REPORT OF CARPENTER LIBRARY TRUSTEES

That the library maintains its place in the interest of the townspeople, educationally and as a source of pleasure, is evidenced by the generous patronage during the last year. To retain this it is necessary to meet as far as possible the prevailing demands. Books will wear out. Despite re-binding and frequent repairs by the librarian and assistant many have become unfit for distribution. Renewals or substitutions for these must be made to hold the library up to proper standard. Some gift books have been received and the annual contribution from the Pittsfield Woman's Club for special books for which thanks are extended. The income of the Carpenter Fund has enabled us to make additions to the book list which otherwise would have been impossible and a start has been made which we hope to continue in the improvement of the library material.

Several much needed repairs have been made upon the building during the year, including outside painting, and equally necessary interior work is planned. The lighting facilities, long recognized as very inadequate for reading purposes, have been greatly improved by the installation of new fixtures, including modern table reading lamps. These have called forth many expressions of approval from the library ushers.

This spring the Pittsfield Library is to be host to the District Library Association, comprising library officials of several towns, and it is hoped Pittsfield will give the visitors a cordial reception.

We record with deep regret the passing on September 3, 1934 of our trustee, Mrs. Nellie Winslow Sargent, whose keen, intelligent interest and earnest efforts in behalf of the library and its reading public are much missed.

The trustees and librarian express thanks to those who have assisted in furthering its work and with the co-operation of all hope to make this one of the best working libraries of its size in the state.

Pittsfield has been very fortunate during the past year as compared to other towns about us. We believe this is due to the fact that our citizens are paying more attention to fire hazards than formerly. Better care is being taken of chimneys and heaters. More coal and oil are being burned each year which has reduced our calls for chimney fires.

The mention of oil should bring to all citizens the question of oil storage. Soon regulations will have to be adopted covering this. At present it is being stored in many places above the first floor, adjacent to bedrooms and living quarters. We consider this very dangerous to life and property.

At a small expense we have made several hose connections which will enable us to unite with the two Barnstead Fire Departments. The advantage of this was proven recently at a fire in Centre Barnstead and we are sure that in the future they will be able to render us great assistance. The fire officials of Barnstead have worked with us along this line and we trust it will be of great mutual benefit.

The past year we have answered five calls for assistance from surrounding towns. Three from Chichester, one from Gilmanton, and one from Barnstead. Our pumper has rendered good service where water was available.

With the money appropriated last year we have completed repairs to the fire station. We have an up-to-date house with the exception of the outside doors which will need attention before long.

With the continued good-will and co-operation of our citizens and the fine spirit within the department we trust the coming year will be as lacking in serious fires as the past one.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Pittsfield School Board and Citizens:

Herewith is respectfully submitted my twelfth annual report as Superintendent of Schools. The statistics presented and the accompanying comments are designed to give the most pertinent facts regarding the schools.

TEACHERS

Three changes in the teaching force took place at the beginning of the present school year: Blanche L. Cree replaced Georgia M. Davis as seventh grade homeroom teacher, Mary Jonah replaced Edna C. Tucker as sixth grade teacher, and Myra E. Sprague took the place of Florence L. Strickland as music teacher. On December 3, 1934, Una G. Dearborn was added to the staff of teachers and placed in charge of a group of fifteen first grade pupils. The following is a list of the names of the teachers at the present time together with their positions, and salaries, and the enrollments:

Teacher	Position	Salary	Enrollment

INSTRUCTION

The chief change in instructional methods in elementary grades since the last report has been in music where new textbooks, "The Music Hour Series," have been adopted in the first six grades. These new books are by the same authors as the displaced books but are much more interesting and better graded.

The primary reading system has been broadened by the adoption (1) of a new pre-primer that has the same vocabulary as the basal pre-primer but contains a number of new and interesting stories, and (2) a new primer that supplements the basal primer in much the same way.

The use of current event papers started last year has been continued this year in grades two to eight inclusive and they are proving to be very valuable material in the teaching of reading and social science.

Where possible, the old displaced books have been sent in to apply toward the purchase of new books and so far this year Pittsfield has received credit of $61.22 for such old books. For the past few years the textbook item in the Pittsfield budget has been materially reduced and to such an extent that the textbooks as a whole are now in poor condition. With a too limited budget, wornout textbooks cannot be replaced as rapidly as they should be, neither can textbooks that have become out-of-date because of changing conditions be replaced by books that better meet the present day needs. Health books, for example, do not wear out until they are likely to be long out-of-date, and our knowledge of the subject is increasing so rapidly that an out-of-date book may be definitely harmful in the hands of a pupil. It is not good economy to spend too little money on teaching materials. Good teachers can accomplish a lot without much to work with but a good teacher plus good materials is a much better investment than just a good teacher. A good chopper cannot accomplish much with a dull ax, nor can a good dentist do a satisfactory piece of work without proper instruments.

ROLL OF PERFECT ATTENDANCE

The following forty-five pupils, exactly the same number as the previous year, were neither absent nor tardy during the school year ending June 30, 1934: (2) Beverly Adams, Phyllis Adams, Paul Badger, (2) Hervey Bouchard, Richard Brown, Donald Charpentier, Gladys Corson, Clifton Davis, Pauline Davis, Norman Foss, (2) Richard Foss, (3) Robert Foss, (2) Constance French, Robert French, (2) Melvin Garland, (4) Margaret Green, Earl Hall, (3) Louis Houle, Edith Kenneally, Shirley Lawton, Theda Leavitt, Harrison Leduc, (2) Louis Leduc, Vernon Leduc, (3) John Maxfield, (2) June Maxfield, Bertha Merrill, Altha Nichols, Glendel Nichols, Frederick Nutter, Pauline Nutter, Velna Ordway, Marcelle Perry, Nester Perry, (3) Warren Reed, (2) Barton Richardson, (2) Sidney Robinson, Linden Sheehan, George Small, Edmond Stapleton, (3) Warren Waters, Jean Wattie, (2) Frances Weeks, William Winkley, and Robert Zanes.

A figure before a pupil's name denotes the number of consecutive years he has had perfect attendance.

CENSUS, SEPTEMBER 30, 1934

This total of 405 exceeds last year's total by 35 and that of two years ago by 51. These figures show that the child population of Pittsfield has increased 14.4 percent in the past two years.

Per cent not promoted (6.53),	9.25	3.75	5.34

* Figures in parentheses are state averages.

There are three items in the above table that deserve special comment. One is the good record maintained in per cent of attendance, the Pittsfield average being well above the state average. The second is the unwarranted increase in tardiness at the high school from fifty-two cases of tardiness to 144. The third is the good record maintained in the low rate of non-promotions, the Pittsfield average being well below the state average.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

Since the last report only a few of the most necessary repairs to the school buildings have been made. Although the appropriation was limited, it seemed absolutely essential that (1) the underpinning of the grammar and high school buildings be protected, (2) the cracks around the windows and in the masonry of all three buildings be caulked before disintegration raised further havoc, and (3) the broken and loose slates on the roofs be replaced to keep the buildings from leaking too badly.

According to the vote of the last school district meeting a new heating and ventilating system has been installed at the Memorial School at a cost of $2,184.00 for installation and $109.20 for engineer's services. The equipment is of the most modern type with forced ventilation, which furnishes the necessary amount of fresh air, and with automatic thermostatic control of temperature. The recording thermometer placed in the rooms to check the temperature showed that day after day the temperature did not get above 72 degrees nor below 70 degrees during the school day. Cold drafts are impossible as the lowest temperature that the incoming air can be is 58 degrees. The improvement over the old conditions is certainly great, and it appears now that about $65.00 will be saved each year in heating.

BUILDING NEEDS

For several years the school buildings in Pittsfield have caused much serious concern to those who have been aware of the conditions and particularly to those responsible for directing the educational program in this town. One of the first factors to consider in studying the adequacy of a schoolhouse is its provisions for the health of the occupants. A study of the Grammar and the high school buildings reveals serious health hazards because of poor ventilation, poor lighting, and lack of suitable indoor and outdoor play space. Suitable indoor space together with suitable outdoor space is essential for all pupils to get the physical activity necessary for their mental and physical health and their physical and moral development.

Another important factor is that of the facilities for sufficiently broad educational offering. One of the accepted cardinal principles of education is worthy home membership. To meet this aim an opportunity should be provided for the girls (1) to learn by actual experience to select food, to prepare and serve wholesome meals, to preserve food, and to consider the relations of health to the selection, preparation, and preservation of food, (2) to learn by actual experience to make and care for their own clothing, to make simple textile articles for the home, and to judge the adaptability of textile materials to economical use in clothing and in house furnishings, and (3) to acquire the abilities to plan the home wisely, to care for it efficiently, to buy for it economically, and to arrange its furnishings attractively. To meet this aim for the boys there should be provided for them an opportunity (1) to learn by actual experience the principles of the construction, the care and the repair of the various mechanical devices and conveniences found in the modern home, and (2) to acquire such skill in the use of tools and such standards of workmanship that he will contribute to the maintenance of the home.

The schools of any community should meet the needs of as many of the children as the taxpayers can afford. It seems only sensible to expect the community to make provisions for the greatest demand first rather than offering an opportunity to a small group when the needs of a much larger group go unheeded. As many more of our young people go into business than go on to college or normal school, the schools should make some provision for them. Few people now doubt that the study of business methods and typewriting is far more profitable for these people than algebra, Latin, and physics.

The time has come when Pittsfield should squarely face its problem of providing suitable educational facilities for its boys and girls. I hope all will study this vital problem with an open mind and meet the facts frankly and with the determination to do all they can to make Pittsfield schools meet the generally recognized needs of her boys and girls.

REORGANIZATION OF THE SUPERVISORY UNION

By an act of the 1933 New Hampshire Legislature the State Board of Education was required to reduce the number of supervisory unions in the state by five in 1933 and by five more in 1934. In the reorganization in the summer of 1934 of the Pittsfield union, Chichester and Loudon were removed from it and put into the Penacook union, and Allenstown and Pembroke were removed and put into the new Raymond-Pembroke union. Added onto the Pittsfield union were Farmington from the Milton union, and Alton and New Durham from the Wolfeboro union. Thus this union now consists of the school districts of Pittsfield, Alton, Barnstead, Farmington, and New Durham and is one of the largest in the state. At present fifty-one regular teachers are employed in the union besides one full-time music teacher, one part-time music teacher, two teachers of instrumental music; two school nurses, eight adult janitors, and thirty hired transporters. The total pupil enrollment is 1,376, with 301 in the three high schools and 1,075 in the elementary schools. The large size of the union makes close supervision impossible, but, with the clerical assistance allowed the superintendent and with the fine co-operation of the school boards, teachers, pupils and parents your superintendent is enjoying, much can be accomplished in the way of progressive educational development.

In closing I wish to comment to your attention the accompanying reports of the headmaster, music teacher, school nurse, and playground director.

Respectfully submitted,

LESTER B. BADGER,

Superintendent of Schools.

Supervisory Union No. 49.

Pittsfield, N. H., February 18, 1935.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PITTSFIELD
HIGH SCHOOL, 1934

The second semester of the 1933-1934 school year at Pittsfield High School was notable for the following events: the establishment of a Student Council; the staging of "Miss Adventure" by the Senior Class under the direction of Edith M. Marshall, a very well acted and in all ways a successful project; the Senior Class trip to Washington; successful seasons by the girls' and boys' baseball teams; baccalaureate at the Congregational Church; and graduation at the Strand Theatre.

The graduating class was as follows: Valedictorian, Charles Thyng; Salutatorian, Justine Lougee, third ranking student, Helen Shlaitas, and Phyllis Adams, Thelma Ashton, Mable Cate, Helen Chandler, Hattie Curtis, Dorothy Dennett, Harold Drew, Henry Genest, Elizabeth Girardet, Elizabeth Goodale, Laurette Hillsgrove, Thomas Hillsgrove, Doris Kenison, George Knowles, Eunice Philbrick, Katharina Rockwell, Ernest St. Lawrence, Irvena Stevens, Warren Waters, Della Wilson, and William Winkley.

This class is to be commended for the high standard of conduct which they maintained, and the excellent spirit which they exhibited on their trip to Washington, and for the establishing of a fine precedent in leaving to the school a substantial gift of money to be used for some permanent improvement or addition. It is worth while noting here that this class stood far above the average and the median of the senior classes of the state in intelligence, English forms, and spelling as indicated by a series of tests given through out the state by the Department of Education.

The following pupils from this class have entered institutions of higher learning: Justine Lougee, Charles Thyng, and Warren Waters, the University of New Hampshire; Phyllis Adams, Elizabeth Girardet, and Elizabeth Goodale, Keene Normal School; and Kathrina Rockwell, Pratt Institute.

Pittsfield High School opened September 4 for the school year of 1934-1935. One hundred and twenty-seven pupils were registered. Of this number 44 were tuition pupils, the majority coming from Barnstead, with a few from Loudon, Gilmanton, and Chichester. Since that time seven pupils have entered and ten have left.

The faculty of Pittsfield High School remains the same for this school year as for last, except that Miss Myra M. Sprague is supervisor of Music. Mr. Rand is Headmaster, Mr. Watson is Sub-Master. Miss Marshall is teaching English, Miss Wattie, French and History; Mr. Watson, Latin and Mathematics; Mr. Ricciardi, the Sciences, and Mr. Rand, Mathematics, Junior Business Training, Sociology, and Economics and History. Miss Wattie is in charge of Girls' Athletics and Mr. Ricciardi of Boys' Athletics.

In line with the policy of attempting to broaden the curriculum of Pittsfield High School, expressed in last year's report, Junior Business Training has been offered in two sections this year. One section as an alternate for algebra in the first year and the other, more advanced section, as an alternate for physics in the third year, of the General Scientific course. This course has proved to be popular and valuable. Otherwise the curricula offered are the same as in previous years, namely, the General Scientific and the Academic. Both these courses are college preparatory. It is well worth noting here that every pupil taking a course in the Social Studies at Pittsfield High School is now a subscriber to a standard current events magazine. One class period a week is devoted to a discussion of things that are happening in the world about us today.

Through the efforts of Mr. Ricciardi, "tag" football was introduced last fall at Pittsfield High School, Pembroke Academy, Alton High School, and Farmington High School. The games proved to be attractive to all and seems to fill the long felt need for a good fall sport adapted to small high schools. Pittsfield High School did not lose a game during the season and as a reward for this fine record the team members were authorized to wear regular high school letters although the sport was not formally adopted by the Athletic Association as an organized school sport until after the season ended. Harrison Thyng was captain of the team. It will be fine if some equally attractive game can be found for the girls for a Fall sport.

The Athletic Association has been reorganized in such a way as to give the pupils more opportunity to gain the valuable experience which comes from actually carrying on the work of such an organization. Wilbur Crossett is president of the Athletic Association.

The Student Council which was organized during the second semester of the last school year has proved a successful experiment in student government. The Council is made up of the presidents and vice-presidents of the various classes, clubs, teams, and other recognized student organizations. Meetings are held once a month. At these meetings questions of general school policy are discussed and rules made which are binding upon the student body. All rulings of the Council are required to have the approval of the headmaster before they go into effect. It speaks well for this body that the headmaster has not been required to exercise his "veto" power on any legislation to date. It is quite evident that this organization offers valuable citizenship training in addition to developing within the student body a feeling of active participation in the management of the school.

The Watson and Sphinx Literary Societies which provide assembly programs every two weeks are still carrying on their excellent work of last year. Miss Marshall is again sponsor of the Watson Society and Miss Wattie of the Sphinx Society. One assembly period a month is set aside for Athletic Association meetings and another for "general" assemblies at which outside speakers are heard.

The annual "Prize Speaking" Contest was the event of the Fall. We are pleased to note the excellent co-operation of the members of our community in the matter of training speakers. Evelyn Nutter and Lawrence Small won the first prizes, and Emma Carson and Robert Foss the second prizes.

Four clubs have been organized for the winter months during which time the program of physical education cannot be carried out at Drake Field. The clubs are as follows: Dramatic Club, Miss Marshall, sponsor; Beatrice English, president; Boys' Sport Club, section I, Mr. Ricciardi, sponsor; James Cate, president; Boys' Sport Club, section II, Mr. Rand, sponsor; Alphonse Riel, president; Girls' Activity Club, Miss Wattie, sponsor; Ethel McAllister, president. Clubs proved a great success last year and again this year a majority of the pupils have joined although membership is optional. Each club meets once a week.

In the "Fundamentals" (arithmetic, spelling, place geography, etc.) a definite program is being carried out in conformity to the recommendations of the State Department of Education. One period a week is set aside for this work. It is felt that as a result of this work we will have more assurance than in the past that our pupils are thoroughly grounded in these essentials.

A more definite program in "Guidance" is being conducted this year. The program is outlined with the thought in mind that it is one of the functions of a modern high school to aid pupils in the choosing of a life work, to assist them in locating in the field of their choice, and to help them progress in that field which they have chosen. Good work is being done with the class groups and by individual conferences.

The school library, established with the assistance of the C. W. A. last year, is still functioning under student supervision. The experiment has not been entirely successful but it is felt that the library has been of enough value to warrant its continuance.

School banking has been conducted upon a more normal basis during the past year and we are glad to note that the school banking organization follows along the lines of the policy for banking outlined in last year's report when it, in its recent reorganization of school banking, makes the minimum bankable amount five cents.

In the annual report of Pittsfield High School for last year three questions were asked:

1. Is the curriculum of Pittsfield High School one which meets the needs of the majority of the pupils attending?

2. If the curriculum can be improved from the standpoint of the needs of the pupils and of the community, can the present high school building be adapted to such a curriculum?

3. Is there adequate opportunity for physical education offered to the pupils of Pittsfield High School?

These three questions pertain to possible needs of Pittsfield High School. They have become even more significant in the present school year. There can be no basketball this winter at Pittsfield High School. We have been unable to secure a suitable hall for school use. Further, when the opportunity was given to the adults of Pittsfield to choose courses made possible by the E. R. A. it is worthwhile to note that a large majority expressed a desire for courses in the field of commercial education.

The problems raised by these questions become ever more pressing. In the course of the next few years they must be squarely met. In the meantime it seems advisable that they be given most careful consideration by those interested in the welfare of the young people of Pittsfield.

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD T. RAND,

Headmaster, Pittsfield High School.

REPORT OF MUSIC INSTRUCTOR

Pittsfield, N. H., January 31, 1935.

MR. LESTER B. BADGER,
Superintendent of Schools,
Pittsfield, N. H.

DEAR SIR:

I herewith submit my first report as teacher of music in the Pittsfield schools.

Music has educational values. Its justifications for a place in the school curriculum depends on how it is treated.

The love of music justifies itself. Therefore, the first objective is to create in the child a love for, and an appreciation of music. Next, to give each pupil the necessary knowledge and skills to practice this art. To present music in such a way, and to so correlate it with other subjects, is to make music of lasting interest and benefit.

The child is given his first experience in music through the singing of rote songs. He is taught to listen carefully and to express accurately what he hears and, particularly to sing with a pure, light tone.

Individual singing is of paramount importance. The little child is eager to sing alone the songs he loves. This, if carried on consistently and sympathetically through the grades develops into duet, trio, and quartette singing in junior and senior high schools.

Given a love of music, the acquiring of technical knowledge and skills follows naturally. The pupil is ready for them because he sees that they are a means to an end; that they will give him more power in learning music.

Rote song singing continues in the second grade but with books in the hands of the children. Thus the child sees what he hears. This leads naturally to the next step, the reading of songs from notation. Begun in the second grade, singing from notation continues, and becomes the one activity through all the grades.

Each grade has its peculiar problems of tone, time, and theory. Along with this drill the singing of songs continues; not forgetting tone quality, and the artistic interpretation so necessary to real appreciation.

Two part singing has its beginning in the fifth grade. Each child is given the invaluable training of learning to sing the second part. We are most fortunate in having text books in which the voice compass of the songs makes this possible. Our new books are much appreciated, and have been a real incentive toward enthusiastic and better work on the part of the children.

Individual voice tests are given in grades seven and eight and in high school.

We are more fortunate than many larger communities in having the Damrosch concerts broadcast. By means of these concerts the pupil is given valuable training in learning to listen. First, because he loves the mere sound, later, as he becomes familiar with the tone quality of voices and of the various instruments, and later still, in junior and senior high school as he becomes acquainted with form he listens more and more intelligently; grows more and more appreciative.

We have started a grade orchestra. This gives additional training; training in music and in co-operation, as well. I hope we can make of the orchestra a permanent thing; adding new pupils each year from the lower grades as the older ones go on to high school.

Our orchestral classes, held each week under Mr. Mason's competent direction, give pupils another unusual opportunity to study the various instruments.

Chorus singing is an important part of the high school work in music, each chorus meeting twice a week. I would not advocate giving up chorus singing, but for the benefit of those pupils having a real interest in singing, and the ability to handle more difficult selections, I would suggest a glee club in place of the second period of chorus for upper classmen.

The History of Music and Appreciation class is, at present, elective for juniors and seniors. Might it be possible to add a course in appreciation of music for freshmen and sophomores? Such a course, leading from the work in grammar school to the more advanced work now given to the upper classmen in high school.

May I take this opportunity of thanking pupils, teachers and superintendent for their co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

MYRA E. SPRAGUE.

REPORT OF DIRECTOR OF PLAYGROUND

Suncook, N. H., January 12, 1935.

MR. L. B. BADGER,
Superintendent of Schools,
Pittsfield, N. H.

DEAR SIR:

Following is my third report as director of activities at Drake Athletic Field.

The paramount interest of the boys being baseball, a league was formed with forty boys in membership. The games were close, with the Pirates finally winning the title. As a reward the boys went to Catamount Mountains for a frankfort roast. A team also represented the playground in competition with Camp Wingo and Camp Kooaukee.

Miss Adams again presented a popular course in handicraft. The girls made such useful things as pocketbooks, birdcages, pendants, and bookends. Instruction was also given in knitting and sewing.

With the leave of Miss Adams for the World's Fair the work came under the instruction of Miss Chase. The making of marionettes was introduced, resulting in a puppet show as a part of the masquerade program.

The results of the above made an interesting exhibit at Mr. Trace's store.

Our annual Masquerade found one hundred boys and girls in costumes. Following is the program: dance by the junior girls, pyramid building by the boys, a puppet show, a tournament by the boys and a dramatization of Cinderella.

Swimming classes were attended in large numbers. As "Big Pine" is the only suitable spot for the children to go swimming, it would be advisable to enlarge the beach, build a diving raft and bath houses for the girls and boys. If this program is feasible it certainly would be a boon to the children of Pittsfield.

The Tennis Tournament winners were: for the men, Frank Brewster; women, Phyllis Boyd; boys, Alphonse Riel; girls, Christine Small. The most exciting match was that between Drolet, 1932 winner, and Brewster. The match went the full number of sets and much credit is due the winner for his study and practice of the game.

The tennis courts should receive attention this spring before being put to use. They must be resurfaced and all grass removed from within the enclosure.

Seasonal activities came to a close with the annual Field Day. Ribbons were presented to the winners of the first three events. Two field records were broken, one in the junior girls' broad jump event and the other in the cross country run for boys.

Some years have passed since new stationary equipment has been installed. Another set of swings should replace those of the old wooden swing set. And much use would be made of an apparatus for acrobatic work.

The giant stride pole is out of alignment and when straightened should be moved to a safer spot, as at the present it is located dangerously close to the flying rings.

Pittsfield, being a baseball conscious town, should have a better diamond. It would improve the playground much if the diamond were regraded and sown with grass seed.

In closing, I wish to extend my utmost appreciation for the interest that Mr. Abbott has shown. His co-operation was of the best and the playground was well kept.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN G. PETERSON,

Director of Playground.
