons about to be or already employed in trade or industrial pursuits.

IV. FINANCES:

“The amount of money for education will be determined not only by the number of children served and the standard of service rendered, but also by the value of the dollar. As the present value of the dollar is comparatively low, current expenditures for education must be higher to buy a given program of education than the same program would have cost in 1939, for example.

“The index of dollar value prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics shows that it takes about $1.65 in 1950 to purchase what $1 would have bought in 1939. A sound policy of financing education cannot ignore the fluctuating buying power of money when the changes in dollar value are pronounced and long-continued. These changing values affect both capital outlay and the month by month operating costs of the school.”*

Education is an investment, not an expense. In school administration, finances appear to be one of the most important items. At the present moment Financial Aid to Schools is one of the more important items being considered by both our State and Federal governments. Leading authorities agree that education is one of the most potent factors for our National Defense and therefore for the preservation of our Democracy.

The increased School Budget for 1951-52 as will be presented at the Annual School District Meeting in March, is a result of a great amount of study and thought. Every precaution has been taken to spend the money of the town wisely.

V. IN-SERVICE TRAINING OF TEACHERS:

Teachers, as do members of other professions, need continuous in-service training in order that they may keep pace with the changing and improved methods of teaching. Those people who were responsible for the programs that have been provided in this area during recent years deserve commendation.

During the past summer a three-weeks Workshop for teachers was carried on at the Hampstead Central School. This program stressed "The Language Arts" and practically all elementary teachers in Supervisory Union No. 55 took advantage of the course as offered by various education experts under the direction and supervision of Ex-superintendent Grandy and of David Greenlaw, Principal of the Hampstead High and Elementary Schools.

During the current year, all teachers are availing themselves of the opportunity of reading "The Educator" (Journal of the New Hampshire State Teachers Association) and the National Education Association Journal, as well as many other professional publications which the schools provide and/or to which they personally subscribe.

All teachers attended the two-day Convention of the New Hampshire State Teachers Association in October 1950, and several representatives of the various schools have attended other professional conferences such as one that was sponsored by our State Department at the Phillips Exeter Academy on Guidance.

Just previous to the opening of schools last September, a two-day Workshop was held at Salem for all teachers in this Supervisory Union on the subjects of Reading, Handwriting, and Guidance. Several teachers' meetings and/or conferences have been held since September with various groups and individuals on follow-up work pertaining to the subjects of the summer and September Workshops, as well as on problems that arise in local situations.

Plans are under way to offer a course on the teaching of Science in the Elementary School. Present plans provide that the course be given in Salem by Dr. Clark Hubler of Wheelock College in Boston and that teachers working for degrees might secure two or three credits on a graduate as well as on an undergraduate level. It is anticipated that as many as one-third of the teachers in Supervisory Union No. 55 might avail themselves of this opportunity.

VI. BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT:

The School Board has kept the Central School in excellent condition. The building was thoroughly cleaned and some painting was done during the past summer. A supplemental fuel storage tank has been installed. Part of the driveway and play ground area at the Central School have been tarred.

The high school building is in fair physical condition; floors should be cleaned of the floor-oil and/or covered with asphalt-tile or some similar material. Considerable painting and improved lighting is needed throughout the building.

Mrs. Gloria White and the Home Economics girls have caused tremendous improvement in the general appearances of the Home Economic and Science laboratory by painting chairs and some counter areas, by covering the counter with linoleum, by papering the "folding dressing screen" and by selecting and hanging attractive curtains over the window.

In order to improve the laboratory so that it will be more acceptable as a home economics kitchen, the following changes should be affected:

(1) Relocate the present range and/or sink and add at least one sink and one cooking range. These pieces of equipment would be located so that small groups of girls could work in "family type units."

(2) Rearrange the present cupboard space to provide more useable cupboard area.

Two new 1950 model typewriters have been ordered so that the total supply will not be so-outdated. It is generally agreed that high school typewriters should be replaced about every four or five years. In following a program of this type, the old machines are worth considerably more for trade-in or for sale value, cost of repair is much lower and the girls have the advantage of working with modern equipment.

If we offer shop work to high school pupils, (see recommendations toward end of Superintendents report) some additional mechanical equipment should be acquired. A bench saw and a band saw are recommended equipment.

Mr. Walter White and the boys of grades 7 and 8 have improved the inside of the shop building by painting and some minor repairs in conjunction with their work in manual training.

VII. COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS:

It is commendable that the Hampstead Parent Teachers Association and other community organizations work so effectively with the School, and assist so ably in so many of the school activities.

VIII. RECOMMENDATIONS:

In conclusion, the following recommendations are offered for consideration:

1. That physical examinations by a Medical Doctor be given to each child at least three times during his twelve years of public education. (Many districts now give a physical examination to each child each year.)

2. That the School District adopt a salary schedule for employees.

3. That Vocational Education (Shop) be provided for boys in grades 7-12, to be comparable to Home Economics and Commerce as now offered to girls.

4. That physical education be provided to the children in all grades.

5. That kindergarten be provided for all 5 year old children.

6. That a part-time special or remedial teacher and/or a reading consultant be provided for all schools.

* "Our School Population"—National Education Association, Washington D.C.

In closing, I quote from a recent publication of the National Education Association.*

“Universal appreciation of education as an enrichment of the life of the individual, as a basic experience for all who hope to find the good life in a democratic society, is a goal toward which the American people are traveling and from which they will not be deterred. Those who make plans for tomorrow’s schools may take this into account as a factor which not only has an important effect upon the size of our school population, but one which greatly increases interests in and support for education.”

I wish to express sincere appreciation to the members of the School Committee for their advice and assistance, to the school personnel for their whole-hearted cooperation, and to the pupils and all others who have helped to make our work effective and enjoyable.

Respectfully submitted,

JONATHAN A. OSGOOD

Two boys, John Charles and David Gazaway, have left school to join the Armed Forces this year.

Two of the members of the class of 1950 have entered post secondary institutions and one is in the Armed Forces.

The school is offering work in four curricula; Classical, General, Commercial, and Home Economics.

The shop has been reopened this year under the direction of Mr. Walter White. Benches have been built, new tools procured, and the interior painted. The results have been very gratifying with the appreciation of the boys of the seventh and eighth grades being evident in their work and care of the shop.

The home economics room has been redecorated by the girls under the direction of Mrs. Gloria White.

The hot lunch program is going well. The program, under the direction of Mrs. Coombs with the aid of Mrs. Clark, is serving approximately one hundred twenty meals each day. The number varies from season to season and from day to day. New equipment has been added, including a potato peeler. At the present time the program has a balance of approximately three hundred dollars.

The use of movies in the classroom is increasing. Movies shown are either directly connected with a unit being studied or are of general educational value in such areas as health, safety, automobile driving, etc.

A bioscope has been purchased for the laboratory.

Extra-curricular activities have been occupying much of the time of the pupils. The seniors will present a play in March under the direction of Mrs. Dyke. The Glee Club is active throughout the year. Under the direction of Mrs. Douglas, a Christmas concert was presented in December. Programs are also prepared for Commencement and for a Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

The athletic program draws a very large number of participants. The activities for girls include basketball and softball, directed by Mrs. White. The boys participate in basketball and baseball.

Socials are held periodically under the sponsorship of the classes.

The senior class works hard each year raising money for their class trip to New York. The experiences of this trip are of educational value to each member.

The teachers of the Hampstead schools are appreciative of the efforts of the people of the town in helping to improve the educational opportunities of their youth. The mental, moral, and physical development of each youngster is our concern.

DAVID A. GREENLAW,

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF ART

To Mr. Jonathan A. Osgood, Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit my annual report of the art activities and instruction in Hampstead.

The art program of the past year has been one of steady progress. As well as the continuation of the fundamentals in lettering, color, and design, the individual needs of each teacher's program of study has been considered. Whenever possible, murals, units, and individual pictures were interwoven with their subjects. Along with seasonal decorations, the development of creative work in crayon, water color, poster paint, finger paints, and weaving were done.

Some of the student's art material was selected and sent to the Director of Fine Arts in Concord, New Hampshire. to be used at meetings, and as a part of a traveling unit for the state.

In cooperation with the Music Supervisor during the trip to "Pops", the children were able to visit the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts. At the museum is a collection of art material from all over the world at a child's level.

The decorations for the main bulletin board are created each month by the students. The children not only have an opportunity to create the design, but to arrange their designs in a given area. A mural on the Christmas story was painted, and a manger was constructed for the Christmas Pageant. The seventh and eighth grades made their own manger scene out of pine boughs for their room. The animals and figures were carved out of soap. This class is, also, responsible for the decoration on the bulletin board in the teachers' room. Decorations were also made for graduation by the seventh and eighth grades.

Weaving on a cardboard loom was the only new medium introduced this year.

In closing, I wish to thank the teachers for their interest and cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

DOROTHEA S. ROTH,

Art Supervisor

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

To Mr. Jonathan A. Osgood, Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit my first annual report as music supervisor in Hampstead.

The fundamental aims in music education are to cause children to learn to sing, to play and to listen, so that they will come to love and understand music so sincerely that their school-day enthusiasm for it will continue long after they graduate, and so that all their lives they will derive satisfaction from their contacts with this art. Our school program adequately provides for these aims by including: music reading, rhythms, music appreciation, and singing for fun.

A half hour a week is spent with each group by the music supervisor. The lesson is then carried on daily by the class-room teacher. In the first grade, it is merely the learning of rote songs, rhythms, and listening. Grade II begins music reading and each grade higher carries on a similar program of a more advanced nature, until Grade VIII is reached where the work is at a junior high level.

This year, the children have enjoyed learning to do many folk dances. Not only does this kind of music open whole vistas of new interests; it is also of great benefit to the coordination of the child, especially at the adolescent stage.

As to public performances, the elementary grades presented a Christmas program for the Parent-Teacher Association. The High School Glee Club performed two numbers at the 75th Anniversary Night and the same week presented a Christmas Cantata "Childe Jesus" at the Congregational Church. During this spring term, the elementary grades will give an operetta. This entertainment will include many solo and group songs, folk dances and the first appearance this year of the toy band.

Since the Union is now divided, as far as music is concerned, I suggest that the towns under my supervision establish a music fund from which to build a record library to be used in the towns of Plaistow, Atkinson, Newton, and Hampstead. At the present time, the only record library available is the one in Salem, which is of little use to a supervisor in the above mentioned towns.

In closing, may I express my thanks to all those who have made my first year in Union 55 such a pleasant one.

Respectfully submitted,

PRUDENCE DOUGLAS,

Music Supervisor

ANNUAL REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF HEALTH SERVICES

To Mr. Jonathan A. Osgood, Superintendent of Schools:

The following is my report for the school year ending December 31, 1950:

Number of pupils given physical examinations	167
(Notification of all defects found were sent home.)
Number of visits to schools	100
Number of visits to homes—follow up work	12
Defective vision—6; improved or corrected	4
Number of pupils having defective teeth	76
Pupils who have had dental corrections	45
Enlarged tonsils—8; improved or corrected	2
Impetigo and scabies—8; corrected	8
Inspections for contagious diseases	298

April 30, one pupil attended the Balch Clinic, Manchester and occupational therapy was recommended. May 19, and through courtesy of Mrs. Ayer, transportation was arranged weekly until October. I feel it is most unfortunate that we are unable to carry on this project.

It would be helpful for each child attending school for the first time to bring a health certificate signed by a licensed physician and the certificate should describe the condition of the pupil when the examination was made. First aid equipment is available at Central and High for treatment of emergencies at all times. First aid is limited to first treatment only, following which the pupil should be placed under the care of his parents, who are responsible for subsequent treatment.

In May the Tuberculosis Patch Test was given to twenty-three pupils. No active cases of tuberculosis were found.

Moving pictures were shown as an educational health program on Dental Health, Safety, Posture, Guidance and Obedience, and Tuberculosis, seemingly were enjoyed by all students.

Since dental caries among school children out-rank all other defects, it is hoped that a dental clinic be made available to all pupils that do not have regular dental care by their family dentist.

One of the primary purposes of the school nursing services is to give individualized health instructions which will help the pupil to understand their own health problems and to take an increasing responsibility for securing professional care and guidance.

What the best and wisest parent wants for his own child, that must be the community want for all its children.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who made it possible for a pupil to have occupational therapy through the summer months.

Respectfully submitted,

JESSIE REBECCA SOULE, R. N.,

School Nurse
