ENOCH COLEMAN,

Superintendent.

To the Citizens of Newington.

The assessors learned after the taxes were made and committed to the collector, that Mrs. Olive Bean had a six thousand dollar mortgage left unrecorded, with the evident purpose of evading the taxes on same. We took counsel, and learned that we could collect the 1908 taxes, but not for several years prior to that. We then took the matter up with the estate of Mrs. Bean, and have the promise of representatives of the estate to settle, but they could not do so in time for this report.

We desire to call the attention of our successors to the above, and would suggest that it might be well to search the county records for similar cases.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE M. DE ROCHEMONT,
 ENOCH COLEMAN,
 IRA A. COLEMAN,

Assessors of Newington.

School Report.

We herewith submit the annual report of the Newington School Board for the year ending July 15, 1908.

The schools have been under the charge of the same teachers throughout the whole year, Miss Sara B. Luscombe having charge of the grammar room and Miss Gertrude E. Bean having charge of the primary room, both being experienced teachers, having had Normal school training. Miss Lucy M. Hoyt was teacher of music during the year.

The number of scholars enrolled was not quite so large as last year, but the attendance was two per cent. greater.

A class of three have passed the examinations for the Portsmouth high school.

Subject to a call of the secretary of the supervisory district formed last year, the school boards of North Hampton, Rye, Greenland and Newington, met at the home of the secretary, Miss Lillian Odell, in Greenland, in July, 1908, to appoint a superintendent for the coming year. The Rye school board voted to withdraw from the district. At a subsequent meeting, the towns of North Hampton, Greenland and Newington, formed a supervisory district, and appointed Mr. O. H. Adams, of Lester, Mass., as superintendent; later, the town of Durham joined the district.

The superintendent's salary is apportioned as follows :

North Hampton,	$200 ; state, $200
Greenland,	125 ; state, 125
Newington,	100 ; state, 100
Durham,	150 ; state, 150

Each town to receive superintendent's services according to amount of salary paid; Newington being entitled to four-twenty-thirds of his services.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

To the School Board of Newington:—

I herewith submit my first annual report of the schools of Newington.

When I began my work of supervision, I found it so well organized and so ably administered by my predecessor and the present corps of teachers, that my work has been comparatively easy. The schools are fairly well graded and doing creditable work.

More convenient and more modern schoolrooms would be a delight to those personally interested, but it is true that present members are fairly well accommodated. The primary room is too small for its needs. An improvement that could be made at little expense would be to extend the lower story of the building to the rear fifteen feet and put this extra space into the primary room. The town would then have two good schoolrooms, of suitable size, well lighted, that might be sufficient for all needs for many years. Other and more expensive changes than that, just suggested, could be made, but they do not seem feasible.

My predecessor wrote strongly in the report for last year of the weakness in the reading and the need of more material for all grades. The weakness still continues and the need of more material for upper classes is a great one, but I am confident that a beginning has been made towards remedying these weaknesses. A change, to be permanently effective, must begin before wrong habits have been formed. It is evident that good methods of reading must be taught in grade one if grades two to eight are to make good readers, and that the work in all grades must be harmonious. When wrong habits are formed it is most difficult to overcome them and the average teacher never does in her pupils ; therefore, the necessity of teaching correct methods at the beginning of the school course. The successful teacher must know child nature, its needs and how to meet them, otherwise her work is experimental at the expense of the child. Most of the failures in scholarship in all grades are due to the influence of uneducated, inexperienced teachers, who experimented, possibly to their own advantage but most surely to the disadvantage of the children under their charge. The most successful teachers of to-day are those who study carefully and scientifically child life in the broadest way : therefore, teachers should not only be expected but should be urged to become acquainted with the latest studies in child life through reputable teachers' papers and the most recent books.

Advanced methods of teaching primary reading, which have proved most successful elsewhere, have been introduced into grade one and are being faithfully taught. Better results are already apparent. Your superintendent believes that the beginning of better reading in the Newington schools and the better work that must follow in all other work in later grades is already in sight.

The privilege of admitting eighth grade pupils to the Portsmouth high school on certificate of the superintendent is continued. The privilege is granted by the Portsmouth school authorities with the consent of the state superintendent and will be taken away when pupils are not up to grade, or fail to do satisfactory work in the high school.

I recommend an appropriation of $2.00 per pupil, each year, for books and supplies. This amount is small compared with the average cost per pupil when everything was furnished by the parents, but with careful and economical expenditure, it will soon furnish the schools with all needed supplies. It is poor business policy to employ skilled teachers and not furnish them with the best of tools for their work.

The hearty co-operation of pupils, teachers, school board and parents, in Newington is most commendable. My reception as supervisor of the work is very gratifying. This splendid spirit must add to the efficiency of all school work.

Respectfully submitted,

O. H. ADAMS,

Superintendent of Schools.

Newington, N. H., Feb. 10, 1909.

Langdon Public Library.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Citizens of Newington:

Your trustees submit the following report in relation to the funds, receipts and disbursements of the Library.

We feel that this year has tested the good working basis on which the Library was placed in the beginning, for the trustees have been so situated that they were unable to perfect plans to which they had looked forward at the commencement of the year.

In the passing of Mr. Drew, an ex-trustee, the Library and the town at large lose a valued friend and helper.

Mr. Langdon, the library's abiding friend, has added gifts—among them a steel lock-stack, and in the early spring Mrs. Langdon sent a generous supply of new books, allowing us the privilege of selecting them.

The $1,000 railroad bond given by Mr. Langdon in 1903 matured July 1, 1908, and has been invested in Portsmouth city four per cent. bonds.

Among the plans for the Library is a card catalogue, the preparation of which is now in progress. The cabinet is the gift of the late Mrs. Mary E. C. Frink.

New outside doors, which have been needed, this year became a necessity, and the old ones have been replaced by the best doors we could procure.

During the year, as previously, the work has been steadily directed, as effectively as possible, by the Librarian, whose aim is the instruction and recreation of the people.

For all gifts and helps from our friends and fellow-townsmen, and to neighboring librarians for fraternal assistance, we make a grateful acknowledgment.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

I submit herewith the seventeenth annual report of the Langdon Public Library, reviewing the work of the year ending Dec. 31, 1908.

There have been no radical changes in the work during the year and I have few suggestions to offer.

In reviewing the work, one cannot fail to be impressed with the kindly interest manifested by all our citizens.

There is constantly an increase in the demand for books, and good books, perhaps more noticeable among our younger readers.

To Mr. and Mrs. Langdon, the former of whom presented us with a needed book-case, also a picture, and the latter of whom has so generously donated books, to Dr. Prescott, who has sent numerous magazines, and to Mrs. C. H. Coleman, who has been a great helper in the nature studies, and who has loaned so many fine specimens, we are especially indebted.

I extend the annual invitation to all to make free use of our excellent reference library.

There are two errors in last year's report—The surnames of the parents of Mrs. Ruth H. Googins should be Benson and Bowe, instead of "Bewley" and "Rowe."

I hereby certify that the above returns are correct, according to the best of my knowledge and belief,
