SCHOOL REPORT.

---

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Enoch C. Eastman, Prudential Committee. One term only, Miss Laura F. Parker, teacher. Miss Parker is a fine scholar, and a very pleasant teacher. Good progress was made, especially in reading.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Wm. H. Barney, Prudential Committee. Miss Jennie S. Barney, teacher. Miss B. was employed as teacher of this school last year, and I think met with as good success. The scholars were quiet and orderly, the examination at the close of the school was good.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Mrs. Julia S. Hoyt, Prudential Committee. Miss Clara A. Fernald, teacher. This was a very quiet school, and the scholars made commendable improvement.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Charles A. McConnell, Prudential Committee. First term was taught by Mrs. Sarah M. Lurvey. This was a short term, but the scholars made some advancement, besides reviewing their studies. Second term by Miss Adell P. Kimball. This term followed soon after the first, and the scholars having become interested in their studies, made good improvement.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Benaiah Wheeler, Prudential Committee. One term, by Miss Sadie L. Wise. Was a very good school.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Mrs. Ida A. Andrew, Prudential Committee. Miss Lucy Eastman, teacher. Although Miss Eastman's first attempt at teaching, it was an excellent school, and satisfaction given.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Lorenzo Cilley, Prudential Committee. One term, Laura B. Sanborn, teacher. As usual in this district, the scholars were very irregular in attendance, notwithstanding the teacher tried hard to have them interested and punctual. Those that were present at the closing examination, were prompt and seemed to have made good use of their time.

 GENERAL REMARKS.

Another school year has passed, and duty requires me to report the condition of our schools to the public. On an average they rank about the same as last year, some having been better and others not as good. The teachers with but one exception, have been those of more or less experience, and several are the same as those employed last year.

The registers are all returned very well filled. I see that only two of our Prudential Committee have visited their school during the year, and the number of visits by parents is not so large as it ought to be for the good of our schools. If you would encourage your children with your presence in the school-room at least once a term, and show them you are interested in their studies, they would make greater exertions and have a stronger desire to please, and consequently be more punctual, and would also strengtnen and encourage the teacher. The labor of teaching is tedious and difficult at best, when we have the heartfelt approval of parents, and the public generally; so let us do what little we can to lighten the task and make it pleasant for both teacher and scholars. Education is the most valuable gift our children can receive, and while it is within their reach, let us help them to get it. Let them have their books to study at home, and also a plenty of good reading material, such as they do not have at school. Ask them to read to you evenings, instead of spending their time away from home, and they will soon be thoroughly interested, and you will see a great improvement. We must not expect them to get all of their education in the school room (unless it is very limited) in a town like this, where we usually have not over fifteen weeks of schooling in any one district during the year, nor is it necessary. Many of our well educated people have learned far more at home than in the school room.

Again I say, let all cherish and advance the noble cause of common school education, and through the influence of faithful teachers, and the united efforts of parents and friends of education, raise high the standing of our schools, and children properly instructed in morality, and qualified to become useful members of society, will be an honor to themselves and a blessing to community.

CLARA A. HUSE, Supt. Com.
