REPORT

OF THE

Superintending School Committee,

FOR 1884-5.

DISTRICT No. 1. Money, $272.09.

CHARLES McDUFFEE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Nellie B. Sleeper, Teacher.

A good work has been done in the school this year. The pupils, with few exceptions, appear to be industrious and anxious to make a good use of their privileges, and have made an effort to attend school punctually, even in severe weather.

While Miss Sleeper has allowed some freedom to the little ones, she has been watchful of their manners, required obedience to school regulations, and trained them to pass into and out of the room in an orderly manner.

Their progress in reading, spelling and writing from dictation, has been rather unusual, and the prompt and animated manner of their recitations was gratifying to the listeners.

Three terms. 31 7-10 weeks. Pupils, 54. In the honor roll, 20.

DISTRICT No. 2. Money, $158.55.

MRS. MARY BELL AND MR. FRANK LEIGHTON, Prudential Committee.

Miss M. M. Melvin and Miss M. E. Wilcomb, Teachers.

The school is commendable for good utterance, good order, and habits of application. The older pupils have the wisdom to continue their school days as long as possible, and, while they are gainers themselves, their attendance helps to raise the standard of scholarship, and establish that good understanding which evidently exists between teacher and pupils.

In the fall term the teacher engaged the geography classes in map-drawing, in which direction they may become expert with further time and practice.

Two terms. 21 weeks. Pupils, 28. Honor roll, 6.

DISTRICT No. 3. Money, $175.83.

HORACE WEST, Prudential Committee.

Miss H. Florence Taylor and Miss M. Ada Brown, Teachers.

The summer term of seven weeks, was taught by Miss Taylor, who brought to her work some experience, much earnestness, and a love for little children. She left the school in a good condition, and was engaged for the fall term. Prevented by illness from coming, Miss Brown's services were secured for the remainder of the year. In this, her first experience as teacher, she acquitted herself with unusual ability, keeping the school under good control and in good temper, and closing the year with a thorough examination of the pupils as to the reality of the work they had performed.

The irregularity of attendance has greatly interfered with the children's progress, many of whom might have accomplished twice the amount of work they did, if they had been present every day of the term.

Two terms. 24 weeks. Pupils, 27. Honor roll, 1.

DISTRICT No. 4. Money, $67.38.

EMERSON CHILDS, Prudential Committee.

Miss M. Abbie Dale, Teacher.

Miss Dale is conscientious and painstaking teacher, whose examinations evince the thoroughness of the daily instruction. The summer term was short and broken by illness, but the work of the fall term was satisfactory.

Two terms. 13 weeks. Pupils, 12. Honor roll, 2.

DISTRICT No. 5. Money, $54.84.

GARLAND SMITH, Prudential Committee.

Miss Nellie M. Emerson and Miss Dora A. Abbott, Teachers.

The aspect of the school has been encouraging this year, and more than usual animation has characterized the recitations; the interesting exercise upon the map of New Hampshire, recited by the younger children, at the close of the summer term, should give them some intelligent ideas about their native state. The school was obliged to change teachers in the fall but suffered no drawback in consequence.

Miss Abbott is a quiet and efficient teacher, whose work deserves approval.

Two terms. 15 weeks. Pupils, 10. Honor roll, 5.

DISTRICT No. 6. Money, $75.91.

OREN F. PAGE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Jessie B. Clarke and Miss Vina M. Richardson, Teachers.

This school has done credit to its teachers, this year. Miss Clarke, who taught the summer term, has the quiet energy, patience and ingenuity which characterize those who are "apt to teach." Her health did not allow her to return, and Miss Richardson resumed her old place and work in the fall. The zeal and determination with which some of the children undertook map-drawing, resulted in some very well finished and accurate maps, at the close of this term.

Two terms. 15 3-10 weeks. Pupils, 18. Honor roll, 10.

DISTRICT NO. 7. Money, $89.87.

AUGUSTUS P. MORSE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Jennie P. Hazelton, Teacher.

Another year of hard work was followed by most gratifying examinations. Everything is done to make work inspiring and attractive, and to awake an interest extending beyond that which is found simply in the text books; but these methods are not made a substitute for hard study, and the thorough mastery of the knowledge which lies within the books. Classes were formed in Higginson's U. S. History, with very evident success. This book is recommended now to all who are intending to take up the study of history.

Two terms. 17 weeks. Pupils, 32. Honor roll, 22.

DISTRICT NO. 8. Money, $78.37.

LUTHER B. LANE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Nellie J. Wilbur, Teacher.

Miss Wilbur's first experience in teaching was a successful one. She governed easily and quietly, and taught with a good understanding of the studies. There was a marked advance, in punctuality, and some improvement in distinctness of recitation. But much more needs to be accomplished in this latter direction.

Two terms. 17 weeks. Pupils, 18. Honor roll, 9.

DISTRICT NO. 9. Money, $57.04.

AMOS SANBORN, Prudential Committee.

Miss Charlotte L. Cram and Miss Eliza M. Crawford, Teachers.

Good earnest work has been done in this little school this year, which received the cordial appreciation of the parents. The entrance of two little ones in this school gives the teacher opportunity to give some oral instruction about common things. The "object teaching," for which there seems so little time in our larger schools, might here be made very entertaining and helpful.

Two terms. 14 6-10 weeks. Pupils, 4. Honor roll, 1.

DISTRICT No. 10. Money, $45.02.
 OLIVER H. TARLTON, Prudential Committee.
 Mrs. E. S. Hooke, Teacher.

This school has gone on in its usual way of punctuality, diligence and good behavior. In punctuality especially—nothing more can be asked. The teacher gives a little free tuition, but in this as in some other schools, one can not help wishing we could see what might be done for the children, with longer terms and shorter vacations.

Two terms. 14 weeks. Pupils, 12. Honor roll, 11.

The blackboards should be inspected every year, to see if they are in a good condition. A polished surface does not retain the chalk as well as a dead black. Districts No. 3, 5, and 6 need more blackboards. The boards in No. 1 need some kind of renovation.

CHESTER ACADEMY.

The term in the Academy, under the charge of Mr. Will'am W. Wilcomb, was interrupted by his illness in the latter part of January, and could not be completed, much to the regret of the friends of the school. Number of different pupils, 31.

EXAMINATION OF TEACHERS.

The law requires that all teachers of Common Schools shall be qualified for "examination in reading, spelling, writing, English grammar, and the elements of geography and history," and that in the more advanced schools, other studies may be required.

By the enactment of the New Hampshire Legislature in 1883, "they shall be examined in Physiology and Hygiene, with special reference to the effects of alcoholic drinks, stimulants and other narcotics on the human system;" and the study "shall be prescribed in all schools sufficiently advanced."

For this reason, "Brand's Lessons on the Human Body" has been adopted as the text book in Physiology. Classes have been already formed in some schools, and general lessons learned from it in others, in which the whole school participated.

SUMMARY OF WORK AND WANTS.

The unusual harmony evident in the schools, this year, the increase of punctuality, and the new impulse gained, in some schools, in certain branches of study, are all encouraging indications. There are teachers (may their number increase!) whose earnest study it is to enlarge their work and make it more fruitful, who feel a constant interest in a child's real welfare, who endeavor to "put themselves in its place," mentally, that they may understand and explain its difficulties—with whom a mother may be more than willing to entrust her child.

I am sometimes asked if I am satisfied with a school. Satisfied is a large word, and it takes a great deal to fill its meaning. We should be gratified with progress, but only satisfied with perfection in our work. Our best teachers feel this most, and are constantly reviewing their work, to see if there is anything one-sided about it—whether they are giving undue prominence to one department at the expense of any other, or how they may expend their strength more judiciously. We may be hopeful, but not yet satisfied, for we still have many wants.

We want to have every school on the list of those who will not be tardy or absent without good reason.

We want—and this is a very great want—to have all children come from their homes, with the determination of being industrious and obedient.

We want children to form the habit of going through a book, after they begin it, and not to drop it, in the midst, for a more attractive study.

We want all classes trained to speak, so that they can be easily heard. In reading, the teacher should illustrate by her own example. The utterance should be full rather than loud, and not too rapid. Delicacy of expression is sometimes lost, where the voice is over strained.

Where there are maps we wish that all members of the geography classes should be trained to recite from them. Also to draw maps themselves, first with, and afterward without, the book. The excellent map of New Hampshire, provided by the former Superintendent, ought to be made more generally useful.

We wish that every one would acquire a good knowledge of U. S. History and Physiology, before leaving school. We hope that most will go further in their studies than this.

There is a good, old-fashioned word drill, whose use we would recommend to some teachers. It is a mistake to suppose that a lesson, once understood and recited, is a permanent possession of the pupils. Those only, who make every day a review-day, to some extent, will be sure of this result.

We feel like making a plea to parents not to cut short their children's school days. It is too often the case that those who have made a good start in their studies, drop them, just when they are most deeply interested, and ready to make them most productive, for what seems to be more profitable employment. All profit is not in dollars and cents, and, if it were, intelligence adds to efficiency, in almost any useful labor. Next to a right character, a well stored and active mind is a child's best inheritance.

Respectfully presented for your consideration.

H. A. MELVIN,
Superintendent of Schools.
