Mr. F. L. Kendall, Superintendent of Schools:—

The enrollment of the High School is now sixty-three; during the year so far we have registered seventy different pupils. The attendance record is about the same as it was last year; I regret to say that I see little improvement in that regard. I earnestly request the cooperation of all parents in correcting this difficulty.

At the school meeting of 1913, money was appropriated to establish courses in Agriculture and Home Economics. These courses were put in operation last fall. In the Agricultural course the boys are studying Agronomy. Up to this time, the work has been chiefly from a text book, but we hope, as the season advances, to find time to put the pupils actually into the fields, to prove by actual experiment the truth and value of their study. In the new carpentry shop they have been taught the proper use of tools, and different fundamental principles of carpentry, and are now at work on a cabinet for their tools. It is also planned for them to make what equipment they can for the work in other departments. During the fall the girls have had a course in elementary sewing, making several simple garments. For the second semester, they will have a course in elementary cooking and in the serving of meals. These industrial courses have proved very popular; practically all of the entering class have elected them.

As is known, in the High School we allow the pupils to elect their own courses within certain limits. Thus election of courses is something to which parents should give the closest attention. Unless guided by the advice of his parents, a child is apt to select a course for perhaps rather inadequate reasons.

A course in Chemistry was instituted this fall, which over thirty students, mostly from the two upper classes, have elected. The laboratory has been quite fully equipped for experimental work and the pupils are showing the keenest interest. We have, I may add, in Mr. Bachelder, a most efficient teacher of Chemistry. This subject takes the place of the course in Physics offered last year, which will hereafter probably be offered in alternate years with Chemistry, so that those who wish both subjects may elect them.

In last year's report, I mentioned the school's lack of a suitable reference library. Last September, practically all the books called for on the state list were put into the High School. These books, with those in the Public Library, give us a very good reference library for our work in history, the quality of the work in which, I think, has been duly improved.

Finally, the institution of the new industrial courses has given to the High School many more actual classes, the number of which will be increased by the extension of the courses next year as approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. As the state law does not allow a teacher in an approved High School to teach over eight classes a day, it will, in my opinion, be necessary for the suitable development of these new courses to have a fourth teacher in the High School. I do not doubt, however, that this was foreseen last year, and that it was your intention in instituting these classes to engage an additional teacher for the second year of the new work.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR S. HOWE,
Principal of the High School.

Mr. Frederick L. Kendall, Superintendent of Schools:—

Following is a report of the music work in the Antrim schools.

As a whole, the work in music seems to be progressing satisfactorily. Of course it is a disadvantage to have as many as three grades in a room and cannot help but retard progress on account of lack of time for the grade teacher to give the necessary amount of work to each class. However, we have followed as nearly as possible the course of study outlined in the State Program of Studies. Particular attention is being given to tone quality in all the grades.

The first grade has learned as many as eleven rote songs and is beginning work in sight reading from the blackboard.

The second grade has learned the time value of different notes and can read simple exercises from the blackboard in two, three or four part measure. They have learned nine or more rote songs with the third grade. The third grade is able to read simple songs from books and exercises containing more difficult intervals.

The fourth grade is using the First Music Reader and has had a little drill in two part work, also the study of chromatic tones. The fifth and sixth grades sing together and this makes it difficult to prepare fully for seventh grade work, but an effort is being made to come up to the mark set for sixth grade by the end of the year. They are studying two part music, the more advanced rhythms and all the chromatic tones.

The seventh and eighth grades are doing very good three part work with very good quality of tone. They are using both the third and fourth readers. Considerable time has been spent with work in the minor mode and the class is able to write the major scale and the three forms of the minor scale on music paper, also to write down dictation, including chromatic tones. Some work in melody writing has also been done.

In the High School it is very difficult to get good four part work on account of the small number of boys who sing. However, chorus work is done each week with sometimes two and sometimes three or four parts. Very good unison work can be done with the whole school. The work of the girls is very good. In one or two years when all the High School students will have had the training through all the grades, I believe it will be possible to do more difficult chorus singing.

The district schools are visited every two weeks and the training given is as nearly as possible like the graded schools. The results are very good. At the North Branch the frequent change in teachers has somewhat interrupted the work, but the school is now well started and going ahead fast. At the East School there has been an irregularity in the attendance of pupils, but the work has been as thorough as possible.

The teachers have all done careful work and I sincerely appreciate their efforts.

Respectfully submitted,
 GERTRUDE VAN DOMMELE,
 Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:—

The following report of the Department of Drawing in the schools of Antrim is herewith respectfully submitted.

Instruction in drawing in the grades is given primarily to develop in children the power to express ideas in graphic form, think constructively, work neatly and accurately, and train the mind in the appreciation of beauty.

There are several reasons why the teaching of drawing cannot be as successful as I should like to have it. The time allotted to the subject is inadequate, one period a week only, in some cases being devoted to drawing. Another condition that impairs the success of the course in Antrim is the fact that in two cases three grades are found in one room, and in the outside schools an even larger number. Lack of time necessitates that the drawing lesson shall be given to all the grades in one room at the same time. In order to have progression in drawing, as in other subjects, it is necessary to plan lessons, especially adapted to pupils of each grade.

A more complete equipment for drawing and painting would greatly enhance the value of the work done by the two upper grades.

The work in the outside schools sometimes shows surprisingly good results.

The hearty cooperation of the teachers and the interest of the pupils has made my work in Antrim very pleasant.

ELSIE M. S. WOLL,
Supervisor of Drawing.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

Members of the School Board:—

I respectfully submit the following report concerning the schools of Antrim for the year ending February 15, 1914.

There have been several changes in the teaching force since my report of a year ago. Those who resigned at the close of the school year in June were Misses Gladys M. Wilbur and Christina B. Locke, assistants in the High School; Miss Anna L. Childs, teacher of the primary grades for several years; and Miss Fannie P. Cutler of the Center school. The vacancies thus created were filled by electing John H. Bachelder of East Concord, a graduate of the New Hampshire State College, and Miss Alice R. Peaslee of Contoocook, a graduate of Middlebury College, as High School assistants; and Miss Edythe L. Montgomery of Lancaster, Mass., a graduate of the Fitchburg Normal School, to be teacher at the North Branch school as successor to Miss Alice E. Cuddihy, who was transferred to the Center school. Miss Montgomery resigned at Thanksgiving time on account of home necessities. Her successor remained one week. After a week's vacation, the school opened again with Mrs. Fandie Ford in charge.

The enrollment at the South school was such that it seemed possible for three teachers to do the work of the elementary schools. Accordingly, grades one to three were assigned to Miss Barker, and grades four to six to Miss Balch. Even with this arrangement, the number of pupils in each room has not been excessive. The number of classes has been increased, of course, by the addition of one grade to each room, thus making the demands upon the teacher's time, strength and ingenuity more exacting than under the previous arrangement.

One reason for wishing to lessen the number of teachers in the grades at the South school was to make it possible to secure room for the introduction of courses in domestic arts and agriculture in the High School as recommended by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. H. C. Morrison, in a conference with the school board and district superintendent nearly a year ago. Therefore, when the present distribution of grade work was made, the room occupied by the third and fourth grades last year was left free to be used for the new work. A partition through the center of the room made of it two rooms, one of which is being used by the classes in domestic science, and the other by the classes in manual training. The former has been equipped with two sewing machines and suitable tables for the work in sewing. At the time of writing this report, the stoves and utensils needed for the work in cooking are being put in place. The manual training room contains six benches and the tools necessary for carrying on work of that nature.

Twenty-three girls, mainly from the freshman and sophomore classes, elected work in the domestic science course; and fourteen boys elected work in agriculture—a surprisingly large number.

To continue this work successfully, especially if the enrollment remains as large as at present, I would recommend that another assistant be engaged for the High School. This would make the number of teachers in the building the same that it has been heretofore. There seems to be a place and a demand for this sort of instruction as it evidently meets a distinct need at the present time.

The different High School curricula as approved by the State Department are given below.

The contest in spelling between the grammar schools of Antrim, Hillsborough and Peterborough, referred to in my last report, resulted in favor of Hillsborough, although Antrim was a close second and made an excellent record.

FREDERICK L. KENDALL,
Supt. of Schools.

REMARKS BY SCHOOL BOARD.

Citizens of Antrim:—

For a detailed account of school work we refer you to the other reports.

Some improvement has been made upon the property, notably the grading at North Branch and the new iron fence at Div. 1.

In the new departments in the High School much interest is shown. Some people have referred to the study of the soil and the teaching of cooking and sewing as "fads." What then would be sensible?

We tax ourselves heavily to build roads, lay pipes and otherwise improve and protect the value of our real estate. The real occupant is a greater factor than the real estate.

Very justly may we give the young people who shall soon have the care of the land, the home and the family, some special training for the work.

The amount of money required by law for carrying on school work is as follows:

Amount required by law	$1,920 00
Text books and supplies	400 00
Flags and appurtenances	10 00
Insurance	100 00

We recommend raising at the school meeting:

Salaries of School Board	$150 00
Treasurer	25 00
Truant Officer and taking census	20 00
Clerk	2 00
Additional for support of schools.....	2,600 00

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

Antrim, N. H., February 10, 1914.

Without exception the year just closed has been by far the most successful of any since the Tuttle Library was established.

During the twelve months the total circulation of books was 10,508, a gain of 883 over the number loaned last year. In other directions there has been an increased interest. During the hours that the Library has been open to the public there has been a good attendance in the reading rooms and the reference books have been in great demand, especially among the students of the town schools and members of the various clubs.

The number of borrowers' cards is a little in excess of 900, and of this number about 600 are in constant use. These cards represent readers from all sections of the town and it has been most gratifying to know that the number of borrowers in the east part of the town and near North Branch has increased during the year. As in previous years fiction has predominated to a considerable extent in the books loaned, but there has been an appreciable increase in the number of works on biography, history, science and travel taken out the past year.

It has been the aim of the Library to assist as far as possible the pupils of the town schools in supplying the necessary outside reading and as was done last year, a section of the stack-room was set aside for the books included in the school supplementary reading; in this section all the books belonging to the Library on the required list were collected and kept during the year. This method has been successful to a large degree and has been appreciated by both teachers and students.

A good number of new books have been added to the Library the latter part of the year, the list comprising the choicest new fiction and a generous number of works on history, religion, travels and biography.

During the year the list of visitors has been a large one and included a number of librarians and trustees of libraries in this and other states.

The Library has been especially fortunate in receiving loans and gifts from its many interested friends. One of the most valuable came from Mr. Wyman Kneeland Flint, who has so generously remembered the library in previous years and through this loan the Tuttle Library comes into possession of several valuable and interesting collections of coins, stuffed birds, and a large number of mineral specimens and curios from many sections of the world. It is hoped that before long these collections may be arranged in such a manner that they may be viewed by the public and will form the nucleus of a museum and natural history department of the library.

Another interesting addition to the Librray during the year is a curiously shaped section of a tree, resembling in a striking manner the head of a huge serpent. This curiosity was received from Mrs. Chester Conn.

Among those who have given books and magazines during the year are Miss Martha E. Woodbury of New York city, Wyman Kneeland Flint, Mrs. Charles R. Talbot of Brookline, Mass., Mrs. Gertrude Thompson of Brockton for the Emma Shipman Association of Boston, Cyrus F. Burge of Hollis, James A. Whitcomb of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hammett, Mrs. Warren R. Cochrane, H. W. Eldredge, Mrs. Lizzie Buckminster, Mrs. M. D. Poor, Mrs. Florence Madden, Morris E. Nay, members of the Pioneer Reading Club, Mrs. John Perkins, Miss Addie Munhall, Mrs. Lena Hansle, Mrs. Percival M. Whelpley, Mrs. Eugene H. Woodward and Mrs. Edwin T. Adams.

Other gifts to the Library during the year include a pastel portrait of the late Deacon Asa Bond presented by his daughter, Mrs. S. E. Gordon of Cliftondale, Mass., a number of interesting historical papers and articles from Mrs. Vernon Pierce of Boston, a large framed picture of the Rev. John M. Whiton, the town's first settled minister, from the grandchildren of Mr. Whiton; pictures of the parents of James A. Tuttle, from Mrs. Abbie Swain; portraits of George and Hannah Young from Hon. G. A. Cochran and family. During the year a life size picture of the late Rev. Warren R. Cochrane, for forty years pastor of the Antrim Presbyterian church and an author of considerable note, was presented the Library by Mrs. W. R. Cochrane and Mr. Hayward Cochrane; the picture occupies a prominent position in the south reading room of the Library, where it has attracted much attention.

An attractive addition to the north reading room is the handsome set of brass andirons with tongs and shovel, loaned by Mrs. Eugene H. Woodward.

Under the most prosperous conditions and with a most bright and encouraging outlook for the coming year the James A. Tuttle Library closes its record of the past twelve months. On account of the increased income from trust funds, it is planned to have the building open more time next year.

Respectfully submitted,

SARAH M. ADAMS,

Librarian.
