VALEDICTORY ADDRESS
BY
HON. CHARLES E. T. CASWELL

Delivered January 2, 1929

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS AND FELLOW CITIZENS:

In retiring from the office of mayor at the close of seven consecutive years' service in the legislative and executive branches of our City Government, I have no apologies to offer for my official conduct. In all matters of public concern I have endeavored, to the best of my ability and understanding, to favor only such legislation as appealed to me to be in the interest of a sane, beneficial, economic and constructive public policy, without reference to political or personal aggrandizement or the rumblings of partisan agitators.

I have never permitted the fear of threatened catastrophic results to any political ambitions I may have entertained, to deflect my official conduct when, following careful study and impartial investigation, the course of duty stood clearly revealed.

And I take pleasure at this time in recording my sincere appreciation for the cordial support and co-operation accorded me by my compeers in the City Councils, also by the various members of our official family, including the trustees and commissioners of the several departments of our city government. To my constituents and to the general public, my grateful acknowledgments are extended, for their countless expressions of confidence and regard.

FINANCIAL

On the first day of January, 1926, the outstanding indebtedness of the city was $229,100.00. During the past three years the balance of the water debt of $25,000.00 has been retired, and $65,000.00 applied toward the reduction of other municipal obligations. Even with the issuance of bonds aggregating $233,000.00 to pay for the High School Annex, and $77,000.00 for highway and sewer construction, our present indebtedness is only $220,000.00 in excess of the total of three years ago. As an asset for this increase we have a modern and splendidly equipped supplement to our school facilities, many improved highways and a sewer system for the South End which has definitely abated a long standing menace to that locality, and furnished a stimulus to home builders which has already produced gratifying results in added tenements and increased property values.

RETROSPECTIVE

In addition to maintaining, and in many instances improving, the physical condition of our many municipal buildings during my incumbency as mayor, the fire alarm system at the Central station has been replaced with new and modern mechanism, the police department has been provided with a motor ambulance and convenient appliances for rescue work in emergency cases, and the highway equipment has been materially augmented, so that today it will compare favorably with that owned by any city in New England of relative size and commercial importance.

The Berry brook nuisance, which for many years was a disturbing factor in civic circles, has been permanently abated, a reimbursement of $3,360.00, erroneously collected in State taxes in 1923-4, has been returned to the city treasury, and steps have been taken to secure a further reimbursement for money paid to the State in taxes on the toll bridge at Dover Point, which we conceive to be a distinctive local asset, rather than a revenue to be absorbed by the Commonwealth.

The local census taken in 1927, gives our city credit for more than 1,000 additional population over the number reported in the last Federal compilation, a result well worth the minor expense involved in ascertaining the facts.

The conversion of the Liberty bonds purchased by the city in 1920, for $72,847.30, from funds held in trust for Pine Hill cemetery, resulted in a net gain to the funds of $8,163.15. As it was the concensus of opinion of the joint standing committee on finance of the City Councils and the trust funds trustees, that each individual trust should be represented by a separate bank book instead of carrying the deposit in one general account, it was deemed advisable to secure the services of an expert public accountant to audit the treasurer's books and also to apportion the excess interest and the $8,163.15 accruing from the sale of the bonds. This course was pursued, so that there can now be no question as to the absolute integrity of each individual trust.

For the information of those who, without definite knowledge of the facts, are prone to adversely criticise the conduct of public agencies, it might be an opportune time to state that our shade trees are not being neglected. During the past three years more than $15,000.00 have been expended in necessary tree surgery and the suppression of tree pests. Many of our trees have reached the "senile" stage, while others have succumbed to destructive agencies which give no definite evidence of their existence until too late to apply corrective measures. The only answer to this problem is to see that every reasonable precaution is taken for their preservation and that new trees are set out to take the place of those which have to be removed because of their menace to life and property.

Just a few words about our street department. During the past three seasons nearly five miles of asphalt and nearly a mile of granolithic sidewalks have been constructed, and more than two miles of new sewers have been added to our sewer system. During this period more than two miles of asphalt roads have been built, and several new bridges erected to replace structures that had become unsafe for public travel.

But why continue? My official acts are a matter of public record, and that record is open for your inspection.

In closing permit me to again extend to my official associates for the years 1926, 1927 and 1928, my grateful acknowledgments, and to extend to my official successor the felicitations of the season and wish him every possible success in the office to which he has been chosen.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS
BY
HON. THOMAS JEWETT CHESLEY

Delivered January 2, 1929.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT:

Under the Charter granted the City of Dover, the first Wednesday in the month of January, of each year, is the date set apart for the in-coming City Government to organize, and for the members of the City Government to pledge themselves to the fulfillment of their respective duties for the year to come.

These are the conditions which have called us here today, and the record of our stewardship of this important trust will be subject, at all times, to the critical inspection of our fellow-citizens.

The City of Dover is a corporation, capitalized at approximately fifteen millions of dollars, and we have been chosen as a board of directors to manage its affairs for the year 1929. Every citizen of this community is a stockholder in this corporation, and enjoys the undisputed right to have his views presented, through its board of directors, upon any question of public concern.

Our income is derived, almost entirely, either directly or indirectly, through the medium of taxation. Such dividends as we may hope to declare, can be based upon service alone, and that service can not reach its highest objective unless we see to it that the corporation secures a fair and just equivalent for every dollar drawn from its treasury.

Many perplexing problems will undoubtedly come before us for solution during the coming year, and we must face those problems with absolute sincerity of purpose and a conscientious desire to safeguard the interests of those whom it is our privilege to serve, if we are to fulfill the bond to which we have pledged our fealty today.

From the report of the city treasurer it appears that the cash balance in the public treasury on January 1, 1929, was $45,212.42. Pending the assessment and subsequent collection of public taxes, it will undoubtedly be necessary to borrow money in anticipation of such taxes in order to meet maturing municipal obligations. In this connection I would urge a rational economy in the various branches of our municipal service to the end that interest charges may be kept at the lowest possible point.

It is impossible to reduce the rate of taxation if our expenses are increased out of proportion to the nominal increase in our taxable values. On a two and one-half percent. taxable basis, every thousand dollars added to our obligations means the income from an increased property value of $40,000.00. Assuming the average taxable value of residential property to be $2,500.00, it would require the addition of sixteen new houses to the list of dwellings in our city, or its equivalent, to meet this increased demand.

And this conclusion is based upon the permanency, or stabilization, of our present capital stock. Our physical or taxable resources, however, vary much in the same manner as other corporate properties. The variation in stock in trade is largely responsible for this fluctuation.

In the final analysis it rests largely with the general public, or stockholders, whether or not our tax rate is increased. If continued demands for civic improvements or communal developments are presented before, and favorably considered by, the City Councils, the expenditures thus created, must inevitably find expression in our rate of taxation.

May I respectfully suggest that property holders carefully consider all petitions presented to them involving any considerable expenditure of public money, and thus aid their board of directors in its efforts to secure an economic and successful administration?

It has been my experience that theories, however well considered, are often rendered impracticable when subjected to the acid test of practical application. With this thought in mind, I shall refrain, at this time, from presenting specific recommendations for legislative action. I shall, however, reserve the right to present to you, from time to time, such measures as may appeal to me to be in the interest of the city and its people.

Gentlemen, we each have our duties to perform. Let us keep ever in mind the thought that we are the servants of the people, and endeavor, to the best of our ability, to translate that thought into conscientious and acceptable service. Let our watchword be "Economic Efficiency."

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
JOINT STANDING COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

DOVER, N. H., December 31, 1928.

TO THE COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF DOVER:

The undersigned, joint standing committee on finance of the city of Dover, have examined the books of the city treasurer, Ellen M. Galucia, and compared the footings of the receipts and disbursements with the accounts kept by the city clerk, and find the same in agreement.

We have carefully examined and verified all bonds, securities and trust fund accounts belonging to the city, and are satisfied that all funds and other property for which the treasurer is officially responsible, are accounted for, leaving a cash balance in banks to the credit of the city proper, of $45,212.42.

A complete list of the bonds and securities above referred to is hereto appended.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS

HIS HONOR, THE MAYOR, AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCILS:

We have the honor to submit the following report of the business of the Dover police department for the year 1928.

Governor Huntley N. Spaulding and his council re-appointed Thomas W. Webb for the three-year term beginning September 7, 1928.

The organization of the commission is as follows: Charles E. Lord, chairman; Thomas W. Webb, clerk; Owen Coogan.

The department has been very active, which can be seen by the city marshal's report, which is attached to and made a part of this report.

The city councils authorized the purchase of a metal boat mounted on wheels, to be attached as trailer with ambulance for rescue purposes in drowning accidents. This was adopted by the commissioners and one Out Board Special was purchased from Mullens Manufacturing Co., Salem, Ohio.

There has also been added with this equipment six Armstrong cork ring life buoys, these being installed at the several bridges, namely: Central avenue, Fourth street, and Sawyers.

AMENDMENT TO THE CITY CHARTER

An Act empowering the city of Dover to incur debts to the amount of six per cent. of its valuation.

1. DEBT LIMIT INCREASED. The city of Dover may at any time have and incur debt for all purposes including school purposes to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate six per cent. of its last assessed valuation, provided however, that in ascertaining the amount of such debt so to be compared with said six per cent., indebtedness lawfully incurred outside of said limit shall not be considered and deductions may be made as specified in the Municipal Bonds Statute and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto. So long as the aggregate net debt of said city for school purposes and all other purposes shall not exceed said limit of six per cent., the city may incur school debt in excess of the limit of two per cent. imposed upon school districts by said Municipal Bonds Statute. Except as herein provided all indebtedness of said city, whether or not incurred for school purposes, shall be subject to said Municipal Bonds Statute and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto.

2. MUNICIPALITY AND SCHOOL DISTRICT. Said city shall constitute a single municipal corporation with powers for municipal and school purposes, including all the powers of a school district. All provisions of law or of the charter of said city affecting school districts or schools shall, so far as not inconsistent herewith, continue to apply to said city.

3. PRIOR DEBTS VALIDATED. All indebtedness of any governmental subdivision territorially coextensive with said city hitherto incurred for school purposes, in whatever form or however incurred, and all orders and votes authorizing the incurring of indebtedness or the issuance of bonds or notes or other obligations for school purposes by any such subdivision, or by the city, are hereby confirmed, ratified and validated. The city treasurer is hereby authorized to reimburse the city treasury for any sums advanced therefrom temporarily to pay any portion of said indebtedness pending the receipt of proceeds of school bonds or notes which may be issued within said aggregate debt limit.

4. TAKES EFFECT. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed and this act shall take effect upon its passage.

Approved April 6, 1927.

The gift of the late Hon. B. Frank Nealley of fifteen thousand dollars for the erection of a contagious house at the Wentworth Hospital goes to the supplying of one of the most vital needs for our city's health, the lack of which was keenly felt during the recent scarlet fever epidemic.

This isolation house will not only greatly benefit the community at large, but will unburden the health budget of a great output which, up to this time, has been expended for the maintenance of the quarantined family, during the necessary isolation period.

The bones were listed by Glidden and Wiggin, undertakers, by authority of the Health Department, and buried in Pine Hill Cemetery, August 24. They comprised the skull, mandible, 2 illiac, 7 vertebrae, 2 humerus, 2 femur, 2 fibula, 1 tibia, 3 metatarsal, and 5 phalanges.

MILK SUPPLY

In accepting the license, the licensee agrees to deliver Dover trade, agreeably to law, a clean, wholesome milk.

To accomplish this he must keep clean cows in a clean barn; he must strain and cool the milk immediately after milking, in a clean, screened room.

Milk must be cooled to a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. If this is done, the consumer has the assurance that his milk is a safe and wholesome food.

Licenses for the sale of milk and cream have been issued during the past year to the following:

MILK INSPECTIONS

The inspection of dairy farms during the year was practically negligible.

Inspection is essential, if the department is to keep in touch with production sources, and insure the delivery of clean milk.

The department has no means of conveyance at its command to adequately carry out this phase of the work, and resources available for transportation limit its cope to only those cases where recorded data indicate variance from rules of sanitation.

Samples collected (milk)	35
Samples collected (cream)	13
Samples sent to state laboratory	48

WATER SUPPLY

An adequate and safe water supply is essential. The water shed or drainage area must be freed, so far as possible, from human habitation, for the purpose of protecting the supply from pollution and possible infection.

Samples have been taken at different times from the supply and submitted to the state chemist, with the following results.

January—Good.

March—Good.

April—Excellent.

June—Good.

July—Good.

September—Physically and organically good.

November—Good.

December—Good water.

A sample was taken from Fresh Creek, where it empties into lower Cocheco, at high tide.

The analysis of this water indicated a distinctly unsatisfactory quality, there being considerable turbidity and sediment, a distinct earthy, vegetable odor, much color, some excess of organic matter, very high chlorides and hardness, and bacteria of fecal origin.

The analysis plainly indicates the presence of brackish water containing some sewage pollution, and consequently is of dubious fitness for bathing purposes.

Sample drawn from the well of F. W. Lothrop, Barbadoes pond district and forwarded to the state laboratory for examination; Result—satisfactory.

Sample drawn from roadside well, Barbadoes pond district and owned by Messrs. Caverly and Lothrop, forwarded to the state laboratory for examination; Result—well condemned.

SANITARY INSPECTIONS

This work has been given special attention throughout the year. It covers quite a wide range and includes the placarding of houses during periods of infection, the investigating of suspected sources of contamination, visits to schools, restaurants, bakeries and grocery stores.

These tours of inspection require no little time.

It is one of the duties of the board of health to see that nuisances are abated and dead animals removed.

The condition of the streets, yards and alleys throughout the city are kept comparatively clean and free from offensive matter. Special attention has been given to these collections as they are considered of great importance to the health of the city.

INCINERATION

The incinerator is taking care of all refuse and combustible material collected by the department or delivered by private conveyance. All bedding and other matter collected from infected premises has been destroyed under careful supervision as well as old book accounts, papers and accumulated rubbish from business establishments.

A total of 10,124 loads of material was hauled to the incinerator during the year, including extra deliveries in the Spring and Fall clean ups, as follows:

Garbage	2,946 loads
Ashes	1,663 loads
Automobiles	3,892 loads
Teams	1,623 loads

Total 10,124 loads

The number of dead animals collected and destroyed during the year are enumerated as follows:

Fish, barrels of	392
Eggs, barrels of	26
Dogs	149
Cats	85
Brown tails, bags of	5
Hens, bags of	6
Calf	1
Rabbits	2
Smoked shoulders	23
Pigs	2

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGNS

To have a clean city, each and every householder must become interested in this most important work, as that is the only way in which a high standard of cleanliness can be obtained.

PLUMBING

The sewage from each building, on every street provided with a common sewer, should be connected with such sewer. During the past year there have been installed:

Baths, complete	42
Toilets	26
Septic tanks	7

NEW HAMPSHIRE TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

DOVER BOARD OF HEALTH:—

During 1928 the New Hampshire Tuberculosis Association held eleven clinics in Dover, average attendance being fifteen patients.

Through their effort combined with that of local organizations, eight patients suffering with active tuberculosis were placed in New Hampshire sanatoria, and two patients were placed under the care of U. S. Veterans' Bureau for treatment, at the U. S. Sanatorium at Rutland, Mass.

Dover has at the present time, under the N. H. T. A.'s supervision, three patients at Glencliff, two patients at Pembroke and three at Rutland, Mass.

Several patients are following hygienic and dietetic treatment at home, under supervision of the Association. There were five deaths of patients under supervision during the year.

The work being based on a county program, it has been the aim of the nurse, to give one whole day weekly to the city, and in case of an emergency such time as may be required.

About 450 house calls were made relative to follow-up work, advising patients of clinic dates and regarding preparations to admission of patients to sanatorium.

It is most deplorable to workers, when on account of improper legislation for the care of advanced tuberculosis, a patient very anxious to go away for treatment has to be placed on the waiting list for a period of four to five months. Let us hope that this condition will be remedied in the near future.

The Association is very grateful for the support given by other organizations, and will do its utmost to respond to all calls at the earliest convenience.

It is most gratifying to see the number of arrested cases, who are back to work, a great gain to themselves and society, physically and economically.

LORETTA A. LANDRY, R. N.

DOVER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The Dental Clinic conducted by the Dover District Nursing Association has rendered 406 treatments during the year 1928.

This service to children who would otherwise be deprived of dental service is made possible by the cooperation of five dentists who give their services.

The clinic has been in operation three years and has been made possible through the generosity of these five and, in previous years, other dentists.

Due to the constant growth of the work and the increasing need for this service some way must be found to provide financial aid if the clinic is to continue to care for all needy children.

The very generous contribution made by the local dentists is recognized and appreciated but it is unfair to expect them to continue the work indefinitely. Many of the cities and towns in the state appropriate a sum annually towards this work.

If our own city should grant the District Nursing Association a sum of $500 to $1,000: it, supplemented by funds available from the Association treasury, would permit the employment of a dentist one or more mornings a week and insure the continuance of this very worth while work.

DOVER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION,
By Dr. E. C. Godfrey, President.

PUBLIC COMFORT STATION

Failure to provide public toilet facilities is to fail in one of the most important elements of sound public health service.

Dover, N. H., January 5, 1928.

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCIL:—

The necessity confronting the Board of Health of purchasing two new horses during the coming year (one of the department horses having recently died and the other gradually becoming unfit for the work required) suggested an investigation of a theory, long entertained by the executive officer, effecting the transportation policy of the Board.

Mr. Charles B. Place, the veterinarian, has at the request of the Board, submitted a proposition whereby he will furnish the horses and assume all responsibility for their care and maintenance, including harnesses, shoeing and blacksmith work, and veterinary service at a monthly cost of $92.50.

This proposition also includes the substitution of another horse should either of those in service die or become unfit for service. In this plan the contractor assumes all responsibility for the motive power required by the department, the cost to the city being confined to the monthly payment of the sum agreed upon.

We respectively recommend the adoption of the plan suggested.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. E. WHITELEY,
Executive Officer.

Resolved by the City Councils of the City of Dover:—

That the suggestion contained in the communication this evening submitted by the Executive Officer of the Board of Health be and hereby is approved; and said Board is hereby empowered to proceed at once to carry the suggestion into effect.

Adopted, January 5, 1928.

As instructed, the Board of Health entered into a contract with Mr. Chas. B. Place, Veterinarian, to furnish the horses for the removal of garbage and ashes from specified routes.

The plan is working satisfactorily.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM E. WHITELEY,
Executive Officer.

An analysis of the foregoing statistical tabulations reveals many interesting facts which might escape the attention of the casual reader, hence we have taken the liberty of briefly summarizing some of the more important institutional activities of the year, that their relation to the physical and material interests of the city may be more clearly understood.

FREE TREATMENT

The number of free patients admitted during the year 1928 was larger than for any previous year in the history of the institution, exceeding by over thirty-three per cent. the registration for any preceding similar calendar period.

That free patients are accorded institutional treatment on a parity with all other persons admitted, finds definite emphasis in the fact that the average length of time they are given hospital care exceeds by more than two hundred per cent. the average period of service rendered contributing patrons. This disparity may be attributed to the very natural desire of paying patients to limit their stay in the hospital to the earliest period in their convalescence compatible with safety, or to the delay, and consequent aggravation of the patient's symptoms, of those who, from financial necessity, are finally compelled to seek relief in the gratuitous service which the city so generously provides.

During the past year the institution has rendered the equivalent of thirty-seven and one-half years' of actual hospital service, nearly thirty per cent. of which was given non-contributing patients.

On the basis of actual earnings the average daily revenue per patient for the year 1928, was $2.14, while the actual daily cost of the service rendered was $5.76. Computed on the basis of actual cost, the 3,958 days of free service rendered would reach the surprising total of $22,798.08.

EMERGENCY CASES

The number of accident and emergency cases during the past year reached a new high level in both instances, while the number of ambulance cases slightly exceeded the annual average of this class of patients for the preceding twenty-two years.

It is the cases catalogued in the accident, emergency and ambulance columns, which renders it imperative that an adequate corps of experienced nurses be maintained at all times, in order that immediate attention may be given those whose very existence may depend upon prompt and intelligent ministrations.

ENLARGED FACILITIES

The management has long felt the need of a passenger elevator, a modern sterilizing equipment, a larger and more conveniently arranged kitchen, and a refrigerator room adequate to the needs of a hospital increased to more than double the capacity of its original design. These really vital auxiliaries to our institutional facilities have been or are about to become an actuality.

Patients can now be comfortably and speedily conveyed from one floor to another floor by means of an automatically adjusted elevator, thus facilitating service and rendering possible the fullest scope of our X-Ray apparatus. In past years many patients were compelled to rely upon the limited effectiveness of a portable machine, as the severity of their illness would not permit of the rather strenuous experience of being conveyed by stretcher to the basement where the X-Ray rooms are located.

The new sterilizing room, equipped with modern apparatus, is another important improvement, and the annex, now in process of construction, in which the kitchen and refrigerator room will be located, presages the more economic and healthful preparation of dietary dishes and the performance of necessary kitchen duties.

These several long-needed improvements were made possible through the bequest of the late Mr. James Monroe Hanscom. Suitable tablets are being prepared to memorialize the generous donor, and are to be conspicuously displayed upon or near the structures which would have been impossible of fruition for many years, had it not been for the generosity of one who deeply approved of the beneficent services the hospital is constantly rendering the community which it is its privilege to serve.

THE NEALLEY FUND

In the death of Hon. John H. Nealley, the first Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Wentworth Hospital, which occurred on the 6th day of December, 1928, the bequest of $15,000.00 under the will of the late Hon. Benjamin F. Nealley, payable upon the death of the former, will soon become available for the purpose for which it was donated. The bequest was designed to be applied toward the construction of a nurses' home, but in the event such a building should be erected before the money became available, a contagious ward was selected as an alternative.

That it would be impossible to erect such a ward for the sum of money bequeathed, is quite evident, but the bequest can be placed at interest and eventually be applied to the use designed by the testator. A contagious ward is one of the great needs of the hospital and the community at large, and its early realization as one of the adjuncts to the institution, is very much to be desired.

CONCLUSION

There have been no material changes in the personnel of the administrative officials of the board during the past year. In every department of administrative work the duties of the officers in charge have been growing more technical and exacting as the years go by, and the broadening activities of the hospital voices this increase in its enlarged scope and increased effectiveness.

The year has brought a number of needed improvements in the line of construction, repair and new equipment. The generosity of one of Dover's citizens, Mr. J. Monroe Hanscom, has made this possible.

The new elevator fills a need existing since the establishing of the hospital. The sterilizing room has been thoroughly renovated with tiled walls and floor and an up-to-date sterilizing equipment which will adequately fill the needs of the hospital for many years.

The work of enlarging the kitchen by the addition of a refrigerating plant and a dining room has begun. For so many years the inconvenience of a kitchen built for a thirty bed hospital trying to do the work of a seventy-five bed hospital has taxed the ingenuity and ability of the executive and the helpers. The future promises much in the line of proper and effectual kitchen procedure.

The Gladys Rollins Home for Nurses was struck by lightning last summer; but little damage was sustained and this was, of course, covered by insurance. The Gladys Rollins Home has received from Mr. E. W. Rollins, a beautiful picture of Gladys Brown Rollins in whose memory the home was built. This has been hung in the space long reserved for it, and it is hoped that no other picture will adorn the walls of the living room where the likeness now hangs.

The vote of the board of trustees to suitably memorialize the gifts to the hospital as a tribute to the donors, is a most suitable resolution. The project is being worked out and within the next few weeks it is hoped the various tablets will be in place.

The need of a contagious department has been demonstrated again this year. The amount left the hospital under the will of Mr. B. Frank Nealley will not be sufficient for this purpose. The approximate cost of such a building, which would have to operate as a separate unit, would be $30,000, and this is a minimum estimate.

An increase in the entire work of the hospital is to be noted. Appended is the report of the Pathologist, Dr. R. J. Bennett, and of the Roentgenologist, Dr. H. O. Chesley.

The laboratory work is increasing and the fact that we are immediately able to verify contagious conditions is a great protection to the patients and the personnel of the hospital. A case of scarlet fever developed in one of the nurses and was confined to her. Our laboratory facilities and the large amount of work done by Dr. R. J. Bennett was responsible for this remarkable record.

The free bed work has been in excess of other years. Many worthy and industrious people have been helped over a hard place in life's journey by this work. Sometimes a delay in sending the very poor, makes a longer stay in the hospital necessary because of the advanced condition of their illness.

It has been necessary to replace all the wood work of the porches of the hospital building. Gutters and slates have also been replaced.

The need of outside painting is obvious to all, and I ask the board of trustees to give the matter early consideration as the wood is being harmed for lack of paint.

The rooms and corridors of the hospital building are in sad need of attention. It is difficult to vacate our private rooms long enough to give them proper attention. We have been in the position of not having inexpensive private rooms enough to supply the demand.

There are twenty-two nurses in training. Eight have graduated in 1928. A class of eight enter in April. There have been eighteen nurses ill with minor complaints. A rule making it imperative to report a sore throat is one of the factors causing this number, but it is a rule that protects everybody.

The personnel of the executive force remains about the same. The domestics change now and then. The various members of our city department have responded to all requests for help in a manner we greatly appreciate. This is especially true of our police department.

At this time I express my thanks to the friends who extend so many kindnesses to the patients and the training school.

To the board of trustees, to the clerk, Mr. Fred E. Quimby, and to the treasurer, Miss Ellen M. Galucia, my personal thanks are especially due for their courtesy in all our business relations.

Respectfully submitted,

GRACE P. HASKELL, R. N.
Superintendent.

THE WENTWORTH HOSPITAL

REPORT OF THE ROENTGENOLOGIST

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE WENTWORTH HOSPITAL:

While there has been a substantial increase in the amount of X-Ray work done during the year, we have not arrived at the point, where the employment of a full time technician is expedient, although the efficiency of the service would be increased.

The installation of an elevator has been of great assistance in transporting patients, who were unable to walk, to the X-Ray department and was a much needed necessity.

We are glad to note the growing realization among the people that an X-Ray examination means something more than the "taking of pictures."

We are unable to chronicle any happening of special import. This department has functioned normally as a diagnostic unit.

No X-Ray treatments are made.

DOVER WATER WORKS

REPORT OF WATER COMMISSIONERS

TO THE CITY COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF DOVER:

GENTLEMEN: We submit herewith the forty-first annual report of the water commissioners, covering the fiscal year ending December 31, 1928.

The personnel of the board was as follows: Hon. C. E. T. Caswell, president; Luke H. McEwan, vice president; Alonzo G. Willand, secretary; John Clancy, Gerald A. Scarr.

The pond and high pressure pumping stations are in good condition, with the exception of the coal shed attached to the latter.

The top of filter bed number two has been repaired, also looked for crack and leak in bottom of same but failed to find any.

Considerable work has been done this year at the Hussey Springs. We are now getting a larger supply of water from that source than formerly.

Because of the lowness of our water supply in Willand pond, the hydraulic engineers, Weston & Sampson, were employed to investigate the sources of supply, that could be used as an auxiliary to our present system. This report, too long to print, is placed in the safe of the water department.

The water in Willand pond is now 17½ inches higher than a year ago; the water has been analyzed regularly by the State Board of Health, the reports showing our water to be of good quality.

During the year a law suit against the City of Dover claiming damages, charging sickness through the use of the water from that particular service pipe. The State Board of Health and other experts testified, the result being, their suit against the City was lost.

Our mains have been extended 2,289 feet during the year and three hydrants installed.

Regular meetings of the board have been held throughout the year and all matters of an administrative character have been given prompt attention and careful consideration.

A summary of the work accomplished during the year, the changes and improvements made, together with a detailed list of all receipts and disbursements, are contained in the report of the superintendent, which is annexed to and made a part of this report.

DOVER WATER WORKS

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

TO THE BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS :

GENTLEMEN:—I have the pleasure of presenting the forty-first annual report of the superintendent, showing the general condition of the department, together with a summary of the work performed, for the year ending December 31, 1928.

The department contributed $6,200.00 to the city treasury, as required by the annual appropriations of the city government.

In February, Weston & Sampson, hydraulic engineers of Boston, were employed to investigate and survey for an additional supply of water. This survey was completed the last of March when they reported and recommended that the city adopt the Isinglass River as an additional source of supply. This report was printed in the local papers and is now on file in the office of the water department.

The water in Willand pond at the present time is 17½ inches higher than it was one year ago. The suction pipe at the pond has been extended sixty feet farther out into deeper water and there are now twelve feet of water over the end of the pipe.

In January we discovered a bad leak on the old Print Works lot, which was very hard to locate as the water was running underground into the river.

The Hussey Springs have been cleaned out, and two hundred and twenty feet of six-inch Universal pipe have been laid connecting the Cate spring with the main Hussey spring; we are now getting a much larger supply than formerly.

Distribution Pipes: Very little trouble has been caused by the main pipes this year. We have laid six hundred feet of six-inch pipe on Oak street, and set one hydrant; five hundred ninety-five feet on Coolidge avenue, and set one hydrant; two hundred eighty-eight feet on Perl street. We have connected up the three dead ends, which have always been a source of trouble, at the corner of Baker and East Concord streets, using one hundred thirty-one feet of pipe and setting a hydrant on East Concord street; one hundred fifty feet of four-inch on Horne street; four hundred twenty-five feet of two-inch on Hall street, and one hundred feet of two-inch on Franklin court.

At the request of Mrs. Montgomery Rollins, we laid one thousand five hundred ten feet of one-inch and one-quarter pipe from the Cocheco Country Club to her residence, she having agreed to stand the entire expense.

The hydrants have been regularly inspected and repaired when necessary, three of which were damaged by automobiles.

Seventy-one new meters have been installed, one hundred sixty-five taken out, repaired, cleaned and tested, thirty-six of which were beyond repair and were replaced with new ones.

At the high pressure pumping station, everything is in good condition except the coal shed, which will have to be rebuilt if we continue to use the present boiler. This boiler was in use when the old steam pump was in operation and is too large to run economically for heating purposes only. I would recommend that this boiler be sold and a small sectional boiler be installed in its place, thereby leaving room for the coal bin in the main building, which would obviate the necessity of building a new coal shed.

At the low pressure station everything is in first class condition.

The Aerator was cleaned each week, the receiving basin was emptied and cleaned twice during the year. The filter beds have been raked and scraped as usual. The crack in the roof of No. 2 Bed was repaired and the bottom examined but no leak could be found.

Reservoir: The paving stones that were raised by the frost have been relaid; it will be necessary to clean the reservoir thoroughly this coming summer.

Service Pipes: Fifty-one services on Silver street were relaid before the street department repaired the street; many of these were in very bad condition. I would recommend renewing all services whenever a street is to be resurfaced.

Analysis of samples of water by the State Board of Health, has shown it to be of exceptionally good quality throughout the year.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF TRUSTEES

TO THE CITY COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF DOVER:

The work of the Library for the current year has been told in detail in the reports of the librarian, and treasurer, which are therefore made a part of this report.

The duties of the trustees have been faithfully performed. The monthly meetings have been well attended, all bills have been examined and all matters pertaining to the welfare of the library have been carefully considered and acted upon. The library is in good condition and its excellent work is a credit to the city.

The trustees record with deep sorrow the death on December 6, of the Hon. John H. Nealley, for eight years a trustee of this library. He was faithful in attendance at meetings of the Board, and his counsel and interest have been of great value to the library.

For the trustees,

CLARENCE I. HURD,
Secretary.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE DOVER PUBLIC LIBRARY:

GENTLEMEN:—The report of the librarian, showing the work of the library for the year 1928, is herewith presented.

THE YEAR'S GROWTH

Whole number of volumes January 1, 1928 . . .	53,550
Volumes purchased	584
Volumes received by gift	121
Bound periodicals	132
	<hr/>
Total number of accessions	837
Received from the U. S. Government, but not accessioned, 3,965 volumes and pamphlets.
Worn out volumes withdrawn	238
	<hr/>
Total increase for the year	599
Total number of accessioned volumes December 31, 1928	54,149

The circulation for the year has been 68,374 volumes, of which 13,458 was from the children's room. This is a gain of 2,287 over last year and does not include the use of books in the reference room. It means an average daily circulation of 225. Of the total circulation 55% was fiction from the main room and 13% fiction from the children's room.

Through the winter were continued the talks on new books begun last fall, and given in the lecture room, with the books on the table ready for examination by those present. Through the fall the library staff have taken regular turns in writing the notices of new books furnished weekly for publication in the newspaper.

The largest exhibit of the year was that of health posters and handiwork done by children of the grades. Leading events in current news have been noticed by appropriate exhibits of books and pictures displayed on the bulletin boards in the delivery room and down by the street. Children's Book week saw a display of new and desirable books in the children's room. Post card notices of new books have been sent out to persons interested in special subjects, and information requested over the telephone has been looked up and questions answered. Reserve card notices have been sent regularly and all possible efforts have been made to get the book wanted into the hands of the person wanting it.

The one unusual event of the year was the acquisition by gift of the John Scales collection of genealogical books and manuscripts. The books numbered 64, beside 15 scrap books filled with clippings. There were more than 175 manuscripts. To sort the manuscripts required several weeks for the material came in miscellaneous piles, but when reduced to order it was found to comprise many papers on Dover and New Hampshire history, and genealogical matter relating to eighty-five different families. This matter was of varying length, one family alone having more than forty articles, notes, deeds and tables of descent. There was also a mass of unclassified original material, bills, letters and receipts, of interesting early dates and places; an autograph letter of Jeremy Belknap; an officer's commission signed in bold handwriting by Jeremiah Smith, Governor of the State; a handwritten copy of the laws of "Harvard Colledge" dated 1716; letters dated London 1747; several bills for "rhum" dated 1756; an order, evidently to a sadler, to be present at a meeting at Sadlers Hall, Cheapside, London, dated 1690; a number of family letters addressed to "Reverend Timothy White, minister of God's word at Nantucket," and one addressed to "Captain Joseph Coffin, near by ye old meeting house, Newbury." But the most valuable of these papers is a little old time-yellowed account book, in which was kept a diary by a soldier during the French and Indian war, with daily entries of the march of his regiment from Dunstable in June 1758 to Saratoga, Fort Edward and Ticonderoga, and his return in November of the same year. The ownership of the book is thus recorded in almost undecipherable characters on the first page: James White is my name—English is my nation—Haverhill is my dwelling place—And Christ is my salvation. And it will be recalled that when this diary was written this country was still a part of England, for the United States had not yet come into existence. Diaries like this are accounted very valuable possessions, and are eagerly sought by historical societies for printing and permanent preservation.

The family histories will add materially to our collection of genealogies, which is already one of the most important departments of the library. The increasing interest in genealogy throughout the country has led to active measures on the part of libraries everywhere to acquire whatever is published along this line. Fortunately for this library a start was made in this subject before widespread collecting began. It was in 1887 that the library gathered a few New Hampshire town histories together in a corner of the old library rooms in the city building. Later a set of the New England historical and genealogical register, the basis of any genealogical collection, was bought at a price of several hundred dollars less than it brings today. When the present building was erected a special room was set aside for this collection which then looked very meagre on the almost empty shelves; but every year has seen additions, large or small, until now the contents have overflowed into a second historical room and even into the Trustees' room—and it is still growing.

Mention has been made in earlier reports of the large increase in financial value of many of the volumes in this department; but it may be permitted in this connection to mention some of the sets to be found here. The Essex Institute historical collections, 61 volumes; a full set of New Hampshire provincial and state papers, 33 volumes, including the Revolutionary rolls; the Massachusetts soldiers and sailors of the Revolutionary War, 17 volumes; a complete set of the lineage books of the Daughters of the American Revolution, 97 volumes; the York deeds, 18 volumes; Rhode Island colonial records, 10 volumes; Records and files of the Quarterly Court of Essex County, 8 volumes; Probate records of Essex County, 3 volumes, and numerous files of genealogical magazines. All these works and the many individual genealogies, are in constant use by the ever increasing number of persons in town and out of town, who come here to make a study of family history. Beside genealogical material the room is rich in New Hampshire town histories. Here is material on the history of 262 towns in the state, an almost complete list. Of some of these towns, as Rollinsford for instance, there are only the historical accounts published in New Hampshire Town Papers, but of others there are many entries, Portsmouth for example showing 88 different items. In addition to town histories are county histories, regional histories, files of the publications of State institutions, early State newspapers and much miscellaneous material awaiting cataloguing; for it is only when catalogued and entries filed in the card catalogue, that a mass of historical material is rescued from oblivion and made available for use.

In the regular work of the year there have been two interruptions, one in the early summer when Miss Morrill was out for over three months on account of illness, and the other in the fall when Miss Devin, also on account of illness, had to be granted leave of absence. In both cases Miss Jenkins took over the special work of the absent assistant and Miss Alice Fernald came in as substitute, taking charge of most of the desk circulation. The work has gone on in excellent order and the librarian desires to make public recognition of the ready and willing and efficient service given by all her assistants.

From the trustees, the entire library staff will miss the one who has recently gone out, never to return. His never failing greeting, and cordial interest had made each one here regard him as a warm personal friend. They mourn his loss. To the remaining members of the Board, the librarian returns grateful acknowledgment for counsel and interest in the various forms of library activity.

Respectfully submitted,

CAROLINE H. GARLAND,

Librarian.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

I take pleasure in respectfully submitting to your consideration, my eleventh annual report as Superintendent of the Dover schools.

TEACHERS

It should be the policy of administrators of the school department, to encourage and promote continuity of service of teachers. It is the general rule that few changes take place in the force of grade teachers in Dover, only one or two each year being the average. Among the High School teachers there has developed a growing tendency in late years, to fewer changes, also, which is distinctly advantageous to the schools. I am sure you will be interested in the following table, showing the length of service in years, among the teachers in the grades and in our High School.

Survey of Grade Teachers' Service

1	Teacher has served the city for	50 years.
1	Teacher has served the city for	46 years.
2	Teachers have served the city for	40-45 years.
7	Teachers have served the city for	30-40 years.
2	Teachers have served the city for	20-30 years.
9	Teachers have served the city for	10-20 years.
6	Teachers have served the city for	5-10 years.
10	Teachers have served the city for	1- 5 years.

Survey of High School Teachers' Service

8 Teachers have served in Dover schools for 5-10 years.

12 Teachers have served in Dover schools for 1-5 years.

This information should evoke in us a deep sense of our obligation to these teachers, many of whom have devoted practically their whole lives to the work of educating our children. It is probably true that the city has not, even in a reasonable measure, fulfilled its obligations to them in a financial way. I know that there is a deep sense of gratitude and appreciation for the work they have done, among many of our citizens, grown men and women, who were their former pupils, and who hold them in loving and honored remembrance. On the other hand, if we look back over the record, we see a long period of years during which these faithful teachers served the city for a pittance of three or four hundred dollars a year. It was, therefore, some material evidence of appreciation, this year, when the school committee raised their salaries, even though in a very modest degree without petition, and without pressure of any kind. A bill will be introduced into the Legislature, at the next session, to establish a Teachers' Retirement Fund. It ought to become a law. The following named states have already passed teachers' retirement laws. Arizona, California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Delaware, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Nebraska. This long list of states includes every one of the New England states,—excepting New Hampshire! Many cities have their own local teachers' retirement laws.

The World's Work says: "Many large employers of labor find a system of retirement essential to the efficiency of their staffs. * * * The time is probably not far distant when every prosperous employer of labor will have adopted some plan providing for the future of its workers. Properly regarded, this is not philanthropy; it is business." The accuracy of this statement is confirmed when we read in a list of two hundred forty-eight great commercial organizations which have retirement plans in effect, such names as American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Associated Companies. General Electric Company, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Standard Oil Company, United States Steel Co., Western Union Telegraph Company, and many others of equal importance.

SCHOOL COSTS

In my report last year I showed the cost of schools in Dover, compared with the twenty-one other cities and towns in the state. Dover stood next to the lowest. It cannot be claimed that school taxes in this city are high. They are distinctly low. Our organization is a very economical one. We have large classes now, in spite of the fact that we have added two new teachers in the grades, within the last three years, and the high school staff has been increased from thirteen to twenty teachers, within the past ten years. It is likely that, at least two additional teachers will be needed next year to relieve crowded grades. Additional assistance should be provided for physical education if this department is to develop as it should. More equipment is needed in music to give this department the encouragement it has earned. In view of these facts, and allowing for the slight increase in grade teachers' salaries granted in June, I do not see how we can avoid an increase in the amount of money needed to maintain our schools next year.

INSTRUCTION

I believe the greatest opportunity to improve the work of our schools is offered along the following lines. First; To shake ourselves free from the bondage of traditional "lesson learning." The prevailing practice is the assignment of lessons to be memorized, followed by recitations in which the students answer questions reproducing the memorized lessons, together with more or less discussion. After a period of this, and following a short time of intensive cramming, there comes an "examination." The practice is to "pass" those pupils who respond correctly to 70% of the questions asked. This procedure has many serious defects. It is only partial learning at best. Real learning is not memorization of facts in the fields of geography, history, and other branches, the lesson-learning type so soon forgotten, but is, instead, an inward growth and development, which, once acquired, can never be lost. Lessons learned "by rote" do not engage the child's understanding, his conscious intelligence, in any degree, and are as quickly forgotten as learned. Such training is wasteful of the teacher's time, and the child's efforts, and whatever real learning is acquired, comes in a haphazard way. It seems to me entirely feasible to make a beginning, at least, in working toward something better than the old idea of marking children's work 50%, 60% or 70%, on half-comprehended lessons. The 70% "passing mark" is a delusion, used as and understood to be evidence that the child has learned all his lessons with a satisfactory amount of accuracy. As a matter of fact, he acquires an understanding in a subject or he does not, and there is no 70% about it. I confess that there are many obstacles in the way of the abolition of the "passing mark," not the least of which is the "College Entrance Requirements." However, time may remove even such an obstacle as the present college entrance requirements. I am confident that the colleges will gladly accept evidences of real learning when we offer them. Any break in our traditional practice with regard to teaching and marking, cannot, and should not, be done abruptly. It involves training the teachers, and careful preparation of the course of study, which would mean the work of years.

COMMERCIALIZING THE SCHOOLS

In the Committee Rules, Chapter II, Section XVII, the following paragraph stands:

"No teacher will allow in any school any contribution or collection to be made, any sale of any articles by teacher or any other person, any notification of any lecture or exhibition of any kind, unless authorized by vote of the Committee. Nor shall any lecture be given in any school without the special permission of the Committee."

This means that no agent may enter the schools and interview teachers for commercial purposes. Neither may the schools be used for advertising notices of any kind, nor may lectures of any kind be given in the schools in behalf of any kind of propaganda. This rule may seem to work disadvantageously in some cases, but those who seek privileges may plead their causes before the school committee at the regular meetings, when such matters are discussed and passed upon, at the discretion of the committee. Appeals are being made every day, in some form, for opportunities to present so-called "educational" interests in our schools. These appeals are almost wholly for advertising purposes, or have the objectionable quality of being for commercial or personal financial profit. They have little or no educational value, and are, in the majority of cases, easily diverted by calling the attention of their proponents to the Committee Rule quoted above.

ATHLETICS

The formation of an Athletic Council, composed of members including representatives of the school board, the high school faculty, the superintendent of schools and the student body, has done much to help in securing proper equipment for the use of our children in physical development. It is not surprising that with our greatly increased enrollment of the past few years, a correspondingly greater amount of work devolves upon our Physical Director, Mr. Anderson. If the present order of physical exercise under his direction, is to continue or increase, it will be necessary to supply an assistant for some part of this work, leaving more time free for Mr. Anderson to give his greater efforts to the older children who make up the representative teams of the schools, in baseball, football, basketball, and similar activities.

THE SCHOOL BAND

It is not necessary to speak in this report, regarding the musical education our children receive. The Musical Director's report will deal with that, in full detail. The School Band, however, is something new, and merits our support in whatever way we may be able to give it. All who saw the band at the Thanksgiving Day football game, can testify to the fine appearance it made, and the excellence of its playing. At present the only uniforms available consist of navy blue trousers and dark red sweaters, owned or borrowed by the players, and small white middy hats, and although so clad, the band made an excellent appearance, it is most earnestly hoped that real uniforms may be secured soon. In behalf of these boys, I urge the citizens of our city to contribute to their fund for this purpose.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

It is a matter for pardonable pride, when we review the pleasure and satisfaction which has become ours, in the value of this department to the life of the city. The school committee has expressed the desire to allow the use of the hall for social purposes, whenever this is possible without interference with the needs of the school, in order that the fullest use may be made of this valuable part of the school plant.

In closing, let me express the gratitude and appreciation I feel for the continued interest and cooperation of the school board in the work which we are doing together.

Respectfully submitted,

JACOB E. WIGNOT,

Superintendent of Schools.

The record above will show that the entrances from our grammar schools do not change very much from year to year.

Our present freshman class is much larger than usual, due, in part, to the pupils who have come from St. Mary's School.

All secondary institutions must meet state and college requirements. During the past year, the University of New Hampshire has raised its standard of admittance. All graduates of high schools and academies must attain a rank which will place them above the medium in their respective classes to entitle them to enter this University as regular students. This means that our graduates must obtain a rank of 77%, at least, or fail to meet the requirements of this particular institution. The pupils must give more time and attention to the scholastic side of their education. Physical education is good for the health of the young people, but mental training should not be neglected.

More attention should be given to home study; otherwise many of the boys and girls will be deprived of the privilege of further education in institutions of collegiate standing.

As in former years, pupils on entering school in September were distributed in groups of reasonable size for the best possible instruction. All teachers have interested themselves in the general welfare of the student body, and have arranged, on certain afternoons of each week, to give individual assistance to students requiring help in the daily preparation of their lessons.

Students should take advantage of every opportunity to improve their standing in all lines of work, especially in the difficult subjects of their chosen curriculum. There are pupils, who, for various reasons, cannot complete their high school course in four years; but who, with an additional year of study, can usually receive their diplomas.

In my experience of over forty years, I have found that such students have made commendable records in college, university, and normal schools.

The parts for the wood lathe are nearly completed. The saw bench parts are entirely finished and the machine is in operation. In the process of machining are the parts for the band saw set; three bench drill presses, two bench lathes and a bench vise. Also a large amount of work was done in repair and outside jobs.

Entrance enrollment for the past eleven years :

The mechanic arts department is under the direction of a competent instructor with four assistants, each well equipped to give instruction in this work. Thus the boys have an excellent opportunity to prepare themselves, so that, at the completion of their course in the high school, they may enter some useful employment, requiring more or less technical skill.

VISITATION NIGHT

During Education Week, November five to ten, a visitation night was held that parents and other friends of the school might visit the teachers in their respective rooms and become better acquainted with them and the work of their children.

At nine o'clock the visitors assembled in the auditorium, where a program, consisting of music by the school orchestra, and an address by Professor Donald Babcock, was given for the benefit of all present.

DOMESTIC ARTS PROGRAM

Pupils :

- Seniors 7 or approximately 9.2% of the class.
- Juniors 2 or approximately 2.2% of the class.
- Sophomores 1 or approximately .9% of the class.
- Freshmen 6 or approximately 3.3% of the class.

COMMERCIAL-DOMESTIC ARTS PROGRAM

Pupils :

Seniors 0.

Juniors 17 or approximately 18.5% of the class.

Sophomores 21 or approximately 19.8% of the class.

Freshmen 24 or approximately 13.3% of the class.

On account of the change made in the commercial course, a large percentage of the young ladies elected domestic arts work instead of certain subjects in the commercial course.

In the future it may be better to eliminate the so-called domestic arts course and pursue it in connection with the commercial program.

Greater interest should be taken in this curriculum that the young women may become skilled home-makers. Possibly a larger percentage of the girls would choose this program, could suitable rooms be provided and equipped for this work.

OUTLINE OF WORK FOR EACH YEAR

TEXTILES AND CLOTHING

Activities in this unit course should give the girl opportunity, through study and experience, to acquire a knowledge of textile fabrics and of their use in clothing and in house furnishings, in order that she may be able to select fabrics wisely, construct garments skillfully, and care economically and independently for her wardrobe.

The following articles were completed :

Two suits of underwear.

Two cotton dresses.

One silk dress.

One set of bed or table linen.

FOODS AND NUTRITION

Activities in this unit course should give the girl opportunity through instruction and experience to acquire the knowledge necessary to choose food wisely, to prepare it skilfully, and to serve it attractively. The course should result in improvement in the health habits of the girls and of the family.

The following were studied in the laboratory :

Selection of foods.
Preparation of food for the table.
Milk.
Batters and doughs.
Sandwiches.
Meats.
Fish.
Salads.
Frying in deep fat.
Desserts.
Food preservation.
Canning.
Storage of winter vegetables.

THE HOME, ITS CARE AND MANAGEMENT

The work outlined for this year should enable the girl to plan the home wisely, to care for it efficiently, to buy for it economically, and to arrange its furnishings attractively.

The following were studied :

The house—plan and cost.
Furnishing the house.
Management.
Appliances of value in the care of the home.
Household accounting.
Planning and care of home grounds.

THE FAMILY AND ITS MEMBERS

In this course the girls gain an appreciation of the importance of well organized family life and of the knowledge and training necessary, in order that they may become efficient and responsible members of the family and community.

The following were studied :

Home membership and responsibility.

Use of leisure time.

Home care of the helpless.

Community responsibilities.

Choice of vocation.

In addition to the projects performed in class, girls are required to carry on, during each of the four years, home projects that are closely related to the unit being considered in school.

The annual prize speaking contest was held in the high school auditorium on May 18, 1928. A local newspaper commented as follows:

“Before an appreciative audience of four hundred or more persons, the annual prize speaking contest of the high school for the Perkins' gold medal and other prizes was held at the new high school auditorium last evening and was declared to be one of the finest of these events held for many years here. To Miss Irene Couser, fell the honor of winning the coveted Perkins' gold medal, her selection being 'The Wheels of Time' by Florence Barclay, which she gave in a most excellent manner.

"The other prize winners were Elwyn R. Boston, who won a prize consisting of a five dollar gold piece, with his recitation of 'Anonymous '71' by Philip Curtiss; and Robert E. Mauricette, who won honorable mention with his rendition of 'From a Far Country.'

"Throughout the evening the high school orchestra rendered several very pleasing numbers under the capable direction of Miss Minnie L. Eaton, director of music in the public schools here."

DRAMATICS

On March 23, the Seniors presented a play, "Nothing But the Truth," an adaptation from Frederick S. Isham's novel of the same name, by James Montgomery.

A newspaper commented as follows: "The annual senior play, given by the members of the senior class of Dover High School, at the city opera house last evening, was a decided success, both from the standpoint of attendance and the quality of the entertainment presented."

Music was furnished by the High School orchestra. The proceeds of the play, with money obtained from other entertainments during the year, were used to defray, in part, the expenses of a senior trip to Washington, D. C. The cast of characters was as follows:

Robert Bennett	Robert E. Mauricette
E. M. Ralston	Ernest G. Thorin
Dick Donnelly	Dwight Perley
Clarence Van Dusen	Samuel Stevens
Bishop Doran	Albert E. McFadden
Gwendolyn Ralston	Annie V. Meader

ASSEMBLY PERIODS

At the opening of the school year in September, committees were appointed, consisting of both teachers and pupils, to arrange programs for the weekly assembly periods. These varied in character to meet the special needs of the young people. Music was furnished by the school orchestra and band under the able management of the musical director. Literary productions generally had a place on the programs. Specialists on important lines of activity were invited to address the assembly. The pupils were interested and delighted with such contributions which served to break up the monotony of their daily classroom work.

Miss Eaton's report on her accomplishments in vocal and instrumental music will give a definite idea of just what she did with the boys and girls.

All interested citizens and friends of the High School are invited to attend these assemblies on Thursday of each week.

ATHLETICS

All athletic activities, during the past year, have been under the control of an athletic council, consisting of His Honor, the Mayor; one member of the school committee; superintendent of schools; headmaster; coach; secretary-treasurer; two members of the teaching staff; two members of the student body.

Season tickets will not be issued for any series of games. Students and teachers are required to pay a minimum fee to entitle them to attend. The contestants are admitted free of charge. Citizens and other friends of the school will be asked to pay an admission to the various kinds of sports which shall be determined from time to time, by the headmaster and the coach.

Letters are required of all parents whose sons and daughters wish to participate in any form of athletics, stating that they are willing to assume all responsibility for any injury which may be received.

Under the present management, admissions should be received sufficient to finance all athletic activities.

Repeating the suggestion of former years, a physical examination should be required of all students who enter athletic contests.

"THE TATTLER"

This year brought an increase in the size of the "Tattler," the school paper. Instead of a four-page newspaper, it is now a magazine with twenty pages and a cover. This increase in size gave opportunity for the recognition of more literary material. The publication of literary attempts was intended to encourage the pupils to write. The results were very satisfactory.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATING

Dover participated in the activities of the Interscholastic Debating League during the winter of 1927 and 1928. Only one speaker from last year's team remained to take part this year. This meant that five new speakers had to be trained. The season was a success in spite of the fact that the teams were inexperienced. Dover won four of the six debates in which she took part.

CLASS OF 1928

Four short years of work and study,
 Four short years of work and play;
 High school days for us are over,
 Other pathways stretch away.

Life has opened up her gateway,
 Gates so high and shut so long,
 We are standing on the threshold,
 Gathered for one parting song.

Often in the past we've gathered,
 Shouts and laughter ringing clear,
 Comrades gay, we fain would linger
 Round the scenes now grown so dear.

Time waits not; so friends must sever,
 Fortune beckons from afar;
 We must leave our pleasant classrooms,
 Each must follow his own star.

Education, faith, and courage,
 Armed with these in Life's stern race,
 We will evermore press onward,
 We will win some honored place.

THE SENIOR TRIP TO WASHINGTON

At 2.30 in the afternoon, on Friday the twenty-seventh of April, the Senior Class of Dover High School left Dover, via busses, on the long awaited trip to Washington, D. C. The chaperones were Mr. Clifton Dustin, Miss Mary Reilly, and Mr. Earl Flanders, —all teachers in Dover High. Amid the strains of "Dover, Fair Dover," the party arrived at the South Station in Boston, where it boarded a special train for Fall River. At Fall River accommodations were provided on board the "Priscilla," for the trip to New York. The Metropolis was reached the next morning at seven o'clock. The rain, which had begun early Friday evening, continued throughout the day, Saturday.

From the pier a transfer was made by ferry to Jersey City, where connections were made with a special train bound for Philadelphia. When the party reached Philadelphia at 10.35 A. M., it found busses ready for a sight-seeing tour of the city, which included the Betsy Ross House, Independence Hall, Congress Hall, and Fairmount Park. After luncheon at Green's Hotel there was a conducted trip through Wanamaker's large department store. The departure from the Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, was made at 3.35 P. M.

The train arrived in Washington at 6.45 P. M. Automobile transfer was provided to the New Winston Hotel.

On Sunday morning the members of the party were free to attend church. Some went to the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church to see President Coolidge. It was the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of that church, and the President and Mrs. Coolidge were guests of honor. They sat in the old Lincoln Pew.

After luncheon at the hotel the party was conducted on a tour of the city. Some of the most interesting places visited were the Zoo; Georgetown; Fort Myer; Arlington National Cemetery; Washington Monument; and the Lincoln Memorial, which to many, was the most beautiful and impressive sight of the whole trip. In the evening the Seniors visited the Library of Congress, one of the most magnificent buildings in Washington.

On Monday, May 2, the trip provided for a visit to the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, where the government prints its stamps and paper money, and the Pan American Building, the White House, the New National Museum, and the Smithsonian Institute.

In the afternoon the trip to Mount Vernon was made by trolley. The group picture was taken with the beautiful old estate as a background. The Seniors returned to Washington on the Potomac steamer.

Tuesday morning was left free and the majority of the class went out to Brookland to visit the Franciscan Monastery.

In the afternoon, the conductor arranged a side trip to Annapolis. The group went through Bancroft Hall and the Academy Grounds, and also saw the cadets at drill. Some individuals visited the Old State House.

After breakfast at the hotel on Wednesday morning, the Dover party left Washington for New York. Luncheon was served en route. In New York accommodations were provided at the Bristol Hotel. After dinner some members of the party went to the New Amsterdam Theatre and heard "Rosalie," the musical comedy with Marilyn Miller and Jack Donahue as leading players; others heard "The Connecticut Yankee," at the Capitol Theatre.

Thursday morning, May 3, the greater part of the class visited the great ocean liner "Leviathan," while several of the girls went shopping. After luncheon a three and one-half hour sightseeing trip was provided. Fifth Avenue, Riverside Drive, Broadway, Chinatown, the Bowery, and Wall Street were seen. At the completion of this trip the party was left at the Fall River Line Pier where it boarded the "Commonwealth."

The steamer reached Fall River at 5.30 Friday morning. The trip to Boston was made by train and thence to Dover by bus. Dover was reached at 10.30 A. M.

The party travelled under the management of the American Express Travel Department and was personally conducted by Mr. T. D. Cashman, an Amerco conductor.

Everyone was sorry that Mr. Wallace, the beloved headmaster of Dover High School, was unable to accompany the Seniors and share their enjoyment.

COURSES OF STUDY

There are practically seven courses of study in the High School. These, in accordance with state requirements, have been planned to meet the needs of young people in this city and vicinity. Since this is the case, parents should, so far as possible, make every effort to keep their children in school, that they may be prepared to continue their education in higher institutions or to enter some vocation for which they are qualified to earn a living.

FUNDAMENTALS

During the winter term, the first fifteen minutes, after devotional exercises, were given to fundamentals on four days of each week.

Such work served to enliven an interest on the part of the pupils for further knowledge on the subjects presented, and a desire to retain the acquisitions of the grammar grades.

TEACHERS

Only three changes were made in the teaching force. This proves that the superintendent and school committee are anxious to retain teachers of training and experience to instruct the youths in the high school. From past experience, skilled instructors, usually make good progress with the average student.

It is evident that the people are willing to contribute money for educational purposes, that the rising generation may better meet the demands of the modern world.

DEFICIENCIES

In accordance with the rules of the school committee, deficiencies were sent to all parents every two weeks whose sons and daughters failed to attain an average mark of 70% in all subjects. Such action serves to keep the parents informed of the standing of their children in their daily work.

In addition to this notification, personal letters were mailed three times during the year giving the exact numerical rating of the members of the senior class, so that there might be no misunderstanding about graduation in June.

SCHOOL IN SEPTEMBER

Before opening of school in September, parents should consult the headmaster in regard to the different courses of study. Too many of the young people are allowed to choose their own line of work in the high school. This is a mistake on the part of the parent. The fathers and mothers are the best judges of the ability and aptitude of their children, and should advise and plan with them the course of study to be pursued in the secondary school.

The ultimate aim of the pupils should determine, to a great extent, the character of the course elected.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I desire to express my obligations to the school committee, superintendent, and teachers for their efficient and hearty support in the management of the high school.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES L. WALLACE,

Headmaster.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

TO MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

Since physical education was started in our schools, it has been the object of the director to see it improve and develop as rapidly as possible. Every year some changes have been made for the purpose of giving more and better training.

Last year all grades from the fifth through the eighth came to the high school auditorium for a one-half hour period. This was found to be much too short, and permitted only a limited program. It also proved that with mixed classes the work could not be carried on quite so satisfactorily. Beginning this school year, the period was lengthened to one hour, which allowed us five minutes to prepare for class, forty-five minutes on the floor, and ten minutes in which to change and be dismissed. The separation of the boys and girls has given better conditions and results. This period has permitted a program of marching, gymnastics, folk and gymnastic dancing, tumbling and stunts, games, drills and athletics.

In the first four grades a few additions and changes were made. The program in these grades calls for marching, games, gymnastics, stunts, folk dancing, rhythms and story plays. A rug has been purchased for each school for tumbling and stunts, and in the short time it has been in use, it has more than proved its worth.

Believing that a knowledge of first aid should be contained in any physical program, the director has started by first talking and demonstrating, safety methods in and around the water. The sahaifer method of artificial respiration was demonstrated and its uses explained. At other times there will be an opportunity given for practice. So far this has been taken up only with the seventh and eighth grades, but probably the same will be done for the fifth and sixth grades.

At the present time the director is able to give but fifteen minutes a week to each grade. It is only possible during this short period to demonstrate the work and then the training is left largely to the teacher. More time should be given to the grades, but, of course, this is impossible for lack of time and assistance. In the last report of the National Education Association one hour a day was recommended for physical education and we give but one hour a week.

The best results cannot be obtained in any line of work unless, there is some time during each day when work can be planned and arranged. At the present time there is no opportunity during the week for the director to do so, as a full schedule is carried until six or later every day. This is not a healthy condition from the standpoint of securing the best results. Furthermore it is not possible for a person to be in more than one place at the same time. As a result, when the director has charge of the High School athletics it is not possible to supervise the grammar school activities. This is very important for this is the time when best results can be secured. Assistance for the grades can be had for a small amount which would improve the work in the grades and give a little time for planning.

With the assistance of practice teachers from our University during the fall and winter term of last year, we were able to give nearly three hundred boys and girls in the grades an opportunity to play basketball. With volunteer help the boys and girls were able to play baseball in the spring.

The success of the athletic teams this past year can be attributed more to the wonderful spirit shown by the teams, rather than to material or training. A noted football coach made the statement, "The success of any team is 30% greater or less depending upon the team spirit." I have felt for some time that this is true and glad to say that in most every instance our team spirit has been very good. Athletics are a part of education and should be so considered, and not as an amusement for the crowds. Very often outside influences enter in that have bad effects, but fortunately we have been able to keep free from them.

This year we were able to add a few new sports, and by so doing made it possible for many more to take part. As usual we had class basketball and baseball for the boys. We added indoor and outdoor track and made an effort to start hockey, but the weather was against us.

Following is a list of the sports and the number taking part in each.

Boys:	Varsity	Football	45
		Basketball	12
		Baseball	20
Class		Basketball	45
		Hockey	45
		Track	45
Girls:	Varsity	Basketball	14
	Class	Track	25
		Basketball	40

This is a total of over three hundred of which possibly a third are repeaters. This means that about 40% are taking part in some form of athletics which compares favorably with 10% of five years ago.

This last year for the first time the High School had the privilege of using a good field on which to practise. It is the only field in the city that is fit for development as a playfield and well located for school use. As I understand it, we are in danger of seeing it converted into an aviation field. The development of our boys and girls is far more important than the development of aviation to the city. I feel the school committee can bring its influence to bear that this field may continue in use for the young people. As it is now, the High School must go to Somersworth to play all its games under rather poor conditions. Our young people come first and we should not lag behind other cities in this respect.

The last two years the need for physical examinations for all those in schools was mentioned. Especially is this very essential for those taking part in athletics. Right here I would like to emphasize how important it is. I'm sure that most of us drive an automobile. You are probably well aware of the time and attention necessary to keep it in smooth running order, and avoid all possible danger of accident. None of us would think of taking a long trip without having thoroughly gone over it, to see that the tires, bolts, and engine are in perfect condition to stand the strain of the journey. The human machine is far more intricate and important, and yet do we stop to have it examined and put in perfect working condition, just once a year? Isn't it just as important that these children whom we are trying to educate should be given the best of care and protection? What is an education without a sound body, and what pleasure is there in life without it? Every child should be taught to keep his body in the best of health and we should be sure that they start out in life fit in mind and body. As they now take part in strenuous activities, we do not know but what we are doing some boy or girl a very grave injury, when they should be taking part in some other activity less strenuous and yet beneficial. It is worth very serious consideration and I know it would be the biggest step and above all the most important in the development of physical education in our schools.

In bringing this report to a close I want to express my appreciation to the men who have assisted the director at various times. Without their help it would not have been possible to have carried on so full a program. I also wish to thank and express my sincere appreciation to Dr. J. E. Smith for his services given freely for the past two years to those taking part in athletics. It has been a great help to the director to have his judgment and assistance on many injuries. I also feel that our teachers should be given credit for the spirit and interest they have shown in helping to carry on this work. After all it all depends upon them whether the work succeeds or fails, for they are the ones who carry the brunt of the work.

Respectfully submitted,

E. A. F. ANDERSON,
Director of Physical Education.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

MR. WIGNOT AND MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD:

“Where there is no vision, the people perish.”

We all need to take ourselves out of and away from the small circle in which we live and work, and from some high plane of experience and thought, see our work in relation to the larger work of the world.

Perhaps the most important idea in the world today is “Peace.” It has always been so, but now it is peace or annihilation, and even our high sense of our own personal rights dwindles before the appalling alternative.

The Germans taught us that preparation for war begins with the kindergarten, or even with the lullabies the mother sings to her baby. Which brings us to our own little circle of influence.

Music is a power for war or for peace. We cannot afford to make light of its subtle and far-reaching influence over our emotional life, which, when all is said and done, is our controlling life.

Why not, then talk and teach peace in our music from our lullabies on through all our school life. Not a passive, yellow streaked peace but an active, even an aggressive peace. Let us teach how to make peace possible, and practicable, and bend the thought and study of young people in the direction of keeping, that there may be no need of making peace.

So our vision sees the children of our city singing and playing together and learning to keep step, to play and sing in time, not each for himself alone, but with due regard for his neighbor, and therefore obedience to the leader.

And I would have them play and sing and march with the children of other cities and towns, not in competition but in cooperation, to make our broad land a musical land, each part helping the other, and all taking pleasure in the accomplishment of each one.

I fail to see how a band contest with Rochester is any more likely to make good feeling between the two cities than a football game.

Let us try a cooperative concert.

With this idea in mind we had our concert by three orchestras last spring. I think the opinion was unanimous that the concert was worth while, and left good feeling everywhere, and that all the players want another concert of the same kind, when each one will try to play better than he did before. I cannot see that individual interest and enthusiasm, or that of the organizations, would have been greater if we had given prizes.

We are disturbed by a spirit of lawlessness and disorder in our city. One remedy is more policemen, greater severity, more of "Thou shalt not." Another way is to change the venue—give these people something else to think about and do; not to entertain, but to occupy their minds and hands.

What we are attempting to do for our school children it is possible to do for all the children of the city. "An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure." "Teach a boy to blow a horn, and he'll never blow a safe," says one judge, of men, as well as of courts.

Now what do we need? The greatest need is cooperation of all the school officials and teachers.

Three more pianos for the grade schools, and a piano class in each school. A violin class and one or more for wind instruments in the high school building.

One hundred chairs for the old assembly hall so that it may be used for orchestra and glee club rehearsals. I have been using the vestibule of the gymnasium, but it is not large enough and is too near the excitement and noise of athletics.

We also need a string bass for the orchestra, and a bass horn for the band.

The classes for beginners are the imperative need of the present, and these may be organized just by the cooperation which carries with it help and authority.

The time is ripe: interest is aroused and to withhold these things is to lose the enthusiasm and cripple the work.

Yours for a better city, and country, and world.

Respectfully submitted,

MINNIE L. EATON.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD:

I herewith submit my annual report as supervisor of drawing.

In the past year it has been my general endeavor to teach the children a sense of aesthetic values. It is, however, a difficult task to achieve in so limited a time. I am only allowed a half-hour lesson per week for each child. Therefore, I have to confine my teaching to a few general principles of art.

Specifically, in the case of beginners, I have had to teach the use of hands, how to follow directions, and the need of doing work neatly. I have done this by the use of simple projects in paper-cutting and pasting, crayon drawing and elementary printing. These lessons have been correlated with their school work and everyday interests.

In all the first four grades I have applied these general principles, but have worked the principles out with projects of varying severity according to the grade. In the above grades, also, I have stressed the importance of nature-work in relation to appreciation and technique. Furthermore, holiday projects have been worked out.

In the upper grades I have tried to combine the theory and practice of art by applying the various phases of art to everyday use. In such manner I have applied color theory to everyday life through the mediums of poster advertising, interior decoration, and design. This work has been done in cut-paper, crayons, and water colors.

Under my supervision posters have been made for Education Week and Health Week. Posters were also made to illustrate safety first, fire prevention, and forest preservation. For purposes of correlation posters were made upon topics of history and civics.

In general the year has been one of advancement for the pupils in aesthetic values.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN L. BRONSON,

Art Supervisor.

BAD COLDS AND SORE THROATS

1. It is not necessary to close school or to exclude children because of these troubles alone.
2. But because diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough in the early stages and in all mild cases have the symptoms of colds and sore throats, children with these symptoms should be excluded when those diseases break out in a school.
3. The most important measure to prevent the spread of these troubles in a school is the strict enforcement of the two simple rules.

RULE 1. When you cough or sneeze, bow your head or put a handkerchief over your mouth and nose.

RULE 2. Don't put in your mouth fingers, pencils, or anything else that does not belong there, nor use a common drinking cup.

Special Bulletin of the State Board of Health of New Hampshire.

Children are very susceptible to all infections and should be kept away from anyone who is coughing or sneezing, or who appears to be ill in any way. When there are mumps in the schools we exclude all children with swollen glands, unless they bring a card from a doctor saying that they are not a menace to others.

Teeth. Eating uncooked fruits helps the teeth and aids digestion. Special care should be given to the preservation of the first permanent molars which appear just back of the temporary teeth about the sixth year (sixth year molars). These four teeth form the keystone to the dental arch and contour of the face. In the belief that it is useless to care for the first teeth, because later they will be replaced by a second set they are often neglected. This is a serious error. It is important to preserve them for many reasons :

1. To enable the child to thoroughly chew its food, as otherwise it is certain to suffer from indigestion. As a child's stomach is much more delicate than an adult's, it is more easily upset by unchewed foods.

2. Decaying teeth cause a foul mouth, and decidedly increase the child's susceptibility to contagious and infectious diseases such as tonsilitis, diphtheria and rheumatic fevers, and their after effects heart disease, nephritis, etc.

3. To prevent deformity of the jaw that premature extracting encourages. If such extracting becomes necessary, the jaws remain too small and narrow for the accommodation of the permanent teeth, thus leading to irregularity of the teeth, mouth breathing and adenoids.

4. For the sake of appearance. Not only is a perfect set of teeth beautiful in itself, but it gives beauty and symmetry to the entire face. Decay in the teeth may be prevented by visiting the dentist frequently, by training the child to avoid mushy foods, pastries and poor candies that injure the teeth and leave particles that promote the growth of germs; by providing a balanced diet which includes a liberal supply of milk, fruits and vegetables; by leading him to prefer dry and coarse foods that scour and clean the teeth when well chewed; by training him to chew very thoroughly all foods, and by enforcing the habit of cleaning the teeth at least twice a day.

If begun early enough and in a pleasant way, the habit of regular cleaning of the teeth becomes a pleasure, as well as a great benefit to the child.

The Dental Clinic continues to care for many of our children, who otherwise could not have dental care. The clinic takes pre-school and first grade children only, but will continue this care until the child reaches the eighth grade, if the child will do his part, which is, to keep his teeth clean.

It is Health Day any day and every day through the year, but in the month of May we show our health posters in the Public Library, and have other health observances in the classrooms. The posters are better each year, and we thank the teachers for their help and interest.

There is a health day in Education Week, which was observed as well as the other days. The drawing supervisor had posters made for each day, which were shown in the library as well as in the classrooms, and all the schools had good programs some time during the week.

We are grateful to the organizations which show their interest in our children by paying for treatments, and helping them in other ways to regain lost health. Health is one of the things we do not value as we should. It is the most important of our possessions, and it is very often our own fault if we do not have real, positive good health.

FRANCES HYDE.

REPORT OF TEACHER OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

My fifth annual report as supervisor of domestic science in Dover grade schools is submitted for your consideration.

There are, at present, one hundred ninety-eight girls receiving weekly instruction in cooking and sewing. They come in classes ranging from sixteen to twenty-six in number. Since the nature of the work itself and tendencies in present-day education call for the working out of an individual project, close supervision of each pupil is most essential.

As in the past, the course in cooking covers meal planning and the preparation and service of a complete meal. Under this rather broad classification we consider numberless household duties such as thrift in purchase and use of supplies, the proper balance of food elements for a healthful diet, cleanliness and economy of time and effort in the performance of all domestic tasks and the preservation of foods for future use. This year we are able to introduce the "temperature control" feature of modern cooking science because of the generosity of your committee in supplying us with two gas ovens equipped with heat regulators.

Sewing begins in the sixth grade in a most elementary manner and the work is carefully adjusted to the age and native ability of each child. It is the aim of the department to get the pupil's utmost effort and yet not discourage her by expecting the skill which a grown-up has acquired by years of practice. At the completion of the eighth grade, every girl is capable of using a simple pattern successfully and many, with slight supervision, are able to make plain dresses. The work has been facilitated this year by the substitution of new machines for some in use since the inauguration of this course in the Dover schools.

Parents and the public, in general, manifest interest in the work of the children. An opportunity to see the laboratory and equipment during Education Week in November attracted many people. Again this year, in May, those in charge of the library graciously cooperated with us in arranging for a display of the sewing done by the girls during the year. We consider this annual exhibition of finished projects to be of inestimable value to the girls. They not only enjoy letting their mothers see what they have been able to do, but they are deeply interested and often inspired to greater effort by the successful work of their contemporaries. It is emulation minus a spirit of rivalry and, therefore, rather ideal from the standpoint of education.

In this department the assistance of the parents is most necessary because they must be called upon to furnish material for projects to be taken from the laboratory and used by the pupil. It is always our intention to make our demands upon them few and reasonable and to so supervise the work that all possible waste may be eliminated. However, it is to be noted that the response is unanimously generous and we wish to thank those who have our girls in charge for this manifestation of interest.

The pupils themselves maintain such enthusiasm for this branch of study throughout the upper grammar grades that it seems that our city must be repaid in future years by homemakers with a lively interest in their profession.

In conclusion, I welcome the opportunity to thank you and the members of the committee for your hearty cooperation which is so essential to the realization of our aims.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. CAVANAUGH,

Teacher of Domestic Science.

REPORT OF THE INSTRUCTOR OF MANUAL TRAINING

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS AND MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD:

In Dover at present, instruction in Manual Training is given to 205 boys, arranged and divided into grade classes as follows:

Central 8th	50
Sawyer 8th	20
Central 7th	28
Sawyer 7th	18
Belknap 7th	22
Central 6th	25
Sawyer 6th	22
Belknap 6th	20

Total registration 205

The program of study is that recommended by the State Department of Education and approved by the state inspector of Vocational Training. Briefly, this program requires woodwork principally for boys in the sixth and seventh grades, and diverse work in metals, electricity, basketry, etc., for boys in the eighth grades. The primary aim of such instruction is to give the boy an appreciation of the materials, processes, and products of adult industry. The course also aims to give the boy an appreciative sense of reality as to the nature of work.

With this program in mind, boys in the department are taught not only how to acquire facility in the use of tools but also to enlarge their experience with a numerous variety of processes. To accomplish this end, simple and difficult projects involving work with many materials such as oils, varnishes, paints, etc., are required. In addition, a course in Home Mechanics is offered to boys of the eighth grade who have completed the woodworking requirements of the department and are prepared for doing repair jobs about the home. In the past, the Home Mechanic course had been disappointing—there had been a lack of cooperation between parents and pupils. Through continued practice, however, the boys have gotten into the spirit of being useful about the home and fairly deluge the department with repair jobs of all kinds.

Of late there has been a decided trend toward the training for character in the schools of the country. With respect to Manual Training in Dover, the character-training influence has seemed to me to be a predominant factor. In my work in the department, I have attempted not so much to require a boy to make a whole lot of projects but rather to perform those manual operations which lead to the development of a trained eye and a steady hand. As I see it, the boy who lays out a piece of work, overcomes the stubbornness of his material, and wields it into a finished product has exercised his will along with his muscles and has made himself master of his materials. This is the type of boy we are now giving instruction to. The day of the "champion shaving makers" is past.

With character development in mind, I have made the Manual Training course, this year, something more than a cut and dried affair. Instead of requiring uniformity—that is, having boys make projects exactly like the models—I have allowed them to embody their own ideas but with proper guidance in the details of manual operations. And the results have been very gratifying and encouraging. For the rest of the year, I propose to continue this phase of training realizing that after all "the task of the true teacher, even in giving technical instruction, is not merely to make a craftsman, but also to make a man."

In conclusion, I want to thank those members of the school board who have helped and encouraged me in my work; and especially do I wish to thank you, Mr. Superintendent, for your appropriate suggestions and assistance in the work of Character Training in this department of the Dover schools.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL L. CUTLER.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF DOVER'S MILITARY ORGANIZATIONS, 1623-1929

BY FRED E. QUIMBY

FOR nearly a score of years subsequent to its settlement in 1623, the inhabitants of ancient Dover had no particular form or direct power of government delegated from the Crown, but conducted its prudential affairs conformably, so far as local conditions would permit, to the laws existing in the country from whence they came.

On the twenty-second day of October, 1640, however, they entered into a combination whereby they might "the more comfortably enjoy the benefits of his Majesty's laws, together with all such laws as shall be concluded by a major part of our Society * * *," and functioned under this agreement until the colonists submitted themselves to the government of Massachusetts, in 1642. The 1640 combination was formally signed by Thomas Larkin, Richard Waldron, William Waldron, and thirty-eight others.

It is a fair assumption that the forty-one signers of the original confederacy represented practically the entire male population of the settlement of adult age.

UNION WITH MASSACHUSETTS

Under the coalition formed with Massachusetts, Major Richard Waldron, of Dover, represented this ancient settlement as a member of the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony for more than twenty years, of which, on seven successive occasions, he was chosen Speaker.

The title to all lands in the Province of New Hampshire having been acquired by Samuel Allen, a London merchant, in 1691, it resulted in his being commissioned "Governor" of the Colony, which automatically annulled the protectorate exercised for nearly a half century by the Massachusetts Colony. Thus the people of Dover and the other towns in the Province, again submitted, with extreme reluctance, to the unavoidable necessity of being under a government distinct from Massachusetts.

That the early settlements in New Hampshire maintained armed organizations for protection against invasion, or to enforce the decrees of church and state, is inferred rather from the many military titles ornamenting the pages of our early history, than from any recorded evidence of concerted military action, or of specific legislation of a strictly military character.

EARLY "GOVERNORS"

Captain Thomas Wiggin, in his capacity of "Governor" of the early settlement on the Piscataqua, undoubtedly exercised the functions of military commander until forced to relinquish his leadership and submit to the will of the anti-Puritan element. He was succeeded by the Rev. George Burdett, who aspired to temporal as well as spiritual control of the community. This erratic divine remained at the head of the civil and ecclesiastical affairs of the community for about a year, when Captain John Underhill, who, shortly after taking up his residence in Dover about 1637, was made military commander. Captain Underhill was an ardent supporter of the union with Massachusetts, and was undoubtedly largely instrumental in bringing it about. Notwithstanding his militant activities, Captain Underhill seemed to have been successful in coalescing the spiritual variants which had sprung up in the community as the result of political machinations on the part of the presiding elders or leaders in church affairs, as the establishment of the Congregational church, with Rev. Hansard Knollys in charge, was an achievement for which he was primarily responsible. The Rev. Mr. Knollys, as well as his immediate successor, proved themselves unfit for clerical duties, and disturbances within the church continued until the ascendancy of Rev. Daniel Maud in 1642.

THE FIRST CHURCH

The First Church has had a remarkable history, as well as a long line of distinguished men for its ministers, including that eminent theologian and noted historian, Dr. Jeremy Belknap, who occupied its pulpit for a full score of years, 1766-1786.

It is an unusual occurrence for a town to officially memorialize one of its local clergymen by adorning the nomenclature of its thoroughfares with the surname of such a divine. It is even more rare for such public recognition to be repeated in another and quite remote community. Yet the memory of Dr. Belknap is perpetuated in "Belknap" street in Dover, and in "Belknap" street in Boston, Mass. It was during the pastorate of Dr. Belknap in the latter city, and in the church over which he presided, that the Massachusetts State Convention assembled in 1788, and ratified the Federal Constitution.

Dr. Belknap was born in Boston, Mass., June 4, 1744, and died there June 20, 1798; he wrote a "History of New Hampshire," (1784-1792), "American Biographies," (1794-1798), "The Foresters," an American Tale (1796), etc. He was the accredited founder of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Whatever of a military character transpired during the two score years or more the union with Massachusetts was in effect, is rather uncertain, as all matters of a legislative character necessarily had their origin in the General Court sitting in Boston, in which body the Piscataqua town had representation.

INDIAN DEPREDATIONS

King Philip's war, which commenced in June, 1675, and closed with the death of that great Indian chieftain in August of the following year, was conspicuous for its blood-curdling atrocities. The red men, seeing their hunting grounds diminishing day by day, sought to stem the growing tide of invasion by inaugurating a war of extermination against the "whites." The towns of Dover, Durham, Salmon Falls, Exeter and Hampton, were repeatedly invaded; houses were burned, cattle killed or driven away, and hundreds of the inhabitants were brutally murdered, their deaths being preceded, in many cases, by the most fiendish torture.

The treaty between Wonolancet, Chief of the Pennacooks, and Major Waldron in behalf of the Province, executed on the third day of July, 1676, was one of the closing incidents in that orgy of wanton bestiality. The "Sham Battle" at Dover, but two short months subsequent to the signing of that treaty, in which some two hundred Indians were surreptitiously made prisoners, found its grim anti-climax in the tragic death of Major Waldron thirteen years later, when Dover was the scene of one of the greatest Indian massacres that ever occurred in the State. In this attack, twenty-three persons were killed, twenty-nine taken prisoners, and several houses, with the mills and other property, were burned. This surprise was so adroitly planned and so expeditiously carried out, that the Indians made good their escape, with their prisoners and booty, before the inhabitants in other parts of the town learned of the terrible tragedy that had been enacted at the little settlement on the "lower falls."

SCOUTING PARTIES

In defiance of existing treaties, the depredations of the Indians in the latter part of the seventeenth and the early part of the eighteenth centuries, necessitated the formation and maintenance of armed bodies of fighting men or scouting parties, in the various settlements throughout the Province, to protect the inhabitants from the torch, the tomahawk and the scalping-knife of the prowling red men.

On the twenty-seventh day of January, 1704,—in mid-winter,—volunteers were organized to “go forth against the Indian enemy.” Lieut. Samuel Chesley volunteered to raise a company of fifty men in Dover and Oyster River, and Capt. John Woodman, Capt. John Tuttle and Capt. John Knight, all of Dover, were ordered to muster their respective commands and recruit them to a war footing, to enter the service against the French and Indians.

INDIAN BOUNTIES

On the tenth day of May, 1711, on account of Indian ravages on the frontier towns, the House of Assembly passed the following vote: “Voted for encouragement of volunteers to kill and destroy the Indian rebels in the Province of New Hampshire, for every man shall be paid sixty pounds, for every woman forty pounds, for every child thirty pounds, and that the said volunteers shall remain in the service at least four months * * * .”

New Hampshire was not exceptional in offering bounties for “hirsute” trophies. During the French and Indian war, in 1754, the French varied the racial embargo by a bounty for British scalps. In the same year a bounty of one hundred pounds was offered by the colonies for Indian scalps. In 1755 the Colony of Massachusetts granted a bounty of three pounds to every soldier who would enlist and find his own gun; also, a bounty of forty pounds for every scalp of a male Indian over twelve years of age, and twenty pounds each for women's and children's scalps. In July, 1764, John Penn, grandson of William Penn, and Governor of Pennsylvania, proclaimed that for every male Indian above the age of ten years who was captured, a bounty of $150.00 should be paid; for every male killed and scalped, $134.00; for every one thus served under ten years of age, $130.00; for every female killed and scalped, $50.00.

What more vivid evidence of the spiritual progress of our people could be advanced, than a comparison between the complacency with which our forebears contemplated and abetted the murder of innocent women and children as a war measure, and the abhorrence with which we view wanton attacks, with murderous intent, upon non-combatants in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred twenty-nine.

A treaty of peace was concluded with the Eastern Indians at a conference on Arrowsick Island in August, 1717. This treaty was broken on the part of the Indians in 1722, and a proclamation was published by Governor Samuel Shute, July 25, 1722, ordering them not to go into any English town or district. A war ensued. In August, 1724, Capt. Harmon and other officers, with 217 men, made an attack on the Indians at Norridgewock, at which time Chief Abombazeen, the Jesuit Sebastian Ralle, and twenty-six Indians, were killed.

UNIVERSAL ENROLLMENT

In 1740 there were some three hundred men enrolled in the three local military companies, as appears of record. This enrollment must have included practically every able-bodied man in the community of military age, as the population of Dover thirty-three years later, was only 1665, and that number showed a reduction of 238 in the next succeeding census taken in 1786, following the Revolutionary war.

A TROPHY OF LOUISBURG

At the capture of Louisburg in 1745, Dover furnished a company of soldiers, which was under the command of Capt. Thomas Westbrook Waldron, and afterwards of Capt. Samuel Hale. In 1842 the New Boston Artillery had in its possession an ancient piece of ordnance which it was stated, "was a handsome French piece, cast at Paris in 1743, and had upon it the French Colonial Arms, and an appropriate inscription. The marks upon it evidenced that it had seen other service in its day than that of stirring up the echoes among the new Boston hills at annual Regimental musters. An abrasion upon its knob showed that it had been struck by the shot of an opposing gun, and sabre hacks liberally distributed over it, marked it as the trophy of some desperate conflict. It was captured by the New Hampshire troops under the command of Sir William Pepperell at the siege of Louisburg in 1745, and was supposed to have been presented by him to the Province through Governor Wentworth."

In 1755 two companies of militia were raised in Dover and the towns formerly a part of it, for the expedition to Crown Point, and another, under Capt. Paul Gerrish, for Albany. During this campaign New Hampshire furnished over 500 men.

This article is concerned, primarily, with the development of the military forces of our Colonial, Provincial and State Governments, and touches only briefly upon contemporaneous events in order to preserve continuity in outlining the condition of local affairs which made recourse to armed force an apparent necessity.

THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

The part Dover citizens played in the Revolutionary War, that great struggle which resulted in the birth of a new nation, must, from necessity, find but brief consideration in this chronicle. So far as our research has extended, it would seem that our forebears, during that troublous period, were imbued with the same intense longing for personal and religious liberty which actuated their Puritan predecessors in seeking a home in a new and uncharted land.

On the tenth day of January, 1774, at a legal meeting of the qualified voters of the town of Dover, a series of resolutions were adopted protesting, in no uncertain terms, the injustice of "taxation without representation," closing with the following pregnant sentence: "That a Dread of being enslaved Ourselves, and of transmitting the Chains to our Posterity, (by which we should justly merit their Curses), is the principal Inducement to these Measures."

On the twenty-ninth day of October following, the selectmen of Dover posted a Warrant for a meeting of the freeholders of the town, couched in the following trenchant terms:

"Whereas the Boston Port Bill so called by its Operation there prevents the merchants & others from Employing the Laboring Poor as usual & as said bill appears calculated to Strip Americans of their Civil rights many donations have been sent and are Sending for the Support of said Poor & it having been recommends by the general Opinion of the Provincial Congress held at Exeter that each Town Should follow that laudable Example.

Therefore this is to Notify the freeholders & Inhabitants of the Town of Dover that on monday the 7th Day of November next pescisely at one oclock afternoon a Public Town meeting is to be held at the Meeting house In Dover that after Joint Consultation thereon Such a Sum of money In Money Fatt Cattle or Sheep as Shall be thot Proper may be Voted & Sent to be distributed among Said Poor by a Committee the Town of Boston hath for that Purpose But that In case the Town in General Should not approve of the foregoing Mode of Shewing our Affection at this Important Crisis to that distress'd People then the Notification gives further & full Power for their relief in any other mode That may be adopted by the Convened.

Caleb Hodgdon
 Samuel Heard
 John Kielle
 Selectmen."

The purpose of the above call found expression in the subsequent action of our early townsmen, and the largess thus provided was delivered in person by Captain Gage to the Committee at Boston.

THE ASSOCIATION TEST

Patrick Henry's fervid utterances in the Virginia House of Burgesses anent the tyrannical policy of the British Government, were no more revolutionary in character than the declaration of New Hampshire's sons upon the great and absorbing question of American liberty. No more treasonable document could have been penned than the Association Test, to which 8,199 men in the Colony of New Hampshire attached their names in the early part of 1776—immediately preceding the Declaration of American Independence,—whereby they pledged their lives and their fortunes in opposition to Britain's vast armadas and hireling military forces. That only 773 men throughout the Province refused to sign that memorable document, (a larger part of whom were members of the Society of Friends who held conscientious scruples against carrying arms), very clearly evidenced the unanimity with which our forebears supported the Revolutionary movement.

In the year 1775 thirty-one companies of soldiers were raised in New Hampshire, to reinforce Gen. John Sullivan, the Dover company being the eighteenth in numerical order. This company was in command of Capt. John Waldron, Ebenezer Ricker and John Goodwin serving as 1st and 2nd Lieutenants, respectively.

WASHINGTON'S APPEAL FOR TROOPS

In a letter written by General Sullivan, dated January 17, 1776, and addressed to the General Court of New Hampshire, (enclosing a communication from General Washington calling for additional troops from New Hampshire), it provided that a regiment should consist of eight companies, each company to have one Captain, two Lieutenants, one Ensign, four Sergeants, four Corporals, one Drummer and one Fifer, and seventy-six privates. Thus it would seem that the military regulations of that period required that a regiment should consist, in addition to the regimental officers, of 720 officers and men.

In the regiment raised under the authorization instigated by General Sullivan's letter, Col. Joshua Wingate, of Dover, was placed in command, and Timothy White, also of Dover, was commissioned Quartermaster. The company raised in Dover was officered as follows: Caleb Hodgdon, Captain and Major; Abraham Perkins, Captain and Lieutenant; Tobias Leighton, Lieutenant; and John Starbird, Ensign.

In the raising of this company, the town of Dover granted a bonus to each person enlisting of 42s. To secure recruits for Continental service in 1781, the town offered a bonus of ten silver dollars and fourteen bushels of corn monthly to each recruit for the maintenance of his dependents.

FIXING PRICE OF CERTAIN COMMODITIES

On January 9, 1777, the New Hampshire Legislature, acting in concert with the Legislative bodies in other States, fixed the maximum price of the various commodities considered necessary to life, as follows:

New England iron, 40s. per one hundred pounds; good quality tanned sole leather, 1s. 6d. per lb.; and upper leather in proportion; good cotton cloth and cotton and linen cloth, one yard wide, 3s. 8d. per yard; mutton, 3d. per lb., or equal to beef; veal, 3d. per lb.; good English hay, 72s. per ton; salt hay, 36s. per ton.

Near the close of the war the General Assembly enacted a law ostracizing all those "who abetted the cause of tyranny," and who "manifested an inimical disposition to the States and a design to aid the enemies thereof," and declared their property forfeited to the public weal.

"THE PRICE OF LIBERTY"

From the best information available, Dover's loss, in fatalities, during the Revolutionary War, was twenty-nine; the total number of fatalities throughout the State during the same period, seems to have been 1,400, which included loss of life in both land and sea forces.

EARLY TRAINING GROUNDS

The level tract of land on the State Highway immediately north of "Breezy Hill Farm" on Huckleberry Hill, originally set apart and designated as "the sheep pasture," was used as a training ground for the local military companies from 1660 to 1720, and possibly later. Because of its more convenient location, the tract of land on the Westerly side of the same State highway, erstwhile known as "Cushing's Grove," but at present owned by St. Mary's Society and used for cemetery purposes, was later selected as the point of rendezvous for annual musters and other military purposes. Later, when the State Camp Grounds were established at Concord, the annual gatherings of the State Militia were held at the Capital City.

PROTEST AGAINST THE WAR OF 1812

At a largely attended meeting of representative citizens from the various towns in the County of Strafford, held at Dover, New Hampshire, September 2, 1812, it was voted to call a public meeting of "the friends of peace who disapprove of the present premature, impolitic and unnecessary war," at Gilmanton, on the 7th of October following, to "adopt such prudent, legal and constitutional measures as will most effectually promote the interests, welfare and honor of the Nation." At this meeting resolutions (and an address) in opposition to Madison and the war were adopted, and Presidential Electors and Members of Congress nominated. It was at this gathering that Daniel Webster was first nominated for Congress, on the Federalist Ticket. Mr. Webster was elected and took his seat the following March. The electoral vote for New Hampshire, (8), was cast for DeWitt Clinton for President and Jared Ingersoll for Vice President.

"THE SOULS OF SOLDIERY"

In 1821 the commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the various military companies in Dover formed a volunteer association, under the rather euphonious title of "The Souls of Soldiery." In the following year the New Hampshire Legislature divided the 2nd Regiment, transferring the companies in Rochester, Farmington and neighboring towns, to a new Regiment, denominated the 39th, leaving as a legacy to the towns of Dover and Somersworth, the title and outstanding glory of the old New Hampshire 2nd. At this time there were 631 enrolled men in these two towns alone, or enough, under the military regulations of that period, to constitute a Regiment.

THE STRAFFORD GUARDS

A reorganization of "The Souls of Soldiery" was effected in 1823, when some three score men, representing the industrial and social life of the community, became enrolled in an independent military organization under the name of "The Strafford Guards." Moses Paul, that distinguished citizen whose public spirit and enterprise did much toward the upbuilding of the town of his adoption, became the Captain of the new company. He was succeeded, in 1826, by Lewis B. Tibbetts, the command successively descending to George W. Prince, William Frye, James Hill, Samuel Curtis, William H. Alden, William B. Smith, Daniel Meserve, Alvin Tibbetts, Jonathan F. Cotton, Zimri S. Wallingford, Israel B. Littlefield, Thomas H. Currier, Jasper G. Wallace, Joseph S. Abbott, George H. Demeritt, and Frank E. Rollins.

During its long life as a military organization, the Strafford Guards participated in many important public events, several of which were National in scope. In the year following its organization, it acted, in concert with the Rockingham Guards of Portsmouth, in performing escort duty for General Lafayette, in his visit to the down-river town, and in the following year it performed a similar service when the illustrious general was the guest of the town of Dover.

LAFAYETTE'S VISIT TO DOVER

The visit of General, the Marquis de Lafayette, to Dover on June 23, 1825, may justly be regarded as one of the outstanding incidents in the history of the town. General Lafayette was born in Auvergne, France, September 6, 1757. Leaving his native land for America, he entered the Revolutionary army as a volunteer, with the rank of major-general, in 1777; served at Brandywine, Monmouth and Yorktown; was sent on a mission to France in 1779, and in 1781 was present at the surrender of Cornwallis. He became a member of the Assembly of Notables in France in 1787, and of the States General in 1789; was commander-in-chief of the national guard, 1789-91; commanded an army against the Austrians in 1792, and in the same year left France to avoid the consequences of his opposition to the Jacobins. He was imprisoned as a political suspect by the Prussians and Austrians in 1792-97; returned to France in 1800; revisited America in 1824-25, and during his tour of the Republic in the establishment of which he played such an important part, it seems particularly fitting that he should visit the first permanently settled town in the old Granite State. At the reception tendered the distinguished visitor in the old town hall, General Lafayette proposed the following sentiment: "The Town of Dover: May this cradle of New Hampshire for ever and ever, and more and more enjoy every sort of agricultural and manufacturing prosperity, the happy results of American Independence and Republican Freedom."

General Lafayette was entertained while in Dover, by the Hon. William Hale, at his colonial residence located on the site of the present municipal building. This old-time dwelling house is now located on the southerly side of Hale street, is a part of the property of the Episcopal church society, and bears a sign designating the honor conferred upon it more than a century ago.

General Lafayette returned to France, and commanded the national guard in the revolution of 1830, when he was instrumental in placing Louis Philippe on the throne.

THE "GUARDS" AT FORT CONSTITUTION

On May 5th, 1864, the Strafford Guards was ordered to Fort Constitution for a tour of duty, the two companies of Heavy Artillery stationed there having been transferred to the south. Three months later, after having been recruited to full strength for further military duty, the company was discharged, and an artillery company from the interior of the State was ordered to take its place.

The personnel of the Strafford Guards at the time it was mustered into the service of the Federal Government, was as follows :

Captain, Israel B. Littlefield.

First Lieutenant, Benjamin F. Vittum.

Second Lieutenant, Ephraim M. Jones.

Sergeants, Joseph S. Abbott, Charles W. Brewster, Thomas Currier, Leonard S. R. Gray, Moses C. Lord.

Corporals, Franklin F. Davis, Alfred P. Drew, Oliver A. Gibbs, Thomas Goldsmith, Thomas Hughes, John W. Place, William H. Vickery, George A. Webster.

Privates :—Amasa R. Blake, Frederick A. Caverly, Elisha M. Chandler, George H. Chase, John Chase, John W. Cheswell, John S. Clark, William R. Clark, Charles T. Cole, James M. Crockett, Albion L. Davis, Edgar W. Davis, Samuel C. Davis, Charles A. Demeritt, James Elwell, Job Flanders, Russell E. Frye, Samuel D. Gilman, Foss G. Goodwin, James F. Goodwin, Wesley H. Green, Edwin Hall, Francis Hamilton, Edwin F. Hamlin, William E. Hanson, Alexis A. Hill, William P. Hilliard, Charles E. Horne, Francis Hughes, Owen I. Hughes, Andrew Jackson, Edward S. Kingman, George M. Lewis, Joseph T. S. Libbey, Cyrus D. Lord, Edwin A. Lord, Michael Maguire, Truman McLatchey, Peter McNally, Tichenor Miles, Andrew J. Mitchell, Ezra B. Otis, Aaron Palmer, Charles E. Perkins, Dudley G. Perkins, George W. Pinkham, Patrick Quinlan, Peter Quinn, George H. Randall, John W. Rines, Samuel H. Rollins, Howard Shapleigh, George H. Smith, Hanson Spurlin, George W. Symes, Samuel H. Tibbetts, Thomas Tolmay, William H. H. Twombly, George H. Waldron, Charles E.

Whitehouse, George W. Whitehouse, Jesse A. Whitehouse, Joseph Whitehouse, Charles E. Witham, George W. Young.

Musicians, Laural D. C. Hayes, Albert F. Stackpole.

In the days of the volunteer fire companies, the members of the local fire brigades were exempt from military duty. That one person in every thirty-four of the population of Dover in 1861 was enrolled as a fireman, cannot be advanced as an evidence of premeditated evasion of military duty, as a large percentage of the men who fought, without expectation of fee or reward, to save the property of their neighbors from the ravages of the fire fiend, rallied to the "colors" and were conspicuously prominent as defenders of their country's flag during the sanguinary days of 1861-65.

THE DAWN OF PEACE

Following its return to Dover, the Guards participated in the great demonstration on November fifteenth of the same year, in honor of the re-election of President Lincoln and "the glorious and overwhelming victory of law, liberty and Union, over Secession, disunion and treason." Addresses were made upon that occasion by Governor Gilmore, Hon. Daniel M. Christie, Hon. John P. Hale, Hon. Edward H. Rollins, Hon. John D. Lyman, Samuel M. Wheeler, Esq., and other distinguished men.

ANNUAL MUSTERS

One of the features at the annual muster of the company at Cushing's Grove, in 1866, was a sham fight between the militiamen and the Battery, the latter being under the command of Capt. Franklin F. Davis. Whether the militiamen imagined the Battery to be a Confederate force, or an enemy in disguise, is not material, but the manner in which they advanced on the bristling guns brooked no opposition, and the shout of victory soon rang out from the pits where the opposing force was but a few moments before apparently impregnably intrenched.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Frank F. Davis, a son of Capt. Franklin F. Davis, who commanded the Battery in the "sham battle" above referred to, evidently inheriting the military ardor of his father, early enlisted in the Strafford Guards, and served in that organization during the Spanish-American War in the capacity of Sergeant. Another son, Edgar A. Davis, also saw service in that brief but sanguinary struggle which resulted in the freedom of Cuba, being enrolled as chief electrician on the Annapolis and was personally concerned in one of the closing events of that contest, being attached to the fleet which convoyed the Spanish prisoners, including Admiral Cervera, to their place of internment on Seavey's Island, Portsmouth harbor.

THE "GUARDS" PARADE IN SISTER STATES

In 1867, in response to a pressing invitation from the Mechanic Blues of Portland, Maine, the Strafford Guards visited the Forest City. On arriving at Portland the company was royally received and as royally entertained. Even the public schools were closed for the occasion, and the fair daughters of the city by the sea, arrayed in white, were grouped at various pivotal points along the line of march, which, in contrast to the profuse as well as artistic intermingling of flags and bunting, made a picture which lived long in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to be present. In the grand parade in honor of the visitors, all the military and semi-military organizations of the city, including school cadets, formed a procession which up to that time had probably never been equalled in the old Pine Tree State.

When New Hampshire sought for a representation at the unveiling of the General Stark Monument at Burlington, Vermont, in 1877, what more natural than the desire to present an organization that would fittingly represent the sturdy yeomanry of the Old Granite State? The selection of the Strafford Guards as one of the companies for that memorable duty, was a fitting tribute to the military rank and acknowledged pre-eminence of that time-honored organization. And right royally did she play her part.

THE YORKTOWN CELEBRATION

And again, in 1881, when the Siege of Yorktown was to be commemorated, the honor of upholding the military prestige of New Hampshire was accorded the Strafford Guards. And in that great gathering, where almost the entire nation was represented by its citizen soldiery, no finer, better disciplined or more loyal body of men marched to the strain of martial music, than that organization which for so many decades was the pride and glory of the good old town of Dover.

That the Strafford Guards, in the performance of its important public assignments, satisfactorily upheld and maintained the honor and dignity of the State which it was privileged to represent, is further evidenced by the fact that in 1887, while under the command of Capt. George H. Demeritt, it was commissioned to participate in the grand military display which took place in the City of New York in that year. As on former public occasions, the members of this famous military company acquitted themselves with credit, receiving numerous encomiums for their soldierly appearance, excellent alignment and thorough discipline.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE IN 1889

As a fitting supplement to its long and active career, the Strafford Guards, having tendered its services to Governor Ramsdell at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War in 1898, was hurried from Dover to the State Capital and from thence to Chickamauga, as Co. F, First Regiment, New Hampshire Volunteers.

The amalgamation of enlisted men from Dover into the various Provincial, Colonial, State and Federal units during the Indian wars, the great struggle for American Independence, the War of 1812, the war for the preservation of the Union, the Spanish-American War, and the great World War, so segregated the men comprising the military organizations of the town, that the glory and military eclat attaching to those earlier commands has become largely merged into a general or composite memory of the intrepidity of our people and their loyalty to a cause espoused.

CONTINUITY IN SERVICE

Notwithstanding these divergencies from functional activities in time of peace to the grim arena of war, the historical continuity of the Strafford Guards can be traced from as early as 1780 to the present time, and its legendary birth goes back to those early pioneers who found it necessary to arm themselves against the depredations of the wily red men.

FROM INFANTRY TO ARTILLERY

The 197th Anti-Aircraft Coast Artillery Regiment of the New Hampshire National Guards, is the only New Hampshire military organization which has been under actual fire. Although it was officially organized and recognized by the War Department in 1922, its evolution as a part of the military forces of the State and Federal Governments can be traced for more than a century and a half.

Battery B, the Dover unit of the 197th Regiment, is the logical successor of the Strafford Guards, and the residuary legatee of the long and admirable record of that famous organization. It has, during its brief career, maintained the high standard of military efficiency which characterized its immediate predecessor and has evidenced the same enthusiasm and esprit de corps so conspicuously manifested by those earlier military bodies which guarded the portals of this ancient settlement in the dim and shadowy past.

Only citizens or those who have declared their intention of becoming citizens, are eligible for enlistment in the National Guard. Officers and warrant officers must be citizens. The organization thereof in general is the same as that prescribed for the Regular Army. The National Guard may be called as such into the service of the United States, and when so called is subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army as far as applicable. When Congress has authorized the use of troops in excess of those of the Regular Army, the members of the National Guard may be drafted into the Federal Service to serve therein for the period of the war or emergency, unless sooner discharged. The strength of the National Guard on June 30, 1928, was 181,221. The enlisted strength of the Regular Army on same date was 121,185.

"BATTERY B" TO THE FORE

Of the fifty-six units comprising the Coast Artillery of the First Corps Area, which includes Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, Battery B of the 197th Regiment was one of eight units given a rating of "excellent" for general efficiency during the year 1928. Some idea of the honor conferred by this classification may be gathered from the fact that in the general summary New Hampshire led with a score of three, Maine and Rhode Island followed with a total of two each, and Massachusetts and Connecticut with one each.

Battery B made a splendid record at the 1928 encampment at Rye, N. H., winning the Gunnery Banner for excellence in target practice with the 3-inch anti-aircraft gun, and also holds, with commendable pride, the Federal trophy awarded last March to the regimental unit passing the best Federal inspection.

COAT OF ARMS

The Coat of Arms which has been adopted by the 197th Regiment and which has been approved after long and careful search by State and Federal authorities to determine the historical accuracy of the service represented in the several emblems employed, is a crested shield with the motto "A Bas I 'Avaion'" inscribed upon it. The motto translated means: "Down with the Plane." The shield is blue to indicate long service of the unit as infantry, and a gold lion passant guardant is for service during the war of 1812; the white lozenge, the corps badge of the Second Division during the Civil War, represents the service in that war, and the fleur-de-lis, for service during the World War. The chief color is red, for the artillery, and a winged projectile indicates that the regiment is an anti-aircraft unit.
