REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of the School District of Campton:

I hereby submit my first annual report of the Superintendent of Schools.

The district has had an unusually large number of changes in its organization. Of the staff of ten teachers only three returned this fall and of those only one returned to the same school. The new buildings at Beebe River and Campton were ready for occupancy during the fall and there was sometime of adjustment incident to moving in. The situation was aggravated at Beebe River owing to fire in January which damaged the grammar room and halls to considerable extent, but the loss was covered by insurance. Great credit is due all the teachers of the district, some teaching for the first time under these trying circumstances, but particularly to Esma Ford and Teresa Jenness at Beebe River, who have from the first of the year been teaching under unusual difficulties. The work of the district is motivating well in my judgment. The four new teachers, graduates of Plymouth Normal School last June, are very promising, and the others are of experience in and out of the district.

During the fall an epidemic of scarlet fever was experienced in a part of the district. The situation was ably handled by the local health officer. The number of cases was held down to a minimum and only a few days of school were lost. It is proper that parents should be solicitous for the health of their children, but school and health officials ought not always to be importuned to close the schools especially when the State Board of health does not recommend it in their printed instructions.

It is my recommendation that only children be admitted to the first grade whose sixth birthday falls on or before December 31. This means children at least five years and eight months. Last year the average age of the first grade throughout the state was six years and five months and last year twenty-six out of the thirty-three first graders of the district fell below the state average. In admitting children at five the district is entering the kindergarten field for which the teachers are not trained and for which equipment is not provided. These little people cannot be left alone to work profitably any length of time. Consequently, in many cases either they or the older pupils must be left a good deal to their own devices. Furthermore, the majority of these little people reach the point of fatigue before noon and only in exceptional cases, in my opinion, can they accomplish the work of children a little older who attend two sessions.

Few changes have been made in the organization of classes except that some have been consolidated probably more than preceding years. Experience shows that where two groups have about the same reading and comprehensive abilities, one recitation of a full half hour is better than two separate ones of fifteen minutes. It can hardly be disputed that the better readers of the lower grade do as well as the poorer readers of the upper grade and the larger group brings more contribution and competition to the class besides giving double the time for the development of the subject.

The report cards this year show attitudes and habits of the children as they appear in school. Parents should scrutinize these carefully. Children who are respectful and industrious are often as promising as those of more academic ability but satisfied with mediocre results. Warning cards are sent to parents whose children are failing. A word or two of admonition or encouragement at home often works good results in school.

The proximity to the Plymouth High School with its five excellent courses of study seems to me to take care of the secondary school needs of the district in a satisfactory way. While the amount raised for high school tuition seems considerable, it is doubtful if the same amount spent in the district would give the same opportunity. It is unfortunate that our boys have no opportunity to take up manual training and similar work.

I wish to thank the school board, treasurer and auditors for patience in assisting me to familiarize myself with the professional and financial problems of the district.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLAN M. McCURDY,

Superintendent of Schools.
