REPORT OF DISTRICT FIRE CHIEF AND TOWN FOREST FIRE WARDEN

Forest fire control in New Hampshire is a joint state and town/city responsibility (RSA 224).

The Director, Division of Forests and Lands (State Forester) appoints a forest fire warden and several deputy forest fire wardens in each town/city upon the recommendations of local authorities.

The local forest fire warden is responsible for forest fire prevention and suppression activities in his town. He regulates the kindling of outside fires when the ground is not covered with snow by the issuance of written permits only when conditions are safe. He is responsible for suppression with the town/city and state sharing the cost. Suppression costs in excess of $\frac{1}{4}$ of 1% of the assessed valuation of the town are assumed by the state.

The state provides training for the local organization and helps coordinate activities between towns/cities. The state also supports local forces with backup personnel, equipment, and supplies for suppression and prevention.

This combination of state and local cooperation, started in 1893, works well, for New Hampshire has enjoyed one of the smallest acreage losses due to forest fires in the United States for the past 25 years.

TO THE CITIZENS OF STEWARTSTOWN

As Executive Councilor for District One which covers 62% of the State of New Hampshire (102 towns and 3 cities), I am pleased to submit this short report to the citizens of your town.

The Executive Council of New Hampshire is elected from five districts portioned by population. The work of the Council has been described as similar to that of a board of directors for State business. The New Hampshire Constitution provides that the Council shall from time to time advise the Governor in the affairs of State. State law as passed by our General Court mandates much of State government to be acted upon "with the advice and consent of the Council."

Our meetings in the State House Council Chambers are open to the public, and I would welcome having any citizens from our District attend any of the meetings.

The responsibilities of the Governor and Council are so diversified as to defy any attempt at exact classification. Their activities extend to the appointment of certain public officials, to a general supervision over State departments, to State expenditures, to pardon matters and to a variety of other duties . . . State officials and employees, State fiscal matters, pardons, commutations and reprieves, eminent domain and related responsibilities, State contracts, and leases, public waters, State industrial and recreational interests and miscellaneous responsibilities.

From time to time, as Councilor if I can be of help to cities, towns, counties, agencies and individuals, I stand ready to do so especially if the problem or concern has to do with State government. However, as many of you know, much of our government, at the local level, is funded by not only local dollars but State and federal monies are many times involved which means that several levels of government are involved. In such cases we must turn to our local town administrative assistants, regional planning commissions, county officials and others for help and guidance.

I can generally be reached by writing or calling my home office (R.F.D. No. 1, Woodsville, N. H. 03785, telephone 603-747-3662) or in care of the Executive Council Chambers (State House, Concord, N. H., 03301, telephone 603-271-3632).

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

Much has been said over the years on the slow but steady erosion of local control in government and education and the increased financial burden placed on taxpayers as a result of that process. Unfortunately, the trend appears to be continuing under the auspices of federal agencies.

Originally introduced to assist local school districts and state education agencies in stimulating and improving their educational programs, federal guidelines, recommendations, and the monies attached thereto were received to a point where reliance on such monies is now almost common place. Alarming, however, federal guidelines and recommendations are now rapidly changing to mandates and regulations imposed on state and local agencies with an ever increasing demand on local tax dollars. In addition, compliance is now, and will be, demanded in areas both in and outside the classroom. Mandates in areas such as athletics, school lunch programs, buildings, unemployment benefits, career education, youth unemployment, student rights, vocational education programs, elimination of racial, sexual and physical discrimination practices, bilingual programs, and handicapped programs will, and must be, implemented by law with the major financial responsibility placed on local governments. Failure to comply with any or all such mandates and regulations can well result in loss of all federal funds by state and local agencies as well as costly lawsuits. Recent education legislation passed by the New Hampshire General Court was done so as not to jeopardize federal funding.

Should the trend continue, of uppermost concern is the availability of local funds to carry out such mandates and regulations without becoming totally reliant on federal monies. Yet the controversy continues and pressure to prevent an additional financial burden is exerted on local and state agencies. Perhaps the most compelling example which will directly affect local school districts is the current controversy of unemployment benefits for all public employees.

Since 1975 state and local public employees have been provided unemployment coverage under a special federal program which expired in 1977. Now, under the Unemployment Compensation Amendments of 1976, states are required to enact a federally approved plan for financing jobless benefits. The costs of such a plan will be borne by local governmental agencies. "If states do not enact legislation to conform with the law, federal funds to assist the administration of state unemployment programs will be cut off. In addition, the federal government will no longer pick up its share of extended jobless benefits during periods of extremely high unemployment." The implications are indeed far reaching for all school districts in a time of declining school enrollments and uncontrollable rising costs for providing a public education and maintaining public school facilities.

Should the trend of government mandates and regulations continue, at stake is the ultimate issue of who will control the public education process, what will be taught, how and where it will be taught, who will participate and by whom it will be taught. Local and state educational agencies may well have the issue decided for them by "1984".

My appreciation and compliments are extended to the School Board members in Supervisory Union No. 7 who, in serving in this public office, must wrestle with these issues from a personal, public and moral point of view. Their dedication to this duty is to be commended and they are indeed deserving and in need of your support.

My thanks are also extended to the citizens of the local school communities and to all the local school staffs who have contributed their own personal efforts to maintaining a high standard of education. I am pleased to state that in spite of the many additional burdens placed on classroom teachers as a result of federal mandates, the ultimate process of education — teaching and learning — is still taking place in the classroom. For this, all teachers are to be commended.

Following is a summation of some current federal issues and mandates that presently or will shortly affect local school districts. It is presented as general information for local citizens.

Title IX: The commission requires that local school districts submit information on the number of sports they offer, their budgets allocated to each sport, equipment and facilities provided, and practice time and travel allowances available for each sex in order for the commission to determine if a discriminatory practice exists or compliance has been met.

Public Law 94-482: Requires an investigation by an education commission into all vocational education programs offered by a school district to determine the extent to which sex discrimination and stereotyping exist in those programs and in the occupations for which such programs prepare students. The investigation will include textbooks, admission strategies, guidance and instructional techniques, and placement of students in vocational or related programs. (The Colebrook School District will undergo such an investigation in March, 1978).

Public Law 95-116: "School Lunch Programs" Extends and revises commodity distribution and non-food assistance under the national school lunch program. Major provisions include a required child nutrition education program in school districts based on 50c per child, a reduction of the present milk program, and allowance for the Department of Agriculture to regulate the sale of competitive (snack) foods during the school lunch period.

Public Law 95-40: Allows state educational agencies and local school districts to spend federal money for administration of vocational education programs if matched 50 percent.

Public Law 95-93: Creates a variety of job and training programs including work-experience programs for in-school youth and experiential work programs during the school year and summer for low-income youths agreeing to stay in or return to school.

Proposed HR95-74: Provides federal financial assistance to states and local school districts for establishment of basic education proficiency standards in accordance with national guidelines.

Public Law 94-142: State and local education agencies will provide a free and appropriate public education for all handicapped youngsters age birth through age 21 (modified by the N. H. Legislature to age 3 through 21.) Included are emotional, physical and mental handicaps.

Public Law 580: States that all existing public buildings not conforming to new physical handicap regulations will be modified no later than 1980 to accomodate any physically handicapped person.

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR'S REPORT

There appears to have been four areas of major concern to the Guidance Department this past year. They were Career or Vocational Education; Special or Education for the Handicapped; Sexual Discrimination; and Regional Problems: Their Solutions Through Cooperative Efforts.

Having begun Career Education programs in the eighth grades in all schools, plans are now underway to expand the program into the middle and primary grades. The teaching of Career Educations has been to some degree mandated by both the State and Federal Governments. Because of this, the Guidance Counselor finds one of his new functions is the coordination of career information and supplies between the various schools within the district. This year, following a request by the Stewartstown School Board, exposure to the world of work through the medium of film was begun in both elementary schools for grades five through eight. The major problem appears to be one of limited films available in the northern part of the State dealing with careers or vocations. It is hoped that through a Federal Grant applied for under Title IV the District might begin to develop a video film library of its own which would contain in its films video tapes of those occupations both familiar and foreign to the area.

Special Education has fast become a concern, mandated by State law, to which the local District will have to address itself. Here again the Guidance Counselor finds himself heavily involved in the functions of identification coding, entering into the school system, and planning of individual programs for all those students having handicaps.

The State also has instructed all personnel dealing with enrollment of students and school programs to make sure that all sex bias or reference to sex stereotypes be removed. The school must make sure that all students have equal access and information to all programs offered or vocations described.

Finally, the Principals and Guidance Personnel from North Stratford, Canaan, and Supervisory Union No. 7 have begun to have regularly scheduled area meetings to discuss problems common to all schools and to share with each other their information and possible solutions. Currently under discussion are the problems of drop-outs, alcohol and drugs, the student and the courts, and curriculum revision.

Respectfully submitted,
OLIVER B. MARTINS
Guidance Counselor
Supervisory Union No. 7

SCHOOL HEALTH REPORT

The school health program had the same objective as in the past: namely, to strengthen the educational process of students by promoting and maintaining good health. A child who is not physically fit may be deprived full benefit of the many opportunities offered. The success of this year's program was possible only through the combined efforts of school, home and community.

The usual yearly services were performed with the exception of:

1. This year the Matching Dental Program sponsored by the State of N. H. was not available to students due to lack of funding at the local level.
2. T.B. skin testing was done for new students and grade 11 only, thereby eliminating grades 4-8 as recommended by the N. H. Division of Public Health Services.

New services provided were as follows:

1. An extensive program of dental education and care including fluoride rinsing was started this year for grades 1-6 in Pittsburg and grades 1-8 in Stewartstown provided by the N. H. Dental Bureau.
2. The N. H. Division of Public Health Services is requiring all school nurses to submit an inclusive list of immunizations on each individual student enrolled in school. This has been an extensive project requiring full cooperation from parents.

It is mandatory that each pupil meet the following standards set by the State of N. H. in order to attend school:

1. Complete diphtheria, pertussis, and tetanus vaccine series,
2. Complete oral polio vaccine series,
3. Rubeola vaccine (measels) or verification of having had the disease,
4. Rubella vaccine (german measles).

The same standards as above apply for pre-schoolers with the following additions:

1. T.B. test prior to school entrance,
2. Pre-school physical,
3. Mumps vaccine.

All parents are urged to take advantage of the pre-school clinics available in this area to prepare their youngsters for entering school.

Each year we strive to improve the health program. Thank you for your cooperation in helping us meet our goal.

STEWARTSTOWN

TITLE I PROGRAM

The Stewartstown School District, for the third consecutive year, received federal monies from Title I ESEA to carry on a reading program for all three schools: the Hollow, West Side, and St. Alberts. The program was started early in the fall with all children in need of remedial help in spelling, reading, word attack skills, and comprehension being able to participate in the program. Prescriptive and achievement tests were given to determine what children need help.

The program has a total of 37 children from all three schools in grades 3 through 7. Each student is given material for their individual levels. The children were designated, and with parental approval and their voluntary participation, were able to take advantage of this opportunity.

The main objective of the program is that 80 percent of the children in the Title I program will increase their growth rate by 60 percent from September to June in the area of word attack skills and comprehension using their grade level attack skills.

The second objective is that all children involved will have learned 150 new spelling words from September to June.

Another of our objectives is to build confidence in the children, motivate them and keep their interest high which will help them in other subject areas as well as develop good study habits. Each and every child who is involved in the program enjoys their work and tries hard to do their utmost. As this is an individual teacher-pupil project, all attention is theirs while they are in class. It seems to be a pleasure to them and makes it much more gratifying to the teachers involved.

Some of the activities used are word game skills, card games, sentence sequencing, reading skills, activities in following directions and listening skills.

The staff of Title I consists of three persons: Mrs. Betty Raymond, Miss Kim Formwalt, and Mrs. Addie Gray. Mrs. Raymond, who has been with the program for three years, works with children at the Hollow School and West Side School two days a week each. Miss Formwalt, who is new this year, works with children at St. Alberts and the West Side two days a week each.

The fifth day of the week is used by both teachers to plan their materials and write reports on weekly progress. The West Side School has a room which is used as a Title I office and reading room. The teachers use this as a home base. It is kept nicely decorated by Miss Formwalt who is our artist. The students look forward to the clever projects she turns out.

Miss Formwalt and Mrs. Raymond meet with me each week to discuss each child. There are also meetings with the Parents Advisory Group and with parents of children involved. All of these meetings have one main goal - to help each student involved in the program.

As Director, my job is to oversee all the projects, write the proposal, and write the reports for the newspapers and town report. I want to thank those involved in the program – parents, teachers, and members of the Parents Group – for making this program a success again this year.

Respectfully submitted,
