REPORT OF DISTRICT NURSE

To the Selectmen of Plymouth:

I herewith present my report as District Nurse for the year ending Jan. 31, 1926.

I have made one thousand and twelve calls that I made a record of; quite a large number of minor calls for advice by person or telephone, I made no record of. Out of this number, three hundred seventy-nine have been paid for. I have returned to the town $202.75.

The regular price for a call has been fifty cents, so you see that I have returned more than was called for at fifty cents per call. This is accounted for by my being paid for some calls more than fifty cents; as I was detained and got extra pay; such as surgical and maternity cases. I made twenty-six calls at the schools. Sometimes such calls lasted several hours, but were counted as one call. Of course there are no charges for school calls as I thought you would not care to keep the town and school work separate.

My work in school has been strenuous, mostly fighting lice. Mr. Speare gave me orders to "clean them up" and I did the best I could, taking several to my own home and giving them a thorough disinfecting; but it was not of much use as they would go home where they had a plenty to "restock" with, and in a week or two were just as bad. I took the matter up with the Health Officer and got a little help. We are, however, gaining some; but a few families have failed to cooperate with us in the "clean up." Any teacher in the Model School will tell you about it, and I hope that the work may be continued until the last symptoms of pediculosis are cleaned up.

Respectfully submitted,

MINNIE R. CHASE,
District Nurse of Plymouth.

REPORT OF CEMETERY COMMITTEE

To the end that our neglected and almost forgotten cemeteries might have reasonable supervision and care, and the memories of those departed ones perpetuated who played an important part in shaping the destiny of Plymouth, the town generously appropriated one thousand dollars for the purpose, and selected a committee to expend the same. This duty has been painstakingly carried out, and, although not completed, the work is well under way and will be brought to a finish as soon as Spring opens. Your committee have rendered accessible to the public eleven cemeteries all located in the out-lying district, and ranging from two to eight miles from the center of the village. In every instance these cemeteries were completely obliterated from view by a heavy growth of timber and underbrush, all of which have been removed and burned up, the grounds left in respectable condition. Some grading has been done, with much more of this work to follow and will include the turning of the soil, dressing and seeding, and when completed each cemetery will be inclosed with iron railings and turnstile entrances.

We recommended a further appropriation of five hundred dollars to complete this work.

These burial places are the ones having special care under this appropriation:

The Bartlett Cemetery at West Plymouth, off from the main road south of Orrin W. Fletcher's.

Pike Cemetery on Pike Hill.

The grave of a Revolutionary soldier, Joseph Smith and his wife who lay buried at the corner of a pasture lot near the highway west of Huckins Hill and adjoining the so called Hamlin place.

A small grave yard near the Gourley place beyond the Glover place in south part of the town.

The Dearborn and Ellis family burying grounds on Huckins Hill.

The Stearns Cemetery on the Nelson Downing place in the south part of the town south of Everett Keniston's homestead.

Two graves near the Allen Moulton place.

A small grave yard near the residence of Louis A. Spencer north of the main traveled highway.

The cemetery near the Plymouth Fair Grounds.

The Cook Cemetery so called near the Alfred Cook residence.

In addition to the above marked improvements have been made in the Turnpike Cemetery on the road toward Hoyt Hill.

In nearly every instance one or more Revolutionary soldier has been buried in these cemeteries.

WATER COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

During the past year replacements have been made as follows:

About one hundred feet of cement line on Summer Street, near the Normal School, has been relaid with iron pipe.

On Ward's Hill about 260 feet was relaid, using the twelve inch iron pipe which has been on hand for some time; also an additional hydrant was installed on this replacement.

Breaks in cement line:

Near old Railroad Office Building on South Main Street.

On Highland Street, above Cooper Street.

Near New Plymouth Inn on South Main Street; repairs at this break consumed considerable time and cost the District nearly six hundred dollars.

The total cost of South Main Street Breaks the past year would probably have paid interest on cost of relaying the system from intersection of Main and Highland Streets, through South Main Street to Warren Street; this relaying of the cement line with ten inch iron pipe and installation of first class service hydrants and Main Line gates so as to cause the minimum of inconvenience to water takers in case of line trouble, and a substantial increase of fire protection would be given in that portion of the District where same is greatly needed.

Since the last report five thousand dollars of District Notes have been paid.

Plymouth, N. H., Feb. 6, 1926.

We have today examined the foregoing account of Donna P. Greeley, Treasurer of the School District of the town of Plymouth, for the year ending June 30, 1925, and have found the same correctly cast and properly vouched. At the same time we have burned bonds of the Model School Loan, Nos. 122, 124-135 inclusive, amounting to $2,500.00, and of the New High School Loan Nos. 1 and 2, amounting to $1,500.00, and coupons of the Model School Loan amounting to $616. and of the New High School Loan amounting to $1,000.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

The report of our Headmaster, Superintendent, Medical Examiner and Treasurer will give you in detail the management of our schools. Our financial report is self-explanatory.

The number of pupils in our High School shows a slight decrease from last year, although the number of graduates and tuition pupils will exceed that of the previous year.

Our schoolhouses are now in good condition and unless something unforeseen happens, we can see no reason for any unusual expenditures for the coming year.

There seems to be nothing but harmonious feeling between the State Normal School and the District and we are indebted to our Superintendent, Headmaster and corps of teachers for their cooperation.

We estimate that the school requirements for the ensuing year will be as follows:

Principal on bonds	$4,900.00
Interest on bonds	1,300.00
Teachers' salaries	21,000.00
Janitors' salaries	1,500.00

Text books and supplies	3,000.00
New equipment	1,000.00
Fuel	2,000.00
Repairs	2,000.00
Per capita tax	1,042.00
Insurance	750.00
Total requirements	$38,492.00

Estimated Receipts to Apply on Above Requirements

Tuitions	$5,000.00
Money required by law	9,000.00
Per capita tax	1,042.00
Total	$15,042.00
Additional school money required	$23,450.00

We recommend that the sum of $23,450.00 be raised for the purposes specified in article six of the warrant in addition to the amount required by law and the per capita tax, with authority given to the school board to appropriate the same as above, or otherwise as necessity may require.

Money for Superintendent's excess salary and expenses, and medical inspection should be raised in addition under the respective articles covering these matters.

Respectfully submitted

HEBER W. HULL,
 RANDALL A. FLAGG,
 J. E. MAYNARD,

School Board of Plymouth.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

School Board of Plymouth,

Gentlemen:

I am pleased to submit my fifth annual report as the superintendent of your schools.

I—Some Statistics

1—For School Year Ending June 30, 1925.

Registration totals: Kindergarten—16, Model School Grades 1 to 6—189, Junior High—52, Rural Schools—171, Senior High School—210, Total—629. Tuition pupils in elementary schools—21, in High School—90, leaving a total of 518 Plymouth pupils in our schools.

Attendance figures: average attendance—549.4, average membership—575.84, average absence—26.44, total number tardinesses—537, per cent. of attendance—95.4, perfect attendance—49.

Promotion figures: from Grade 1—52, Grade 2—32, Grade 3—55, Grade 4—34, Grade 5—52, Grade 6—36, Grade 7—39, Grade 8—26, Grade 9—56, Grade 10—45, Grade 11—41, Grade 12—34. There were 42 pupils left in their grades without promotion.

If you will compare these figures with those given in my last year's report for the school year ending June 30, 1924, you will be interested in the following points:

1—Our school population for the two years was nearly stationary.

2—There was a notable increase in the number of high school tuition pupils.

3—The high school apparently reached its peak of numbers in 1924.

4—Our attendance was better last year but was excellent both years.

5—As measured by an increased number of promotions our schools were more successful last year.

2—For the Current School Year

September 1, 1925, to February 17, 1926

School Total enrollment, Membership Feb. 17, 1926

	Boys	Girls	Totals	Boys	Girls	Totals

Total Rural Schools	82	90	172	72	81	153
Total All Schools	321	328	649	294	290	584

If you compare these figures with those for a year ago the following contrasts will stand out.

1—Five year olds are twice as numerous as last year for our Kindergarten is twice as large.

2—There is a noticeable increase in the enrollment of our elementary schools. Does this result from a return of prosperity?

3—The high school enrollment is somewhat smaller. But there has not been a falling off in tuition receipts.

II—The Activities of the Superintendent

The superintendent of schools in Plymouth has an unusual school week of six actual schools days. The rural schools are in session Mondays, the High and Model schools keep Saturday. His entire time can be occupied with classroom supervision if he so desires. His work as teacher in the Normal School this year has been so arranged that his classes are through before the sessions of the elementary schools begin each day. He teaches classes in education and school management four times a week at 8:00 a. m. His teaching is largely supervisory for the students in his classes are practice teachers under his direction in the model schools. His other supervisory activities may be briefly summarized as visitation and conference, holding many group meetings of teachers, and developing with the cooperation of the teachers the organization and instruction of the system. Last year he made 1106 visits to the schools. Up to February 17 he had this school year made 550 class room visits and held 37 teachers' meetings.

The aims which have directed the work of the superintendent may be summarized:

1—To make our schools centers of guidance of children in actual life activities to the end that our pupils may become creative individuals in the world of tomorrow.

2—To make our schools agencies of moral training through the vital work of the school room and through specialized moral training.

3—To accomplish effectively the work of our programs to the end that our schools may be efficient and self respecting.

4—To develop cooperative supervision to the end that our pupils and our teachers may keep abreast of the progress in education.

5—To achieve a greater unity in our school system that our pupils may with the greatest economy possible realize the values of education.

For the success of his plans the superintendent has to rely upon the creative cooperation of the teachers. This he has been able to do. They have worked loyally and industriously and without stint. Surely he appreciates their devotion to the cause of Plymouth children.

III—The Schools

1—The Rural Schools.

Only one change in our staff of rural teachers was made for this year. Miss Waver Lanpher of the Turnpike School is finishing her course at the Normal School. Miss Marion Draper of Quincy has taken Miss Lanpher's place. Miss Draper is one of our own high school graduates, a summer school student at our Normal School, and had taught a year successfully in Hebron. Plymouth is indeed fortunate in carrying over all the other members of the staff of rural teachers. I have commented every year upon the fine service that these devoted women are giving our boys and girls. Their work in the communities in which they live is also noteworthy. They have become in a very real sense identified with the activities and have been in many cases real leaders in community life. They have seen many children come and go and have had a large share in the formative influences of the lives of many pupils.

The work of these schools is being done efficiently as is shown by standard test results given by both teachers and superintendent. New texts in geography for the seventh and eighth grades have materially added to the interest of this study. New geographies were purchased also for the fourth grade. Reading books for both basal and supplementary use have been added to our list. The equipment has been improved also by the addition of new up-to-date maps.

2—The Model Schools.

Regretfully we were faced last June with recruiting our staff with four new teachers. Miss Clark and Miss Smith were enticed away to the schools of Arlington, Mass. Miss Farnum was lost to Manchester, and Miss Nichols of the Junior High School is employed this year as head critic teacher for the rural schools under the Normal School. We were able to find experienced teachers to fill these places. Mrs. Anna Brown of Wentworth has taken Miss Nichols' place in the Junior High School. She is a graduate of the University of Maine and has taught successfully both in elementary and high school. She has also served as school board member. Thus she offered a broad foundation of professional preparation for her position. Miss Lyla Porter transferred from the rural school at Livermore Falls to the place vacated by Miss Smith in grade 5. Miss Porter is a graduate of Plymouth Normal School 1922 with a record of proved success. With Miss Clark's withdrawal from grade 2 Miss Kendall chose to return to that grade where she has this year the assistance of Miss Elva Ortoff Plymouth Normal School 1925. Miss Kendall acts also as supervisor of household arts for Model School and Normal School. Her place in grade 3 was taken by Murial Nichols, Plymouth Normal 1925. Miss Nichols is sister of the Miss Nichols who is now rural school critic, and is a teacher of several years of experience. She took half of her Normal School work in the Whitefield Extension and in Summer sessions. Mrs. Edith B. Teulon accepted the position of critic teacher in the fourth grade. She is a graduate of our Normal School and has taught several years. She was one of the Littleton staff of teachers when the superintendent was directing the schools of the northern town.

From many points of view the work of a critic teacher is arduous. She has the double responsibility of student teacher and pupil. She must be sympathetic, constructive, but also honest and scientific in her criticism. She must lead in planning the work of both pupils and student teachers. The burden is upon her of keeping abreast in educational practice by thorough going study. She is called upon to cooperate creatively with the superintendent in developing plans of training and instruction.

Our body of teachers meets the tests suggested in the preceding paragraph. We hope that our turn-over will be small at the end of this year.

The repairs made in the Model School during the summer were of much value. The new sanitariums in the boys' toilets are more healthful. The laboratory fitted up in the basement has provided facilities for approved work in Junior High School science. The additional wiring in the basement has materially increased the safety and convenience of the plant.

Last year's plan of 4 nine-week terms of cadet teaching is being carried out successfully this year. The benefit derived from the close cooperation of critics, cadets and pupils is clearly in evidence. The presence of student teachers has made feasible and practicable special classes for the needs of particular groups of pupils. The frequent observation lessons taught by critic teachers insure the maintenance of grade standards among the pupils and tends to increase the teaching efficiency of the student teachers. The interest in school matters shown by parents has done much to encourage both teachers and pupils. During Education Week more than two hundred patrons visited the schools. The results of standard tests indicate that the children achieve scores comparable to those in typical school systems.

The Junior High School continues to be listed as approved by the State Board of Education. The new plan of departmental teaching by the three year Normal School Seniors throughout the school year is proving very beneficial. In this way the pupils are assured the sustained teaching of fifteen young women of more than average teaching ability.

The superintendent feels that it is his duty to point out some obvious benefits of the system of teacher training cooperation with the Normal School.

1—The cost of elementary school instruction per capita is one of the lowest in the state.

2—The pupils enjoy many social and stimulating personal contacts that are denied in other systems.

3—Normal School supervisors provide a type of instruction in such subjects as music, art, practical arts and physical education better than the community could otherwise afford.

4—The Senior High School has been able to draw upon the three year senior class of the Normal School for substitutes and occasional help in special classes.

5—The staff of critic teachers is of superior personnel.

6—Lastly, the publicity involved in the plan is no mean incentive to both teachers and pupils, and undoubtedly advertises the town.

3—The High School.

Headmaster Orcutt's report, submitted herewith, contains detailed statistical information and an account of the activities of the school. It is the story of a well organized and industrious school. Last year it stood high in the report of Deputy Commissioner May, and had a commendable record in the results of tests in the fundamentals. The headmaster's report deals adequately with the teaching staff. I suggest careful consideration of his recommendations.

The superintendent has found the high school teachers cooperative and loyal. They have made as a whole steady advance in professional status. Classroom work shows a constant growth in purposeful activity. The school seems to the superintendent alert and progressive.

The decision of the headmaster to continue his leadership in our high school in the face of an enticement to go to a larger system assured a thorough year for 1925-26.

4—Medical Inspection.

Dr. Chase's report modestly recounts his extremely useful service as medical inspector. His examination this year was carried out with his usual thoroughness and attention to detail. Mrs. Chase, the district nurse, has also acted as school nurse. Her cooperation with the doctor has been invaluable. Her efforts at improving the physical condition of needy pupils have been unwearied and effective.

1—Recommendations

1—We should continue to think about the Ward Hill congestion. Some solution in keeping with both present and future should be found.

2—Again I suggest a policy directed to steady improvement of our rural schools. The jacketing of the stove at Ward Hill and the installation of electric lighting at Livermore, Lower Intervale and Ward Hill are serviceable and appreciable units in this general policy. Shall we not continue this plan?

3—The system of teacher training that has been in vogue in our schools the past two years should be continued.

4—Our budget should allow for necessary repairs and alterations.

5—It should likewise provide for salaries sufficient to keep our teaching force highly efficient.

Headmaster Orcutt has made sufficient recommendations for the high school.

In closing I wish to express my gratitude to you, gentlemen of the school board, for making my work as superintendent of your schools so pleasant. To the public whom our schools represent, I am thankful also for the kindly and cooperative attitude manifested in so many delightful ways.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY E. SPEARE,

Superintendent of Schools.

MEDICAL EXAMINER'S REPORT

To the school Board of the Town of Plymouth, N. H.:

I herewith present my annual report as Medical Examiner of the schools of Plymouth.

I have examined this year, 581 pupils, 24 more than last year and report defects in 185 cases. This includes all defects that I thought necessary that the parents or guardians should know, being about the same number reported last year, and I am pleased to quote that 90 cases reported last year have been attended to.

The general tendency of the people to let their children go unvaccinated still remains, although we gained 4 over last year. The most of the unvaccinated ones had an excuse signed by a physician, which in some cases, seemed to me very slim. A few more cases of enlarged thyroid glands have been noticed this year than last, but one of the worst conditions that we have had to face was the disease known as Pediculosis, caused by head lice, although the field of strife has been changed to different locations, as most of the pupils that were infected last year have been cleaned up and new ones have presented themselves; and the credit for improvement is due the District Nurse and the teachers who have reported cases as soon as discovered.

I think all of the teachers and most of the parents have observed defects more closely than ever before; and comparing the general health and physical condition of the pupils in all the schools, with what they were before medical inspection was introduced, I think there is a very marked improvement.

Again thanking all who have assisted me in the work by calling my attention to conditions which I might have overlooked, and by making valuable suggestions, I remain, your obedient servant.

E. C. CHASE.

Medical Examiner.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT ON THE HIGH SCHOOL

To Superintendent G. E. Spere:

I take pleasure in submitting the third in the series of reports by the Headmaster on Plymouth High School.

Enrollment

So far this year 191 pupils have been enrolled. This is a slight decrease from last year, due first to the large graduating class of last June, and second to the smaller entering class. Two years ago we reached the pinnacle of enrollment at 210, a figure attained by a rather rapid rise over a series of years. We expected a natural falling-off for a time, which has actually taken place. A somewhat larger entering class for next year promises again to move the attendance up. As I have said in former years, I think the enrollment of the high school would be substantially enhanced by the introduction of subjects in Agriculture which appeal to pupils who are now remaining at home on the farms or who are staying away from school with the idea of taking these subjects later at some higher institution such as the State University.

The number of tuition pupils in Plymouth High School has grown considerably in the last four years. In the fall of 1924, 79 were enrolled while at the opening of this last fall term, the number was found to be 91.

Attendance

Taking the report of the State Department of Education as authority for my statistics covering the last scholastic year, I take pleasure in saying that the attendance record in Plymouth High School was 97% through the year. The average for the state was 95.5%. Our tardiness record was 4/10, the average for the state being 9/10 of 1%.

The daily attendance record of the high school this year has been the largest of any year within the last decade and is probably due to the mild winter we have had which has made us quite free from seasonal epidemics.

Extra-Curricular Activities

The many and varied extra-curricular activities enumerated in last year's report have been followed this year with the exception of debating. This we felt obliged to discontinue after giving it serious consideration in the fall. It is our hope to restore this another year so that this important activity which was introduced last year for the first time, can be continued.

The P. H. S. Entertainment Course which was so successful last year, both from an artistic and financial point of view, was continued this year. Whereas last year we gave the public four entertainments, now we are giving five for the same price. The patronage of the public has been gratifying and we hope the entertainments have been pleasing. The pupils of the school have given the officials their undivided support and assistance in the advance sale of tickets and in various capacities connected with the entertainments themselves. The untiring and unselfish devotion of Dr. George Bowles, an ardent friend of the school, has in no small measure assured what success we have had. The proceeds of these entertainments accrue to the High School and will be expended eventually for the purchase of needed supplies or apparatus. The Course has received the moral support of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and for the assistance of this helpful body we render our thanks.

The Girls' Association again this year held a Bazaar in the High School Auditorium on a Saturday afternoon and evening. This activity offered the pupils a fine chance to practice those highly desirable qualities in young people that any good school tries to inculcate in its pupil body, and fully justified the time and effort required to make it a success. Again the proceeds will be devoted entirely to some vital need connected with the school. The proceeds of the activities of the Girls' Association last year have been in part expended already for the purchase of furniture suitable for the equipment of an infirmary room. Whenever this room is provided in the high school building, the furniture for its complete equipment to take care temporarily of sick pupils will be donated entirely through the activities of the Girls' Association. Such activities as these go far to teach Citizenship, Worthy Home Membership, and Ethical Character, three of the seven Cardinal Principles of Education. To Mrs. Verne Pierce, Dean of Girls, and Mrs. John Reed, Head of the English Department, assisted by the officers of the Girls' Association and Miss Saretta McCrea of the English Department, is due the success of the Bazaar.

The Fifth Annual Prize Speaking Contest was held on April 13, 1925, and was participated in by the usual number, that is, five girls and five boys. Of these, four were from the present Senior class, four from the Junior class, one from the last graduating class and one from the present Sophomores. The contestants were coached by Mrs. John Reed and they acquitted themselves with the usual excellence of former years.

The prizes awarded were furnished by members of the Plymouth School Board and were awarded as follows: First Girls' Prize, Ruby Hilliard '26; Second Girls' Prize, Henrietta Maynard '27; First Boys' Prize, Theodore Hikel '26; Second Boys' Prize, E. Mark Worthen, '27.

Because of his ardent interest in this special type of extra-curricular activity, Mr. John F. Maynard presented a special monetary gift to the other contestants as he has done before. The contest for this year is already under way and will be held in a few weeks.

A school reporter selected from the upper classes reports the school news to the local paper and to the Manchester Union weekly. Here an attempt is made to give the public some of the school's activities and interests as reflected by representatives of the various classes and the members of the Staff. Many adult citizens have evinced considerable interest in this weekly publicity.

Since the last report was made, several addresses by local citizens and representatives of educational institutions have been made in assembly on subjects of vital interest to pupils. Special programs commemorating special days have been held. The few surviving members of the Grand Army and the American Legion are perennially invited to participate in pre-memorial exercises of Plymouth High School. Prominent members of these groups have addressed the school.

Student Council

A year ago we were working on the problem of a Student Council. This body has for its purpose the judicial control of various types of pupil activity in the schools where it has been established. Our success in organizing this Council last year was instant and its activities this year have justified the fondest hopes of its friends. The Council is the immediate representative body of all the pupils and because of this the pupils are given a very important contact with the officials in the governmental control. A great many cases involving a moderate degree of discipline are settled by the Council which is guided by a Staff adviser chosen for a period of one semester. The importance of pupil participation in the government of the school cannot be over-estimated, and the growth of the Council and the gradual extension of its powers promise to be one of the most wholesome features of extra-curricular life in P. H. S.

Athletic Activities

Football, which we hoped to continue unbroken in the school, has had a temporary slump so that no games were played this last season. It is the keen wish of everybody that this sport may be reinstated the coming year. The sport, however, requires a skillful coach and leader, and because these were lacking, it was thought best by the followers of the game to suspend operations until these could be provided.

P. H. S. produced last winter an excellent Basket Ball team under the coaching of Mr. Oliver Cole. It was a contender for the championship of secondary schools in our League. The present season has witnessed success and the followers of this sport have reason to be gratified at the showing we are now making. The boys are again being coached by Mr. Cole and the girls by Miss Florence Gould. Both of the coaches otherwise have no official connection with the school.

Our Baseball team of last spring's season was the most extraordinary in point of team work and success on this field in the school's history. The team won every game of the series and was scored against only a few times. The coach was Mr. Elmer Whitehead of Plymouth, and his handling of the team was genuinely educational.

P. H. S. designed a distinctive type of letter to be used to characterize pupils in the High School who had distinguished themselves in the major athletic sports. This distinctive letter has done much to remove the appearance of commonness formerly noticed when all the players in all the schools and in town wore similar insignia. These letters are awarded annually to the players on the teams by appropriate exercises in Assembly.

It has long been my personal belief that some sort of insignia appropriate for the different groups in school should be awarded for other activities than in athletics alone. It is my plan, therefore, some time during this school year, to devise and award such appropriate emblems for conspicuous work on the school magazine, "The Profile," to faithful members of the Orchestra, to participants in Prize Speaking, and to other pupils who have faithfully served their school in commendable activities during the school year such as that of Corridor Ushers, and Monitors.

In last year's report, I urged a serious consideration of the proposition that the high school and the other schools of the town in cooperation secure the services of a physical director. Again I present this proposition for whatever consideration can be given it. Under the present regime of athletics special coaching and opportunity for physical education is confined to a limited few who have the time and volition to engage in these things. The mass of the student body, however, has little or no directed physical drill. My contention is that every pupil in school not otherwise excused because of physical disability, should be required to engage part of every week in some sort of gymnastic exercise under a skilled teacher. This is rapidly coming to be the vogue in high schools not much larger than ours. As is well known, physical drill is compulsory in the Freshman year in all post-secondary schools. That it should be in our high school is obvious to anyone, and whether it can be provided or not remains with the voters to say.

Instruction

Fewer changes than usual took place in the teaching staff at the conclusion of last year. What changes occurred were entirely the result of a change in plans by the teacher and not from any desire to make a change in her position. Miss Elizabeth Ring, who had been teacher of History and coach of girls' athletics, withdrew temporarily from teaching to return to her Alma Mater for further study toward a higher degree. Her position was filled by the election of Mr. John Reed, who for two years had been an important teacher in Montpelier Seminary in Vermont. Mr. Reed is a graduate of New Hampshire University, and has made a fine impression in the school as a teacher and gentleman. He is a careful student of his subject and fills an important place in the school.

Miss Ada Blackington, in charge of the Modern Language Department, left at the end of the year to live in Buffalo, New York, as Mrs. Ada Blackington Spaulding. She was succeeded by Mrs. Clara A. Flanders of Lancaster, a graduate of Boston University. She came to P. H. S. after many years of successful experience as teacher of French and German, and her connection with the school this year has materially raised the tone of modern language instruction in Plymouth High. Mrs. Flanders has had much instruction in schools in France and is thoroughly familiar with the vernacular. She has inspired a wholesome respect in the pupils for the French language.

Miss Dorothy Patten, assistant in the English Department, left the school in June to take up a more extensive study of music. To fill the vacant position in English Miss Saretta B. McCrea was elected. Miss McCrea is a 1925 graduate of Wellesley. She has acted as coach of girls' vocal music and as assembly leader in singing. Her heavy teaching schedule prevents her from carrying on more extensive work in music which Plymouth High needs. Miss McCrea's work in English has been uniformly good and she is a growing teacher. The other members of the Staff continued this year as last without change.

Many of the teachers spent the summer in professional study in Harvard and Columbia and showed their professional interest in advanced study by sacrificing their summer's recess in order better to equip themselves in the newer methods. The public may be interested to know that the state of New Hampshire now requires teachers to be prepared in at least fifteen hours of instruction in advanced subjects in education before making themselves eligible to hold secondary teaching positions. While this does not apply to teachers of many years' experience prior to 1923, yet even the older colleagues feel the thrill of the newer methods and practices and apply themselves with earnestness to become familiar with the best technique of the day.

The work of the classroom throughout the year has been characterized by conscientious effort, harmony and devotion, and I feel that the progress made can be spoken of as above the average of recent years. On the whole the student body has worked well, and its cooperation in the varied activities of a modern school has been commendable.

What Becomes of Our Graduates?

The graduating class of 1925 consisted of 34 members. Out of this number, those entering post-secondary institutions of learning are distributed as follows:

Dartmouth, 2
Middlebury, 1
University of New Hampshire, 1
Plymouth Normal, 5
Posse, 1
Hesser, 2
Katherine Gibbs, 1
Concord B. C., 1
P. H. S. Post Graduates, 3

Of the remaining, one has moved to California, one has entered the employ of the Western Union, one entered the Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, for nurses training, one, Mr. Norman Abdelnour, has been recently given a position as cartoonist on the Boston Herald, three have entered commercial positions, one is office clerk in the Plymouth High School, one is stenographer in a local lawyer's office, one is doing farm work and will enter the Agricultural Department of the State University next fall, one is teaching in a rural school, one is working at carpentry, two are doing housework, one is working in a mill, and the other is undetermined as to plans. One member of the class of 1924 entered for the first time B. U. last fall. On the average, Plymouth High sends about 50% of its graduates to post-secondary institutions. Out of a class of 35 in 1924, 25 entered higher institutions of learning.

Staff Meetings

Throughout the year a meeting of the Staff is held weekly after school on Tuesday for a period of about one and one-half hours. The meeting is devoted to a varied program arranged long in advance over which the teachers alternately act as chairmen. Problems of an emergency nature are handled, questions of policy discussed, study of professional literature carried on, investigation of matters of importance in the High School initiated, and an ardent devotion to the welfare of the school displayed by all. These meetings are frequently addressed by the Superintendent who brings to us the helpful inspiration of wide reading and maturity and the fresh contact with the wide field of the best educational procedure of the day.

Recommendations

Several changes should be made in the immediate future in the high school building itself so as to meet the present needs of the school. Most of these are of vital importance and should be made before the next school year begins. Some of these are:

1. Fitting up and furnishing an infirmary room.
2. Provision for a biological laboratory and increased equipment for same.
3. Reconstruction of high school office or relocation.
4. Additional office equipment provided.
5. Basement lockers for both boys and girls in athletics.
6. A portable stereopticon lantern.

7. Improvement in the lighting system of the study hall.

8. Enlargement of the school library by special budget allowance.

9. Possible provision for the introduction of at least two courses in Agriculture.

Conclusion

Again I express my gratitude to parents, teachers, pupils, and all others who by word or act have contributed in large measure or small to the end that our school work may be pleasant and profitable. In no small degree are we indebted to Superintendent Speare and the School Board for their wholesome advice and cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

ELBERT E. ORCUTT,

Headmaster.
