ABOUT OUR COVER

Martha Ordway, in 1934, bequeathed to the town of Hampstead six acres of land on the corner of Main Street and Depot Road "to be forever kept and used as a public park." She also left a Trust Fund stipulating "the income to be spent annually in caring for and improving said park." A nursery, the Conservation Commission decided, was an appropriate use of the land and in accord with the intent of the Ordway will. The trees, when mature enough could be transplanted throughout the town.

The Commission arranged with Pinkerton Academy to have the Forestry Class, guided by William Wood, plant seedlings supplied by the State of New Hampshire from their nursery. The class planted and cared for the 3,000 seedlings for two years. The care of the trees this year was partially funded by the Neighborhood Youth Corps and partially by the Ordway Trust.

Seedlings are provided to Conservation Commissions without cost but they cannot be sold. The species in Ordway Park include spruce, red and white pine, yellow birch and black walnut. Some of the red pine will be offered to the townspeople for transplanting this Spring.

NOTICES

INVENTORIES are mandatory. They must be filed with the Selectmen on or before April 15th. Forms are distributed by mail. Please note that a description of the property which will enable the assessing officials to locate and identify each parcel is necessary. A phrase such as "Same as last year" or "no change" is not sufficient.

VETERANS should understand that it is their responsibility to request forms for tax exemption. The Blue card is a permanent record and must be filed only once. However, in order to receive the exemption each year, the Inventory must be filled in and the portion for the Veteran's Exemption checked, signed, and in the hands of the Selectmen before April 15th.

THE SELECTMEN will meet in their office in the Town Office Building on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 8:00 P.M. and meet on the first Tuesday at 7:00 P.M. with Department Heads.

THE PLANNING BOARD — Regular meeting is the third Monday of every month at 8 P.M.

ELDERLY EXEMPTION BLANKS are mailed to persons who have received the exemption the previous year. For persons over 70 who think they may be eligible and who have not received the exemption before, blanks can be obtained from the Selectmen and returned by April 15th.

REPORT OF POLICE DEPARTMENT

It is with great satisfaction and thanks that I submit this, my fifth annual report to the residents of the Town of Hampstead. Satisfaction; from the outstanding job done by the officers of this department in the fulfillment of all tasks, both large and small, day or night; thanks to all Town Departments and Officials for support and assistance, to the officers wives for their understanding, and to the residents for their cooperation during a time when our work has become increasingly varied and complex.

During this past year we received numerous calls relative to horses running loose, both on the highways and in residential areas. Many hours were spent chasing these animals and many more attempting to locate the owners. When running unattended they create a serious problem, not only to vehicles on the highways but more so to the many small children at play. We would at this time sincerely request that all horse owners be extra careful in making periodic checks of their fences in order to keep them restrained.

The newly formed Rescue Squad has been a great help to us at accident scenes by caring for the injured, leaving us free to carry on with our investigation reports.

Fifty-six accidents were investigated, five missing persons found, twenty eight breaks (with larceny), thirty seven other breaks, five stolen motor vehicles (all recovered), one hundred and ten dog complaints, four assaults and one drowning. Eighty-eight cases were taken to court for various violations. These figures show a slight increase over the past year, although much less than the national average.

Once again sincere thanks to all who have aided us in the past in our continuing crusade to make the Town of Hampstead a better and safer place in which to live, work and play.

WILLIAM J. LETOILE, JR.
Chief of Police

REPORT OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

1974 was a busy year for The Firefighters of Hampstead. A total of 71 calls were answered:

- 7 major house fires
- 12 grass and woods
- 6 chimney
- 19 rescue
- The remaining miscellaneous
- 1 fatality due to fire was reported

A radio alerting system was installed in June which has cut the response time of firefighters tremendously. They are being alerted at the same time the party is reporting a fire.

Along with the alerting system new radios were installed in 4 engines and the Central Fire Station. The Chief has a permanent radio in his vehicle and the Engineer on duty — a portable. These new radios put the Department in voice contact with most surrounding towns for mutual aid.

The Department has formed an Emergency Rescue Squad consisting of 14 people including 3 women who are trained in advanced first aid, cardiac pulmonary resuscitation, rescue and auto extrication, emergency child birth, and other facets of emergency care. This squad is for immediate first aid treatment at the scene of accidents. A van has been purchased through the efforts of squad members and it is hoped to be in service soon.

More than half the Fire Department members attended fire training at the State Fire Schools in Fitzwilliam and Gilford, New Hampshire.

The updating of equipment and the purchasing of new equipment continues, financed through the Fire Department budget and money earned by the members of the Association.

This past year many homes were saved from destruction by the outstanding work of the Firefighters of this community. This is almost completely due to the time spent by these men in training sessions. Many hours are voluntarily given each month by these men to learn all that they possibly can in respect to firefighting.

The Board of Fire Engineers on behalf of the town express their sincere thanks for a job well done.

Respectfully submitted,

Paul S. Wentworth, Chief
Wesley P. Hodgman

FOREST FIRE WARDEN'S REPORT

Our fire loss in the Town of Hampstead this year, through grass and woods fires, was almost non-existent, in what was classified by State Officials as a very dry year.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all of the residents for helping us achieve this success.

Remember, the only time you may burn without a permit is when the ground is snow covered.

225TH ANNIVERSARY

REPORT OF THE MANAGEMENT AND SANITARY LAND FILL STUDY COMMITTEE

The major concern of the Committee has been the development of an acceptable plan for the disposal of Hampstead's refuse after the July 1975 deadline. At the 1974 Town Meeting the townspeople, by a show of hands, indicated a willingness to cooperate in recycling. This has been the course pursued by the committee. In an effort to enlarge the landfill site an area was cleared of trees. However test borings by a soil survey crew indicated that the soil was unsuitable. This cleared land acts as a firebreak. The present dump site will not meet the standards required by law for a suitable sanitary landfill area according to Mr. Thomas L. Sweeney of the State Department of Health and Welfare who viewed the site again December 6, 1974, with the Selectmen and Committee.

After studying the soil map of the town, several properties were selected as potentially suitable for landfill. Letters have been sent to landowners requesting permission for an onsite inspection with the State Board of Health and Welfare. No positive responses have been received. This Committee feels that recycling with landfill will be the best sanitary yet economical method of the 4700 tons of rubbish generated in Hampstead annually. Committee members attended seminars and area meetings dealing with the alternatives to open dump burning. Then many more hours were spent in meetings with Selectmen, Planning Board, Board of Adjustment and Conservation Commission discussing a viable plan for the town.

In the Spring two pits were excavated for the disposal of septic tank sludge. Then the area was enclosed by a fence. The committee supervised the construction of a water hole and dry hydrant at the land fill area that will increase the fire protection of the Farm Road area and landfill site.

The Landfill Committee accepted with regret the resignations of Joseph Leonard and Charles Ashford.

We would also like to extend our thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Susan Hastings who has acted as our secretary.

Respectfully Submitted,
Neil E. Emerson
Chip Hastings

REPORT OF THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

Conservation Commission members have spent a great deal of time arranging for the Timber Stand Improvement and Management Plan for the Town Forest. One of the first problems encountered was finding access to the land. Many hours were spent researching the town's title and trying to establish whether the town had a legal right of way to the property. After meeting with town counsel, it was decided that the right of way as described in old deeds to the property was so vague and had been unused for so many years that the town, to avoid any legal entanglement, should pursue another access. The Commission is working toward this goal at the present time. Mr. Frank O. Smith gave us permission to cross his land for the purpose of the timber harvest only.

Stanley Knowles, County Forester, viewed the site and recommended that a Timber Stand Improvement Plan be carried out. Tom Neff, Consulting Forester, was hired to do the actual selecting of trees for the harvest and to make all plans. His fee was based on 10% of the gross timber sale plus $1.50 per thousand board feet. Funds from the Government REAP cost-sharing program were granted after the application was made. We plan to apply for more of these funds as they become available. The Conservation Commission is considering application for certification of the Town Forest as a Tree Farm.

It is unfortunate that the town does not, at this time, have access to this property since there is much hardwood left from the timber harvest which would make excellent fire wood and could be offered to 'ambitious' townspeople for the taking. Until such time as a legal access is arranged, this is not possible. The Commission recommends that anyone wishing to go to the Town Forest ask permission of the surrounding land owners before trespassing on private land.

The Conservation Commission hopes to use monies collected from this TSI to continue the 10 Year Management Plan. State law requires that these funds go into the general fund. So the Conservation Commission will be requesting money on an annual basis for work to be completed each year.

Where once there was only brush and poison ivy there is now an attractive mini-park behind the Hampstead Public Library. This park was designed and planned by Dr. Raymond E. Moore. The efforts of many people of all ages were required in order to accomplish all the digging, raking, and planting. Most of the shrubs were donated from private gardens, some came from the state nursery and there are memorial trees and shrubs growing there. Eventually there will be benches for the visitors to rest on.

More work has been done at Ordway Park and some of the Red Pine will be ready for transplanting in the Spring. These trees, given by the state nursery as seedlings, cannot be sold. A park plan layout designates some of these trees for removal. Plans for this transplanting are being arranged. The trees will be offered to the townspeople on a specified date this spring.

The property map of Cedar Swamp, completed in April, can be seen at the Town Office Building. This project was funded by a matching grant from the Ford Foundation. Our interest is in protecting the central area, a large fresh water swamp, which is the source water for three watersheds: Spickett River, Pow Wow River, and Exeter River. The importance and hydrologic significance of watersheds cannot be overemphasized. The abundance and quality of source water affects all the communities in the region of a watershed. Cedar Swamp is a natural catch basin.

An abandoned railroad bed crosses the northern side of the swamp and it is widely used as a recreation trail. Along this stretch of railroad bed is the site of Hampstead's first railroad depot, giving the area a certain historic significance. Data is still being assembled and evaluated for presentation to the State Highway Department in another attempt to acquire Hampstead's portion of the railroad bed. The Commission is seeking every means available to preserve this area in its natural state for future generations.

The Conservation Commission extends its thanks to the generous individuals and organizations who have supported us during the year. Special thanks to the Library Trustees and Scouts who worked on the mini-park; also thanks to the School Board and Young Mothers for help in planting trees at Central School.

225TH ANNIVERSARY COMMITTEE REPORT

We would like to take just a little space here to extend our thanks to all of the people who were not on the Committee, but played a large part in the success of the event.

When all the data on the anniversary is compiled, there will be a book with all this information turned over to the Historical Society for display in the Historical room, and also to provide some background to future committees planning anniversaries for the Town.

The financial report of the committee can be found elsewhere in the report.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR 1974

The circulation has decreased a little this past year because the Central School has been buying more books for the school library and some of the summer residents didn't return because of working conditions.

There is a new American Educator Encyclopedia just out, especially for children, that we hope to buy at the beginning of the year. It gives much information on so many subjects that the young people are using now in the schools, especially on the Indians. It is most understandable to read and I feel it is essential for the library. The State requires a new encyclopedia every year or so because Science and other things are changing so fast.

The basement has been remodeled and will be dedicated as the Marjorie Kirkness room as soon as funds are available for furniture. I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for the large sum of money donated by Mr. Clinton Kirkness in memory of his wife which brought the memorial fund donated by her many friends, up to $1000.

Just a reminder that books will be taken to shut-ins if you notify the librarian. Large print books are available as well as talking books.

I extend my appreciation to all donors of books, paper backs and magazines and whose names are too numerous to mention.

The Hollyhock Shop was a big success this past summer under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Mary Clark. The shop was held in the basement of the Library. It might be possible to keep the shop open a little longer if more people would volunteer their services. Many thanks go to Mrs. Clark for her interest in the Library and her co-workers for assistance in the shop.

Books are very expensive and it takes a lot of money to keep new books on display. The Bookmobile used to come every two months but now the State is short of funds so it comes four times a year.

I express my appreciation to Mrs. Donald Piehl, the Art teacher at Central School, for her display of Art Exhibits done by the children. She has given much of her time in changing the exhibits. To Mrs. Brough and Mrs. Malsbendon, who come in nearly every Monday to do typing, file cards and cover books, I extend my sincere appreciation and to all others who have volunteered to help, especially the children.

The project of the Conservation Commission committee in landscaping the library has made a wonderful improvement. It is hoped to be finished in the near future.

The landscaping was planned by Dr. Raymond Moore and the work was done by the boy scouts under the direction of Mr. Calvin Scovel and Volunteers.

To Miss Bonnie Howard, my new assistant, I extend my thanks and appreciation for her valued help. To the Trustees I express my gratitude for their many contributions.

REPORT OF SOUTHERN ROCKINGHAM REGIONAL PLANNING DISTRICT COMMISSION

The most important services the Southern Rockingham Commission provides its member communities lie in the general areas of (1) local assistance, (2) regional planning, and (3) state/federal program information-coordination.

LOCAL ASSISTANCE

Approximately 30% of our program funds were budgeted in this category. However, when the final audit is made, it will show that 50% or more of Commission funds were spent on local assistance.

The principal component of the local assistance program has been town planning for Hampstead and Plaistow. The two town plans represent a major undertaking which requires considerable participation on the part of the local planning boards and communication between the planning board, consultant and townspeople. The regional planning commission serves as consultant to Hampstead and Plaistow on their town plans. 1974 saw the completion, for both towns, of the population and land capability analysis sections of the reports.

The population analysis consisted of an examination of 1960 and 1970 census data on age, sex, race, marital status, income, education, etc. of the towns' population and land capability analysis sections of the reports.

The land capability analysis consisted of an examination of selected town natural features in order to determine natural impediments or opportunities for development. The natural features examined were soils, slopes, groundwater, and surface water. On the basis of our analysis, the towns were placed in either natural, limited, moderate or intense development categories. The purpose of the analysis was to inventory town development capability, and generate information useful for other parts of the town plans.

Other local assistance activities have included review of subdivision proposals, zoning amendments, occasional on-site investigations and special interest matters, such as sediment control, driveway construction or legal-procedural requirements, etc. In addition, the Commission arranged with the University of New Hampshire's School of Continuing Studies to teach a course "Soils and Community Development" at the Timberlane Regional High School. The Commission voted to pay one-half the tuition fee for two members from any member town's planning board who wished to take the course.

REGIONAL PLANNING

The second of the three general services the Commission provides member communities is in regional planning. However, unlike town planning, regional planning doesn't have the legal or political ability to implement a definite program, without substantial cooperation between a number of town governments. One area in which regional planning is becoming involved is that of solid waste disposal. The staff is currently completing a report on waste recycling.

This report will focus on the potential costs and benefits of recycling efforts, the locations and depths of various salvage markets and the prospects for changes in recycling which may influence its appeal as a solid waste management alternative.

The Regional Commission has secured agreements from the Selectmen of Atkinson, Hampstead, Kingston, Newton, Plaistow, Salem, and Windham to develop a water quality management plan in conjunction with similarly interested Massachusetts communities if the planning effort is funded. Application to the Environmental Protection Committee has been made.

Selectmen of the above towns have further resolved to implement the recommendations of the above plan, once prepared, if the various town meetings adopt them. We expect that most such recommendations would not be oriented toward the construction of sewage facilities to improve or maintain water quality, but would instead recommend various procedures to improve land use decision making. Whatever recommendations may be made, if funded, the program gives us an excellent opportunity to establish the kinds of water quality problems we now have and can expect to have as the area continues to grow.

Early in 1975 this office will compile an inventory of the various water supply plans which exist and determine their implications for this region. We also intend to update the existing land use plan which was completed in 1972. If time permits, we also intend to do an analysis of zoning controls for the towns in the region.

COORDINATION

The third general category of assistance to member communities is as a "broker" between municipality and state or federal government administrators. Describing new federal programs, their objectives, requirements and benefits, getting information on older funding programs and occasionally assisting in program review or grant applications are the kinds of services we have been and will be performing.

Of most current interest to us now in New Hampshire are possible 1975 legislative land use reform proposals. The commission has attempted to keep selectmen and planning boards informed about the possible content of such proposals before the legislative session begins.

We feel on a matter as vital to local government as land use control is, proposed land use legislation should have already been available for review. It appears local officials will only have a brief time to review proposals and subsequent transmission of viewpoints to Concord legislators. However, it is also amply clear that various special interests are much more aware of the nature of legislative proposals, and will have had full opportunity to lobby in behalf of their viewpoints before votes are cast.

We will continue to appraise local officials about proposed land use legislation which will affect them. The same will be true with respect to any legislation of local significance. As legislative proposals are available for review, they will be transmitted to interested officials.

REPORT OF THE PLANNING BOARD

The Planning Board during the past year has seen a distinct reduction in the number of subdivisions that were proposed and approved. There were also three commercial developments that came before the Board and were eventually approved.

The Planning Board has made a change in the subdivision regulations, outlining the necessary requirements for a site plan of a non-residential development.

With the help of the Regional Planning Commission, the Planning Board is working continuously on a master plan. This year we have received a preliminary report on a Basic Land Use Analysis which when finished will aid the Planning Board, local officials, and citizens in determining what may be the best use of land within our town. This study will be updated next year after the town has been soil-mapped.

DERRY VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION
FIRST ANNUAL REPORT TO TOWN OF HAMPSTEAD

The contract between Hampstead and our association became effective at the beginning of our last complete fiscal year, July 1, 1973. During that year 186 visits were made to Hampstead residents. 121 were made to render skilled nursing care and 25 were made by our physical therapist, both under orders of the individual's physician. 40 were public health visits for such reasons as to provide local nursing services to patients being followed by state clinics or visits to newborns and their mothers.

During the first year of service to a town, when it is new and not yet fully understood, utilization is often less than will be the case in following years. Figures available so far during our current fiscal year show an increase in the number of visits being made. Our present fiscal year ends June 30, 1975 and complete visits for this period will be included in next year's report. The appropriation made by the town in March of 1974 is applied to our current fiscal period. Two new services available since July 1, 1974 are our new Homemaker/Home Health Aide program and screening clinics for those people 60 years of age and over to have their blood pressure, pulse and weight checked and to offer nursing guidance in general health matters. These clinics are sponsored by the "Sixties Plus" Club and are held every two months. During the winter they are held in Sandown and during the warmer months in West Hampstead.

Complete services available include:

1. General nursing evaluation and consultation upon the request of the individual, his or her family, or his or her doctor.
2. Intermittent part-time skilled nursing care provided in the home under the orders of the individual's physician.
3. Physical therapy (provided in the same manner as skilled nursing care).
4. The assistance of a trained Homemaker/Home Health Aide under the supervision of a registered nurse and with authorization of the patient's physician.
5. Public health nursing visits (made without a fee) for such reasons as:
 - a. To provide initial support and encouragement to new mothers and babies.
 - b. To provide local nursing support to patients being followed by various state clinics.
 - c. To do Mantoux testing for T.B. follow-up.
 - d. To provide general nursing support to the elderly.
6. Assistance in making referrals to other agencies (if indicated).
7. Screening clinics every 2 months for residents who are 60 years of age and over.

To request service or general information, call our office at 11 Wall Street, Derry. The office is open from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M., Monday through Friday and the phone numbers are 432-7776 and 434-5806. Also available for questions are the town residents serving on our Board of Directors. They are at this time:

Becky Rooney 329-6494

Jeanne Cooke 329-5532

Our overriding policy is that care is given according to need for the service rather than according to ability to pay, and fees for visits are adjustable on a sliding scale. This is possible only because of town support through appropriations.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
ROBERT J. CROMPTON

Hampstead's "Year-Round School" is now an operational reality and will celebrate its first birthday in February, 1975. It was adopted when it became apparent that 500 or more pupils just will not fit into a 400-pupil capacity school building. Mechanically, the system works. Bus schedules, pupil assignment, teacher instructional schedules and budget modification have been adapted routinely to the new school year concept. It remains to be seen how well it affects instructional results. Current national research shows no significant difference in pupil achievement as a result of change from a conventional to a year-round schedule. Details of the year-round program may be found elsewhere in this annual report.

The past year has seen another failure of passage of a school district bond issue proposition . . . this one to construct a junior-senior high school building on a site owned by the school district. Requiring a $\frac{2}{3}$ majority vote, the issue proposed at the March, 1974 school district meeting achieved a 66.3% affirmative majority but failed to meet the super-majority test. Facing the charge to provide housing to educate its children, the Hampstead School Board now finds itself racing against the clock to find solutions.

Pinkerton Academy, which has formally advised Hampstead that it "should not plan on sending high school students to Pinkerton after 1978," shows growth increasing to 2500 pupils in the very near future. In a letter of December 19, 1974 to the Hampstead School Board, the position of the Pinkerton Academy Trustees is reiterated. So, planning must continue to seek alternative measures for the education of Hampstead's high school youth. Despite the warning from Pinkerton Academy, the Hampstead School Board continues to maintain non-voting representation on the Pinkerton Academy Steering Committee, which provides for some communication among the several districts which tuition their high school students to the Pinkerton Academy.

While the problem of the future education of high school students seems the most prominent, the School Board and administration are also looking at the problem of elementary and junior high school space and programs. Our junior high boys and girls are not able to receive the kind of comprehensive instructional experiences normally available in schools more appropriately planned for this particular age level. The elementary program is excellent, but relies upon the construction of new secondary school facilities to relieve the enrollment burden at the Central School. This accomplished, a return to a regular school year program would be possible.

Ask anyone what the country's major problem is and the answer will most likely be "the economy." The past year has seen considerable attention given to problems, especially fiscal ones, which have been created by the nation's state of economic affairs. The cost of energy, felt by all in their homes, is a matter of real concern to school people and efforts have been underway to conserve and economize.

The effects of the economy are noticeable in a slowdown of enrollment growth, resulting from reported sluggishness in home building and buying. It is also probable that several families have sought other alternatives for the education of their children, other than the Year-Round School solution. The situation is merely a deceleration, however. Enrollments and census are still on the upswing necessitating continued community attention to the problem.

It seems a natural state for school boards and their administrators to be "in trouble" and to be involved in conflict. It is an era of conflict in public as well as private education. The problems are unprecedented in their importance and impatience and coming to grips with them is a trying experience. But, conflict and problems, successfully managed, really signify a healthy, active school board. The new problems facing school management are numerous and often come from judicial recognition of the rights of individuals. Such matters as due process in discipline and arrest; proper handling of records; sex, race and age discrimination; exploding inflation; growing demands by teachers and school finance reform are but a few of many concerns which urgently demand school management's attention.

Finally, with respect to school financing, it still needs to be said that New Hampshire's system is most inadequate and, in Hampstead's case, is causing an undue hardship on the property owner. Some states, seeing the handwriting of inequity on the wall, are doing something about it. Generally, the solutions involve a shifting of school costs away from the property tax base to general state funds and a change in the techniques of distributing state funds. Just as wealthier neighborhoods contribute greater amounts to the tax support of a community, wealthy communities would correspondingly contribute greater amounts to the increased tax needs at the state level.

Any move to solve disparity in educational opportunity by shifting revenue away from wealthy districts to poorer ones has been and will continue to be met by serious political resistance. Our situation would be greatly aided by this kind of reform. Enough to raise our state from last in state assistance to next to last would help immeasurably.

It remains a pleasure to work with the Hampstead community and, in particular, with its school staff and School Board.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL WILLIAM P. NICHOLS

As you have the opportunity to read this report the Hampstead Central School students will be completing a year of attendance under year-round school scheduling. We officially began the extended school year (ESY) schedule on February 4, 1974.

The Central School staff participated in an extensive workshop program in preparation for this change from traditional school scheduling. Teachers from the Dale City, Virginia School District, that has been operating under an ESY schedule for some time, were invited to direct the workshop. They worked closely with the staff to share their experience and methods of teaching that have been successful with their students. A program of early release day workshops is now in progress to continually evaluate and improve the curriculum and approach to ESY.

Alternate methods have been investigated to assign students to the four equal groups that are necessary to establish the 25 percent reduction in total number of students attending classes. The alternatives were not as efficient or workable as the present system. A rotation in the year-to-year schedules of the four groups has been incorporated so that vacations will fall at different times than those of the previous year's schedule.

We have concentrated our efforts in improving and enriching curriculum. Though the ESY schedule has reduced the individual class size to an acceptable level, it has not provided the space needed for the new programs.

These are now operating under less than desirable conditions. The junior high industrial arts class is held in the junior high math classroom with seventh and eighth grade boys scheduled for woodworking each week. The instructor introduces them to many of the small and power woodworking tools for small projects. Two radial arm saws, with accessories, are used on a limited and closely supervised basis.

The junior high home economic class shares part of the readiness classroom. The seventh and eighth grade girls are scheduled each week for sewing instruction, ranging from the basics of sewing to the use of the several sewing machines that are available. Grooming and subjects concerning the economics of the home are discussed.

The readiness class was established for children who need a continuous program in basic developmental tasks necessary for success in the primary grades. The sharing of classrooms tends to limit the scope of these three new programs, but they are working. A fourth new program that has designated the school as one of twelve Right to Read centers in the State of New Hampshire does not require additional space. Right to Read is a national effort that provides the leadership training and staff development in order that the 26 goals of the Right to Read effort will be met in Hampstead. It requires the commitment of the school and community to improve the reading ability of all our citizens, students and adults of all ages. You will be hearing more about this in the near future.

In retrospect, our first year under the ESY schedule has been a success. This success is unquestionably the result of the spirit of cooperation shown by everyone who has been involved, directly or indirectly, with the year-round school. A special thanks to the Young Mothers Club for their donation of power tools and a sewing machine for the individual arts and home economics programs; also to the Civic Club for the donation of uniforms to the girls' athletic teams. We would also like to express our appreciation to the Concerned Citizens Committee for providing transportation for the dental clinic program sponsored by the Lions Club.
