BELA GRAVES, Treasurer.

Feb. 15, 1896.

SCHOOL REPORT.

We wish to call the attention of parents to several difficulties which seriously affect the success of our scholars and teachers.

The average attendance is smaller than it ought to be.

The number of tardy marks are many more than there should be.

The teachers cannot maintain the discipline they would if they could receive the hearty and kindly co-operation of parents.

Let all the parents avail themselves of the opportunity of giving their children a good education, keeping them in school as constantly as possible, and instead of trying every possible way to injure the school and teacher, do all in their power to sustain a just and rightful public sentiment in regard to the discipline and management of our schools.
