DURHAM, NH – Governor Maggie Hassan, who just announced she will run against incumbent Senator Kelly Ayotte for New Hampshire’s US Senate seat, is deadlocked with Ayotte. Both Hassan and Ayotte are popular among Granite State residents entering the campaign.

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll,* conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred and eighty-seven (587) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by landline and cellular telephone between September 24 and October 2, 2015. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.0 percent. Included were five hundred and nineteen (519) likely 2016 general election voters (MSE = +/- 4.3%).

2016 US Senate Election

There had been considerable speculation whether Governor Hassan would run for re-election, or follow former Governor Jeanne Shaheen to try for the US Senate. Hassan’s decision to run for Senate will be more challenging than if she had run for re-election to the corner office as incumbent Republican Kelly Ayotte is far better known and liked than her potential Republican gubernatorial challengers.

Now that both Ayotte and Hassan are announced candidates, the New Hampshire Senate race will be one of the most closely watched races in the country and likely the most expensive election in New Hampshire history. However, because the election is so far away, very few likely voters have decided on who they will support -- just 8% of likely voters say they have definitely decided, 8% are leaning toward a candidate, and 84% are still trying to decide.

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Granite State Poll, sponsored by WMUR-TV, and conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

2016 US Senate Election – Ayotte vs. Hassan

If the 2016 senate election was held today and Ayotte and Hassan were the candidates, 45% of likely voters say they would vote for Ayotte, 43% would vote for Hassan, 1% would vote for someone else and 11% are undecided. These figures have stayed steady since May. Ayotte and Hassan hold wide leads among members of their party (Ayotte leads among Republicans 83%-8% and Hassan leads among Democrats 81%-10%) but Ayotte has a 55%-23% edge among Independents. Both candidates are quite popular in the state – 24% of all likely voters have favorable opinions of both Ayotte and Hassan – and among this group, 53% say they would support Ayotte and 34% would support Hassan.

US Senate - Ayotte vs. Hassan

Public Opinion About What Hassan Should Do in 2016

As this poll was in the field prior to Hassan’s announcement, we asked 2016 likely voters if they thought Hassan should run for Governor or the US Senate. Granite State voters were largely divided and unsure as 42% said they didn’t know what she should do, 27% said she should run for re-election for Governor, 18% said she shouldn’t run for anything and 13% said she should run for US Senate. Hassan likely chose the more difficult race as in this poll she led potential Republican candidates for Governor Chris Sununu (51%-35%) and Jeb Bradley (50%-34%) by double digit margins in hypothetical matchups.

What Should Hassan Do in 2016?

Favorability Ratings – Governor Maggie Hassan

Governor Hassan enters the Senate race popular in the Granite State -- 52% of New Hampshire adults say they have a favorable opinion of Hassan, 26% have an unfavorable opinion, 8% are neutral, and 14% say they don't know enough about her to say. Hassan's net favorability rating, the percentage having a favorable opinion minus the percentage having an unfavorable opinion, is +26%, which is unchanged since July. Hassan is very popular among Democrats (+71% net favorable), popular among Independents (+28%), but unpopular among Republicans (-28%).

Favorability Ratings – Senator Kelly Ayotte

Senator Ayotte continues to be popular in New Hampshire -- Currently, 47% of New Hampshire adults have a favorable opinion of Ayotte, 28% have an unfavorable opinion of her, 11% are neutral and 15% don't know enough about her to say. Ayotte's net favorability rating is +19%, down from +23% in July. She remains popular among Republicans (net favorability rating of +48%) and Independents (+38%) and unpopular among Democrats (-17%).

Favorability Ratings – Jeanne Shaheen

Senior senator Jeanne Shaheen remains popular in the Granite State. Currently, 51% of New Hampshire adults say they have a favorable opinion of Shaheen, 34% have an unfavorable opinion of her, 5% are neutral and 10% don't know enough about her to say. Shaheen's net favorability rating, the percentage who have a favorable opinion of her minus the percentage who have an unfavorable opinion, is +17%, down from +24% in May. Shaheen is very popular among Democrats (net +72%), popular among independents (+20%) and very unpopular among Republicans (-54%).

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred and eighty-seven (587) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed in English by landline and cellular telephone between September 24 and October 2, 2015. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.0 percent. Included were five hundred and nineteen (519) likely 2016 general election voters (MSE = +/- 4.3%). These MSE's have not been adjusted for design effect. The design effect for the survey is 1.1% and 1.1% for the sample of likely 2016 general election voters.

The random sample used in the WMUR Granite State Poll was purchased from Marketing Systems Group (MSG), Horsham, PA. MSG screens each selected telephone number to eliminate non-working numbers, disconnected numbers, and business numbers to improve the efficiency of the sample, reducing the amount of time interviewers spend calling non-usable numbers.

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, age, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response. Due to rounding, percentages may not sum to 100%. The number of respondents in each demographic below may not equal the number reported in cross-tabulation tables as some respondents choose not to answer some questions.
