OBSERVATIONS.

A careful examination of the tabulated exhibit of the schools of the town as given in the first page of this report, will enable one to get a good idea of the work accomplished during the year ending March 1st, 1881.

In a few instances these statistics are not perfectly accurate. Teachers otherwise apparently qualified for their duties, seem to have very little idea of filling out a report as required by law in the registers printed by State authority. They stumble over the simplest matters, chiefly averages, and the question of wages, as the State puts the question as to monthly pay, including board, while in town reports, and in engaging teachers, reference is usually made to the week. So far as possible these errors have been corrected by personal inquiry, and it is to be hoped few remain.

As a rule the success of our schools has been good. A few teachers have erred by being lax in discipline; and one or two by undue severity. I will not specify cases, as invariably these teachers have made great efforts to impart good instruction to their pupils, thus compensating in a degree for their undue severity or laxity of discipline.

Order and good government are essential to the prosperity of our schools. Not only for the sake of mental improvement, but for the physical and also the moral well-being of the child, justice and firmness on the part of the teacher must be tempered by kindness and consideration for individual cases. On the other hand, considered by itself alone, a school in which the discipline is very lax, and disorder reigns, might as well be closed. But the greatest evil connected with our schools is the summary ejection of a teacher. The next in order is the unjust and undue punishment of a scholar. The terms of our schools are short, and for the sake of teacher and schools, a little patience is useful. If in any department of life forbearance is necessary, it is in connection with our schools. Their [importance is so great, and we are not agreed as to their management in every particular. Let us agree to do as well as we can under the circumstances.

But there are some evils around our schools, and in connection with them, which can be done away. The building and premises can be kept neat and clean. Suitable outbuildings can be erected. Too often there is a feature of district school life which is abominable and positively immoral. It originates in a careless neglect of decent sanitary arrangements. The very last visit made by your committee to a school, Feb. 25, was in this way disagreeable, and the offensive smell seems still to be in his nostrils. A cart-load of fine loam, deposited in a box or in barrels for use would make this very odor a valuable article for some farmer. Even the new and elegant school house in No. 8 was rendered offensive in this way, and that too with a pile of coal ashes blowing everywhere but under the buildings where they were needed, close at hand. Such neglect is inexcusable. A word now must be said in this connection. Those new and beautiful school-rooms were suffered to be actually filthy, one of them being unswept for several weeks. What would you think of a commanding officer who cared nothing for the sanitary condition of his men? What sort of a school-room is that which is more neglected than an ordinary stable?

True, in the matter of giving instruction these teachers excelled. This was especially true of Mr. Wilson. His examinations showed thorough drill; showed that he is a master in the art of instructing a class. One could wish the whole management of the school could be as highly spoken of, and the great error was lack of care of the building, often with fires out and rooms not swept.

Still this school is to be highly commended for the work done in the class. In No. 3 a great deal was accomplished. It reminded one of the old times in the matter of proficiency in arithmetic.

In No. 13 the terms of school taught by Miss Sadie O. Mason and sister were most creditable. Here was neatness and thoroughness in instruction, combined with song and cheerfulness making them model terms of school.

In No. 15 there have been four terms of school, one private and three sustained by public money. Mr. James Wallis, so long a successful teacher in this school, at the close of the fall term found a good situation in Kansas. His place was well filled by Mr. Starrett.

A word of praise ought to be spoken of Mr. Nason's school in No. 16. Other schools might be commended.

Of the large amount of money raised by the town for school purposes, some eight hundred dollars have not been used. This has been due in a measure to sickness in several districts; in others to poor accommodations for schools in cold weather. About one-third more work has been done in our schools than in ordinary years—about one term more added to each district on an average, or an increase in length of terms corresponding to that. One-third more work has been required of your committee. It has been a favorable year in one respect. The same teachers have, as a rule, been employed for several terms.

As to the question of school money, it seems to your committee that if the town will raise a total of $2500, dividing it justly, using as a basis for division those factors considered by law as relating to our schools, our needs will be fully met. If the town were to take no vote on the subject, each district would receive its own, according to valuation. This is common law and the statute of this State. Surely it is not just or right to overlook entirely that which the law of the State, and common justice makes the sole basis of action! There are, however, the other two factors, that of the number of schools to be sustained, and the number of pupils to be taught, which it is but fair to consider. Hence it seems to your committee that a three-fold basis for division of the school money is every way fair and just.

Respectfully submitted,

S. GIRARD NORCROSS,

Superintending School Committee of the town of Conway.
