VALEDICTORY ADDRESS.

HON. GEORGE D. BARRETT.

January 3, 1917.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

The administration of the two years just passed has been very successful from a financial standpoint. Not only have our interest charges been reduced more than one hundred dollars per month, but over $25,000.00 have been expended for equipment and permanent improvements, which should tend for more efficient service and added convenience to the people of Dover. Over $63,000.00 have been paid on the city debt, and the cash balance as of January 1, 1917, exceeds that of January 1, 1915, by over $14,000.00. No department has been denied financial resources needed for proper service required by the people from the hands of their servants.

The mayor is held responsible by a majority of the people for the expenditure of their money; but if they investigate the matter, read our charter and the city ordinances governing all acts of city officials regarding the expenditure of moneys, they would find that in January there are appropriations made for the use of the different departments, which are placed at the disposal of trustees and committees. The trustees are appointed by Statute, and in the selection of ordinary committees the mayor appoints one and the president of the common council appoints two.

Dover is, and has been, fortunate in the way its financial affairs have been managed, as the present financial statement shows, but a few changes should be made along business lines, forgetting the individual for the benefit of the many.

I desire to take this opportunity to express publicly my appreciation to those city officials, including trustees and commissioners, who have assisted me in my administration.

As the sun comes to us in the morning and leaves us at night, so do officials come and go, and I believe that the coming sunrise will be a bright one for the city of Dover.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

HON. FRED N. BECKWITH.

January 3, 1917.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

We have assembled here today to assume the responsibilities given us in charge by our townspeople at the last municipal election. Representing, as we do, the people of our city, it should be our firm endeavor to be ever faithful to their trust, forgetting petty differences in the interest of the prosperity and growth of our city.

I shall not go into the detail workings of the different departments at this time, but will refer you to the city report for the year 1916 for the things that have been accomplished, and the financial standing of the respective departments.

I wish, however, to call your attention to several conditions which I believe, for the best interest of the city, should be given your careful consideration.

A city treasurer is appointed by these councils as custodian of the funds of this city. I believe that all checks should be issued by this official and not by the different departments, as at the present time.

Under the present system your city treasurer cannot tell what funds are in the banks, or what amounts have been drawn against the same, until the checks are returned from the banks paid.

I would recommend that an ordinance be passed, whereby all checks shall be issued by the city treasurer and countersigned by the mayor. This would enable your treasurer to have a comprehensive understanding of the general financial condition of our city; and is in the line of a recognized business policy.

In the year 1913 a bill was enacted by the New Hampshire Legislature, placing our street and park departments under a one-man control, giving him full authority to purchase and sell all machinery, horses, materials, supplies and other things that in his judgment are necessary for the proper maintenance and benefit of the department.

I do not believe that any one man should have the scope of power which this bill provides, and would recommend that this matter be taken up with our representatives, and ask that an amendment be secured whereby it will be necessary for the street commissioner to secure the approval of the joint standing committee on finance, in the purchase or sale of city property, other than the ordinary supplies of that department, unless provided for by a special appropriation.

There is a condition which, I believe, should have our prompt attention in the interest of public health. That is, the elimination of open sewerage in the so-called Berry brook, and the remedying of the conditions existing in the vicinity of Cataract avenue at the south end of our city.

I am not in favor of bonding our city to make the changes and extensions necessary in our sewerage system, but would recommend that an appropriation be made each year with a view to correcting these conditions.

In the management of any successful business, it is very necessary to weigh carefully the benefits, as against the cost, in deriving at the consistency of making said expenditures.

We are all anxious for the progress and building up of our city, in the improvements which are today becoming necessary for the advancement of a wide-awake community.

We must, however, bear in mind that you cannot have a healthy growth unless your income keeps pace with your expenditures, and that it is also necessary to see that the tax rate is kept at a figure which will attract, and not repel, the investment of money within our city. So, that as the future years roll on, our eyes may see the building up of a greater, busier and more beautiful Dover.

Gentlemen of the city councils, let us see that the works of this year carry out in the most minute detail, the oath which we have taken this day to the performance of our duties.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Joint Standing Committee on Finance.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

The books of the city treasurer have been examined and compared with those of the city clerk, by the joint standing committee on finance, and all accounts are found to have been correctly kept, with proper vouchers on file for all payments. We have also examined and verified the bonds and cash on hand, together with the bank books representing the trust funds held by the city, as well as the sources from which the revenues of the city have been derived, and we are satisfied that the report of the city treasurer is correct.

We have examined all the appropriations, vouchers and receipts in the city clerk's office, and compared the same with the treasurer's, and find all bills approved, certified, and checks properly issued. We find the accounts plainly and legibly set forth and agreeing with the books of the city treasurer.

We find the cash balance in the hands of the city treasurer, including the balances of the various departments, to be $78,899.66.

For particulars of the various trust funds in the hands of the city treasurer, you are respectfully referred to the detailed statement of said funds hereto attached.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE D. BARRETT,
FRED N. BECKWITH,

Cemetery Trust Funds.

Under the provisions of the Public Statutes the city of Dover is empowered to take and hold funds in trust, to apply the income thereof perpetually to the care, preservation or embellishment of its public cemeteries, or to any private lot therein. The first deposit received by the city under this law bears date of October 22, 1886. An amendment of the city charter approved March 13, 1895, placed the management of all our public cemeteries in the hands of a board of trustees. At that date the trust fund account aggregated only $2,303.79; since that time this account has rapidly increased until, at the close of business December 31, 1916, it had reached, including the Tredick fund, ($5,000.00), and the Woodman fund, ($463.96), exclusive of interest, the gratifying total of $64,464.30; accumulated interest, $6,076.32.

Capital, January 2, 1917,	$59,000 34

A part ($8,000.00) of the above capital is invested in the cemetery loan at 3½ per cent. interest, (local banking rate), the balance is deposited in savings bank. Each deposit forms a separate and distinct trust, subject to the conditions under which it is received, and its absolute integrity is guaranteed by the city. The identity of each individual trust invested in the cemetery loan is inviolably preserved, and such fund participates in the accrued interest as it becomes released by reason of the reduction of the debt. See report of cemetery trustees.

Respectfully submitted,

Treasurer.

Dover, N. H., December 31, 1916.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Joint Standing Committee on Claims.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

By reference to the following tables it will be observed that the expenditures of the city for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1916, were $317,845.81. To be in exact agreement with the total expenditures as reported by the city treasurer, there should be added to the figures above presented the sum of $41.65, representing checks issued in 1915, but not presented for payment until after the books for that year had been closed.

Of the $317,845.81 representing the disbursements for the year, three items—the Currier fund, $35.30; the trust fund account, $6,903.00; and the interest on trust funds, $1,657.00,—coming under the immediate jurisdiction of the city treasurer, were cared for by that official without action by the committee on claims, but are included for the benefit of those making a study of municipal finances.

Thus it will be seen that the claims passed upon by your committee aggregated $309,250.51, of which sum $101,638.00 represented money drawn upon requisitions from the various departments maintaining individual accounts of receipts and expenditures, including the highway, school and cemetery departments, the public library and the Wentworth hospital.

The following tables show the appropriations and revenues of the various departments, the amount of money expended in each of said departments except the particular departments above mentioned, and the unexpended balances, together with a particular statement of the sources from which the revenues included in the resources of said departments were derived.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

We have the honor to submit a brief report of the business of the department of police for the year 1916, and we annex the report of City Marshal T. W. Wilkinson, which covers the activities of the department in detail.

There have been no changes in the personnel of the force during the year. We have made some promotions from special to reserve officer, and we hope to have a reserve force sufficient to meet emergencies.

The city has fortunately been comparatively free from crimes of a revolting nature during the year. In the case of other misdemeanors, the force has been able to apprehend malefactors promptly in most cases; in a few others it has taken a careful search and diligent effort before the offenders were taken. These crimes range from larceny to forgery and highway robbery.

There has been a series of burglaries, covering a period of four months that has taxed the patience and endurance of the entire force. Every effort has been made, as some citizens most concerned have reason to know, to trap the criminal or criminals, and no hint or clue has been too insignificant to follow in the hope that something more tangible than mere suspicion would result. We know that every officer is on his mettle to be able to see this house-breaker behind the cell bars.

We have extended the police signal system during the past year, installing call boxes at the corner of Central avenue and First street, corner of Elm and Summer streets, and corner of Central avenue and Locust street. It is hardly necessary to add that this extension is an invaluable addition to the service.

During the year we have received two petitions from the officers asking for an increase in pay. The first one, handed us in the late summer, we felt obliged to deny, as being the wrong time in the year, our appropriation not being sufficient to cover augmented payrolls.

The second petition, recently received, has been given careful consideration, and we decided to grant the request by giving the patrolmen twenty-five cents more per day, approximately, and raising the salaries of the marshal, assistant marshal and night captain in about the same ratio. So that the schedule on and after January 1, 1917, is to be as follows: City marshal, $1,300 per year; assistant marshal, $1,090 per year; night captain, $1010 per year, and patrolmen $990 per year.

Inquiry revealed the fact that Dover, with a few exceptions, pays its officers less than other municipalities of the state. We found that in cities where patrolmen had been receiving $2.75 per day for some time, the force has been granted an increase to $3.00 per day, so that with this increase, we shall still be paying the minimum wage to our officers, as compared with other places.

The department has been run as economically as possible, every officer bearing a hand to keep down expenses. Lights have not been allowed to burn to excess and the cleaning has been done by the men without cost.

Following is the financial summary :

RESOURCES.

Appropriation, $14,200 00.

DISBURSEMENTS.

Bill of previous commission,	$	163 00
Bills of present commission,		13,778 85
Balance unexpended,		258 15
		$14,200 00

The councils authorized the purchase of eight traffic warning signals, or "silent policemen," to be set up at congested points in our streets, and the same have been procured, ready for use when the busy season arrives. Purchase of the signals called for an outlay of $50, and we expect good results from their use.

The department has also acquired a typewriter, purchased at a bargain price, the need of the machine having been felt for some time and especially when it become necessary to get out a large number of descriptions in a hurry.

The commissioners feel that we should not close this report without extending our thanks to the city hall committee for the needed improvements in the police station. The relaying of the floor, which eliminated a rather dangerous step, painting and renovating have made the police headquarters attractive and comfortable and City Marshal Wilkinson and his force take pride in keeping them so.

In conclusion, we ask the support of all good citizens, both in and out of the city government, to the end that the city may be kept in the front rank as a peaceful, law-abiding community.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY A. STONE,

WALTER DELANEY,

D'ORVILLE L. PINKHAM,

Police Commissioners.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

CITY MARSHAL.

TO THE BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS, CITY OF DOVER:

I have the honor to submit herewith my report as city marshal of the Dover police department, for the year ending December 31, 1916.

At the beginning of the year three new call boxes were added to the present system, one at the corner of First street and Central avenue, one at the corner of Elm and Summer streets, and one at the junction of Locust street and Central avenue. As a result of the installation of these new call boxes, the work of the department has been greatly facilitated, and the efficiency of the department very materially increased.

I am pleased to say that there is perfect harmony in the department at the present time. The officers are interested in the work, and are ever ready and willing to do their full duty and obey all orders.

Owing to the recent numerous breaks in the residential part of the city, the entire department has been worked to the very limit, day and night, and the officers have responded promptly and cheerfully to the call for extra duty. We have used, and are using, all the resources at our command, to apprehend the party or parties perpetrating these offences, and we hope and confidently expect to round them up soon, and bring them before the bar of justice.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

CITY SOLICITOR

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS :

I have the honor to submit the following report for the year ending December 31st, 1916.

During the year your solicitor prepared a brief for the supreme court, in the case of Charles H. Foss, mayor, against Alvan P. Place, Edward J. McGuinness, Frank E. McKone, and Edward S. Clarke. The supreme court handed down a decision in which they found that the city was liable for the costs of the suit.

The case was a bill in equity, brought by the city in June, 1914, restraining the defendants, who were police commissioners and chief of police, from applying certain funds of the city toward the purchase of a police motor ambulance.

The supreme court, in their decision, stated that the action against the defendants was unnecessary, inasmuch as the mayor of the city had the injunctive right to stop payment on any claim until the question of liability of the same was settled. The supreme court refused to decide the question whether or not the police commission had a right to purchase the police motor ambulance, without the consent of the mayor and the city government.

Growing out of this case, a suit for two thousand dollars has been brought against the city by Peter McShane, who sold the police motor ambulance to the commissioners. This action was entered at the September, 1916, term of the superior court, and is still pending in said court.

At the time of the bringing of the action the plaintiff's attorneys served a thirty days' notice on the city to be ready for trial at that term, but on account of the failure of the plaintiff to serve a copy of the specifications of the suit with the writ, and on his failure to file said specifications with the writ at the beginning of the term, your solicitor made a motion to said court to have the case continued, on the ground that he was unable to properly defend the action without knowing the exact details of the cause of action.

An action was brought by the city of Dover, at the September, 1916, term of the superior court, against the Royal Indemnity Company, of New York, a bonding company, by order of the mayor, to recover the alleged shortage in the accounts of the late city treasurer, William K. Chadwick. This case is pending in said court.

During the year I have answered all the communications submitted to me and have assisted the officials of the various departments, in such matters as have been called to my attention, to the best of my ability.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES B. ADAMS,

Solicitor.

ASHES AND REFUSE DISPOSAL.

The aggregate cost of maintaining this branch of the service was $2,887.62. In this amount is included the operating expenses of the incinerator, where vast quantities of refuse matter have been destroyed. The collections in this department reached the unusual total of 3,708 loads, divided as follows: Ashes, 1,970 loads; refuse, 1,738 loads. The collections for 1916 exceeded the total for 1915 by 333 loads.

In connection with the inspection of dwellings instructions in sanitation have been given tenants and property owners in many instances, and it was gratifying to note upon return visits that in practically every case the instructions had been carried out.

Samples of food have been purchased from various dealers throughout the city and forwarded to the state laboratory of hygiene for analysis, as occasion seemed to warrant, and the result communicated to the dealer directly concerned. Where the goods did not comply with the requirements of New Hampshire law the dealer was formally notified and the sale of the article prohibited.

EXTRA WORK.

The total receipts from this source aggregated $1,078.76. As has been stated in previous reports no appropriation is required for the maintenance of this department, as the parties for whom the work is performed pay the expense, which is assessed at actual cost and furnishes no revenue to the city. Following is a list of the persons, firms, and corporations for whom work was performed, and the amount collected: Bolus Peter, $2.25; Charles N. CONCRETE SEPTIC TANKS.

The gratifying success attending the introduction of the septic tank fully sustains our contentions presented in previous reports. We feel justified in calling the attention of the public to the benefits derived from this comparatively inexpensive method of sewage disposal. The out-of-doors privy as ordinarily maintained, is a direct menace to public health. In many cases the spread of typhoid fever, dysentery, and so-called summer complaints, can be traced directly to these privies. Careless methods of disposing of waste from the human body, as well as the indiscriminate distribution of garbage near occupied buildings, not infrequently gives rise to most serious results. In many places these privies are prohibited by law. The cesspool should also be included under the ban. Every home should be provided with adequate conveniences for the proper care of these unsightly and fruitful sources of disease. The suburban resident is as deeply concerned in the matter of sewage disposal as is the dweller in the city. The concrete septic tank solves the problem for the farmer as well as the urban resident who is unable to secure proper connection with the public sewer. It should be understood that the septic tank is not offered as a substitute for a modern sewer system, but is designed to meet conditions where connection with the public sewer is impossible.

The principle upon which the septic tank operates is one of rotting, or decomposition; that is, the solids and semi-solids which enter from the house drain, are digested or liquified by bacteria such as develop in all vegetable or animal matter when such matter starts to rot or decompose. Experience has proven that sewage will, if confined in a practically air tight and dark compartment, soon commence to "break up" in this manner, due to the development and action of these bacteria. These feed, so to speak, upon the solids and semi-solids in the water, thus converting them into gas and relatively harmless compounds. It should not be inferred from this statement, however, that the action taking place in the tank will destroy disease germs. These discharges must still be properly taken care of to prevent them from being a possible menace to health.

We would suggest to those contemplating building a septic tank the practicability of consulting the local health authorities, who will be glad to advise as to the best method to be applied in each particular case.

MILK.

During the year inspections of barns, utensils and vehicles for the production and distribution of milk have been made as often as possible. A recent analysis of twenty-two samples of milk secured from various dealers, taken for the purpose of securing a practical knowledge of actual conditions, resulted as follows, the bacterial count being made at the laboratory of hygiene at Concord:

No.	Bacteria Count	Remarks.
1	475,000	Too high.
2	19,000	Good.
3	50,500	Good.
4	900	Excellent.
5	2,000,000	Not fit for consumption.
6	50,400	Good.
7	27,000	Good.
8	9,000	Good.
9	6,300	Good.
10	900	Excellent.
11	45,000	Good.
12	330,000	Too high.
13	230,000	Too high.
14	27,000	Good.
15	22,000	Good.
16	38,000	Good.
17	22,000	Good.
18	11,000	Good.
19	56,700	Good.
20	10,000	Good.
21	25,000	Good.
22	9,900	Good.

With the exception of the four samples indicated above, we found that the samples analyzed show a very good quality of market milk.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES REPORTED.

	Cases.	Deaths.
Diphtheria,	19	0
Scarlet fever,	11	0
Measles,	81	1
Infantile paralysis,	1	1
Typhoid fever,	5	0
Pulmonary consumption,	15	10
Chicken pox,	10	0
Whooping cough,	11	0
Cerebro spinal meningitis,	1	0
Ophthalmia neonatorum,	1	0

The foregoing is a list of communicable diseases that physicians are required by law to report to the local board of health, with the addition of pulmonary consumption for purpose of reference. In cases of pulmonary consumption physicians are required to report directly to the state board of health, consequently local boards have no direct knowledge of the number of cases existing in their locality, and are necessarily handicapped in their efforts to suppress the growth of this dread disease.

MEASLES.

During the month of December an outbreak of measles occurred in one of our public schools. This school was visited each morning by R. J. Bennett, M. D., chairman of the board, and all children exhibiting suspicious symptoms were restricted to their homes, and not allowed to re-enter school until permission so to do had been granted by the board of health.

The suppression of measles is one of the most difficult problems with which we are confronted, for the reason that the disease is highly communicable, and most contagious during the pre-eruptive stage. It is such a common disease that parents are prone to take but little pains to avoid infection. This is a mistaken idea, as measles affect the nasal passages and often leave bronchial conditions which attract pneumonia microbes. Many a death attributed to broncho pneumonia could be traced to a previous case of measles. These serious after-effects may be largely prevented, however, by giving the patient intelligent treatment while measles are in process of development.

CHILD HYGIENE.

A progressive department of public health cannot long ignore the growing demand for more sympathetic co-operation between parents and health officials looking to the conservation of child life. When it can be demonstrated that approximately one-fourth of the mortality in congested centers is among children under five years of age, the importance of stemming this disastrous tide must be evident.

The term "child hygiene" is applied, in a general way, to all public health work having for its object the protection of children from the period of birth until their emancipation from school duties. Medical inspection of schools has but two objects: (1) the general physical welfare of each child; and (2) the detection and exclusion of communicable diseases from the schools. The importance of school hygiene in its broadest sense, (including medical inspection), upon the health and development of the child during the period of school activities, requires no amplification here.

Medical inspection in schools is no longer an experiment, but a pressing necessity. It is founded on a recognition of the close connection which exists between the physical and mental condition of children during the whole process of education. It seeks to secure ultimately for every child, normal or defective, conditions of life compatible with that full and effective development of its organic functions, its special senses, and its mental and spiritual power, which constitutes a true education.

During the past year the chairman of the board of health, R. J. Bennett, M. D., has visited the schools and conducted examinations of the children as opportunity presented. In all cases where it was deemed best to send children to their homes, the parents have been formally notified of the cause and given brief instructions as to remedial treatment.

WATER SUPPLY.

Samples of water collected at different times throughout the year and at locations where trouble might be anticipated owing to the infusion of vegetable matter or other polluting influences, have shown, upon analysis, that our domestic water supply is unexcelled in any city in the state. As a rule water may be said to have little value when considered as a food product, yet water is entitled to rank as a food because it enters into the structural composition of all foods as well as all tissues of the body; it is an essential element of diet, even though it cannot of itself build tissue, repair waste, or produce heat or energy. One of the most universal dietetic faults is to neglect to take enough water into the system.

ICE.

During the year a survey of the Cocheco river has been made by the state board of health, assisted by the local board, with a view to improving conditions and abating sources of pollution. The process of freezing of natural ice forces out a large amount of deleterious matter, and epidemical disorders caused by impure ice have, in the past, been very rare. Notwithstanding this fact, however, it must be realized that wherever there is pollution there is always an element of danger.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

A system of modern sanitary plumbing has been installed in the Varney school during the year, and without doubt a similar system will be placed in the Belknap school during the coming season. With the completion of the last named undertaking our schools will be equipped with the most approved plumbing and up-to-date basement accessories. Changes have also been made in the Upper Neck school. This building has been remodelled and greatly improved. The introduction of running water into the building was begun late in the season, but owing to the advent of cold weather work was abandoned until spring.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The building or purchase of a suitable building to be used as a detention hospital is one of the important needs of this department. While it is true that there has been no occasion for such a building during the past few years, we have no assurance that this much-to-be-desired condition will long continue. Should such a condition arise not only would the health department be seriously handicapped in the care of patients but the safety of the public would be correspondingly imperilled.

As the result of careful personal investigations we would recommend the introduction of medical inspection in our public schools. Action of this kind, we believe, would be deeply appreciated by parents and result in a gratifying improvement in the physical condition of the scholars.

IN CONCLUSION.

The department invites suggestion and honest criticism having for its aim the general good. The consensus of opinion of many minds forms a formidable barrier behind which the public servant may gather his forces for an intelligent sortie against the legions of ignorance and indifference, confident in the assurance of ultimate victory.

DOVER PUBLIC LIBRARY.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

TO THE CITY COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF DOVER:

The board of trustees of the Dover public library presents its report of the work of the library for the year 1916.

During the year the board has held its regular monthly meetings, excepting in July and August, and also several special meetings called for specific purposes. At these meetings careful consideration has been given to all matters affecting the welfare of the library, and its continued development and prosperity. Of its growth and regular work, systematic reports have been prepared by the librarian which are appended to and made a part of this report.

The chief event of importance during the year has been the acquisition of a legacy of $5000 by the will of the late Miss Sarah C. Woodman. This fund was made over to the board of library trustees on July first, by Col. Daniel Hall, executor of the estate of Miss Woodman. The fund was temporarily placed in the Strafford Savings bank to await permanent investment. Its income will be a perpetual memorial to the kind and generous interest of the donor.

The members of the city councils are cordially invited to inspect the library at all times, and familiarize themselves with the varying phases and wide range of its activities. The trustees refer with satisfaction to the excellence of its work and are confident that the wider the knowledge of its results, the greater will be the appreciation of its importance to all parts of our community.

For the trustees,
CLARENCE I. HURD,
Secretary.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

The whole number of books taken out in circulation was 77,010, while that for last year was 76,848. This number includes all books issued for use outside the building, but does not include the use of the reference books, either in the Reading room or Historical room, or Fine Arts room, a use which is of as much value to the patrons of the library, as is the home use. The library deals with all classes of the population, and provides books in French, Spanish, German, Italian, Latin, ancient Greek and modern Greek. To this list will now be added another for a Portuguese citizen has just made application for a Portuguese grammar. Another foreigner asked for a Mohammedan Bible in his native language. The library could give him the Koran in English but could not supply it in Arabic. But though various languages are represented on our shelves, the number of books in each is small and the figures of circulation show practically the reading of our native English speaking and reading population. The last census figures show that eighteen nationalities are represented in our city. They gave the population of our city as 13,247. Of this number, 3,314 were foreign born. These read no English and with the exception of the French Canadians, not much in their own languages. But the children of the foreign born come in large numbers, always speaking and reading English. Our circulation, therefore, may be reckoned as taking place among the 9,933 who are native stock and American born children of foreigners. For this class the circulation shows a use of seven books for each man, woman and child of the whole number.

It is a satisfaction to report each year's work larger than the preceding, and though in point of figures the number is only slightly in advance of last year, in actual work done there has been distinct increase, for the demands in the variety of information sought, and requests for specific assistance have never been larger in number or more exacting in patience and intelligence. An increasingly large number of persons from out of town have made use of the resources of the library, both for historical research and preparation of papers, and while all possible aid has been given them, nothing of this shows in tables of statistics. Miss Jenkins, who takes charge of the circulation in the main room, has made all possible effort that every one who comes to the desk shall be well served and has met widely varying demands with the courtesy and skill of long training. She has added to her desk work the care of the public documents, which are sent each month by the United States government. These books and pamphlets are shelved in the basement, classified by the scheme of classification used by the United States government and are often found to furnish information that could be supplied in no other way. Not only do they include material comparatively little used but important when called for, like patent office reports, agricultural information, ethnological monographs, and congressional reports, but they also furnish the latest scientific results on subjects like pure foods, welfare of children in schools and employment, investigation of infectious diseases, nutritious diet, control of injurious insects, military exercises and training, good roads, and many other equally practical subjects. They therefore need to be accessible, properly classified and well indexed.

THE READING ROOM.

To the Reading room there have been 13,847 visitors, 873 of whom came on Sundays. There has been an increase in the number of High School pupils who came for regular work in connection with their studies. In order that they might be better informed in regard to the use of books, arrangements were made with the principal of the High School, and as part of their school work this fall, all the classes came over under their teachers and were given instruction by the librarian in the use of the card catalogue, general indexes, and some of the reference books.

THE CHILDREN'S ROOM.

The work in this room has shown marked increase this year, both in numbers and importance. There have been 13,773 visitors to the room, in comparison with 11,581 last year and 16,266 books have been taken out in comparison with 13,823 last year. Miss Parker, in charge of the room, has done most of the work without assistance, taking charge of the selection of books, their cataloguing, and what is a large consideration in point of time, their cleaning and mending, and she has in addition given much personal aid to parents and teachers as well as to the little folks themselves. Though many of the children come from rather irresponsible homes, she has lost but two books in circulation. This is a record of good and efficient work. The story hour has given its usual enjoyment to the children who eagerly count on it, and this fall a story hour in French has been added for the French children, the stories being told by the French teacher in the High school who kindly volunteered her services.

PERIODICALS.

The library regularly receives about 130 periodicals, the current numbers of which are kept on file in the Reading room, and back numbers are used for circulation. Of these nearly 100 are bound and preserved for reference and the remainder are given away or, in the case of a few publications, sold for old paper. This oversight of the magazine files is done by Miss Morrill in addition to her regular work of cataloguing. It demands exactness and attention and she does the work with painstaking care and faithfulness.

LECTURES.

The lecture room has had less use this year than for several years. In February Miss Losanitch, a Serbian noblewoman, lecturing under the auspices of the New Hampshire State committee for war relief, spoke on conditions in Serbia. In April, Ralph D. Paine, the author, spoke of his experiences as war correspondent during the Spanish-American and Boxer wars. In May, the Shakespeare centenary was celebrated, Mr. Frank H. Damon, superintendent of schools, giving a lecture on the life and times of Shakespeare, followed by a brief outline presentation of part of the play of Macbeth, by pupils from the High school. This lecture taxed the seating capacity of the room and had to be repeated a few days later to accommodate the people who had not been able to get inside the door.

HISTORICAL ROOM.

As was the case last year, the income of the Pray and Jaques funds, amounting to $123.39, has been devoted to the purchase of books for this room with the result of greatly increasing the value of its material. This room now offers most excellent opportunities to the student of genealogy and attracts many people to it from out of town, who spend hour after hour here in research. The set of New Hampshire town histories is now practically complete. The county reports for most of the counties are complete and those still incomplete lack only a few of the late issues which will soon be filled in. There are also complete sets of New England Historical and Genealogical Register, including the Index, New Hampshire Genealogical Record, Granite Monthly, Granite State Magazine, New Hampshire State papers, including the Revolutionary Rolls and Probate records, First census, 1790, Mayflower descendant, Massachusetts soldiers and sailors of the Revolutionary war, Essex antiquarian, Maine Historical and Genealogical Recorder, Old Eliot, York deeds, Early Connecticut marriages, Rhode Island Colonial records.

The collection of newspapers is also noteworthy. The first paper issued in Dover was entitled The Political Repository and Strafford Recorder, and was published by Eliphalet Ladd. It was begun July 15, 1790 and ended January 19, 1792. Of this we have nothing. Under the same editor The Phenix was begun January 23, 1792, and continued to August 29, 1795—the last part of the time being published by Samuel Bragg, Jr. Of the Phenix we have two numbers, presented by Mr. John Scales. On September 5, 1795, Samuel Bragg, Jr. began the publication of The Sun, Dover Gazette and County Advertiser. Of this we have an interesting but incomplete file, our numbers beginning in 1796 and ending in 1814. Other Dover newspapers of which the library owns single copies or incomplete files are, New Hampshire Republican, Dover Gazette, New Hampshire Globe, Spirit of the Age, Dover Telegraph, Cadets' Advocate, Dover Sentinel, Local Record, Daily Bee, The Press, The State Press, Dover Daily Republican, Visitor's Index, Foster's Weekly Democrat. Complete files are preserved of The Dover Tribune, begun in 1910, and of The Dover Evening News, begun in 1911 and discontinued in 1913.

The one complete file to which reference is oftenest made, is that of The Dover Enquirer, which began in 1828 and lasted till 1900, when it was consolidated with Foster's Weekly Democrat. It is an exceedingly valuable possession. To its columns reference is constantly made by persons desiring to settle dates of local events or to make copies of marriage or death notices, often for court records or for pension claims.

The library should obtain so far as possible, full sets of all its local newspapers. They contain the history of the city, and should be carefully preserved for future use. With the passing of the years their value increases enormously, and they are correspondingly difficult to obtain.

The reference work of the Historical room, as well as of the Reading room has been in charge of Miss Devin, who has shown much aptitude for her work and proved herself a valuable addition to the library staff.

BOOKPLATES.

A collection of bookplates is something for the purchase of which a public library might not feel justified in expending its funds, but when acquired by gift it should be well cared for and put in the best possible order for exhibition and preservation; for it is a possession unusual, valuable, appealing to scholarly tastes and conferring distinction on its owner.

The collection, as it came to the library, consisted of two large scrap books pasted full, some hundreds of loose plates, and many irregular mounts with two and three plates on a mount. It required some time to put these in order, for the work had to be done in the intervals of more pressing demands. But the whole number have now been mounted singly and arranged in uniform boxes, according to the advice of a well-known Boston collector. First are a few examples of each of the historical styles; early armorial, Jacobean, Chippendale, ribbon and wreath, modern armorial. Then come a few specimens of some of the more important designers; Smith, French, Spenceley, Von Bayros, Chambers, Hopson and others. Then plates of institutions, colleges, libraries, museums, then plates without names, for in the early days of bookplates, the heraldic designs were supposed to identify ownership, and were used instead of names. Then the remainder, which constitutes by far the greater part of the collection, is arranged alphabetically by the name of the owner of the plate. This all makes a collection of 3,670 specimens, with about 500 duplicates in addition. These duplicates by exchange with other collectors may be used in the future to make the collection more complete. With the plates are a number of periodicals and books pertaining to their description and history and several bibliographies; the whole making a collection in which the library and the city may take a justifiable pride.

There has been no change in the library staff during the year. Miss Cate as extra assistant and Miss Colbath as substitute have done good work in their respective places. The regular work with schools has been kept up, exhibits of pictures have been shown, and once a week the library attendants have spent an hour together in class for consultation of library needs and methods.

As for the previous years of her service, the librarian desires to express her appreciation of the counsel of the trustees, and her recognition of their desire that the library shall attain each year to higher standards of efficiency and usefulness.

Respectfully submitted,

CAROLINE H. GARLAND,

Librarian.

THE WENTWORTH HOSPITAL,

OF

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

In presenting the eleventh annual report of the board of trustees, we are compelled, as in previous years, to exclude the personal element and deal largely in generalizations and the presentation of statistical deductions, as not only professional ethics but the dictates of a rational charity, precludes the exploitation of individual instances in which the hospital has ministered to the health and happiness of the many hundreds who have come within the radius of its influence.

The total number of days' service rendered patients since the opening of the hospital, shows an annual average of 7,841; the largest number in any one year being in 1915, with a total of 10,859, or 2,284 days in excess of the number for the present calendar period. Statistics show the average length of time each patient received hospital treatment to have been 20½ days. The average for 1916, however, was the smallest in the history of the institution with the single exception of 1906, the first full year of service.

The following table shows the number of patients admitted, the number of days of free and partially free service rendered, and the number of days' service for which regulation rates were received, during the several years the hospital has been in operation:

Year.	No. Patients Admitted.	No. Days Free Service.	No. Days Partially Free.	No. Days at Regular Rates.	Total Days.
1906	75	101	48	1,129	1,278
1907	307	991	199	5,172	6,362
1908	338	1,637	480	5,367	7,484
1909	325	2,078	415	5,466	7,959
1910	400	2,370	469	5,194	8,033
1911	421	2,148	595	6,005	8,748
1912	415	2,416	980	5,249	8,645
1913	466	2,101	1,452	6,591	10,144
1914	441	2,687	872	5,707	9,266
1915	552	2,623	1,490	6,746	10,859
1916	480	1,860	1,458	5,257	8,575

The number of accident, emergency, and ambulance cases, taken collectively, was relatively larger in 1916, than for any previous similar period. In order that proper attention may be given to patients enrolled under either of the above classifications, it is imperative that an adequate working force remain on duty at all times, irrespective of the normal demands of the institution. That this requirement imposes quite heavy financial obligations when the minimum number of patients are enrolled, is evident, yet it is a condition which neither the dictates of economy nor the wisest exercise of managerial discretion, can accurately regulate. First aid, rendered by experienced hands, is, in many instances, in the life of an institution of this kind, the only medium through which the stricken patient may hope to obtain ultimate relief.

It must appeal to anyone seeking comparison between the work actually accomplished and the expense such work entails, that the conditions above referred to must, in no small degree, account for the variations reflected in the following summary showing the average daily cost per patient since the opening of the hospital based upon the yearly cost of maintenance: In 1906, $2.49; 1907, $2.62; 1908, $2.32; 1909, $2.11; 1910, $1.98; 1911, $2.16; 1912, $2.28; 1913, $2.12; 1914, $2.49; 1915, $2.22; 1916, $2.32.

The relation which the sub-divisions of expense annually bear to the daily cost as above presented is indicated below:

Year.	Salaries and Wages.	Groceries and Provisions.	Medical and Surgical Supplies.	Light and Power.	All Other Expenses.
1906	$0 93	$0 54	$0 29	$0 15	$0 58
1907	94	63	33	12	60
1908	84	61	22	11	54
1909	80	57	25	09	40
1910	86	51	14	08	39
1911	82	54	21	08	51
1912	86	53	23	09	57
1913	82	49	21	08	52
1914	1 02	58	24	10	55
1915	95	50	23	06	48
1916	1 01	61	20	09	41

Notwithstanding the steadily increasing cost of all commodities necessary to the proper conduct of the hospital, the average daily cost per patient for the year 1916, shows an increase of only five cents per day over the general average covering a period of ten years.

Of the 8,575 days' service rendered during the past twelve months, 1,485 were entered at a figure in excess of the per diem cost as above determined, 5,230 at prices ranging from 28.57 cents to $1.50 per day, while the remainder, 1,860 days, or a little over five years' consecutive service, were rendered without the slightest revenue to the institution.

It is interesting to note that the free and partially free service dispensed by the hospital; i.e., where less than the minimum rate of $1.50 per day was charged, represents a total concession to charitable interests, of considerably in excess of $4,000.00.

The smallest number of patients in the hospital at any one time during the past year, was 13; the largest number, 43, maintaining a daily average of 23.5. While the daily average is 6.5 less than in 1915, it is 1.9 in excess of the daily average for the first ten full years of hospital service, taken collectively.

A comparative study of the statistics of the department, however, shows that during the year 1916 there was an appreciable falling off in the receipts from patients occupying the more expensive rooms. In fact, the revenues from this source were substantially $1,000.00 less than the general average for the five years immediately preceding.

A classification of department expenses during the years 1915 and 1916 is given in the following table:

Sub-division.	1915	1916
Salaries and wages,	$10,329 62	$8,630 54
Groceries and provisions,	5,244 44	5,242 18

Dr. Young bequest,		25 00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
Totals,	$24,662 41	$22,229 53

The last three items in the foregoing tabulation are not included in the deductions submitted in this report, as they cannot be properly considered as chargeable to the general maintenance account.

As will be seen by reference to the foregoing table, over $1,500.00 were expended for construction work during the year. The addition of four rooms on the third floor of the nurses' dormitory, with bath, convenient closets and connecting hall, was responsible for this outlay. The congested condition of the nurses' quarters rendered this addition extremely desirable, and obviates the expense, frequently found necessary in previous years, incident to providing accommodations for the attachees of the institution outside of the hospital buildings.

The revenues of the department, showing a decrease of substantially $3,000.00 from the income derived in 1915, necessitated an appeal to the city councils for additional funds. Of the sum appropriated only $2,500.00 was required, and the balance, $500.00, still remains in the city treasury.

The books and accounts of the department are open to your inspection at all times, and we cordially invite the members of the councils to personally familiarize themselves with the various details of management, believing that only through a full and complete understanding of the aims and purposes of the hospital and the manner in which the trust reposed in us is administered, can a comprehensive understanding of the great work accomplished by this institution be acquired.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. BARRETT,

2. The medical and surgical staff shall arrange the terms of service of its members, and for such service no compensation shall be received from the Hospital. Provided, however, that paying patients in the general wards may secure the personal attendance of any member of the Hospital staff by agreement between the parties. Should it appear, after due investigation by the Superintendent and the attending physician or surgeon, that a patient under the care of such physician or surgeon, whether in the general ward or in a private room, is able to pay, said physician or surgeon may charge and collect his regular fees for services rendered, or such an amount proportionate thereto as the patient's circumstances may permit. This provision does not apply to patients occupying free beds, who shall be treated without charge. The Hospital assumes no liability for payment of fees under this section. One physician and one surgeon shall be on duty at the same time.

3. The permanent staff shall have the care and control of all patients, except private patients, during their term of service, and shall render to each other such assistance as may be required. Non-resident patients will be required to pay the regulation charges for room occupied, for at least two weeks in advance, also the regulation Hospital charges for urinalysis, bacteriological or X-Ray examinations.

4. Persons suffering from insanity, pulmonary tuberculosis, alcoholism (acute or chronic), venereal diseases, and all forms of contagious and infectious disorders, are precluded from admission. Should a patient suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis or venereal disease be inadvertently admitted, the attending physician shall order the immediate discharge of such patient, provided such action shall not endanger the patient's life.

5. The attending physician and surgeon shall make their regular morning visits between the hours of 8 and 12 o'clock, whenever practicable, and shall make such other visits as may be necessary for the faithful and efficient performance of their duties.

6. If any physician or surgeon of the Hospital staff shall be prevented from serving his regular term, or part thereof, he shall procure one of the other members of the staff to attend in his stead.

7. No capital operation shall be performed, except cases demanding immediate attention, without the approbation of at least two members of the surgical staff. This rule does not apply to private patients. No operation, except such as may be considered absolutely necessary, shall be performed on Sunday. Non-resident patients treated in the operating room, will be subject to an additional charge of five dollars for minor operations and ten dollars for major operations.

8. Impecunious patients, unless bona fide charges of the city of Dover, will be admitted only upon the authorization of the proper officer representing the town or county exercising jurisdiction, or at the instance of individuals or corporations assuming all necessary obligations incident to the care and treatment of such patient. All such individuals or corporations shall pay all regulation Hospital charges, including fees of the physician or surgeon who may have charge of the case.

9. The attending physician or surgeon shall keep in permanent volumes, in such form as may be prescribed by the Board of Trustees, full records of the cases, diagnoses and treatment of all patients, both in the medical and surgical departments. No volume of such record shall be taken from the premises, and no abstract from any such record shall be made by any person unless permission so to do shall first have been obtained from the Board of Trustees.

10. In the event of a person admitted for medical treatment becoming a surgical patient, the attending physician shall transfer such case to the attending surgeon; and a medical case having been wrongly assigned to the surgical service, the attending surgeon shall transfer such case to the care of the attending physician, such transfer to be made as soon as the diagnosis shall be determined. In case any doubt should arise as to the diagnosis, a consultation of both staffs shall be called, in order that the facts in the case may be promptly and definitely decided.

11. Any physician of Dover, in good standing, can attend his private patients in the Hospital. Neither the Hospital or staff will be held responsible for compensation or treatment in such cases.

12. The physician or surgeon in attendance may call in consultation other members of the staff, including the consulting members, and any patient in the Hospital may, with the consent of any two members of the Board of Trustees, have all the accommodations of the Hospital, and the attendance for purposes of treatment, or consultation, or operation, of any physician or surgeon in good standing, provided the Hospital shall be at no expense therefor.

13. Members of the staff shall report to the Board of Trustees immediately, such cases of misconduct or incompetency on the part of any officer or employee of the Hospital as may come to their notice.

SUPERINTENDENT.

14. A Superintendent shall be elected by the Board of Trustees, who shall hold office for one year, or until a successor is chosen, but may be removed at any time by the Board of Trustees, for cause.

15. The Superintendent shall, under the direction of the Board of Trustees, and subject to the by-laws and rules, have control of all departments of the Hospital, of all subordinate officers, employees and patients, and shall have charge of the grounds, buildings and other property.

16. She shall, unless otherwise provided, have the power of appointment and removal of all employees.

17. She shall keep a record of the admission and discharge of all patients, in a book provided for that purpose.

18. She shall take charge of all money, or other property not in use, belonging to patients, keep a record of the same in a book provided therefor, and upon delivery thereof shall take a receipt in full. In case of death she shall take an inventory of all effects of the patient, and deliver the same to the legal representative of the deceased.

19. She shall make such provisions for the religious worship, comfort and instruction of the patients as, with the concurrence of the Board of Trustees she may, from time to time, deem advisable, and when any patient is dangerously ill, she shall invite the attendance of such clergyman as the patient may designate.

20. She shall be superintendent of the training school for nurses, and shall have entire charge of the nursing of the Hospital.

21. She shall, when directed by the Board of Trustees, purchase fuel, provisions, furniture, medical and surgical supplies, etc., and shall be responsible for their safe keeping and economical use.

22. She shall furnish at all times, such special or regular diet as may be prescribed by the physician or surgeon in charge.

23. She shall report to the Board of Trustees at each regular meeting the number of patients treated during the preceding month, and at the annual meeting in March, submit a report in detail showing the work accomplished during the year, the condition of the Hospital, and such other information as may be required.

24. The Superintendent shall admit and discharge patients, in accordance with the rules and regulations; she shall assign patients to wards or rooms, and shall see to their care and comfort under the direction of the physician or surgeon in charge.

25. Should a patient become dangerously ill, she shall immediately notify the relatives or friends of such patient.

26. Upon the death of a patient, she shall immediately give notice to the family or friends of the deceased, and request them to make immediate arrangements for the removal of the body.

27. She shall receive all money paid at the Hospital, giving receipts therefor, and shall keep such financial accounts as the Board of Trustees may, from time to time, prescribe.

28. She shall keep a descriptive record of all gifts to the Hospital, with name of donor.

ADMISSION AND DISCHARGE OF PATIENTS.

29. The authority to admit patients to the Hospital is vested in the Superintendent, subject to such rules and regulations as the Board of Trustees may prescribe.

30. Applications for admission should be made at the Hospital, and should be accompanied by a probable or possible diagnosis by the physician attending such applicant. Upon admission to the Hospital the patient shall be examined by the physician or surgeon on duty, who shall make such recommendations relative to the case as, in his judgment, the circumstances seem to warrant. This rule does not apply to private patients.

31. The conclusion of the attending physician or surgeon in all cases referred to him as provided in the preceding rule, shall be cited in the record of the case.

32. No ward bed shall be kept vacant for the accommodation of any particular patient for more than twenty-four hours.

33. Accident or emergency cases shall be received at all hours.

34. No person shall be admitted whose case is deemed incurable, unless, in the opinion of the Superintendent, there are indications that such patient might be relieved. Previous to the admission of patients of this class, however, the Superintendent shall consult with the physician or surgeon on duty, unless such delay might imperil the life of the applicant.

35. Whenever a patient is removed from the Hospital, or leaves without the consent and approval of the Superintendent, or the physician or surgeon in charge, a written statement to that effect shall be required from whomsoever assumes the responsibility for such removal.

36. Patients may be admitted to the Hospital upon such terms and conditions as the Board of Trustees may establish; in cases where, in the opinion of the Board of Trustees, the circumstances of the patient require it, a part or the whole of the required board may be remitted.

37. The body of a patient dying at the Hospital shall not be delivered to any person without a receipt from the party receiving the same, and only under the direction of the Superintendent or officer in charge.

38. The Superintendent shall discharge patients immediately upon the recommendation of the physician or surgeon in charge.

HOUSE RULES.

39. On each secular day, from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Sundays from 2 to 3 o'clock, friends may be admitted to visit patients in the wards, it being understood that no patient shall receive more than one visitor at the same time. Patients in private rooms may be visited by their friends at any suitable hour during day time, by permission of the Superintendent. In all cases, however, the Superintendent may exercise discretionary powers as to admitting or excluding visitors.

40. Husbands, wives, fathers, mothers, or guardians of patients, prevented by their employment from visiting at regular hours, may be permitted, at the discretion of the Superintendent, an evening visit on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, from 7 to 8 o'clock.

41. Friends of patients will not be permitted to occupy rooms with them at night, or remain with them in the wards. The provisions of this rule may be waived by the Superintendent only in cases of extreme urgency.

42. Compliance with the directions of the Superintendent is expected of all patients and employees while connected with the Hospital.

43. Profane, indecent or disrespectful language, loud talking, laughing, whistling, singing or unnecessary noise of any kind, in or about the Hospital, is forbidden.

44. All articles intended for the use of individual patients, such as fruit, flowers, clothing, reading matter, etc., must be placed in charge of the Superintendent, by whom such articles will be used for the good of the person designated at the discretion of the attending physician or surgeon.

45. No Hospital employee shall visit the wards without permission first having been obtained from the Superintendent.

46. Patients desiring special religious ministrations at any time, should notify the Superintendent, who will see that such wishes are complied with if possible and expedient.

47. No officer, nurse or employee of the Hospital, shall accept any gift or gratuity from, or in behalf of, any patient.

48. Free patients who are able, in the opinion of the attending physician or surgeon, to render light service, will be expected to do so when requested by the Superintendent.

49. Immediate friends of patients should leave their address with the Superintendent, to the end that prompt notice may be given them should occasion require.

50. All employees of the Hospital when off duty, must be in their respective rooms, with lights out, at 10 o'clock, P. M., unless otherwise specially permitted by the Superintendent.

51. Ward patients shall not leave their wards to visit other parts of the Hospital, except by permission of the Superintendent.

52. No private patient shall visit another patient except by invitation, and then only with the permission of the Superintendent and the physician or surgeon in charge.

53. Patients, upon admission, should leave in the office with the Superintendent, any money or other valuables in their possession. Failing to do so, the Hospital will not be responsible for any loss which may occur.

54. Visitors must observe perfect order and decorum while in the Hospital; must confine their visit to the particular patient they came to see, and must leave the building promptly at the end of the visiting hour.

55. Patients must not discuss their maladies, their physicians, or their attendants, with each other.

56. All complaints from patients should be made directly to the Superintendent, and at the time when cause of complaint occurs. Such will receive prompt attention. It is not possible to successfully investigate complaints after patients leave the Hospital.

FREE BEDS.

57. Free beds may be established as follows: By the annual payment of $300.00, or by the deposit of $5,000.00 at any one time, as a permanent fund.

58. Contributions for the establishment of a free bed fund, other than those heretofore mentioned, will be safely invested by the Board of Trustees, and the interest applied for the benefit of the poor who may require hospital care and treatment.

59. Persons endowing free beds have the privilege of naming persons who, if regularly admitted, shall occupy such beds, subject to the general rules determining their worthiness.

60. In case of vacancies in such endowed free beds, they may be filled in the same manner as other free beds, according to the rules of the Hospital.

61. Any alteration of these rules and regulations may be made by a majority vote of the Board of Trustees at any regular meeting, notice of such alteration having been given to each member thereof at least seven days before said meeting.

62. Fees.—The “Williams” private suite, $50.00 per week; the “Lothrop” private room, $5.50 per day; the “Seavey” private room, $5.00 per day; the “Nealley” private room, $4.00 per day; the “Hanson” private room, $4.00 per day. (The foregoing rates include the services of a special nurse.) Private rooms attached to the wards, $2.50 per day; ward beds, $1.50 per day. Children under twelve years of age will be admitted to the ward beds at one-half the regular rates, viz., 75c per day. A charge of $2.00 per week will be made for each baby cared for in the maternity department. An operating room fee of $5.00 will be charged those patients who come in for the day, and who remain not longer than forty-eight hours. After the first twenty-four hours the usual rate for the bed occupied will be charged. A fee of $3.00 will be charged by the Hospital to those patients who come in for an examination by the staff.

63. The Hospital assumes no responsibility for the payment of ambulance charges, unless the service upon which such charge is based shall have previously received the sanction of the Superintendent or officer in charge of the Hospital.

The year 1916 has been a year of problems due to the exceptionally high cost of living. The average house-holder has had difficulty in meeting his problems; how much more difficult, then, has been the situation in an institution which furnishes care for the sick and a home for those employed in their care. No matter how few or how many the patients, over-head expenses go on. These expenses are as truly found in hospital business as in any other. In this time of unprecedentedly high prices, it is not possible to reduce running expenses.

Not only are supplies at the top notch, but it is extremely hard to obtain proper persons for the performance of the necessary duties in the institution, and unskilled labor is demanding and receiving wages entirely out of proportion to its ability to perform. Domestic service offers but little attraction to the woman who can obtain employment in mills or factories. The work is arduous, the hours long, and, when combined with certain rules which must prevail in an institution for the best good of all, there is but little inducement institution managers can offer to domestic workers. Wholesome food, hygienic surroundings and early hours do not compensate the young for loss of pleasure; the desire for which is their natural heritage and need not be criticised. When we are without our regular domestic service, it is necessary to have women in, and pay by the hour.

This is not conducive to retrenchment. As a large part of our work is scrub work, when it is not done the hospital is not up to a hospital standard of cleanliness.

The training school cares for the sick. The domestic department is an entirely separate and distinct thing.

The loss of one person from either makes necessary changes which may involve every person in each department. As each part of the machinery is essential to the smooth running of the whole, and the slipping of a cog throws all out of gear, so the loss of one person's service in a small hospital is felt everywhere, for the hospital is run on a minimum amount of labor. The attention to detail which must obtain in a hospital, to secure good results, is not appreciated by the general public who have no knowledge of such detail and no standard of comparison.

To secure such knowledge it is necessary to live daily among the hospital workers in each department, really seeing what is being done. The criticism of such a person would be of value because it would come from knowledge of conditions.

The prices of some drugs are such as to make their use almost prohibitive. Among these, glycerine—which we must have— bromides, mercurial products, coal tar derivatives, and a number made in foreign countries.

Cotton and gauze—essential to hospital work—have steadily advanced, as have other staples such as flour, cereals, vegetables and meat products.

The wear and tear of linen, which is changed and washed daily, is a large item of expense. Bleaching agents, which deteriorate materials, we use sparingly. All disinfection of linen, whether mechanical or chemical, renders it less strong. Yet chemical disinfection and mechanical sterilization are absolutely necessary. All utensils and articles in use in operating rooms or ward work, that can be so treated, are boiled. This must be done to render them free from pathogenic bacteria, yet the boiling makes the life of the utensil shorter. The compensation for this technique is in the results obtained. Infection of clean cases is almost unknown, and we never have cross infection. Every article washed in the laundry is sterilized by live steam.

Our night-working force consists of a night assistant (whose duties take her all over the hospital), three night nurses (one in the men's building, one in the women's building, and one in the maternity department), and a night man, who attends the fires and is called on for other services. This night force is on duty twelve hours out of the twenty-four, seven nights a week, with the exception of the night assistant who is off duty one night a week. A dinner is cooked in the general kitchen of the hospital and served to this force between the hours of twelve, midnight, and one-thirty in the morning. If there are special nurses on duty they also are provided with dinner. No person connected with this institution is expected or required to serve twelve hours without food. The food provided is the same as that served the day force.

We have treated fewer patients this year, and our private rooms have not been so much in demand. We admit all accident and emergency cases any hour. Patients who can be admitted under our rules are never refused if we have a vacant bed. Sometimes a patient prefers waiting until a certain room is vacant, which is her choice. Our private room department often has to serve in over-flow from our maternity department. Patients who have engaged a ward bed at the rate of $1.50 per day, often occupy a room whose rate is $3.00 or $4.00 a day. We move such patients to the ward when a vacancy occurs, but obviously they must be admitted when their condition demands it, and we meet the emergency in the way best calculated to benefit the patient.

Our appropriation for 1916 was inadequate for our needs. It was $3,000 less than the year before. It is true we did construction work in 1915 with a larger appropriation than we had ever received, and it is equally true, that we did nearly as much construction work in 1916 with an appropriation $3,000 less. The collections for the first nine months of 1916 were $2,770.00 less than the corresponding months of 1915. This left the hospital nearly $6,000 less to meet its expenses than for the corresponding time of the preceding year.

It is not possible to tell how much money may be collected from patients in a certain time or the number of patients we may have. Our original appropriation from the city was $6,000 and last year we had $6,500. A comparison of conditions and prices of 1907 and 1916 would be educative and illuminating to us all.

The present epidemic of measles is of sufficient proportion to demonstrate the need of an isolation building in connection with our hospital. The lightness with which the laity accept the fact that their children have measles is lamentable. Most children appear only a little ill and yet common complications of the disease are most lasting in their effects. The complications are broncho - pneumonia, laryngitis, otitis media, chronic conjunctivitis and fatal nose bleed. Proper nursing care in many instances cannot be given from lack of knowledge and lack of funds. Many of these children, during an epidemic, do not see a physician and their entire life may be handicapped by a chronic eye or ear trouble; thus rendering them a less valuable asset to the community in which they live.

The training school has eleven pupil nurses; the work of the hospital is not, and cannot, be done by this number. It was necessary to sever the connection between the training school and some nurses this year for the best good of all. We have a fair number of applicants, but they do not all come up to our standard of requirements, which are those under the control of the regent of the state board of nurse examiners, who is also regent of the State Medical Board and Superintendent of Public Instruction. As a Hospital registered in Concord, N. H., fulfilling the requirements of the Board, it is our bounden duty to keep up to the conditions prescribed by this Board. A State Inspector of Training Schools for Nurses visits and passes upon conditions found in the hospitals and training schools of the State. We have always met with the commendation of this inspector.

We have had two splendid gifts for use in the training school. One, a magnificent set of Frohse Charts, which are the best anatomical charts on the market. These were given us by Mr. F. B. Williams, to whom is not only due the gratitude of those of us who are here for the present, but for all the pupil nurses of the future. The other gift, the Chase Hospital Doll, is a life size doll specially arranged for demonstration work in a nurses class-room. This doll is of great value in practical work, and the donor, Mr. E. W. Rollins, has our grateful thanks. Mrs. C. L. Baxter, of Portland, gave a beautiful water color for the reception room in the dormitory. Mrs. Alice Paine added to the attraction of the room by giving us draperies for the windows, and Miss Etta Hatch of Amesbury, Mass., donated two artistic table covers.

It is a matter of grateful pride to your superintendent to be able to say that ninety-nine out of every hundred patients who leave our care, leave the hospital with expressions of gratitude. And when all that can be done is of no avail, and the patient dies, then the various members of the families, even in the midst of their sorrow, express their thanks for what we have been able to do to alleviate the last hours of pain and suffering of their loved ones.

As faulty human beings, dealing with faulty human conditions, we have no illusions in regard to expecting perfection of conduct from any one of us.

But the dominant control in this institution is the spirit of service,—service humanely rendered by trustees, staff, superintendent and all subordinates.

This, the tenth complete report I have submitted to this board, gives me once more the pleasure of thanking you for uniform courtesies and considerations.

There has never been a trouble too large or too small to take to you,—not that I have taken them all,—but the knowledge that I could do so freely, has always been of great help.

During the year we have installed a new D. M. Dillon high pressure boiler to take the place of the two boilers installed twenty-eight years ago.

We have repaired the steel piston rods of the water end of our steam pump, so that now we feel well equipped to cope with the situation should anything happen to our electric pump or the reservoir.

The police station and the armory have been connected to the new four inch Kelley spring line. (An account of this line was given in last year's report.)

It is all working perfectly and is a great saving from the high pressure system.

We are endeavoring to keep the system in good condition. The height of the water in Willand pond is now forty-seven inches above the zero mark; a year ago it was only two and three-quarter inches above.

The water from our system was analyzed in July by the State Board of Health. The report showed the water to be of excellent quality.

Thirty thousand dollars was paid on the water debt during the year. Twelve thousand dollars of this amount was paid from the earnings of the department. The above would indicate that we commence the new year with our water sufficient in quantity, good in quality, and our interest charge ten hundred and fifty dollars less than last year.

A detailed statement of the condition of the works, the work done during the year, the changes and improvements made, and the receipts, expenditures, abatements and discounts, and the amount of uncollected rates, may be found in the superintendent's report, which is annexed to and made a part of this report.

DOVER WATER WORKS.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

TO THE BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS:

Gentlemen: Pursuant to custom and in accord with the duties of the superintendent, this, the annual report for the year 1916, is respectfully submitted, containing a summary of the more important changes and improvements made, the condition of the department at the close of the year, together with a statement of the receipts and expenditures, and comments on the tabulations, which naturally form a part of such report.

Our water supply. Owing to the large rainfall during the summer months, a considerable increase is noticeable in our supply of water in Willand pond. On July 27 and again on September 24, it reached the highest level for ten years: fifty-two and three-quarters inches above the zero point established January 1, 1909, when the gauge was installed in the pond station. This condition would seem to indicate that with a normal amount of rain our present supply is equal to the demands. The large amount of water passing through the conduit line during these heavy rains, demonstrates that the laying, last year, of an additional pipe from the lower well in the Page field to the aerating chamber, was a well advised improvement.

Bed No. 1 of the filtration plant was refilled this year. The considerable addition to the usual cost of refilling the beds was occasioned by the necessity of having to strip the soil to the depth of three feet, the removal of a large number of trees, and the necessity of screening a large amount of the sand. Bed No. 2 should be refilled the coming year.

The pumping plant of the high pressure station is in first-class condition. The two Whittier boilers have been removed and a D. M. Dillon 60 inch by 17 feet six inch, 160 pounds pressure boiler installed in place. The piston rods on the water end of the George F. Blake steam pump have been covered with brass tubing, and the rods and pins of the balance valves replaced with new. The work of repairing the pump and setting the boiler was, with the exception of the brick work, done by the department, under the direction of our engineer, Mr. Batchelder. With the exception of a new indicator for the altitude gauge, no repairs have been necessary at the pond station. No repairs of consequence have been made on the buildings of the department.

Practical experience during the last year has demonstrated that the improvements made in 1915 in the low pressure system (Kelley spring line) resulted in saving considerable water that was formerly drawn from the high pressure system. The use of the water from the two reservoirs on Silver street has not resulted in any noticeable decrease in this supply.

During the year we have inspected and tested, under pressure, the hydrants belonging to the city. All but three were found to be in good working condition. The defective ones were repaired with new stems and valves. It is the intention of the department to inspect and properly test all hydrants once a year. The several hydrants on the Unitarian pond line have been put in good condition. At the request of the chief engineer of the fire department, we refitted the hydrant on Franklin square (connected with the Pacific Mills fire service) with working parts similar to those on the hydrants belonging to the city.

But few repairs have been needed on the cast-iron distributing system. The employees of the B. & M. railroad, in changing over the gates at the junction of Central avenue and Fourth street, cracked the Fourth street main. This damage was repaired with a Kellogg repair sleeve, the cost of which was charged to the railroad company. Several main gate valves have been repaired, the trouble being largely due to the gland of the stuffing box being rucked (as machinists term it) to the stem of the valve, making it difficult to open or close them.

Thirteen new service pipes have been laid, eleven being one-inch services, and two six-inch fire services. Two services have been discontinued, and one hundred and eleven repaired. Of the latter forty-seven were outside the street line (and of these, several were renewed from the main), and sixty-four inside the street line at the expense of the owner. We were called upon seventeen times to shut off water to enable owners of property to make repairs.

One hundred and seventy-three meters were removed and tested. Of these one hundred and forty-nine were repaired by the department, twenty-four by the manufacturer, and fourteen were found not worth repairing and replaced with new. Twenty-eight new meters have been added; in use at the present time, 1587. The average cost of repairing meters has been $2.06 each.

Year.	Population, Census 1909.	Yearly consumption	Ave. daily consumption	Gals. per day ea. inhabitant.
1913	13,247	186,002,000	509,722	38.4

1915	13,247	185,497,000	512,636	38.7
1916	13,247	208,475,000	570,875	43

Year.	Number of services.	Number of meters.	Per cent of ser- vices metered.	Per cent of consump- tion metered.	Per cent of receipts for water metered.
1913	1,962	1,483	75.5	45.3	76.3
1914	1,973	1,512	76.6	45.9	76.6
1915	1,981	1,559	78.7	45.1	78.6
1916	1,993	1,587	79.5	44.2	79.6

An examination of the above tabulation shows that while 79.5 per cent of our services are metered, from which 79.6 per cent of our income from the sale of water is derived, only 44.2 per cent of the water pumped is metered, thus demonstrating that 55.5 per cent of our consumption is yet unregistered. From this large amount of unmeasured water we are receiving but 20.4 per cent of our income for water. I cannot think that this water is lost by leaks from our distributing system, as our total consumption (average per year 40.4

gallons per inhabitant) is far below the average for other cities. Statistics published by the American City, of the consumption per inhabitant of one hundred and eighty-four cities throughout this country, including Dover, N. H., shows that there are but eleven cities with less consumption than ours. A proportion of this unrecorded water may be accounted for, in a large degree, from the fact that many of our meters are old and must necessarily be worn, and that considerable water gets by the disc without being recorded, or in other words our meters are under registering. I would recommend that this matter receive early attention, and that these meters be tested at the expense of the department.

The following table gives the number and size of the meters in use.

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

The report concerning the work of the school department in detail, so far as it relates to things accomplished or still in process will be found in the report of the superintendent of schools, the report of the head master of the high school, the report of the principal of the evening school and the report of the truant officer. The financial statement will be found in the report of the committee on finance and claims.

Following the custom of my predecessors, I herewith present a few general remarks to accompany the annual report of the school committee to the city councils.

The work of the school department is entirely unlike the work of any other department because it deals almost entirely with personalities. Its real business is the moulding of future citizens and helping them to prepare themselves for living in our communities, in such manner as to enable them to get the most out of life as an individual and at the same time to contribute their full share to the civic, social, and industrial life of the community of which they may be a part. The mistakes of other departments can nearly always be discussed from the standpoint of dollars and cents, and perhaps remedied, but the mistakes of the school department can never be remedied because the scholars who are the victims of our mistakes pass on to other stages of development or out of our schools and so out of reach of any remedial measures.

Because of this fact two things become obvious. First: The employes of this department, especially the superintendent, the teachers and instructors should be selected with the utmost care as to personal qualifications and professional fitness, and when once secured, all those having these qualities in marked degree should be offered all reasonable inducements to remain in the system. Second: Changes in the program of studies should be made only after careful investigation as to the real educational value of the proposed innovations, and also as to whether these innovations are to displace something of more value, proven by long experience. Radical changes in the program of study should never be made abruptly.

The school committee, being the legal representatives of the school district, are empowered to arrange and approve all programs of study used in our schools. The New Hampshire state department of public instruction has arranged and approved a program of studies for the elementary schools and recommends its adoption in all the districts of the state. This program of studies contemplates some radical changes from the program now in use in our schools, both as to subject matter and as to time allowed for mastery of certain subjects. So far as we have been able to learn, this program of studies has nowhere been used in its entirety, and has not been proven workable nor even an improvement on our present program. This program could not be adopted by all the grades immediately, without the pupils in the upper grades losing entirely, instruction in some essential subjects. Therefore, the program, if adopted at all, should be adopted one grade a year, beginning at the lowest grade and adding the program for later grades only after the pupils have mastered the work of the lower grades. But this program contains, among other things, a course in elementary science which our present program for the grade schools does not; these subjects being included in our high school program.

Now an edict has gone forth from the state office of public instruction that no high school will be approved whose program of study includes the elementary sciences. This means that some of our pupils are to get no instruction in these subjects.

Shall our pupils be deprived of all instruction in these important subjects or shall we risk the disapproval of our high school by the state office? Problems like these are among those that confront our committee at the present time.

Last September the disease known as "infantile paralysis" produced much uneasiness in the minds of many of our people, and more recently a case of scarlet fever and a few cases of measles and whooping cough produced a like result. As cases like these are likely to occur at any time in our schools the public have a right to demand that proper means be used to detect and care for them in their early stages before they become epidemic. Again, there are cases of adenoids, defective hearing and eyesight and other defects and maladies, that, given proper attention, the result would be of large benefit, not only to the recipient of such attention, but to the community at large.

Many cities and towns employ one or more school physicians, whose duty it is to make at least one complete inspection of all the schools, treat such minor ailments as are not otherwise cared for, and to respond at the call of a teacher or school official who may suspect the need of his attention. I believe the employment of a school physician to be a matter which may well be considered at an early date.

The Domestic Arts and Mechanic Arts departments of our schools have passed the experimental stage and have proven that they are entitled to a place in any system of schools that would educate all the youth that they would serve. While many will still prefer the academic courses, an increasing number will probably choose those courses that are more practical, partly because a practical mechanical or industrial training has a large value in itself, and partly because the effects of such practical training are felt in after years, and it matters not how seemingly unrelated such training may be to the calling finally chosen. A good practical training gives the student the consciousness that he or she can do things. In support of this statement I quote from Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus of Chicago. Speaking of the men who run Chicago, he says:

“Of the city’s twelve great preachers, every last mother’s son was raised on the farm; so likewise were all the leading journalists; eighty-six of the leading 100 physicians; eighty-one of the 100 biggest corporation lawyers and seventy-three of the 100 most efficient engineers.” I assume that it will be granted that the training the youth get on the farm is practical. These courses should be developed and expanded as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

Though it is the work of the schools to develop and train the individual so that he may gain an ample livelihood, and enjoy such pleasures as may fall to his share, it is also the work of the schools to develop and train him to take his place as a part of the social body, doing his part with others for the well being of the whole. There is probably no training better adapted to this end than the training gained on the athletic field or in the sports and contests of the gymnasium where each plays for the success of the group. The increased interest in athletics evidenced by the high school student body and faculty is beneficial and should be encouraged.

Whether equally good results could be secured for the boys by military training is perhaps an open question. The discipline gained by military training is excellent. On the other hand, military experts tell us that from their point of view, military training in our schools has no value. To be practicable in our high school it would be necessary that it should be made compulsory, and there is reason to doubt if all of our citizens, or even a majority of them, would approve such a measure.

Your attention and the attention of the public has many times been called to the fact that some of our schools do not have adequate accommodations. This condition has not been remedied, although by the transfer of the Domestic Science department from the ward house on Fifth street to the high school building, much improvement is effected. It is still apparent that before our schools are adequately housed, and before they can take on that practical character which so many of our citizens are demanding, a new building must be provided, preferably near to or connected with our high school building. This building might well provide rooms for several of our grade schools, rooms and facilities for the Domestic Arts and Mechanic Arts department, also a gymnasium that would help to encourage physical development, and make possible training along athletic lines.

In conclusion, let me say that I believe it to be the duty of this committee to state the needs of our schools as they see them and to administer such funds as are provided to the best of their ability as servants of the public, but it is not the duty of this committee to beg for the funds necessary to maintain the schools.

The schools belong to the public and the public will not permit them to be neglected.

Respectfully submitted,

G. D. McDUFFEE,

Chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF THE CITY OF DOVER,

Gentlemen: The following report of the work done in the schools of Dover during the year 1916, is presented herewith in accordance with the rules of the School Committee.

The writer has had occasion in recent years to read school reports from all parts of the country, and he finds that while in most cases they are addressed to the school committee, they are written really in order to create a good impression among the people.

Usually they tell how the schools have improved during the year, and how good they are now; they often let the public into the secret of how hard the Superintendent has worked; very often they contain wise sounding suggestions of how the city or town may spend a few thousand dollars on new buildings or equipment, and as a rule they conclude with profuse thanks all around.

As a matter of fact, such a document is not really a report at all, because clearly it is the business of the School Committee, who have been selected by their fellow citizens to sit as a sort of Board of Directors of the school system, to make recommendations and announcements on matters of general educational and financial policy.

It is the business of the superintendent of schools to carry out the general plans and policies of the school committee, attending to the details, and like the superintendent of a business enterprise, he should make a report of what has been done during the year, and stop there.

Therefore, this report will be confined to the important matters that have occurred during the year, among the first of which was a request from the state tax commission for a valuation of school property. As no such valuation of the school buildings, grounds, and furniture was on record, the school committee in order to comply with the request found it necessary to make a survey of the property entrusted to their care, and the following is the schedule made of school property:

School.	Buildings and Grounds.	Furniture
High, ..!	$100,000	$9,000
Belknap,	25,000	850
Hale,	22,000	925
Sawyer,	42,000	2,000
Varney,	18,000	900
Peirce,	18,000	920
Sherman,	4,000	2,100
Welch,	4,000	250
Rural,	2,000	300
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$235,000	$17,245

Making a total of $252,245 as the value for school purposes, of the property so used by the city.

The removal of the domestic science work to the high school was the next step decided upon by the committee for reasons that seemed excellent: First, it took the girls 20 minutes to go from the high school to the ward house across the city, and 20 minutes to return. Forty minutes each day or $3\frac{1}{2}$ hours a week, equal to about 120 hours in the school year, taken away from study, and spent walking the streets. Second, the girls were out, of course, in all sorts of weather. Third, so much going and coming made more or less confusion in the high school itself. Fourth, the girls left a building well equipped with laboratories, apparatus and chemicals, for one with but little of such material.

The change was made with the hearty and intelligent coöperation of the Committee on School House Repairs from the city councils and involved only a small expense. As soon as the kitchen was installed in the high school building, the committee saw at once that it offered an infinitely better place in which to serve lunches to the pupils at recess, than did the old place in the basement only a few feet away from the toilet room doors, so the lunches were served in the new kitchen on the first floor from this time on.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SURVEY.

As there seemed to be more or less question in the minds of many people concerning the actual standing of the high school compared to other high schools of acknowledged and accepted merit, the school committee deemed it wise to secure an expert, disinterested and impartial, to make a survey of the school.

The State Department of Public Instruction was asked to send an expert for this work, and Hon. Henry C. Morrison himself came to Dover and devoted three days to a very thorough and comprehensive survey of the discipline, methods of teaching, methods of ranking, kinds and quantity of subjects taught, in fact a survey of all the essential factors that go to make up an approved high school. This survey showed the school committee what changes and improvements were desirable.

Shortly after the survey was made, the school committee was gratified to learn that the high school had been reinstated on the list of high schools approved by the New England College Entrance Board, from which approved list the school was debarred some years ago. As the writer has been asked repeatedly about this board, he wishes to explain that it is an organization composed of the following New England colleges:

Amherst College	Middlebury College
Bates College	Mount Holyoke College
Boston University	Smith College
Bowdoin College	Tufts College
Brown University	University of Vermont
Colby College	Wellesley College
Massachusetts Agricultural College	Wesleyan University Williams College which judges a high school by the work its graduates do in the several colleges composing the board. If a certain high school is deemed one in which pupils are fitted for college satisfactorily, it is approved, after which its graduates are admitted to the above named colleges without examinations. The approval or disapproval of any high school is more far-reaching than merely fixing its relations to the above named colleges, because the reputation of a high school for good work is made practically by this board, or rather by its approval or disapproval.

The Dover high school was approved last May for one year on trial, at the end of which it is hoped the approval may be granted for three years. Of course, the high school is and has been approved by the New Hampshire State Department of Public Instruction continuously.

At the high school graduation, the full program of which is given at the end of this report, the musical features were made prominent by a large chorus of girls in addition to the graduating class, a regular orchestra, and last but not least the solos rendered by Mrs. Estelle Patterson Chapman, herself an alumnus of the school, and a singer of unusual ability.

One of the facts brought out by the survey of the high school was the small percentage of teachers who did professional work or study outside of their regular work of teaching, and the school committee decided that teachers accepting an election to the high school must do so with the understanding that they should do such professional work during the summer vacation as should be prescribed by the superintendent of schools. Arrangements for summer study were made that seemed best for the various teachers.

The end of the school year in June brought many changes in the teaching force; among the more pleasant reasons being matrimony, and the offer of larger salaries in other places.

Right here, it is proper to say that Dover cannot get and hold good high school teachers unless she will pay higher salaries, and adopt some regular system of salary increase.

When the time comes that Dover will employ a teacher for the first year on trial, if reelected he or she will receive an automatic increase of so much each year until the maximum is reached, say five or more years later, then there will be less change in the teaching force of the high school. If you were in business, were good at the business, and employed by a concern that made no promises beyond the current year, and you did not know where you might be next year, you would be glad to leave that firm to enter the employ of one that had a system of promotions and a reputation for the long and well paid service of its employees.

It is absolutely impossible to maintain a high grade school when the teachers are changing constantly.

SCHOOL HOUSE REPAIRS AND CHANGES.

The summer vacation was taken advantage of fully by the City Council's Committee on School House Repairs, to make the repairs and renovations needed, and more or less work was done in each school building. The most extensive changes were made in the Varney and Upper Neck buildings. In the former, the old toilets were taken out and replaced by modern fittings properly flushed and drained and ventilated by electric fans which draw off the foul air into ventilating shafts. While it is true that our grade school buildings may not be as pretentious as some modern school buildings are, it is equally true that the wise policy started some years ago in relation to sanitation is resulting in the evolution of our old buildings into safe and healthful school houses.

The changes in the Upper Neck school house were almost magical and carried out a part of the plans made a year or two ago. One of the striking features is the number and arrangement of the windows, which makes it the best lighted school building in the city not excepting the high school. New toilets were installed and the building painted both inside and outside.

The installation of the movable desks and chairs made last year by the boys taking the mechanic arts course in the high school as well as the equipment for domestic science work, make this school stand head and shoulders above the average rural school in New England.

The school committee decided at this time to make some changes in the arrangement of the commercial rooms in the high school, in the interest of economy of space and efficiency in the work. As things were, the stenography was taught in a large room on the first floor, and the typewriters were in another room on the same floor separated by a vestibule and two doors. As both subjects are taught by the same teacher and are carried on at the same time, when the teacher was teaching stenography the pupils in typewriting were entirely without care or supervision, nor even where the teacher could see them. Again, the bookkeeping room was on the second floor, and "it was such a bother to reach the typewriting machines" that the bookkeeping pupils made little or no use of this department, so there were two teachers in the same department using three rooms all separate, two of the rooms on one floor, and one on another. Naturally the work was disconnected. This was adjusted by taking a large room on the second floor, next to the bookkeeping room, and connected with it, for the classes in both stenography and typewriting. A glass partition was built across this room. The typewriting pupils are on one side of this partition and the class in stenography on the other, so that the teacher has both groups of pupils practically in the same room, as the glass partition is simply to deaden the sound; it is only a step from the bookkeeping room to the other department; finally only two rooms are used in place of three, a gain of an extra room in the building, to say nothing of the efficiency gained.

THE NEW TEACHERS.

The summer months were anything but vacation months to the members of the school committee, because of the fact that it was necessary to select sixteen new teachers. A total of over six hundred candidates filed applications for election to the various positions, therefore each teacher elected was chosen from a group of about forty candidates all of whom were given more or less consideration and time.

As to the wisdom shown in the choice of teachers, the results amply justify the careful attention given by the school committee to the matter.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL LUNCH.

After the lunch room was moved from the basement to the domestic arts kitchen, there arose a demand for the food cooked by the girls. The approval by the pupils of this cooking and the demand for it, showed the school committee a chance to save from $150 to $200 a year, spent for materials used in the cooking classes, both high and grade, by having the cooking teachers assume the management of the lunch counter, assisted by a paid woman to do the routine work, so that all the food cooked in the cooking classes could be sold at cost to the other pupils, thus getting back the money paid out for supplies used in teaching cooking.

This plan not only saves the city money, but the pupils as well, as the lunches are provided at cost, and besides it gives the girls the stimulus of having real work to do, for a real object. The plan has resulted in furnishing the pupils of the high school with a variety of nutritious food as the following list will show. This list is given because it is a striking one, and shows that the lunch room in our school compares favorably with those in the most elaborate school systems.

MUSIC.

A number of circumstances have led to an increased interest in music among the pupils of the high school.

There is a boys' glee club of 75 or more members, a girls' glee club of 100 members, an orchestra, and material for a mandolin club.

It is hoped that the musical part of the next graduation may be very fine.

In the grade school music, the principal change is the introduction of a series of deep breathing exercises which is gymnastic work, of which we had but little, for the specific purpose of developing proper carriage of the body, proper breathing, full breathing, and control of breathing.

The proper breathing seems to be diaphragmatical breathing,—that is, breathing at the pit of the stomach. This allows the lungs to expand, the muscles become strengthened so that the breath may be held for a long period without nearly the effort of the other ways. The muscles grow so strong that the breath may be let out a little at a time and no larger amount of breath need be taken for a long phrase than for a short one.

The exercises selected to be given this year are noted here for the benefit of parents:

I. Stand erect, shoulders back, poise forward on the balls of the feet, thumbs at the sides, fingers pressing firmly at the pit of the stomach.

II. Breathe to the fingers.

III. Inhale slowly through the lips. Exhale slowly.

IV. Inhale slowly through the lips (audibly). Exhale slowly (sissing).

V. Inhale slowly, hold, count five (then more). Exhale slowly.

VI. Inhale slowly, hold, exhale quickly.

VII. Inhale quickly, hold, exhale slowly.

VIII. Inhale quickly, hold, exhale a little, hold, exhale more, hold, etc.

IX. Inhale and exhale rapidly, pant. Done at first without regard to raising of the chest.

X. Inhale quickly, hold and while holding raise the chest.

XI. Have all the muscles of the throat relaxed. Lips closed, teeth open. Inhale deeply allowing the throat to open. Let the voice hum.

FIRE DRILLS.

Both the school department and fire department have felt in full measure the responsibility devolving upon them in the event of a fire in any of the school houses. The chief of the fire department examines all hose, extinguishers, etc., regularly, and fire drills have been given during the past year approximately as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL DRAWING.

The school committee determined to offer a course of drawing in the high school that should enable pupils to prepare themselves to take up the work of design.

This began in September, and it is hoped that the course may show some results by the end of the school year in June, that will justify its introduction.

SPANISH IN THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Spanish in the high school was introduced last September because this country has come to recognize the value and use of this language to the coming generation. As it is being introduced into the better schools pretty generally, the school committee wished to give the Dover boys and girls an equal chance.

The class is furnished with Spanish disk records, the same as those used at the United States Naval Academy, for purposes of acquiring facility in pronunciation.

THE DAVID DREW FUND.

The generous gift of Miss Martha A. Peaslee is now in possession of the city and the income of $1,000 is available for glasses and the care of the eyes of such children as have limited resources. The income of another $1,000 is available for the treatment of adenoids, and the income of still another $1,000 is available for manual training.

EIGHTH GRADE FRENCH.

The general trend of affairs in the educational world seems to be toward the junior high school.

This means that the work for all pupils in the first six grades is the same or similar to that now done.

In the seventh year, however, an opportunity is offered for pupils to begin the study of certain subjects that are specially important to them, as for example Latin, to a person who plans to enter a classical college, or a modern language if it is desired that the child really learn the language, and not merely to read it.

The fact that the teacher of French in the high school has unusual facility in the use of the French language, and the fact that she was willing to do some work in conversational French with the eighth grade pupils, influenced the grammar school committee to assent to the plan of giving an opportunity to our eighth grade pupils to take up some simple work in French if they were willing to do so.

These lessons have been given twice a week for ten minutes each time, and are entirely optional on the part of the pupils. They may do the work or not as they please.

Almost without exception the pupils have shown a great deal of interest and have responded splendidly.

A test was given on December 21st, after nine ten-minute lessons, in which the pupils were asked to write out in French as many words as they could. About 80 words have been given in these nine lessons.

Eighty-five papers were handed in, and while there was some variation, several papers had 70 or more words written out in French. The majority had over 40 words, a very fine showing.

At this rate, these pupils will have at their command from 200 to 300 French words which they can pronounce properly, translate intelligently, and spell correctly when they enter the high school in the fall. That means that their work in French in the high school will start off at once at full efficiency.

THE EVENING SCHOOL.

In addition to the facts given in the report of the principal of the evening school, attention is directed to certain changes that were made in the organization of the school this winter. First, membership was limited to persons over sixteen years of age and not attending day schools. This cut down the attendance considerably, but gave those who really needed this work and could not get instruction elsewhere, a much better chance to progress. Second, the choice of studies was made broader by offering in addition to the usual subjects taught, sewing and millinery for the women, and mechanical drawing and wood work for the men. Needless to say, these changes interested a number of earnest young men and women who have made the most of their opportunities.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

After due consideration, the school committee determined to introduce the school savings bank into the Dover schools, because it has been proven conclusively that this is a thoroughly successful way to teach the children to save money, and to help them form the habit of depositing money in the regular banks, national or savings.

There have been many things undertaken in schools that were simply fads, and not of enough value to make the time and trouble taken worth while, but in this plan which has been thoroughly tried out, there is no question but that in a majority of cases the children get the habit of saving money.

After a thorough investigation of the working of the system in several cities the plan adopted is as follows: Each child is given a school bank book. When he makes a deposit the teacher receipts for it in the school bank book, then two pupils from the commercial department of the high school call at the school, collect all the money deposited with the teacher and give her a receipt signed by the commercial teacher of the high school. This money is taken to the high school, properly accounted for and deposited on the same day, in a national bank. In order to protect absolutely every step from the time the child hands the money to his teacher, up to the time the money is placed in the bank, the superintendent of schools is under a bond of $1,000, so that parents may feel that everything is safe guarded.

When the child has saved $1.00 he is encouraged to open an account in either of the two savings banks, choosing his own bank. Then the school begins again to encourage the child to save his pennies toward the second dollar to be deposited in the real bank. A great deal of the success of this method of encouraging thrift rests with the teachers, and to show how well our teachers have responded it is necessary only to state that in the first twelve weeks 611 children in the grade schools had their own school bank books and had saved about $500.

THE SCHOOL EXHIBIT.

In most places all over the country the cry is "The parents won't go to the schools." It is pretty generally true in grades above the first or second.

Most parents do not visit the schools because they have not formed the habit. They have not formed the habit, because, in most cases, when the parent suggests going to the school, the child at once objects because "the parents of the other children don't do so, etc." The child usually keeps up opposition until the parent surrenders, and stays away.

As it is so much easier to bring the school to the people, it was decided to hold an exhibit in the rotunda of the city hall, showing certain phases of the work, and what had been done in the first ten weeks of the fall term.

The attendance of over 2,000 people was both surprising and highly gratifying, and was a pretty conclusive answer to the question of whether or not the citizens of Dover take an intelligent interest in their schools.

THE BUREAU OF RESEARCH AND EFFICIENCY.

“For generations schools have been conducted on opinion. All other forms of business of great magnitude, that involve the expenditure of vast sums of money and affect the welfare of thousands of people, are being reduced to a basis of fact. The present tendency in the educational world is to substitute fact for opinion. Effective supervision must be based on fact, not theory and opinion. In order to secure the necessary facts on which to base wise and efficient supervision, careful and scientific inquiries must be made, and definite tests and standards must be established and used, in measuring educational efficiency. By the application of such tests, we may reach facts,—facts true and free from personal opinion or bias. Should not schools render accounts, both financial and educational, as trustworthy and systematic as the accounts of any other business?

“Professor Hanus of Harvard college, one of the best authorities on school administration in America, says that efficient management of a school system depends upon: ‘Habitual and well organized self-examination within the school system including adequate appraisal by the staff of the results achieved and well conducted experiments to confirm or refute educational opinion within and without the school system'."

In other words the old "guess work" way of conducting schools has gone, and a superintendent of schools who knows his business and who is up to date, is making actual measurements and getting at the real facts. This work has been undertaken in the Dover school department by the superintendent, assisted by one of the teachers who has had special training along these lines, and it is expected that others will be glad to co-operate later. This work is so important yet so little understood that it is treated at length in this report so that people may understand how it is done.

One problem taken up is that of REPEATERS.

When we say that there are a number of children who are taking the same work over the second time, it does not make much of an impression, perhaps. Even when we say "there are two repeaters in this room and four in that room," etc., that does not mean much. Possibly when the statement is made that there are 57 repeaters in the Dover schools this year, that may not mean much, but suppose every school room in Dover were full to the limit, and 57 children should move into Dover and demand school privileges, it would mean equipping two extra school rooms, employing two extra teachers, furnishing text books, supplies, janitor service, etc., and at the end of the year these 57 extra children would have cost the city over $1,700. Under the imaginary conditions stated above we could all see that it costs a lot of money to have 57 extra pupils in the schools, where we cannot see so easily that the same thing is true with repeaters, in addition to which each child has lost a year, or 57 years in all. The subject is being studied and we shall know exactly why each child is repeating his last year's work, and everything possible will be done to remedy the situation, both for the child and for the city. In cases where sickness is the cause, of course nothing can be done.

THE MEASUREMENT OF ABILITY IN WRITING.

Another subject that has been measured and taken out of the "guess work" class is that of writing. The way handwriting is measured is explained in the circular letter sent to the teachers upon the subject, and the same is reproduced here.

"In order to measure the quality of writing we shall use the Ayer's scale. This scale was devised by experts under the auspices of the Russell Sage Foundation, by measuring the speed of reading 1,578 samples of children's writing. The words in the samples were thrown out of their natural context. These specimens were then read by ten different judges, and an average reading time was computed for each sample. Typical specimens were selected from the entire number so as to represent eight degrees of legibility. These eight groups are numbered 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, and 90. To use this scale simply compare the writing on a piece of paper with the writing in the columns in the scale until you find in which column the writing is nearest to that on the paper. Look at the number at the top of the column and the quality of the writing is measured. Suppose this number is say 50, then the quality of that handwriting is "50" on the Ayer's scale, and anyone who has a copy of this scale like the one attached, can tell at a glance what kind of writing is meant.

"You have been furnished a scale to put up in your room where the pupils can reach it easily and measure their handwriting as often as they wish and it is hoped teachers will encourage constantly this sort of thing.

To measure speed we shall time the pupils while they write some simple, familiar sentence, and count the number of letters written in a minute. If a child writes say 47 letters a minute, that is a measured speed and not merely "fast" or "slow."

"To stimulate an interest we shall give the pupils a chance once a month to score themselves in quality and speed in writing and each pupil may keep his score for the successive months on a score card like one attached to this letter. What seem to be standard scores at the end of the school year, are shown by the following table, compiled as the results of tests in different cities:

Grades,	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Speed (Letters per min.)	20	31	38	47	57	65	75	83
Quality (Ayer's Scale),	27	33	37	43	53	57	58

"A pupil's score card then will show how well and how fast he writes compared with his classmates, with the same grade in other schools in Dover, and with other pupils all over this country. Making this a sort of game will result in the improvement of writing without constant driving by the teachers."

The following is a copy of the pupil's card:

RETARDATION AND OVERAGE.

Have received careful attention in the past few years from the leaders in school administration because it is a very important matter to both child and parent if the child is held back or retarded in his school work so that he finds himself behind the other children of his age, or much older than the other children who are doing the same kind of work.

There are a number of reasons why a child may be retarded and become overage. First, the child may be late in entering school, or it may be due to slow mental development for a year or more. Again, illness is the cause in many cases. Sometimes frequent changes in school are to blame, or it may be due to poor teaching.

But whatever the causes, every school system should be examined for overage pupils, the number determined and the cause of each case ascertained.

If the cause is found to be the misfortune of the child, that is one thing, but if it is found that it is the fault of the schools, then that fault must be corrected and something should be done by summer classes or in other ways to help the child make up for lost time.

When the people of a community entrust the education of their children to us teachers, and raise money liberally in order that we may do the work, it places a heavy moral responsibility upon us, that we do our part well, and with intelligence.

Dr. Leonard P. Ayers of the Russell Sage Foundation finds that, "The following ages have been accepted by common consent as the normal ages for grades I to VIII by nearly all school men who have interested themselves in this problem: Grade I, 6 to 8; Grade II, 7 to 9; Grade III, 8 to 10; Grade IV, 9 to 11; Grade V, 10 to 12; Grade VI, 11 to 13; Grade VII, 12 to 14; Grade VIII, 13 to 15."

So that in looking into this matter, if we found a child in the third grade 11 or 12 years of age, we should regard him as two or three years overage, and should proceed to find out all we could about his school history.

This work has been done for all the grades in Dover from the first grade to the eighth, inclusive, but not including the rural schools.

The children in each grade are either under age, of normal age, or of overage, and the following table shows the conditions in our schools :

Grade	Under age	Normal age	Overage
1	0	138	12
2	6	100	11
3	5	82	25
4	9	86	19
5	10	91	27
6	10	80	23
7	9	70	21
8	8	82	9
	57	729	147

Expressed in terms of per cent, 57 grade children are 6.1% of the grade pupils; 729 children form 78.1% and the 147 overage children are 15.7% of the total number in Dover grade schools.

After each of the 147 cases has been studied, we shall know what the reasons are and what to do about it.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

Those who have the management of schools have the black cloud of rising school costs hanging over them all the time.

People, more than ever, fail to understand "Why it costs more than it used to, to run the schools." A dollar will not begin to go as far as it did two years ago. Even, for example, the packages of composition paper, containing 500 sheets, more or less, for which Dover and other places have paid 18 cents each for years, cost today 62 to 67 cents. In other words, a case of 100 packages of paper you used to get for $18 now costs $62. Pencils, ink, etc., have gone up and it is understood that the price of text books may advance 20 or 25 per cent. next January.

This constant and general rise in costs is forcing us to ask, "Where can the expenses be cut and not cripple the schools?"

After some months of investigation it is believed that money can be saved, and a lot of it, on the cost of heating the schoolhouses. The report for last year shows that our fuel bill was $2,852.10, and that there were 1,285 pupils attending the schools. This makes the fuel cost $2.22 for each pupil.

The following table shows the cost of fuel for each pupil in the 35 largest cities in the United States at the usual prices for coal.

New York City, N.Y.	$0.96	Philadelphia, Pa., ..	1 52
Dayton, O.,	1 00	Buffalo, N. Y.,	1 54

Cleveland, O.,	1 12	Jersey City, N. J., ..	1 60

Minneapolis, Minn., .	1 49	Albany, N. Y.,	2 37
Toledo, O.,	1 52	Lowell, Mass.,	2 70

According to this table only three of these cities spend more per pupil per year for coal than we did last year, and the average amount paid by all the cities is $1.66 a year per pupil. Therefore, it costs Dover 56 cents per pupil a year more than the average cost in these 35 cities, or about 33 1-3% more. If we are paying 56 cents a pupil on 1,285 pupils that is $719.60 a year that we are paying for the sake of running old fashioned hot air heating plants in some of our schools. For that, of course, is where the leak is. As anyone who has changed from hot air furnaces to steam heat knows.

Seven hundred and twenty dollars is the interest at 4% on $18,000, and it does not take a great financier to see how money could be saved and better heating service given.

Since the above was written the per capita cost for fuel has been obtained from the following Massachusetts cities:

Haverhill,	$2 11	Springfield,	1 58
Newton,	2 04	New Bedford,	1 54
Salem,	1 97	Somerville,	1 51
Lynn,	1 83	Cambridge,	1 39
Everett,	1 78	Quincy,	1 26
Lawrence,	1 70

Undoubtedly a real expert heating engineer, if called in, would make a report that would show us how to save a lot of money.

ARITHMETIC TESTS.

The writer does not believe in talking too much about what is to be done in the future. We Americans prefer to see results, but as it is planned to measure the ability in Arithmetic of each pupil in the upper grades beginning the first of the year, it is desired to explain how this work will be done, so that parents may understand.

We shall make use of the Courtis Standard Tests used in the best school systems all over the country. They serve three purposes:

I. Each pupil can measure his own ability in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division by comparing what he can do with results achieved under the same tests in hundreds of schools of the same grade throughout the country. He has more than the teacher's unsupported opinion of his ability.

II. The teacher has an opportunity to judge of the ability of her pupils measured by a country-wide standard.

III. The results for each individual pupil will show the teacher in what subject each pupil needs more drill. Pupils are not all alike. Some need more of one thing and some more of another. Of course, the thing to do will be to group all the pupils in the class, who are below standard in, say, subtraction, and give them extra drill in that subject and less drill on something in which they are up to standard.

The plan is to test the pupils in Grades 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 by giving them cards on which are printed problems of which the ones below are samples.

They will be given eight minutes in which to work out as many problems as they can. Then the number tried is counted and the number done correctly counted also. The same problems are given to all the grades, but the older pupils of course can do a larger number in eight minutes, and get a larger number right.

The pupils will be tested also by the Arithmetic tests used in the famous educational survey of Cleveland, Ohio, probably the most important survey ever made.

Tests of this sort are not given as examinations. They do not influence promotions in any way. They are a source of suggestion and enlightenment to the teacher since they disclose surprising differences among pupils of the same grade. In consequence, teaching effort is likely to be more intelligently directed.

One who has not done this kind of thing can have but little idea of the work it involves, but when this work is completed a parent may come to the office of the superintendent of schools and learn just how his boy or girl stands in Reading, Writing, Spelling, Grammar, Arithmetic, Composition, Drawing, Latin, German, French, and perhaps in other subjects, from real measurements, actually made, which can be compared with similar measurements made elsewhere.

When the parent wants to know how his child is getting on in any subject, we feel he is entitled to something more than someone's opinion on the matter. We propose to show him how his child's ability was measured, what his standing is, how it compares with that of the average child of the same age or in the same grade in other good schools. We expect to be able to show in what the child is strong, and in what he is weak. In short, to give real information.

REPORT
HEADMASTER
OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

MR. FRANK H. DAMON, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS,
DOVER, N. H.:

Herewith is submitted the customary report of the Dover High School. As my connection with the school has been but for the present year, this report will deal largely with the school from September to the close of the fall term.

ENROLLMENT.

The complete enrollment for the school year 1915-1916 was as follows: Seniors, 68; juniors, 73; sophomores, 79; freshmen, 101; total, 321. The enrollment at the end of September, 1916, was as follows: Seniors, 72; juniors, 68; sophomores, 69; freshmen, 101; total, 310.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

In June the first regular meeting of the newly organized Dover High School Alumni Association was attended by four hundred fifteen graduates of the school. This auspicious beginning has been followed by a program of endeavor which merits unqualified approval. As part of this program the association has installed a shower-bath in the boys' basement for the use of the athletic teams.

OFFICE RECORDS.

In conformity with a recommendation of the State Department of Public Instruction, a complete change has been made in the office forms on which the school records are kept. The present forms meet all the requirements of that Department.

TEACHERS.

At the beginning of the school year eight of the thirteen teachers were new to their positions. In spite of this obvious handicap, the work of the school has progressed satisfactorily. The teachers are enthusiastically and conscientiously devoting themselves to the welfare of the individual pupils, and the pupils are responding to a commendable degree. The passing mark has been raised from 60 to 70, but the number of failures has not increased materially,—indicating efficient teaching on the part of the teachers and persistent application on the part of the pupils.

DEPARTMENTAL WORK.

Several of the departments of the school have been organized for the promotion of interest in school work. The girls of the French department entertained several guests recently with a French play, which was repeated before the girls of the school in assembly. The Deutscher Verein held a typical German Christmas celebration for its friends. Both organizations sang their songs at the 1916 Day exercises and the orchestra of the German society assisted materially on that occasion. The pupils of the Latin classes have been discussing the home life of the Romans. The English Department contemplates presenting selections from Shakespeare's plays in the near future.

PRACTICAL WORK.

The pupils of the commercial department have materially assisted the Superintendent of Schools and the Headmaster in the exercise of their respective duties. The typewriting classes have copied many circular letters, notices, office forms and outlines, and have taken dictation and transcribed official communications. The pupils in bookkeeping have helped in the routine work in connection with the school savings bank, the lunch counter and the athletic association and have been constantly employed in practical work in the school office. The boys of the mechanic arts course did much of the work in installing the shower-bath, have made letter boxes for the school office and various articles for the domestic arts department, have done considerable wiring for electrical devices, and have performed other work of a practical nature. The girls of the domestic arts department have kept the school flag in repair, have prepared and served model lunches for guests, and are daily assisting at the lunch counter.

LUNCH COUNTER.

Since the beginning of the current year the lunch counter has been under the supervision of the domestic arts department. The menus have been simple, yet adequate, and as the food has been sold at as near cost as is practicable, the pupils are receiving good values. To relieve the cooking classes of routine work of little educational value a competent woman has been employed. Whenever possible, the products of the cooking classes are sold at the lunch counter, but care has been exercised that this fact shall in no way influence the course of instruction. The daily receipts are practically uniform, indicating a satisfied clientele.

PHYSICAL TRAINING.

Since the middle of October a large number of the girls have received instruction from Miss Margaret Mathes, a graduate of the Sargent School of Physical Education, at first in soccer football, and at present in calisthenics and folk dancing. Miss Mathes meets over one hundred girls once each week in these classes. It is to be hoped that some way may be devised whereby this instruction may be received more generally and the lessons given more frequently. It is planned to give the boys similar instruction when a suitable hall can be secured.

FLAG.

Through the thoughtfulness and generosity of the ladies of the Marjory Sullivan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the school has become the possessor of a beautiful silk flag for the stage in the assembly room.

1916 DAY.

A portion of the last day of the past term was given over to the graduates of the current year who returned to school for an informal reunion. Twenty-eight of the class were present. Several of the members told the school in assembly of their experience since leaving school, some describing their life and work at college, and others their work in office and shop. Altogether it was an interesting and enjoyable occasion which cannot but be inspirational in its effect on the undergraduates.

In conclusion, I would acknowledge with appreciation the co-operation and support rendered the Headmaster by the School Committee, the Superintendent of Schools and the teachers. By delegating larger disciplinary powers to the Headmaster and by their support in matters of policy, the School Committee have assisted materially in my work. The Superintendent of Schools has been a most helpful counselor at all times, has suggested many of the innovations in the school, and has given complete support to my administration. The teachers are working conscientiously and well as a unit for the interests of the school and its pupils. I can highly commend their ability and their esprit de corps.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED W. HUTCHINSON,

Headmaster.

THE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

On Tuesday evening, June twenty-seventh, at a gathering of four hundred Alumni, the Dover High School Alumni Association was organized. It was Mr. and Mrs. Melvin M. Smith who saw the possibilities of an Alumni Association, and who made it possible by assembling a large number of graduates in the High School Assembly Hall one evening during the spring of nineteen hundred and fifteen, for a social evening and much enthusiasm shown during the social hour, and the discussion of plans of organization. There was after letters and telegrams from out of town graduates expressing their approval of the idea had been read, it was unanimously voted to start plans for a permanent organization. Mr. Smith was requested to appoint a committee for arrangements.

The committee, Dr. Hayes '65, chairman, John R. Mathes '91, Grace Henderson '91, Perley Jenness '12, Edith Donnelly '08, worked with interest and enthusiasm. Their first step was to find the secretary of each class or designate a new one who should look up the whereabouts of their classmates. The lists were catalogued giving besides a valuable mailing list an interesting source of data concerning the Alumni. Next, constitutions of various similar organizations were studied, and one drawn up, which seemed to suit this High School, and a ballot of officers for the first two years prepared.

The joyous crowd of Alumni with their wives and husbands that filled the opera house and banquet hall was a sight that Dover enjoys too seldom. After the banquet, Dr. Hayes explained the purpose of the meeting, the work done by the provisional committee, and then introduced Mr. Burton Scales, Director of Music at Girard College, Philadelphia. He emphasized the great need that exists everywhere for the citizens to take a more vital interest in the High School; that it was their duty to investigate, and know for themselves who were the good teachers, and keep them; to know what equipment the school needed and to see that it was obtained. These serious remarks, preceded as they were by clever dialect stories were well received. The next speaker, Mr. Arthur Tad Smith, was enjoyed also. The third speaker, Judge Kivel, felt delightfully at home with every one and was at his best. The vocal solos by Marjorie Boomer '15, and Alice Paton '15, accompanied by Marion Seavey '05, were eagerly applauded.

The business part of the meeting was opened by John Mathes reading the Constitution as drawn up by the provisional committee, as follows:

“We, the graduates of the Dover High School, in order to foster associations and friendships of our school days, to promote the welfare of our Alma Mater, and to increase the interest in the cause of higher education, do hereby organize ourselves into an Alumni Association and enact the following Constitution. •

ARTICLE I.—Membership.

Section 1. Any graduate of the Dover High School shall be considered an active member of this Association.

Sect. 2. Members of the graduating class become members at the time of their graduation.

Sect. 3. Any member of the staff of the school, past or present, shall be considered an honorary member, entitled to all privileges except holding office and voting.

Sect. 4. Upon recommendation of the executive committee any person may be admitted to honorary membership by a three-fourths vote of those present at any meeting.

ARTICLE II.—Officers and their Duties.

Section 1. The officers shall be elected at the regular business meeting for a term of two years, and shall consist of a president, two vice-presidents, a secretary, and a treasurer.

Sect. 2. The duties and powers of the officers shall be as customary in parliamentary bodies except as otherwise provided by this Constitution.

ARTICLE III.—Executive Committee.

Section 1. Five members, to be elected at the regular business meeting, for a term of two years, shall, with the elective officers, and the principal of the school in an advisory capacity, form the Executive Committee.

Sect. 2. The president of the Association shall be, ex-officio, the chairman of the Executive Committee.

Sect. 3. The Executive Committee shall have general charge of the business of the Association; it shall have power to designate the time and place of the reunions and of all the business meetings, and shall have charge of the arrangements therefor; it may fill temporarily any vacancy made by the loss of an officer, or a member of an elected committee; it may require a report by any officer; it shall provide for the proper recording of historical matter relating to the Association; provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as preventing the Association legally voting other disposition of any of these powers or duties.

Sect. 4. The Executive Committee shall choose three of its members as a finance committee which shall approve all bills before payment, and the treasurer shall not pay any bill until so approved.

ARTICLE IV.—Meetings.

Section 1. A regular business meeting and reunion shall be held every other year.

Sect. 2. Special meetings may be called by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE V.—

Section 1. The Association cordially invites the wives and husbands of members, to be present at all of its meetings, other than business meetings, bearing a proportional share of the expenses.

ARTICLE VI.—Amendments.

Section 1. This Constitution may be amended by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of the active members present at any meeting."

It was unanimously accepted. Then was read the following ballot of officers for the next two years:

President, Charles W. Cross.

Vice-Presidents, Norman C. Hurd, Harry L. Farnham.

Secretary, Miss Alice B. Clark.

Treasurer, Stacy L. Hanson.

Executive Committee: Philip C. Foster, George G. Towle, Miss Almie M. Jenness, Miss Marjorie Boomer, Mrs. M. True McDaniel.

On motion of Mr. Neal, the secretary of the temporary committee cast one ballot and they were elected. Mr. Charles Cross made a few remarks on taking the chair, and the meeting was adjourned, that dancing might be enjoyed in the banquet hall.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee in the Public Library on September eighteenth the treasurer reported a balance of $27.84 on hand, after the payment of expenses of the banquet. Several needs at the High School Building were discussed, particularly a shower bath for the benefit of the members of the Athletic Association. The Head Master was authorized to arrange for the installing of this shower bath. This has been done, at a cost of $18.86, and was greatly appreciated by the foot-ball squad. On October sixth the class secretaries met with the Executive Committee to discuss means of raising money to support school activities.

The Association is endeavoring to give generous support to the school activities, to make the student body feel that the Alumni are their friends, and haven't forgotten their own school days, and to give to the school some of the material things which it needs, thus making the Association something more than a name.

A Full Sized Poultry Plant Made by the Boys of the Dover, N. H., High School.

The idea of having the boys of the high school build a regular, full sized poultry plant ready for business originated in a conversation between Hon. Henry C. Morrison and the writer, in which Mr. Morrison said, "If I were teaching mechanic arts, I should get the boys to make something that is really worth while from the boys' point of view. For example, a full sized hen house."

The writer took up the matter with Mr. Arthur W. Trubey, instructor of mechanic arts in the high school, who entered into the plan with enthusiasm. He, in turn, presented the subject to Mr. George H. Whicher of the state department of education, whose approval was indicated by the fact that he prepared the plans from which the work was done.

A project so interesting in itself and with such endorsement, met with the general approval of the boys and the activity in the shops suggested a rush order in a munitions plant.

The officials of the Granite State Poultry Association heard of the work and invited the boys to make a special exhibit at the Poultry Show held in January, 1917, assigning one entire end of the exhibition hall for this purpose.

This opportunity to make an exhibit was an important factor in securing efficiency in the shops because the certainty that the work would be inspected and criticised by expert poultry raisers was a stimulus to good workmanship, while the fact that the work must be done on time was a stimulus to push the work in a business-like manner, instead of in the usual slow amateurish way in which much school work is done.

The boys even wired the shop for electric lights in order to lengthen the working day.

The poultry plant exhibited consisted of a hen house 8 by 12 feet on the ground with all necessary fittings, large enough to accommodate twenty-five birds, which number occupied it throughout the poultry show; a 50-egg incubator made entirely by the boys except the lamp and thermometer; a brooder house for two sitting hens; a trap nest built large enough so that the hen would have ample room if forgotten for a time; a shipping crate for live fowl; a grain hopper; a solid hard wood carpenter's work bench; a well constructed wheelbarrow, and a ten foot ladder. Each of which possessed certain points of superiority over the usual form of such articles.

The exhibit attracted very favorable attention and comment from the visitors at the Poultry Show and nearly 100 persons left their names and addresses for blue prints of the plans, which were mailed them in due time.

Naturally the feature that attracted the most attention was the hen house, 8 by 12 feet on the ground, 8 feet high in front and about 5 feet high in the rear, a size suitable for 25 hens and not too large for the average village or city lot, besides it is portable and can be taken apart in sections in one hour or less and put together in the same time, features that commend it highly to the person interested in keeping a few hens only.

Among the good features, was the boarding on the inside, presenting a smooth surface. What cracks there were were filled with a louse proof cement, then the whole surface was painted with a louse and fireproof cement.

The nests were treated, both inside and outside, with this cement, and when it was desirable to change the straw it was simply set on fire, destroying the vermin without injury to the building.

The arrangements for full or partial open front, as the weather permitted, are good features also.

With a slight amount of care this house can be kept practically vermin free, a point of great importance in poultry keeping.

The materials required are shown by the following list, pine or spruce being used:

- 2 pieces 2 in. by 3 in. by 12 ft.
- 2 pieces 2 in. by 3 in. by 6 ft 10 in.
- 4 pieces 2 in. by 3 in. by 6 ft. 2 in.

- 3 pieces 9 in. by 7-8 in. by 7 ft. 6 in.

- 125 ft. 7-8 in. spruce or pine, matched.
- 2 rolls roofing paper.
- 9 ft. 3-8 in. iron pipe.
- Four 3-8 in. flanges.
- Nails.
- Bolts, 3-8 in. by 4 in.
- Screws.
- Windows.

The material at present prices cost as follows:

Lumber,	$13 00
Roofing paper,	5 00
Hardware, windows, etc.,	4 50
Paint,	4 00
Cement,	3 25
	$29 75

The other articles shown also attracted much favorable comment, and those in charge of the exhibit were kept busy answering the questions of interested persons.

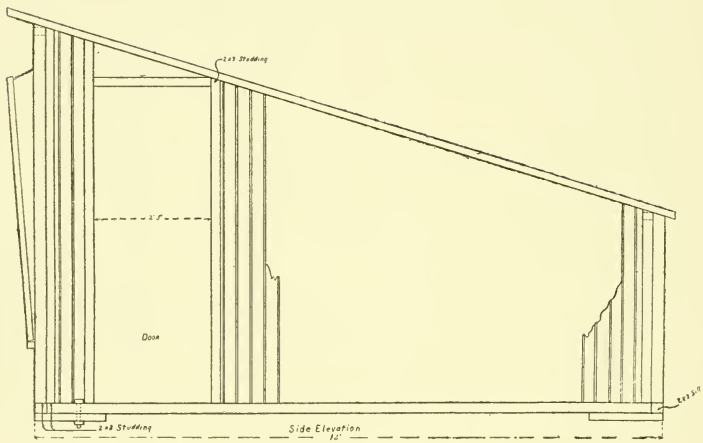

From the educational point of view this project was well worth while, as each of the forty boys knows now how to go about the building of any small building like a garage, etc., not to mention the articles actually made.

The school department of Dover will be glad to give full information, including plans, to anyone interested.

ABBREVIATIONS: Roman Numerals indicate Classes, Arabic Numerals indicate Rooms, Cl.—Classical, Sc.—Scientific, M. A.—Mechanic Arts, D. A.—Domestic Arts, Com'l—Commercial, C. L.—Chemical Laboratory, P. L.—Physical Laboratory.

The Classical curriculum fits for an academic course at college and for normal schools. It should be chosen by those who wish to be lawyers, physicians, clergymen, teachers, and the like.

The Scientific curriculum fits for a scientific course at college. It should be taken by boys who wish to become civil, mechanical, and electrical engineers or to do other similar work.

The Commerce curriculum fits for their work clerks, cashiers, bookkeepers, and stenographers. It is the curriculum for those who wish to engage in any form of mercantile or clerical work.

The Mechanic arts curriculum trains artisans. It is for those boys who are to do skilled mechanical work. Under this head come plumbing, steam fitting, drafting, and mechanical and electrical work.

The Domestic arts curriculum trains for the work of the home and for normal schools. It is for the election of girls who wish to become nurses, dress-makers, milliners, and teachers and for those who desire a thorough knowledge of the activities of the home.

The Modern language curriculum offers a larger choice of subjects than do the other curricula and is open to pupils whose aim is a high school education, rather than a training for any particular object.

Pupils admitted to the high school, with the approval of their parents, must elect one of the above curricula and take for graduation all the subjects therein. Changes from one curriculum to another may be made only by making up all branches included in the chosen curriculum. The work of any curriculum may be completed in four or more years and extra studies may be taken only with the principal's consent, approved by the superintendent.

PINE HILL CEMETERY.

OF

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

The degree of success attained by any particular branch of our municipal government, is usually determined by deduction, i. e., by ascertaining the relation between the results obtained and the actual cost of producing such results. Measured by this standard we find no occasion for self-condemnation. It must be apparent to even the most casual observer that a marked improvement has been made in the appearance of our public cemetery during the past few years. We would deprecate any suggestion of personal laudation in the accomplishment of this end; it is simply the obvious result of applying practical business principles to the work in hand.

That the cemetery grounds have been largely extended, the buildings and their immediate surroundings vastly improved, and the premises, as a whole, materially beautified and adorned, is a matter of common knowledge. That these results have called for the expenditure of no inconsiderable sums of money must be admitted. The natural inference that the money thus applied has been derived through the ordinary medium of direct taxation can hardly be sustained, as practically every dollar appropriated for cemetery uses has been devoted to the reduction of the cemetery indebtedness, the payment of interest charges, and the construction and equipment of new buildings.

The aggregate sums paid for these several purposes during the past fourteen years are herewith presented for purposes of reference: Interest charges, $7,500.00; applied toward the reduction of the cemetery debt, $8,500.00; for construction and equipment, $5,000.00.

The steadily increasing total of the funds held in trust to secure the perpetual care of particularly designated cemetery lots, is a matter of peculiar gratification to the board of trustees. It not only evidences a steadily growing interest in cemetery conditions, but demonstrates undoubted public confidence in the purpose of the city to carry out, to the letter, the particular provisions of each individual trust.

The cemetery department participates in no direct financial benefit from these funds, simply receiving reimbursement from the income thereof, for material furnished or service rendered in carrying out the purpose for which the money was deposited.

The purchase of an organ for the mortuary chapel, the funds for such purpose having been provided in the will of the late Theodore W. Woodman, is nearing realization. Investigation demonstrated that the atmospheric conditions in the chapel were unfavorable to the installation of such an instrument as was comprehended in the bequest, and following a careful study of the situation corrective measures were adopted which appear to have proven entirely effectual. Steps will be taken in the near future to realize the expressed wish of the donor.

For all details as to the receipts and expenditures of the department you are referred to the report of the treasurer hereto attached.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. D. BARRETT,
H. LAW,
E. R. BROWN,
CHARLES E. WENDELL,
JOHN T. W. HAM.

PINE HILL CEMETERY.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES :

GENTLEMEN: In addition to the ordinary demands incident to the general care of the grounds, two new sections of ten lots each have been graded in the east-erly addition, the westerly side of avenue D has been lowered and made to conform with the grade of the Chapel lot, and a catch basin constructed near the main entrance to the cemetery grounds with a soil pipe extending to a point near the receiving tomb.

Foundations have also been laid for one mausoleum, nineteen monuments and sixty tablets and markers.

Not only have a larger number of lots been disposed of during the past year than for any previous similar period, but the number of lots placed under perpetual care has also established a new record.

The number of interments for the year, aggregating 160, are presented in the following chronological table:
