HEALTH OFFICER'S REPORT

For Year of 1948

Below is a listing of the contagious diseases as reported to the Health Department during the year of 1948. This report, of course, is not complete as there still remains a great lack of reporting contagious diseases to the Health Department by the people and all others concerned. However, I believe it about 70% correct.

There were:

Mumps—11; Influenza—16; Lobar Pneumonia—6; Septic Sore Throat—89; Vincent's Angina—5; Scabies—17; Pediculosis—10; Chicken Pox—24; German Measles—11; Measles—7; Virus Pneumonia—2; Scarlet Fever—11; Cancer—2; Gonorrhoea—7; Syphilis—3; Undulant Fever—0; Tuberculosis—2; Acute Meningitis—3; Poliomyelitis—2; Impetigo—15; Whooping Cough—51; Broncho-Pneumonia—11; Diphtheria—0; Rheumatic Fever—11.

There were 16 water collections made during the year at Groveton, N. H., and five of these samples showed very excessive B-Coli contamination. This reveals the fact that to make this water SAFE chlorination is required.

There were 4 samples taken from the Northumberland, N. H. water supply and all were reported as satisfactory.

The supply at Groveton is still inadequate and should require immediate attention as to increasing its amount and should be further protected by chlorination.

Street and rubbish collections should be better taken care of, as there still remains many and unnecessary full rubbish cans unemptied for a week at a time. There should be a twice a week rubbish and garbage collection.

The town as a whole enjoyed about the average health for the year of 1948. Except for a large outbreak of Whooping Cough during the early part of the year the contagious diseases remained slightly under the average run.

I also at this time wish to state that all cases of complaints, whatever their nature, should be made to the Board of Health, Groveton, N. H., and must be made in writing and signed. Otherwise the complaint cannot be investigated or be considered as a Valid Complaint.

Signed,

W. R. SCHILLHAMMER, M.D.,
Chairman Board of Health,
Northumberland, N. H.

TOWN OF GROVETON, NEW HAMPSHIRE
BOARD OF SELECTMEN
REPORT ON WATER SUPPLY

February 1949

February 8th, 1949.

Hon. Board of Selectmen and Special Committee,
Town of Groveton, New Hampshire.

Attention:

CLARENCE MARSHALL
RAYNOLD DALEY
C. E. CRAGGY
I. D. ELLINGWOOD
GERALD HOULEY
CHARLES TILLOTSON

Gentlemen:

I was commissioned by your Honorable Board of Selectmen, and special Water Committee to make a study and prepare a report on the present water supply for the Town of Groveton, N. H.

The report will consist of the following:

1. Surveys and maps of both transmission pipe lines from the intakes to the town storage reservoir.
2. Input into the storage reservoir during normal and dry periods.
3. Domestic consumption, industrial demand, and fire protection.

4. New sources of supply.
5. Summary.

General Layout of Transmission System

Ames Brook Intake and Pipe Line

The Ames Brook dam is situated almost due south from the Town of Groveton at elevation 1461.8 feet above sea level. The dam is constructed of concrete and is 413.73 feet above the pipe line outlet into the storage reservoir. Pipe line is of 6-inch cast iron, and 10,300 feet in length. The dam is constructed across the brook and serves merely to dam up water enough to fill an intake chamber also of concrete, in which screens are located and housed with a wooden building for weather protection. Water shed consists of one square mile of drainage area, well wooded and steep, so that run-off is fast.

Moore Brook Pipe Line

Moore Brook pipe line is supplied with water from three intakes. The first, or main supply is taken from a dam constructed of concrete, across Moore Brook, with spillway at elevation 1361.73, and 313.73 feet above the pipe line outlet into the town storage reservoir. Pipe line is of 6-inch cast iron, and 9,000 feet in length. Similar to Ames Brook, the dam serves only to back water into an intake chamber housing screens, over which a wooden building is set for weather protection. Water shed is slightly larger, consisting of 1.1 square miles.

The second intake is a small concrete dam constructed across a little tributary located westerly from Moore Brook, at an elevation of 1592 feet. 2,400 feet of 4-inch cast iron pipe extends easterly from the dam to connect directly into the 6-inch pipe from Moore Brook, about 600 feet below the Moore Brook intake. Drainage area is about .25 of a square mile.

No survey was made of the line extending from the third intake supplying water into the Moore Brook line, but it was pointed out to me that a 4-inch cast iron pipe line about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile in length diverts water from a small brook further westerly into #2 brook above the dam. Similar to Ames Brook, these water sheds are steep, well wooded, and characteristic of quick run-off.

No. 2—Input into Storage Reservoir During Normal and Dry PeriodsMain Storage Reservoir

Elevation 1048.0 above sea level, and situated about 2,000 feet southerly from the mercantile section of the town. Pipe line consists of 10-inch cast iron pipe. Town building at elevation 884.0. Storage 306,000 gallons.

Ames Brook dam, Elevation 1461

Storage reservoir 1048, difference, 413 feet. Pipe line is 6-inch cast iron 10,300 feet in length.

This line running with open end should deliver about 800,000 gallons of water per day, or 550 gallons per minute. However, throttling of the main valve near the pipe line leading to the Silver residence cuts the daily flow to about 660,000 gallons.

Moore Brook intake, Elevation 1361

Storage reservoir 1048, difference 313 feet. Pipe line is 6-inch cast iron, 9,000 feet in length.

This line running full with open end should deliver about 700,000 gallons per day, or 485 gallons per minute.

Using the above figures, we arrive at the maximum delivery of both transmission pipe lines supplying the town with water, when both brooks are flowing full.

Ames brook pipe line	453 g.p.m.
Moore brook pipe line	485 g.p.m.

1,050,720 g.p.day	938 g.p.min.
(2.35 square miles of water shed)

Records of run-off on the Upper Ammonoosuc watershed for the past twenty-five years show that during the dry periods, run-off has reached the low amount of 80 gallons per square per minute. This occurred last year, the lowest on record, and almost that low point in 1933.

Although actual flow measurements were not made upon the Groveton brooks, they should represent a fair average, so therefore, I am going to use my figures for calculations, and apply them to the Ames and Moore brook watersheds, and thereby demonstrate the effect they would have in the dry season.

Dry season @ 80 gallons per minute per square mile of watershed.

Ames brook 1.0 square mile	115,200 g.p.day
Moore brook 1.35 square miles	155,520 g.p.day
	<hr/>
	270,720 g.p.day
	=188 g.p.min.

Domestic Consumption, Industrial Demand, and Fire Protection

Consumption of water is usually stated in terms of the average daily consumption per capita on basis of population served. In towns and cities where water is metered, statistics show that per capita consumption varies from 20 to 50 gallons. Where the supply is un-metered, 50 to 120 gallons per capita for domestic use. In industrial plants metered, use varies from 50 to 100 gallons per capita. Where the supply is un-metered, 100 to 200 gallons per capita, most all of which is contributed to leaky fixtures and unnecessary waste.

There being no main line meter, or domestic meters in service, it was impossible to accurately determine the total consumption of water in the town, so our first move after completing a survey of the reservoirs and transmission pipe line system was to take a static water pressure reading on one of the town hydrants. This was done on the afternoon of November 29th, 1948. Pressure was found to be fourteen pounds below our calculations. On this same day, the storage reservoir was found to be down 18 inches, or 40,000 gallons below being full. I might also add that both the Ames and Moore brook pipe lines were flowing full.

With the cooperation of Mr. Emery, more hydrant readings were recorded, with varying results, so that several days later, we installed a pressure recording gage in the town. From readings obtained, we discovered that there were periods of heavy draft upon the system which extended for several hours duration.

Abnormal pressure changes and estimated periodic consumption for a twelve day period are recorded in the following table.

November 29th, 1948, hydrant pressure 52 pounds.

Static pressure $66\frac{1}{2}$ pounds. 14 pounds = 32 feet head loss, = 1,800,000 gallons per day = 1,250 gallons per minute.

Reservoir down 18 inches—both inlet supply pipes running full, equivalent in storage to 40,000 gallons.

Date	pressure drop	period	gals. per min.
Dec. 3rd	2 pounds	$1\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.	300
4th	5	$1\frac{1}{2}$ hrs.	700
5th	4	2 hrs.	550
6th	2 to 3	7 hrs.	200 to 400
7th	2 to 10	8 hrs.	200 to 1000
8th	3 to 10	10 hrs.	400 to 1000
9th	2 to 10	4 hrs.	200 to 1000
10th	3 pounds	3 hrs.	400
11th	4	2 hrs.	500
12th	2 to 4	16 hrs.	200 to 500
13th	none
14th	2 pounds	12 hrs.	300

As previously stated, without meters, the exact amount of town consumption cannot be determined. However, the amount that the town should use, and allowing for a generous percentage of waste may be estimated, and should give us something like the following.

For population of 3,000

50 gallons per capita for domestic purposes, and 50 gallons per capita for manufacturing purposes equals 100 gallons per capita per day, or 300,000 gallons per day, or 208 gallons per minute.

For fire protection

Storage reservoir: 306,000 gallons. 2,000 feet 10-inch cast iron pipe into town, and static pressure of 70 pounds. Allowing for seven fire streams of 200 g.p. minute each, the working pressure should be about 54 pounds. On this assumption, and input pipe lines to the reservoir flowing full, fire protection at this rate, should last $3\frac{1}{2}$ hours on full reservoir, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours additional from the inlet lines, making a total of 6 hours, after which flow would be reduced to normal input.

Now: The normal input into the storage reservoir, as derived from the above figures, when brooks are flowing full, should be about 938 gallons per minute, or 1,050,720 gallons per day. These figures, as compared with daily estimated requirements are more than three times normal demand for domestic use and manufacturing requirements.

Minimum supply

Referring to our calculations on minimum run-off and estimated town requirements:

Ames Brook 1.0 sq. mil.	115,200 g.p.day
Moore Brook 1.35 sq. mil.	155,520 g.p.day

270,720 g.p.day
=188 g.p.minute.

Town requirements based on 3,000 population and 100 gallons per capita =300,000 gallons per day=208 gallons per minute.

Probable deficiency based on 3,000 population=29,280 gallons per day=20 g. p. min.

Careful analysis of figures so far in this report seem to indicate that your problem hinges entirely upon abnormal periods of low precipitation.

Weather authorities report that we are about half way through an abnormal period of low precipitation. The average rainfall for this section is 38½ inches per year. The years 1947 and 1948 were 18.2 and 23.4 per cent short respectively.

New Sources of Water Supply

Roaring Brook

The possibility of pumping the surplus waters of Roaring brook into the present Ames brook pipe line as it crosses the main Roaring brook near the Houley field will now be considered.

The pipe crossing at Roaring brook is some 59 feet lower than the high point near the outlet, and 38 feet lower than the outlet or discharge into the storage reservoir.

As the head from the inlet of the pipe line at the Ames brook inlet is 451 feet above the proposed booster pump location at the Roaring brook crossing, the most economical proposition would be to run the discharge from the pipe line at this point into an intake well along with the waters of Roaring brook, then take suction from the well. My figures will be based upon this proposition.

The total watershed above the proposed pumping station at the Roaring brook crossing is 7.55 square miles. You are now using 2.35 square miles for the town supply, which leaves a balance of 5.20 square miles. Of this, about one square mile is composed of fields and pasture lands, and of no value during dry periods. That leaves a balance of 4.20 square miles.

The question of available water now comes into the picture. If we use the previous figure of 80 gallons per square mile minimum yield, we would have $4.2 \times 80 = 336$ gallons per minute, or 485,140 gallons per day. With the present minimum yield of 188 g.p.min., the minimum yield would be 524 gallons per minute, or 750,000 gallons per day, and should provide the town with ample quantities for domestic and industrial uses.

Your requirements have never needed additional water during normal periods, therefore, a booster pump capable of pumping the minimum run-off during dry periods to augment the present supply should be all that is necessary, so the following equipment is proposed: One 300 g.p.min. De Laval 3-inch suction, 2½-inch discharge centrifugal pump as manufacturer by the Turbine Equipment Company, direct connected to a 10 H.P. electric motor as a pumping unit. Suction to be taken from a well pit set aside from the main brook near the pipe line crossing at Roaring brook.

This unit may be purchased at present prices for $503.00 f.o.b. Groveton, with six weeks delivery. Other costs would be starting equipment, installation, piping, concrete well pit, housing facilities, etc.

For estimating purposes, entire cost, ready for outside wiring would be in the vicinity of $5,000.00.

Mill Brook

This large stream has many tributaries, and is located southeast from the town, with a drainage area of about 13½ square miles above elevation 1300.

A study of the U.S.G.S. map indicates that it should be an ideal water shed for a public water supply. About seven miles of pipe line however, would be required to obtain water from this source. Seven miles of 10-inch pipe starting at elevation 1300 with outlet into the present storage reservoir would deliver about 1,200,000 gallons daily, or four times the estimated town requirements. As the drainage area is more than five times the area of Ames and Moore brooks, ample supply should be available for all present and future needs.

The taking of water from a watershed of this size would mean considerable money invested in some sort of a reservoir to act as a settling basin during high water periods. For estimating purposes, $40,000 should provide a sufficient dam, intake, and necessary stripping for a reservoir. Total estimated costs would be as follows:

37,000 feet of 10-inch pipe & fittings	$150,000.00
Cutting right-of-way, excavating, laying pipe, backfilling, etc., @ $2.00	74,000.00
Dam, intake, stripping reservoir, etc.,	40,000.00
	<hr/>
Estimated cost	$264,000.00

Christine Lake

This lake is situated about six miles northeast from Groveton. Has a watershed of 4½ square miles, water surface of some 115 acres, storage of about 500 million gallons, water surface elevation of 1202 feet above sea level, and 318 feet above Groveton.

10-in pipe will deliver about one million gallons daily, but instead of piping into the present storage reservoir, I propose connecting directly into the distribution mains in the town. With this hook-up, there would be two separate water systems supplying the town.

The estimated cost would be:

30,000 feet 10-inch pipe & fittings	$122,000.00
Intake	5,000.00
Cutting right-of-way, excavating, laying pipe, backfilling, etc.,	60,000.00
	<hr/>
Total	$187,000.00

Ground Water Supply

This type of water supply differs from the regular surface supply, in that the storage is contained below the ground surface, and of inexhaustible supply. It is free from suspended matter, of an even year round temperature of about 45 degrees for this section, and sparkling clear without filtration.

A system of this type requires a 12 to 24-inch caisson, depending upon the quantities of water required, together with a screen extending from the surface of the ground to ledge formation. Depths run usually from 40 to 90 feet. Selected gravel is then placed around the screen in sufficient quantities to allow the required demand to filter into the well from a water bearing strata below the surface. A deep well pump is then placed within the screen, a small house erected above, necessary piping set up, and the well is ready for operation.

In order to obtain a supply of this type, the first step is to locate an area containing a satisfactory soil strata capable of delivering the required amount. A site is selected, and test wells driven, usually a series of 2 or 2½-inch pipes sunk to depths of 40 to 90 feet. During this process, soil samples are observed, and if satisfactory as a water bearing strata, water samples and pumping tests are made. When satisfactory results are obtained, the area is ready for the final so-called caisson type well.

Wells of this type are more and more coming into constant use not only as an auxiliary supply, but as an every day unit. Some of the towns and cities in this state using them as sources of supply are as follows:

Concord, Sommersworth, Dover, Portsmouth,
North Conway, Gorham, Berlin, and nearby towns of South Paris, Me., and St. Johnsbury, Vt., and many others.

Groveton is situated in a valley, having a ground formation ideal for this type of well to all outward appearances, and if the area near the School house lot could be used and results obtained, the entire project ready for operation should not exceed the following estimated cost:

Test well work, which includes pump test, and all data necessary as to quality of water, amount in gallons per day, etc.,

$1000 to $1500.00

Cost of well ready for pump	3500 to	5000.00
600 feet 6-inch pipe & fittings,		2700.00
Pump, starting equipment, etc.,		3000.00
Pump station		1000.00
		<hr/>
Total		$13,200.00

Summary

The scope of this report deals entirely with present input into the storage reservoir supplying water to the town, probable consumption in the town, based upon a population of 3,000, together with ways and means of increasing this input.

Methods of financing any new development has not been considered.

Estimates on the Mill brook, and Christine lake propositions, are only tentative, as no surveys were made other than details obtained from your Committee, and information taken from maps of the areas.

Estimates on the booster pumping station at Roaring brook, along with the Caisson Well Proposition are very nearly accurate.

By a thorough study and analysis of our findings, it is evident that heavy intermittent demands for large flows occur almost daily within the distribution system. This is plainly shown on the recording pressure charts extending from December 3rd, to the 14th.

We have also shown that storage and input into the reservoir, during normal precipitation, gives the town a good supply for fire protection.

The problem, therefore, hinges entirely upon shortage of input for short periods of drought.

Mill Brook. An A-1 proposition for a gravity supply. A large portion of the water shed is upon government lands which is good protection in itself from pollution. Other areas upon the water shed would, of course, have to be leased or purchased, rights of way for pipe lines obtained, etc. An undertaking of this magnitude would require quite some time before operations could start.

Christine Lake. Most of the land around this lake is used for recreational purposes, along with the lake itself as a bathing resort, and widely used by the public at large. It would appear that litigation might be necessary before results could be obtained.

Roaring Brook Booster Pump. Based upon 4.2 square miles of drainage area, and minimum flow, pumping from Roaring brook into the Ames brook pipe line during periods of drought, to augment the present supply appears to be a fair proposition. However, some objection as a permanent set up might be made by the State Board of Health, due to the large areas of pasture lands near the intake, and along the brook itself. Chlorination, of course, would be required.

Caisson Type well, Ground water supply.

An auxiliary supply of this type, if successfully found, would guarantee the town an abundance of pure water, requiring no chlorination or treatment of any kind. Could be fully automatic, starting and stopping as fluctuations in pressure varied, or operated by push button control. Would require no worries, or regular attendance, such as patrol of pipe lines, care of intakes, etc. The only cost would be power for pumping, which in your case, as an auxiliary source of supply, would be very small.

In closing, I wish to thank the Selectmen, and special committee for attending the numerous meetings which I have found it necessary to call during this work. I especially wish to thank the various members who so graciously worked with me in the field making the survey, as much depended upon their knowledge and cooperation.

Hoping this report, and maps will give you the information sought after, I am

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST E. TANKARD, Engr.
