School Superintendent's Report

School Board of Littleton:

During the past year all the interior of the high school building that was not painted the year before has been painted a light color, greatly improving the appearance and lighting of the rooms and halls. New movable seats have been obtained for the hall room in the Kilburn building and the special room in the high school building. New fire escapes have been attached to the high school building. The furnaces under the Kilburn building have been repaired. Part of the woodshed has been made into a manual training room and equipped with benches for 20 boys. The 7th and 8th grade rooms have been supplied with the beginning of an equipment for cooking, consisting of two domestic science tables, a two-burner oil stove, with a small supply of utensils. The Mann's Hill building has been painted on the inside and provided with new windows, doors and floor and modern seats.

At present in the high school building we are working under better conditions as to light and safety from fire than ever before, but the high school quarters and all the halls are as insufficient as ever, and becoming more crowded.

The high school accommodations are entirely inadequate, judged by any standard acceptable in other progressive towns. A considerable acquaintance with the state warrants the declaration that our accommodations are inferior to those of nearly, if not quite, every other town in the state of New Hampshire anywhere near the size of Littleton. The grade rooms are practically full and there is no room anywhere for the 50 per cent increase to be expected in the eighth grade next year, nor for the 23 additional seventh grade pupils who will be crowded out of the Aphthorp building by the increasing size of the lower grades. The heating plants under the high school and Kilburn buildings, being carefully run, usually supply us with heat, but at best are very unecnomical. In the Kilburn building the sanitarries, by good care, are kept barely usable. Above the basement this building is very satisfactory, but another first grade as large as we have been receiving for several years, added to the children belonging in the building, will fill it full. At Apthorp the grades above the present sixth average 30 or more pupils, and with the incoming first grade will occupy the six rooms now finished. The heating plant ordered two years ago is not yet finished and the stench and dampness from leaky radiators are always present in cold weather. The Mitchell building has two school rooms with plenty of badly distributed light, very unsatisfactory earth closets for sanitarries and a wood furnace which supplies needed heat, but will soon need attention.

REGISTRATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF PUPILS

In the fall term 650 children were registered in the village buildings, the average membership being 615, about 50 more than a year ago. The membership February 5 was 619, divided as follows: High school grades, 191; Kilburn, 186; Apthorp, 192; Mitchell, 50.

By grades,	VIII	VII	VI	V	IV	III	II	I
	43	65	66	75	76	78	96	96

and a special class of 17. The average age of pupils in each grade for the town is as follows for September 1, 1913:

Grade	VIII	VII	VI	V	IV	III	II	I
Age	14.0	13.4	12.1	11.5	10.3	9.3	7.9	6.7
Retard.	.5	.9	.9	1.0	.8	.8	.4	.2

The retardation assumes that children should enter during the seventh year and progress regularly one grade per year. The retardation of the upper grades is somewhat increased over that of previous years chiefly because the law now requires attendance until the elementary course is finished or until the age of sixteen. In the rural schools 81 were registered, with an average membership of 70. The registration in the high school was 133, average membership 127, making a total registration of 844 and a total average membership of 802.

ATTENDANCE

The average attendance for the village in the fall term was 586, a percentage of 95.25. There was no epidemic and no unusual amount of sickness. The number of tardy marks was 624, about one per pupil or 41 per week. At the hour of beginning school, fixed by law or by the school board, it is the teacher's first duty to make a record of those not present. If any one arrives later he is tardy. No teacher can honestly delay making the record nor, except by order of the school board, omit the proper mark for any reason. The school board may fix a special time for beginning school in individual cases and children brought on a team employed by the board are not marked tardy when the team is late. No one is so anxious and no one works so hard for a clear record as the teacher. This office assists by publishing the record of absence and tardiness for the preceding week through all the schools every Monday. Improvement in attendance must be largely the work of parents, public opinion and enforcement of law. Absence and tardiness represent a loss of effort for which the district is paying good money. The average attendance in the rural schools for the fall term was 68, in the high school 124, making a total of 778.

RURAL SCHOOLS

Four rural schools are being maintained this year; at North Littleton, Pattenville, West Littleton and Mann's Hill. The small number of pupils in the Meadow district, and the desire of the parents, led to the closing of that school and transportation to the village. There being less than six pupils remaining in the Slate Ledge district, the school was not opened, most of the children being accommodated at Pattenville. Mann's Hill has now a membership of only six.

For districts in easy reach of the village it must always be somewhat uncertain whether schools shall be maintained within their limits or not, but there cannot be much doubt that the three schools on the Connecticut river side of the town will be permanent and are permanently placed. There is, therefore, every reason why they should be well equipped for their purpose. All need more land. At the Monroe or West Littleton school new blackboards are needed ; at Patten-ville a new floor. All would be greatly improved by being provided with basements, and at North Littleton and Monroe this could be easily done.

MANUAL TRAINING

Training through the hand has become more necessary in the public schools. Such training is always necessary, because most people work with their hands, and because the muscular sense is fundamental, perhaps more necessary than any other sense, even sight. Conditions of life are such that children of this generation have less opportunity for such training at home than their fathers and grandfathers had. It is therefore, more important as a part of school work. The attendance law as amended is keeping children in school longer, especially a class of children to whom the ordinary school activities do not appeal. This puts upon the community the necessity of providing especially for their needs, and so makes the added time in school worth something to them from their point of view.

As a start toward meeting the need, the manual training and equipment and the beginning of a cooking outfit have been provided. The boys are building the room, doing all the work except laying the long sills and fitting the doors and windows. The work proceeds slowly because the direction falls on the superintendent and only four periods of less than one hour each can be spared, but the boys take to it with enthusiasm and profit. The 7th and 8th grade teachers have their girls in cooking and sewing when the boys are at their shop.

EFFICIENCY OF THE SCHOOL SYSTEM

In a circular issued by the Department of Public Instruction, Littleton schools are rated as having 45 percent efficiency, that is, as being a little less than one half perfect. The basis of reckoning is the proportion of the total membership of the schools which is registered in the high school. The public school period covers twelve years, of which the high school course takes four. Under ideal conditions, when all remain in school twelve years and none die and none move away, 33 1-3 percent of the enrollment at any time will be in high school. In Littleton about 15 percent are above the grades. This is the basis of our rating. The law compels attendance through the grades, attendance in the high school is voluntary. A school system is considered more efficient as its grade work improves in ability to prepare and inspire children for advanced work and as its high school proves better able to attract pupils and retain them for four years.

As a measure of comparative efficiency there are some objections. The nature of the work done in two school systems may vary widely in value, though both are successful when measured by membership. The conditions outside the schools, such as counter attractions drawing children from school, variations of population, etc., are so different that it is not fair to compare districts to any great extent. It is admitted by the state superintendent that there are conditions affecting Littleton, which if they could be measured and allowed for, would give us a better standing by several percent.

After all discussion and allowances the fact remains that 15 percent of our pupils are in the high school and that we ought to approximate 33 1-3. The first important step is obviously better quarters. A good building would help very much in attracting and retaining pupils. Then the grades should prepare for and the high school should provide well planned industrial courses, suited to the needs of this community. This work is already begun on the part of the grades. These are the great changes to be made. Other things, such as a better arrangement of the course, especially the upper six years, may suggest themselves, but for the most part, success will then depend on careful attention to details and skill in dealing with individual cases.

In general your schools stand well, so far as any unbiassed judgment is known. Of course, it is easily possible for one to come against some phase of school work at such an angle as to give him an unfavorable idea of the work. Except in the few cases where there is some inherent personal difficulty, greater knowledge invariably makes better feeling. The state program gives a list of reading material suited for each grade, and we have a good part of the books named. Two or three years ago these readers were pretty generally difficult or impossible in the grades for which they are suggested. Now they are easily read and sometimes used in a grade lower. This must mean that ordinary ability to read is being acquired in about a year less time now than formerly. There are also records that go to show that the work in arithmetic has become more efficient each year. It seems, therefore, only fair to believe that your schools have lost nothing of their good standing.

CONCLUSION

It is not possible to make suggestions as to buildings and equipment, because what should be done depends so completely on the decision of the district as to a new building. In any event a place and teachers for the increasing upper grades should be provided, and also provision should be made for instruction in manual training and domestic science.

In looking back over more than three years work, it is a surprise and pleasure to note how rarely friends have found it necessary to correct and criticise, and how limited and groundless unfriendly attacks have been. Mistakes have been made, but only he who does nothing makes no mistakes. In view of the fact that grave matters press for settlement this my fourth annual report is an attempt to present the main facts which everyone should know.

Respectfully submitted,

D. F. CARPENTER.

High School Report

School Board of Littleton :

Since the publication of last year's report the high school has consistently maintained its policy of steady adherence to the best in educational practice and of continuous progress along lines of improvement. This year the enrollment is slightly smaller than last, owing largely to fortuitous conditions. First, the present graduating class has lost by removal and other causes more largely than other classes, so that it numbers now but eighteen. Second, the shortening of the course to four years has removed one class from the list. Next year there seems to be prospect of an increased number in the school. We can doubtless look forward to steady increase from year to year in that proportion of the high school pupils that come directly from Littleton at least.

The girls still largely outnumber the boys. This is not because more boys leave school than do girls for that is not the case. The cause is rather the fact that just at present the families represented in the high school have more girls of high school age than boys. Yet the proportion of boys is more than last year and will be greater presumably from year to year. Moreover, there is no reason for not believing that the girls are as worthy of education as the boys.

Physically, the school has been a more desirable place this year than last. All the rooms have been newly painted. Fire escapes have added much to the safety of the children. Considerable new apparatus has been purchased for the science laboratories.

In one respect there is an immediate need. The gymnasium on the upper floor of the high school building has become a menace to the health of the pupils by reason of the dust and falling plaster. The room is largely used for athletic purposes for both boys and girls, as well as a place for rehearsals, etc. As such it has proved a very valuable help to the school. Moreover, the cost of repairing it would be small, as about all that is required would be to remove the plaster and substitute sheathing. No investment would yield a quicker return in the resulting benefit to your boys and girls. I recommend that you take action on this matter.

Athletics have been encouraged as a means of moral training and of increased interest in the work of the school. The girls have received the maximum of benefit physically with a minimum of disadvantage, for they have played only inter-class contests. Thus they have not been subjected to the strain of interscholastic games. In all athletics we are trying to lay the emphasis upon clean, honest sport rather than upon the spirit to win at any cost. The success of high school athletic should be judged according to such a standard rather than by the per cent of victories won.

As a means of encouraging non-athletic activities a high school club has been organized to advance debating and public speaking. The young people have taken a decided interest in the work and are making it more successful than was even hoped at the start. The meetings are held once in two weeks and are, of course, under the supervision of the teachers. The society is affording the young folk a distinct training.

The school paper, "The Record," started two years ago, is being continued. It is a very valuable means of education. The patronage of the local business men has been a very encouraging sign of interest in the work of the school in this line for which we are thankful.

The discipline of the schools is maintained to administer as far as possible, to the true interests of the pupils. With adolescent pupils we seek to develop the spirit of self government and the appeal is to motives of self respect and service, rather than to fear. The teachers have sought to maintain an attitude of close friendship and understanding sympathy with the boys and girls. We have believed that in most cases the motivation of conduct in high school pupils must come from within rather than from force exerted from without. So it has seemed to us that it is our constant duty to get as close to the heart and life of your boys and girls as possible. Thus have we tried to maintain an air of cheer and pleasurable work in our school rooms. And we have sought the attitude of personal nearness rather than that of independent reserve and aloftness. Needless to say that type of school discipline that we try to follow is not consistent with that severity in which some believe. Personally we have never been able to perceive the efficacy of those methods of discipline that rely on the inspiration of fear.

Yet it is our purpose to maintain at all times in our class and study rooms a quiet and busy conduct of study and work. And it seems to us that we have been able to detect a distinct improvement along these lines each year. The public has seemed sympathetic with the spirit of the school. At any rate we are always open to inspection and we invite you to visit the school at any time and decide for yourselves.

We were unfortunate this year in losing Miss Berry and Miss Fuller, both of whom went to positions where they receive larger salaries. We were fortunate in filling their places so acceptably. Miss Foster in Miss Fuller's place has shown an indefatigable interest in the commercial work. In Miss Gibbs we secured a teacher able to handle the rather difficult problem of administration in the freshman room. We were furthermore fortunate in retaining the services of Miss Osgood, Mr. Doody and Miss Hannum who have measured up to their standard of efficiency this year. It is hoped that these teachers may be retained another year. In Mr. Doody we have a submaster particularly valuable by reason of his relation to the boys in their athletic trips and because of his demonstrated ability in teaching and discipline. I hope he may be retained.

In the subjects that we are teaching we are striving to stress the local content. In other words we are attempting to make the education of your pupils enhance their interest in the community in which they live. We are doing this by making every possible contact between the school and the life of the town. In English we are making the local library an object of study and an instrument of assistance in education. In history we are emphasizing the part of New Hampshire, and in civics we are leading back to the government and life of Littleton. In our commercial history and geography we are studying the industries and industrial development of the town. In book-keeping the teacher has investigated the systems in use in the business of Littleton with the view of taking up the same in class. In all the studies we are aiming at education for Littleton boys and girls that shall lead not from, but to, the town.

That the high school is doing a valuable work in this community is evidenced by the young people, who, having received their education here, are now doing the work of the world. Many of them are to be found in Littleton. Our young people in the colleges are doing a good grade of work. In two instances the graduates of last year have been promoted to advanced classes in Latin in their college work. While a high school by no means exists for the sake of the colleges it is always a source of gratification to know that a considerable proportion of our graduates are continuing their work with credit in advanced schools. Of last year's class of 22, four boys and seven girls are now actually in other schools while several others are planning to go on next year.

I feel decidedly optimistic in regard to the prospects of the high school. Undoubtedly we are on the right road of progress. And I am grateful to the people of Littleton for their kindness and cooperation. And while I realize that the high school problem in Littleton cannot be adequately solved until a new building is erected, I am also sure that we are at least one year nearer to that necessary structure.

Sincerely yours,

GUY E. SPEARE,

Principal Littleton High School.

VITAL STATISTICS

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1913.

Of the 72 deaths occurring in Littleton during the year 1913, 35 were males and 37 females. The oldest person was 91 years, 9 months, 13 days; there were 5 between 80 and 90; 15 between 70 and 80; 16 between 60 and 70; 7 between 50 and 60; 6 between 40 and 50; 7 between 30 and 40; 3 between 20 and 30; 1 between 10 and 20; and 11 under 10. The average age at death for the year was 50 years, 11 months and 28 days.

Of the 84 births occurring in Littleton during the year 1913, 41 were males and 43 females.

Every birth should be recorded as required by the public statutes. The law of this state makes it obligatory upon the physician, or midwife, in attendance to make a return of every birth to the town clerk within six days thereafter, and a certified copy of the return to be made by the clerk to the State Department of Vital Statistics, where it is filed for future reference in fireproof compartments in the State House. Such a record, as is required by law, is due the child, and it may become of great importance later in life.

This is not simply a matter of interest to historians, genealogists, statisticians and insurance actuaries. It directly affects the whole structure of society. It may settle legal questions, establishes proof of voting age, inheritance, nationality, military duty, citizenship, etc.

It is required by many corporations before employment is given; is necessary to allow school children of a certain age to be employed during vacation periods; is required in civil service examinations; appointment to certain official positions, to establish property, pensions, insurance, and various other rights.
