GRANTHAM PLANNING BOARD

The Grantham Planning Board met for 12 monthly meetings, two special meetings, seven public hearings and four work sessions during 1979.

During the meetings, the board received five applications for major and minor subdivisions, drew up specifications for a sign ordinance and a mobilehome park ordinance, which were adopted at the 1979 town meeting, and have set up standards for driveway culverts which will come before the 1980 town meeting.

The work sessions were in relation to the master plan, mandated by the town at the 1979 town meeting, and have seen a questionnaire and cover letter drafted, mailed and tabulated, and the formation of volunteer research committees for the ongoing project.

After public hearings, approval for minor subdivisions were granted to Allen Sailors for three lots, including the home lot, of his Howe Hill Rd. property; Paul Romaine for three lots, including the home lot, of his Burpee Hill Rd. property, and to William H. Swensen for two lots, including the home lot, of his Howe Hill Rd. property. Also to Controlled Environment Corp. to divide the remaining CEC land into three parcels, one along the Springfield Rd.; another at the waste treatment facility, and the third, the remaining acreage.

Approval for a major subdivision was granted to the Olde Farms subdivision, Emil Hanslin and Tony Hanslin, developers, which divided 730 acres on the east side of Grantham Mountain into 91 parcels, 89 building lots and two tracts of undeveloped land.

The board also granted approval of a boundary change between Michael Elhardt, Dunbar Hill Rd.-S, and Juniper Hills, Brown and Wein, developers.

At the end of the year, the board had under consideration a major subdivision of 18 lots on 260 acres, 16 building lots known as Juniper Hills, Brown and Wein, developers.

Legislation enacted in the recent term of the General Court known as RSA:155 which requires that all excavation of sand, gravel, top soil, etc. be regulated by a permit is now being considered by the board, and a public hearing will take place prior to the 1980 town meeting.

As a result of a suit filed against the Planning Board by June Totty, Richard Totty, William Cartier, Mary Lou Cartier, Donna Stamper and James Stamper on the Olde Farms subdivision, the board hired Atty. Peter Decato, Lebanon, to represent it in court. A court decision found that the board had acted within the guidelines of the town-approved subdivision regulations. An appeal by the plaintiffs to a higher court is still pending.

The board notes with regret, the moving away of John and Phyllis Rockwell, former residents of Longwood Drive. Atty. Rockwell, while a member of the Planning Board, gave the board legal direction in drafting the town's subdivision regulations, and was most supportive during the Olde Farms case.

REPORT TO TOWN OF GRANTHAM PLANNING BOARD
Summary of the Activities of the Five Committees of the Grantham Master Plan Group

Following the last Town Meeting the Town of Grantham Planning Board sent out a questionnaire to all taxpayers in order to obtain information on the views of the residents regarding the future of their community. In this questionnaire residents were invited to volunteer to serve on committees to help draft a Master Plan for the future growth of Grantham. Those who volunteered were then appointed to one of the five committees to research the current and future needs of the town and develop proposals and recommendations to be submitted to the Planning Board for incorporation into a Master Plan.

Natural Resources Committee

Fred Curtis, Chairman

This committee is well underway in the task of gathering data on the following:

- A. Climate, temperature and meteorological conditions.
- B. Geography. Description of land and water surfaces.
- C. Physiography. Description of natural objects and phenomena.
- D. Geology. Physical structure of the area.
- E. Topography. Producing map to delineate slopes.
- F. Hydrology. Producing map to delineate flood plains, also research into availability of and quality of water.
- G. Soils. Producing map to delineate sand and gravel potential and landfill areas etc.
- H. Vegetation. Producing map of virgin forests, significant flora, wet lands etc.

Land Use and Population Committee

B. Joey Holmes, Chairman

This committee is at work preparing maps of:

- 1. Existing land use.
  - 2. Planned development patterns.
  - 3. Large land owners.
- Also population charts.

Roads and Transportation Committee

Philip Allen, Chairman

This committee is occupied with the inventory and classification of all town roads, the recommendation of functional, physical or legal changes, as well as the projection of future needs. This committee relies on the knowledge and experience of the Chief of Police, the Road Agent and other town and county officials who deal directly with road conditions.

Municipal Facilities Committee

Steve Jordan, Chairman

This committee is inventorying and studying all town buildings including the town hall and its facilities, school, the fire house etc. as well as parks and playgrounds, cemeteries and projecting future needs.

Goals and Policies Committee

Mary K. Frey, Chairman

In pursuit of these goals this committee has studied material including Amah Howard's book on the town of Grantham, the Land Book prepared by the Hanslin Associates, the questionnaire which went out to all taxpayers and outlines of Master Plans of other New Hampshire towns. This committee is inviting knowledgeable and interested townspeople to attend at least one of their meetings to contribute their ideas and perspective. The committee is studying other master plans to discover what situations and problems Grantham has in common with other towns and which of Grantham's needs are unique to this community.

The Chairmen of all the Committees have met and will meet again. Marcia Williams of the Upper Valley-Lake Sunapee Council has been most helpful in supplying material from other communities and is attending Committee meetings whenever her schedule permits.

The Committee Chairmen are increasingly aware of the great responsibility involved in setting up a framework for a master plan which (should it be well received by the Planning Board and the people of Grantham) would affect the lives of the residents for generations to come.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY K. FREY
Chairman

POLICE DEPARTMENT REPORT

January 21, 1980

In 1979 the Grantham police officers worked a total of 1,796 hours, or an average of 37.4 hours per week. These hours are the result of a 22% increase in activity over 1978.

Theft and burglary are again the big problem in Grantham as well as in the surrounding area. These two crimes are very hard to combat without your help. Please call the Police when you have suspicious persons or vehicles around your road and residence. If possible, try to obtain the plate number of these vehicles or a description: ex. color, make, compact, pickup and how many people are in the vehicle. This will help the police when looking for the vehicle you report in your area acting suspiciously.

When reporting a suspicious person, try to tell us what the person is wearing, color of clothing, height, weight, hair color and length. Again, this will give us something to work with when looking for the person you report hanging around.

Again in 1980, the department expects an increase in activity, how much we don't know.

The Police officers wish to thank you for your confidence shown the department in 1979. We will continue to give you the services you call upon us for in 1980.

Respectfully submitted,
EDGAR H. MASONE
Chief of Police

This past year we increased our circulation by 1,172 books or 42%. We increased the hours we were open to Monday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., Thursday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. In the summer we were also open Wednesday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. We purchased 476 new books both hardback and paperback and received 188 usable donations.

Our big undertaking for the year was to hold a summer book sale. Thanks to the many donations of food, books, white elephant items and the help of volunteers, we had a successful day. The trustees have decided to make this a biennial affair and to use the proceeds for special projects. This year the profit was used to build up our children's book collection by buying books that are considered classics as "Huckleberry Finn," "Aesop's Fables" and "Alice in Wonderland."

During the summer we again held our story time for younger children. We also initiated a summer reading program for children in grades one through seven. In order to complete the program each participant needed to read 12 books and submit one book report. Winners of the book reports were given a prize of a paperback book, and all participants were invited to a party. We had 25 participants and 11 of those children completed the program.

This year we began registering borrowers and now have 160 registered borrowers. We initiated a fine system for overdue books of five cents a day or 25 cents a week. We bought a used typewriter to keep at the library to facilitate the librarian's job. The card catalog for both adults and children has been alphabetized and is now available for general use. This catalog does not reflect all of the library's holdings but only the newer acquisitions.

This coming year we plan on increasing the library hours so we can continue to meet state requirements as an affiliate of the statewide program. We hope our circulation will continue to increase as we expand our book selection and increase borrowers. Will you be one of our new patrons?

GRANTHAM SCHOOL DISTRICT
HEAD TEACHER'S ANNUAL REPORT
1978-79

Life is for those who love.

This quote best, and succinctly, embodies the reality of what is to follow. The thought grew out of my researching previous years' reports. They contained ample statistical data of how we spent monies here, or what the enrollment projection for the future was, or how we accomplished the preceding year's warrant articles. Important items, indeed . . . but they "lacked" what school years really are, and really mean. How could I make the annual headteacher's report come alive, and pulsate with the rhythm of life that is here at Grantham School? As I sat at my desk, thoughtfully thumbing through last year's teacher plan book (which is more like a running commentary of a day's events that become the weeks and months of any given year), I realized once again, a very basic, simple fact: That giving and fashioning life happens, not in one grand moment, at one special time, but rather it happens in bits and pieces of seemingly unimportant trivia given consistently, constantly and carefully. A school year is much akin to a common parental experience that goes something like this . . .

One day, a parent looks up, and sees, as if for the first time, their son and/or daughter. They suddenly realize this isn't their little jelly smeared and chocolate mustached offspring standing before them. Rather, quite unexpectedly (or so it seems) here is a mature, independent individual ready to live a life of their own. Quite often it is precisely at that point, that the baffled and bemused parent reflects, rapidly, over the years passed, and says, "How did it happen? Why, it seems like only yesterday . . ." The dream they once held in their hearts is now this reality which represents thousands upon thousands of strung together, unsung, moments of patience and understanding (be it those fitful teething times, sleepless nights when sickness is about or anxious hearts when school days began).

I'm not suggesting that any one school year has quite the significance or importance of the total development of a human being, but there are some definite parallels. In both, there usually aren't huge, catastrophic events that have world shaping significance. Yet both contain the repetitive, daily, weekly, yearly events that somehow fashion "life, its attitudes, and its approaches." We've noted the parental ones, and I'm sure you can add to the list. In teaching, in a given school year, papers to check, bulletin boards to change, lunch monies to collect and tabulate, evaluations of students' progress (or lack of) . . . not much in the spectrum of recorded historic events. Still, these are the bits and pieces, that contribute to fashion the human life that stands before us, parent and teacher, at any given time.

With this as a background, I'd like to review for, and with you, the bits and pieces of Grantham's 1979 school year which actually spans two school years; that is, the last half of the 1978-79 school year, the intervening summer months, and the first half of the 1979-80 school year. I'm relying on you the reader, to fill in the spaces, and understand the giving of life as it happened . . . It won't but take a minute or two (?) to skip through the last 12 months . . .

And so on, and so on. Just brief scribbled notes along with the reading, writing and arithmetic plans that somehow pinpoint the activities of a school year, and all the people that it takes to bring "the year to life." I think the parenting experience and the teaching experience do have a lot in common. In between the lines, both experiences have their share of mistakes and "wishing to do-over." Both have their share of laughter and tears. And, both, only make sense in relation to the fact, that, life is for those who love.

Respectfully submitted,
PATRICIA SLOSAR
Headteacher
