As it was generally understood at the last March meeting that the selectmen would endeavor to close up the road houses that were established in town and would stop the sale of liquor by enforcing the liquor law, we have tried to do our duty and we believe we have done some good work as we have succeeded in closing three of the worst places where liquor was sold, and one other house closed after getting evidence of two different proprietors that it was being sold there, making five proprietors of these places that have left town, we would hope, for good; although it is reported that some of these are waiting for a new board of selectmen to be elected hoping they may favor their illegal business and allow them to return and begin operations again. But we hope and believe there are good citizens enough in town to elect men at the coming town meeting that will continue the good work that has been accomplished during the last year.

TRUANT OFFICER, WILLIAM G. CROSS.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

BY DANIEL G. ANNIS, BY REQUEST OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

As required by the Public Statutes we respectfully submit our report of the schools of Londonderry, for the year ending February 15, 1901.

From a general survey of the work done in the several schools during the year, we venture to assert at the outset, that a good and substantial foundation has been laid in school work to build upon in the future, that the schools as a whole have been run even with less friction than is the average year.

Most of the schools the past year have been under the management of well tried teachers, residents of this town, many of whom have been faithful workers in the same districts for several terms, and some even for years. From these facts we must attribute in a large degree, the high standard and sound condition of our schools at the present time.

The only exceptions to the foregoing were in Nos. 4 and 5, during the fall term, the first mentioned school being in charge of Miss Grace E. Gowen of Stratham, N. H., well-experienced in school work. Miss Gowen easily won the confidence of pupils and parents, and the work of the term was highly satisfactory to the district. Her future labor was desired, but she went to her home, we understand, to engage in a higher and nobler calling, carrying with her the best wishes of her new acquaintances here.

The last named school was placed in care of Miss Bertha A. Evans, a beginner in the art of teaching, but the methods of management and discipline seemed to warrant the School Board in making the term a short one. A short winter term was taught in each of these districts by resident teachers with good success.

The reader will notice by the statistical tables following, that more weeks of schooling have been given in the larger schools than in the smaller schools. This may seem to the casual observer, or to those living in the smaller districts, a very unfair arrangement. The Statutes require that all the scholars be given as nearly equal advantages as may be practicable. This is a problem that has always confronted the School Board and those having the immediate charge and control of rural schools. We learn from those who have had experience, that conveying pupils from the smaller schools to the larger schools, does not prove satisfactory, and whatever attempts have been made in this town in that direction have invariably proved a failure.

Your Committee have tried to view the matter on the practical side of it, taking for our maxim, "The greatest good to the greatest number." This change was effected only, after due consideration, and the unanimous consent of the School Board.

We venture this proposition, that the pupil in the small school under an efficient and competent teacher has greater advantages than in the large school, under like conditions, as much more time of the teacher can be devoted to the scholars in the small school than can possibly be done in the large school. Therefore the claim is made that twenty-four weeks of school in the small districts are equal to if not greater than thirty weeks in the larger districts. Hence we take pleasure in saying that these results have been fully realized the past year.

Further: We would not be understood as boastful, or given to flattery, when we considerably affirm that in one of the small schools in which the feeling has been most intense in opposition to these changes that the good results looked for in this departure have been realized in a marked degree, more especially perhaps in the closing term of the year.

Let us not be misunderstood, here is no advocacy of small schools, but that all schools must be considered from the standpoint and condition in which we find them situated. Each school should be looked upon separately and then collectively in order that justice and equality may be served to all.

We note that in one of the larger schools in town a private term has been taught in addition to the year's school by the town, the burden of the expense being light upon a large district, but it would be a very rare thing to have a like occurrence in any of the smaller districts, as the burden of expense would fall so heavily upon its residents.

There has been a partial change in the Readers during the year. The Fourth and Fifth Columbian Readers were exchanged with Silver, Burdett & Company of Boston, for their Fourth Reader, of the series of "Stepping Stones to Literature," and we hold from them a credit account in our favor of $13.60 to be allowed when a farther exchange is made. Also an exchange of copy books in the vertical system of writing was made with the same firm, free from cost, as new books were given for old ones on hand. And right here let us add, that in most of the schools we point with pride to the good improvement made in writing and the neatness, and the careful handling of the copy books.

Two of the school houses have been reshingled the past year, No. 1 and No. 9, which with the ordinary repairs, have perhaps made the expense a little above the average, yet we feel that to keep all school property in good condition is one of the greatest incentives to good schools.

And now in closing let us add one more suggestion to parents and all friends of education, it is one that you can so easily comply with. We invite and entreat you to visit our schools when in session. It will encourage and aid both teacher and pupil. A careful comparison of the school registers for the past ten years shows that that the number of visitors in our schools have steadily increased from 435 to 908 the past year, let there be no backward movement in this direction. Comfort and cheer all by your presence in the school room.
