REPORT

OF THE

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

FELLOW CITIZENS: We would desire in our report to place a few important points prominently before you. Many words and much counsel would fail of any valuable end.

1. What has been done. The teachers have been examined and the schools visited as far as possible, and we regard the general success satisfactory. There have been some excellent terms and some partial failures.

2. Prudentials Committees. These have been very fortunate in most cases, in the selection of teachers. We doubt if a better corps of teacher can be found than have taught in Warner the past year. It is true that some were inexperienced; but experience is one of the rewards of toil. In the engagement of those who have never taught, satisfy yourselves that there are traits of character aside from intellectual culture that promise success. But experience adds much to the best natural and acquired ability. You can well afford to pay for experience.

3. Parents. Send your children constantly if possible. One fourth or one half of a term, if scattered through the whole term, is worse than none to the school and but little better to the scholar. Encourage no feelings in your children unfavorable to the teacher. If you commend insubordination here, it is but sowing the seed of insubordination at home. You not only wrong the teacher, who is loco parentis, but you injure others.

4. Discipline. This has been better than average. We like that government that governs without seeming to do so. Too much severity as often fails as too much levity. We want firmness and kindness blended.

5. Books. Uniformity should be sought in all the schools by parents and teachers, as well as by your committee. No book should be procured unlike those used in the schools because highly recommended by the teacher. The S. S. Committee are the only proper authority in this matter.

6. School Houses. We are glad to announce very good houses in Nos. 9 and 12, where very poor ones were found last year.

The seats in others ought to be improved. Great discomfort is found in some districts in this respect.

DISTRICT NO. 1.—DIMOND'S CORNER.

The summer term was taught by Miss L. Arvilla Curtice. The educational standard here, for sometime past, has been below the average—though some of the scholars rank high. Miss Curtice is a pretty good teacher, and was particularly successful in enabling some of the scholars to unlearn what they had learned amiss.

Miss L. F. Johnson, of Sutton, taught the winter term, and on our first visit we were highly pleased with the appearance of both teacher and scholars. Miss Johnson has had a large experience in the school room, having taught some thirty-eight months before entering upon her duties here. She is a lady of intellectual stamina, and order is her first law. We were unable to make a second visit, but, from what we saw at our first, we are pleased to learn that her services have been appreciated. We think this school is now on the right track, and, with good teachers, in future, rapid progress may be made.

DISTRICT NO. 2.—LOWER VILLAGE.

The summer term was under the supervision of Miss Jennie S. Bartlett. The high terms in which Miss Bartlett has been referred to in former reports, render it needless to make any special reference to her here. We regard her presence as an ample guarantee for a good school.

Second term was taught by Miss Susan A. Sawyer. She had been the former schoolmate of her scholars and had never taught before. These seasons would, of course, render success somewhat less certain. However, the school, at the beginning and close, appeared quiet and orderly, and the examination evinced fair progress in the branches taught. The small scholars learned remarkably well. The second class in common school arithmetic advanced too far, and exhibited a sad ignorance of the rules. The teacher remarks, in her report, that "the scholars, as a general thing, have been disposed to obey the rules of the school."

DISTRICT NO. 3.—N. VILLAGE.

This school ranks among the first, if it is not the very first in town, in moral department, scholarship and punctuality. It furnishes some of the best readers, grammarians and mathematicians found in our schools. And this district stands at the head in furnishing school apparatus, for it has one map.

The summer term of 9 weeks and the winter term of about 8 weeks were taught by Miss Louisa C. Dowling, who has taught 4 terms since May 21st. After saying this, we need add nothing more, except that strength and circumstances may allow her to teach 4 terms the coming year. The punctuality reflects great credit upon both parents and scholars. The average attendance of the Summer term was 39-40—Winter term 22-26.

DISTRICT NO. 4.—SCHOODACH.

This District has been remarkably fortunate during the past year in its teachers. The Summer term was taught by Miss S. E. Thompson of Salisbury—a lady of excellent qualities and fine culture. It was a complete success. All the branches taught, were marked with progress. “George E. Jones and Clair E. Currier did not whisper during the term.” “Kindness and respect to the teacher.” “Willingness to help each other.” “Love for the ‘Golden Rule.’” “Deep interest in study and good behavior.” Such are a few of the sentences found in the remarks of the teacher.

The Winter term was under the supervision of Miss Callie E. Foster of Canterbury. In scholarship, Miss Foster ranks high, and every branch was taught with accuracy and clearness. Energy, action and capability marked every step. No Balking. Indeed we think we cannot place too high an estimate on this lady as a teacher. After saying so much it is perhaps needless to add that the term was pre-eminently prosperous. The school still occupies its former high ground.

DISTRICT NO. 5.—PUMPKIN HILL.

One term, taught by Miss Junia S. Bartlett. The prospects in this District look rather slim. We do not advise them to build a new school house. But we do advise them to unite with District No. 6, where the three scholars would receive double the amount of schooling, and have but little farther to go.

DISTRICT NO. 6.—BURNT HILL.

This school sustains the position it took one year ago. Order and progress have become habitual. The scholars have vigorous minds and a bright future is before them.

Miss Prudence E. Jones taught the Summer term and the scholars advanced very well. Quiet and easy in her deportment, she seemed to win the good will of the scholars and the school was a very pleasant one. She remarks that “the parents appeared interested in the school” and that “the scholars were anxious to learn.” Miss Junia A. Bartlett taught the Winter term, and the same success marked her efforts that has uniformly attended them here and elsewhere. We are glad her qualities are appreciated which is fully evinced by the fact of her having been repeatedly employed to teach in her own district.

DISTRICT NO. 7.—KIMBALL.

There was but one term in this District, which was taught by Miss Asenath J. Morrison. We think she kept a good school.

This District furnished but three scholars, all of the same family. However, the teacher was favored in the aggregate, with the very respectable number of thirteen.

People who are unacquainted with the history of this section of the town, are unable to account for the juxtaposition of the school houses. Was it an evil spirit, or a good one, that built so many?

If three Districts had been reduced to one, Miss Morrison would have had about the right number of scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 8.—BURNAP.

The summer term was taught by Miss M. Lizzie Scroby. This was Miss S.'s first attempt at teaching. The school closing sooner than was expected, it was visited only at the commencement, therefore we cannot speak of its success or failure from any personal knowledge. Miss S. bore a good examination. She speaks of the scholars in her register, as having made good improvement.

The Winter term was taught by Miss R. Emily Hazen of Sutton. The term was but 6 weeks, and we hazard nothing in saying that no school has made better progress in that length of time. The examination was by topics and nearly perfect.

The scholars were familiar with what they had passed over. If the District had voluntarily added 4 weeks to the term, their money would have returned better interest than U. S. 5-20 Bonds.

The government of the school was excellent and the instruction superior. Whoever may be able to secure Miss Hazen's services in time to come will surely be fortunate.

DISTRICT NO. 9.—WATERLOO.

Summer term taught by Miss Rhoda B. Thompson, and with her usual success. The examination was severe but the scholar passed it with credit—the oratorical exercises were excellent.

Miss L. C. Dowlin taught the winter school, and in a new commodious and pretty school room, furnished with modern school furniture, where scholars can go and study and not be liable, from the nature of the seats and bad ventilation, to contract disease for life. The house is a model of convenience and comfort, and the scholars seem to appreciate it. The examination was creditable to both scholars and teacher.

DISTRICT NO. 10.—COLLINS.

But one term, taught by Miss Mary C. Colley. This school was visited but once. It was Miss C.'s first trial in teaching, and from what we saw, we have no hesitation in saying that her success was good. She entered upon her work with energy and appeared to understand what she attempted to teach.

DISTRICT NO. 11.—TORY HILL.

Both terms were by Miss Ann W. Heath. Although the terms were short, the teacher accomplished a good work. Good order was maintained throughout, and good improvement made in the several branches studied.

DISTRICT NO. 12.—COUCH.

Summer term taught by Miss Jennie Abbot. This teacher has had some experience in teaching. The school appeared well at the time of our visit. Not having any notification of its close, we are unable to report as to improvement.

Winter term taught by Miss Ann W. Heath and with more than her ordinary success, which is attributable to the new and beautiful school house which the District has provided. Well may the fathers and mothers and scholars, be proud of it, for it is in such direct contrast to the sentiments of former generations, which found expression in a little low red school house with neither facilities for heating in winter, nor cooling in summer. The new house though situated in a wild romantic spot, and surrounded by rough old rocks, will when its surroundings are completed, be a model of beauty and convenience, and a beautiful illustration of the sentiments of the inhabitants of 1866, to be handed down to later generations.

DISTRICT NO. 13—VILLAGE.

The committee in this district was fortunate in the selection of teachers.

Primary Department. The summer term was taught by Miss Mary E. Cilley, of Wilmot, one of the best of teachers. Miss C.'s qualifications are equal to the highest department, yet she is able to meet the wants of the smallest scholars. She made the welfare of her scholars, in and out of school, her own.

Since closing her school here, she has taken a position in an academy at the West,—a place that she will fill with honor to herself and profit to others.

The winter term was commenced by Miss M. A. Campbell, who taught both terms in 1865. Having taught one week, she was obliged to close in consequence of ill health, to the regret of both parents and children.

The services of Miss Adelaide B. George were secured, who, though young in years and experience, having taught but one term before, succeeded remarkably well. Her discipline was thorough, and her instruction in the rudiments very clear.

This department never appeared to better advantage than at the closing examination. The order was superior.

Higher Department. The summer term was taught by Miss Sarah J. Nichols of Bradford. Miss N. is an experienced and thorough teacher. If modest pretensions, quietness and decision in management, neatness and order in the schoolroom, are any desirable qualifications, then Miss N. may be ranked among the best of teachers. The scholars appeared well at the first examination. A little difficulty with one of the larger boys marred, somewhat, the success of the term. The school was well managed and well instructed.

Quite a number of the larger scholars remained outside the school house on the afternoon of the last examination—a dishonor to themselves and their friends. More was accomplished than could reasonably have been expected under the circumstances.—Miss N. has since taken a small school for a long term, and we most heartily wish her abundant success.

The winter term was taught by the chairman of your committee, Mr. S. C. Pattee. The school would rank well with any former term. The members of the committee who visited this school regard the standard higher than last year. The examinations in arithmetic were very good. Geography and grammar good. There are those that can make excellent scholars in this school, if they but attempt it.

DISTRICT NO. 15—GORE.

One term taught by Mrs. C. M. Frazier. The school prospered under Mrs. Frazier's tuition, and the examination was creditable to both teacher and scholars. In looking over the register, we noticed one little fellow, Charlie H. Stanley, 4 years and 2 months old, who has been neither absent nor tardy during a term of 74 days.

DISTRICT NO. 16—DAVISVILLE.

Both terms were taught by Mrs. Augusta G. Chase. This is one of the most interesting schools in town. It is, of course, needless to remark upon the merits of Mrs. Chase as a teacher. It is enough to say that she has just ended her fourth consecutive term in her native district. We made three visits to the school during the year, and each time found the scholars dutiful and industrious. Grammar taught with marked success.

DISTRICT NO. 17—MELVIN'S MILLS.

Summer term was taught by Miss Emma Brown of Bradford, an experienced and successful teacher. Good order was apparent, and at the examination we found the scholars had made commendable progress in their studies.

We presume they had a winter school, but are not certain. We have seen no teacher, nor heard from the prudential committee.

DISTRICT NO. 18—COLLEGE.

Summer term was taught by Miss Emma M. Pierce. It was visited but once, and was P.'s first experience. There being but five scholars, and those small, there was but a small chance for the display of the governing or teaching qualities.

The winter term was taught by Miss M. A. Harriman. Miss H. accomplished all that could be accomplished within so small a school. There were two advanced scholars in reading, arithmetic and grammar. Her instructions were thorough and explanations clear, and we bespeak for her a larger field for the exercise of her talent for teaching during the year to come.

DISTRICT NO. 19—MERICK.

A winter term only, taught by Miss Susie M. March, a teacher of experience and superior excellency. She gave most perfect satisfaction. The school appeared uncommonly well at both visits. Yet at the close there was the most decided evidence of advancement on the part of scholars. The government was the best and the instruction fell not a whit behind. It was a pleasure to be present at the examination.

DISTRICT NO. 20.—ROBY'S CORNER.

First term taught by Miss Frank Redington; a lady with superior qualifications for a successful teacher of youth. Her school was characterized by its excellent order, and we do not hesitate to pronounce it as a model school.

The fall term was taught by Miss L. J. Andrews of Sutton, who fully sustained the reputation of the school.

DISTRICT NO. 21.—HOWE.

A winter term only taught by Miss M. Piper. This is her first school. In consequence of sickness in her family she was obliged to leave, after four weeks. But the district were so well satisfied that they chose to wait until she could return for the completion of the term. We have little doubt from what we saw of her, in our visit, after the school had been keeping two weeks, that she will rank among our good teachers.

DISTRICT NO. 22.—NEW MARKET.

But one term, taught by Miss Louisa C. Dowling. This is a backward school, but Miss D. sustained well the representation she had already earned. This school is not so easily governed or taught as many, more advanced. Your Committee would say to the parents and scholars in this District, "there is much land yet to be possessed."—Press onward and upward.

DISTRICT NO. 23.—STEPHEN K. HOYT.

There was no school in this District during the year 1865, for the reason, as we suppose, there were no scholars. The present year, there has been one term—two scholars being found in the District. Eight more were furnished from other Districts. The school was taught by Miss Lydia B. Sanborn, It was her first term, and, we think, a successful one. Unfortunately we were unable to make a final visit, at the time intended, and cannot speak from observation, of the progress made. But we were highly pleased with the appearance of both teacher and scholars at the beginning of the term and have no doubt it was a success. We think Miss Sanborn will excel as a teacher.

DISTRICT NO. 24.—JOPPA.

Summer term taught by Miss Clara A. Dustin. Miss Dustin is a lady of large experience as a teacher and her labors were characterized with marked success in this District. The school was governed with dignity and the scholars were kept on duty faithfully. The teacher remarks in her report, that "the scholars were regular in attendance, respectful in deportment, and in their studies, did as well as could be expected."

The Winter term was under the supervision of Miss Elsia S. Clough. We made two visits to this term, and, on both occasions, found it in fine condition. The teacher is a good scholar and did all in her power to have the scholars improve—and they did improve admirably. All classes appeared well on examination. Order was excellent and we have not heard a whisper of disapprobation from any one. Punctuation was well attended to and the classes in reading appeared remarkably well.
