OBJECTIVES

- ✓ Understand the importance of assessing for readiness and the impact it has on the outcome of projects.
- ✓ Utilize evidence-based tools and concepts that equip practices to determine their level of readiness, capacity, and project feasibility.

AGENDA

- I. Why Readiness?
- II. Components of Project Readiness
- III. Readiness Tools
- IV. Q&A

What is Readiness?

Analysis of your capacity to take on a transformational process or change.

Why should I assess Readiness?

Identify potential challenges

Identify gaps

Determine how to address challenges and gaps

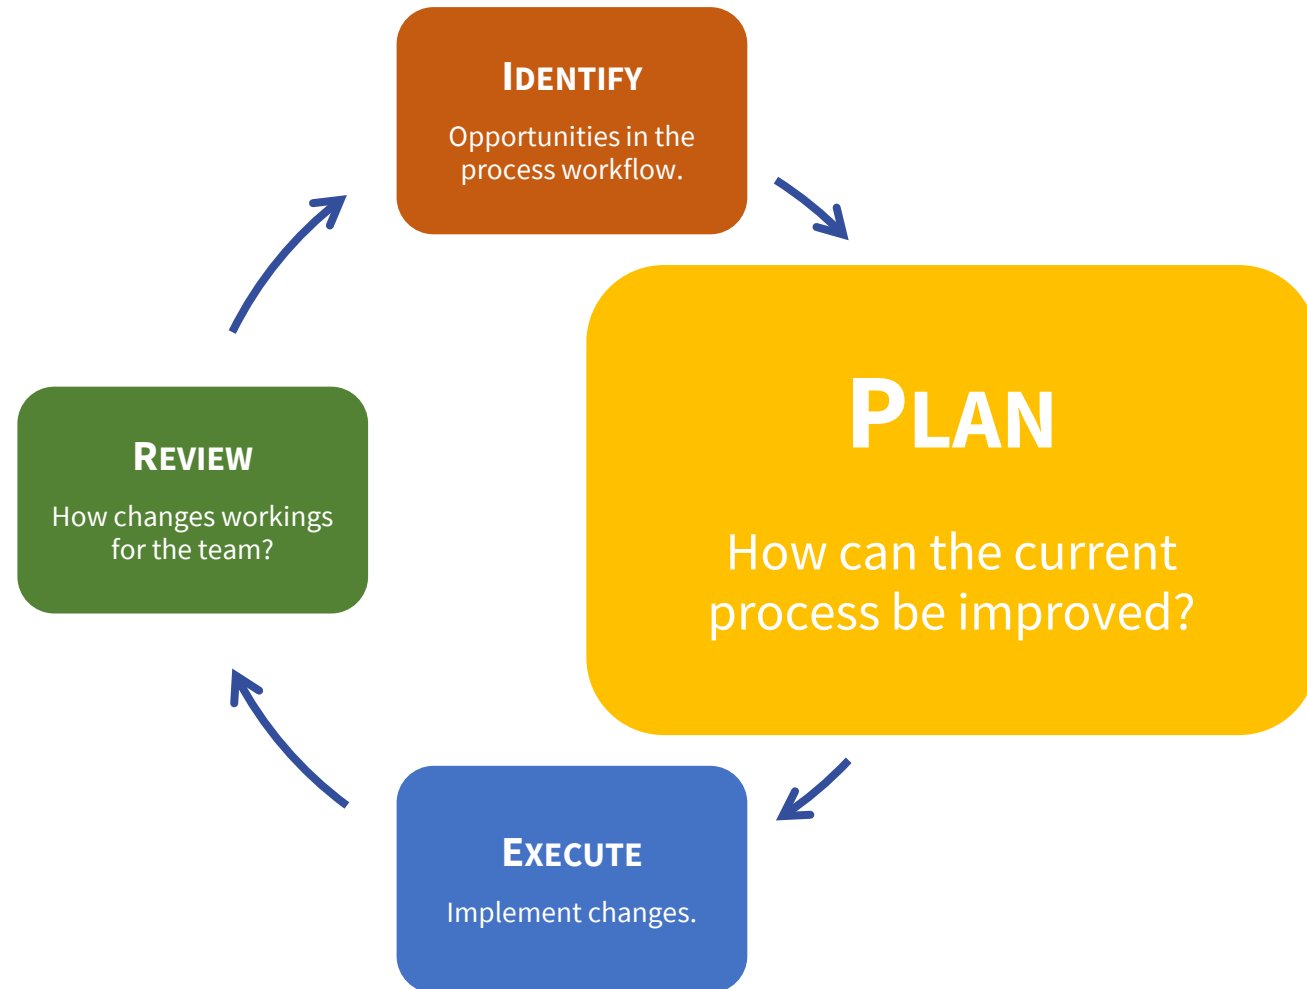

Identify what is working well

Examine the organization's readiness in terms of resources, team infrastructure, data collection, decision making, etc.

Readiness in the Improvement Process

Focused Quality Improvement

SMALL

Examples:

- Streamline work process (reorganize supply closet)
- Implement standardized rooming/warm hand-off process

MEDIUM

Examples:

- New service line
- Hire new position(s)
- Implement new screening tool

LARGE

Examples:

- Add new hospital wing
- Implement new EHR system

AGENDA

- I. Why Readiness?
- II. Components of Project Readiness
- III. Readiness Tools
- IV. Q&A

Understanding Components of Readiness: Defined Need

- Have you clearly defined the need that is driving your institution to consider implementing the change project?
- Is the proposed change project an appropriate strategy to address the need?

Understanding Components of Readiness: Change in Culture

- Is now the right time for implementing and fostering a continuous improvement culture?
- Is a culture change that emphasizes the importance of continuous quality improvement feasible and acceptable?
- Will your institution's leaders support a culture change and effort required to implement and sustain the improvement project?

Understanding Components of Readiness: Time, Resources, & Personnel

- Will you have sufficient staff with the necessary skills and knowledge to implement the change project? Will you have leadership/organizational support to provide enough staff to the project?
- Will your institution allow the time for staff to meet?
- Will your institution allow the flexibility for staff to customize the change project?

Understanding Components of Readiness: Sustaining Change

- Will your institution be willing to measure and assess progress and continuously improve processes?
- Will your institution be able to reinforce and recognize improvements in the processes?
