REPORT

OF THE

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

---

We herewith submit our report for the year ending March 1, 1882.

Amount appropriated for school expenses, including literary fund and dog tax, and $200 of the savings-bank tax, was apportioned as follows:—

To No. 1, $230.09	To No. 6, $174.39
“ “ 2, 210.90	“ “ 7, 108.41
“ “ 3, 168.16	“ “ 8, 1487.11
“ “ 4, 131.66	“ “ 9, 107.54
“ “ 5, 91.16	Union District, 20.58.

For detailed account of length of schools, teachers' wages, etc., see the statistical table annexed. For special matters referring to particular districts, see report on each school.

We congratulate the citizens upon the general success of the public schools. With the opportunity to compare the schools of Pembroke with other schools in several sections of the State, it may be truly said that our school-houses and furniture (with two or three exceptions), teachers and pupils, compare favorably for our own town. We were petitioned to unite district No. 5 with district No. 2; but, upon mature consideration of the difficulties which confronted us, decided with the selectmen that it was inexpedient to grant the petition. The reasons, however, for merging No. 9 into No. 5, No. 3, and No. 8 are weighty and entitled to the immediate attention of all in the district. In the first place, the school-house in No. 9 is a model in its way, being old, dilapidated, illy ventilated, (its only ventilation being broken panes of glass), small, built purposely so, no doubt, to illustrate the beauties of compactness; on wet, cold, spongy, undrained soil, just to illustrate the fallacy of the views of our best modern scientists in regard to sanitary rules, and theories; a building originally a second-rate shed, the model of which disappeared with the "lost arts," moved on to its present site, doubtless from the very best of motives—economy, with a magnificent view of God's "arched overhead," as its only redeeming quality, and you have a very imperfect, though truthful, view, as far as it goes, of this temple of knowledge, "at once the pride and glory of New England." Again, the very few children in No. 9 have a right to more tuition and better teaching than they can possibly have now. This righteous demand will be met in the districts adjoining. Your committee insist that it is a waste of money, and a great wrong upon the children within the district named to continue such a school in such a school-house for even another term. The school-house in No. 5 has been thoroughly renovated, and is a credit to the district.

In district No. 2, where stood for over 60 years the school-house which was not "a thing of beauty" and therefore "not a joy forever," the "prayer of the righteous" has been answered, and there now stands a school-house which is a gem of architectural beauty, elegantly furnished with everything except the requisite number of children for which it was so generously built and dedicated.

Colburn's mental arithmetics have been put in use again with very good results. Of the classes formed in mental arithmetic in nearly all of the schools, those of Miss Metta C. Davis, Miss Emma J. Fowle, and Miss Genella L. Fowler excelled in the order named. Appleton's Readers have replaced the old, familiar, and well worn Hillard's and Franklin's, and are giving entire satisfaction. We have adopted the new Inductive Series of arithmetics (Greenleaf's Improved), and secured their introduction into our schools at the lowest rates, believing that the slight cost to the schools will be but a trifle compared with the advantage of having the best book for practical business life.

Sections 14 and 15 of chapter 91 of the General Laws have not been enforced. The reason why the provisions of the act could not be complied with in the only district in town affected by their provisions has been the lack of accommodations. The children unlawfully absent belong in the first and second primary departments, which are already overcrowded; and we respectfully urge upon district No. 8 the necessity for taking immediate steps to supply this imperative want.

Every consideration of safety, justice, and humanity demands the education of all our youth, whether native or foreign-born. The strongest bulwarks of a state being the virtue and intelligence of its people, every consideration of a lofty patriotism demands that every class of its future citizens (shall we say sovereigns?) shall receive, at least, a good common-school education. In conclusion, we urge the citizens of our town to be earnest and active in every effort to advance and make still better our public schools. Sustain them as parents, for you can leave no grander legacy to your children than a good education. Sustain them as patriots, for no greater danger threatens our institutions, both civil and religious, than vice and lawlessness, which are the natural and inevitable results of ignorance. Every one has an influence and exerts it upon all others for good or evil.

“ Each tiny wave that breaks upon the shore
Adds its own voice to swell the ocean’s roar.”

And so, by sustaining, and upholding and striving to make our schools still more useful, we may do something for our town, and state, and country, something for God and humanity, and—

“ Departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.”

DISTRICT NO. 1.

JOSEPH C. FOWLE, Prudential Committee.

The three terms were taught by Miss Emma J. Fowle, who merits the high commendations given in previous reports, for excellent work and good results. We report reading and writing greatly improved, order perfect, and examinations well attended.

DISTRICT No. 2.

SAMUEL E. MOORE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Annie B. Whittemore, who taught the first term, is a painstaking teacher, and wrought not only gracefully but with expected success.

The second term is now in progress, with a quiet, studious body of pupils, who recite lessons that can be heard, to Miss Jennie E. Haseltine, who is a real, live teacher and one of the best.

DISTRICT No. 3.

BLISS CHARLES, Prudential Committee.

Miss Genella L. Fowler succeeded so well in the first term that she was wisely retained for the year, and the order and progress in studies proved her well fitted for her place and capable for a larger school.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

GEORGE W. STONE, Prudential Committee.

The expectation created by Mrs. Jennie F. Corliss, the teacher of the first term, though her literary qualifications were excellent, was not realized, as she had had no experience, and seemed unable to adapt herself to the irksome, tedious, and difficult task to persuade children to the real work of the school-room. We had misgivings when Miss Ellen L. Dearborn was engaged for the second term, as she had never taught, but she entered bravely upon her work, and succeeded completely. If she will be as persistent in mastering the studies needful for the best teaching as she was in managing her first school, we predict a future career of the highest usefulness.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

In this district the scholars are few but good ; yet there is the lack of inspiration for the teacher when one pupil only responds to the call for a class. Miss Clarena L. Richardson gave good satisfaction the first term, and Miss Minnie J. Merrill taught the second term, with the same good order and results.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

JOHN PRENTISS, Prudential Committee.

Miss Nellie Sweeney taught the first term, and her school was well taught and well governed. Miss Julia M. Melifant taught the second and third terms. Her scholastic attainments were of the best order, and in most schools she would succeed admirably. The school in No. 6 needs executive ability of the highest order, and an experienced teacher who could give the pupils just the drill and discipline needed.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

ARTHUR E. FRENCH, Prudential Committee.

The money in this district was well used and gave good returns in Miss May E. Adams's teaching during both terms. There was good progress noted in grammar, geography and arithmetic, and excellent work in composition and analysis. The people are well united, and all the parents attended the examinations.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

RUFUS H. PAINE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Metta C. Davis in the grammar department, Miss Ella F. Barker in the intermediate, Miss Jennie M. Fellows in the second primary, and Miss Metta G. Gault in the first primary, form a corps of teachers against whom there is no just complaint, and concerning whom we have only the highest terms of thoughtful and well merited commendation. The district is to be congratulated on the faithful work wrought in its commodious school rooms. The only change needed is two more teachers of the same kind, and two more rooms of the same capacity. The progress in each department named, was marked, and the examinations were well attended and entirely satisfactory.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

JOHN T. MERRILL, Prudential Committee.

Miss Flora E. Lang taught the first term. This was her first term of teaching, and she so satisfied the parents that she was hired to continue it as a private school for three weeks. Miss Rose M. Colby taught the second term. This was also her first attempt at teaching. She did her duty well; as well as any beginner could do. A great oculist in London says (privately) he has spoiled a hatful of eyes in experiments. With a small amount of money at command, what can the prudential committee do except try experiments? What ought to be done at once, is carefully suggested elsewhere.

Respectfully submitted.

Distressing Cough, Asthma, Catarrh, and Bronchial Affection.

"I received your box of Troches, and when they came I said 'Humbug!' but wife said 'Try them,' so I did. I was suffering with a distressing cough so that I had not lain in bed but two or three hours for ten nights. The next night after I began to take them I went to bed and slept well. I have the asthma, catarrh, bronchial affection, but they relieved me wonderfully. Will you please send me another box immediately."—Rev. H. L. Linscott, West Baldwin, Me.
