School Superintendent's Report

School Board of Littleton :

I beg leave to submit the following report of conditions and needs of the public schools.

Since the last annual report the equipment of the boys' shop has been completed and the upper part of the old shed has been made into a domestic arts room, and well equipped with range, tables, and utensils for use in cooking. Sewing is also taught. The remaining space over the wood shed is used for a store room for lumber.

A new chimney has been built for the high school building and the boiler reset, making the heating of that building much safer and more economical.

The third story or gymnasium has been fully sheathed with hard pine, banishing plaster dust, and greatly improving comfort and appearance.

The seats in the main high school room have been crowded together seating nearly the whole school in the room. Tables and chairs have been obtained for recitation use in the room formerly occupied by the freshman class. At Athorp two new floors have been laid.

Floors are poor in much of the high school building and at Pattenville and North Littleton. The high school building needs a larger basement, the heating plant and sanitary equipment at the Kilburn building are in poor condition and the basement conditions at Mitchell are entirely unsatisfactory. The worst conditions are in the crowded high school building. Seven years ago there were 288 pupils in the building. It was then clearly shown that a new and separate building for the high school was needed.

Last fall there were 386 pupils, an increase of 34 percent. No room has been added. We use a third story hall and a little side room on the lower floor that were never meant for class room purposes and we make children go out to recite as well as work in shop rooms that were never made or furnished for recitation purposes. The ventilation is absolutely inadequate and has not been improved for many years except that the little side class room has a ventilating radiator and special outlet. Light paint has improved the interior of the building but the rooms and especially the halls are still poorly lighted.

REGISTRATION AND ATTENDANCE

The registration for the fall term was 896. A year ago it was 844. The average membership last fall was 861, an increase from 802 a year ago. The average attendance last fall was 836, a percent of 97.1, slightly better than last year. There was a notable reduction in tardiness.

The increase in the number who were not absent or tardy is much greater than the increase in membership. The fall term showed the largest number of visits of parents and others yet recorded. Mitchell lower reported 67. Mitchell upper 44, Kilburn III next with 30. Apthorp total for six rooms 13, greatest number 5, rural schools 24, greatest number 12. Distribution at beginning of the winter term:

Grade	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	Sp.	Total
Village	9.7	109	74	78	73	71	63	54	17	636
Rural	10	9	8	8	12	7	8	10		72
Total	107	118	82	86	85	78	71	64		708
Av. age	6.7	8.1	9.1	10.5	11.4	12.1	13.0	14.2
Retard- ation	.2	.6	.2	1.0	.9	.6	.5	.7

The census of last September showed 869 children between the ages of 5 and 16, 429 boys and 440 girls.

The membership varies from time to time, Jan. 29 there were 627 pupils in the village grades, 74 in rural schools and 157 in the high school.

RURAL SCHOOLS

At present there are 74 pupils in the four rural schools. The work done in them compares favorably with that of the grades. The idea concerning rural schools most commonly advanced in this state is to have a good school within walking distance of every child, if possible. Where children are few and scattered, that is, of course, often not possible. It may not always be good economy in districts near a village, where the village schools are suitable and the transportation problem not difficult. Where rural schools are likely to be permanent, they should be well housed. Our school houses need better arranged lighting and some need more than they now have. All of them should be better heated, with circulation as well as heating of the air. Jackets around the old stoves would help. Basements could be easily built in several instances. Running water ought to be provided, permitting clean drinking, cleanliness, and sanitary disposition of sewage. It is not right to have everything so primitive and then blame teachers for unsanitary conditions. Work rooms ought to be attached to the school room, so that children may have their chance at the manual training which is becoming a part of school life. More land is needed around nearly every school house.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING

It has become a recognized fact that a child's natural activity should govern the means used for his education, that his instincts and rate of development and growth are the guides for the teacher's work. This works out in two ways, in a recognition of the great importance of play in education and in the introduction of hand-work or industrial training into the schools. The term "industrial training" is sometimes used to mean training for special industries or trades. It is used here to mean any material for education drawn from the common industries of life, such as the child sees all around him. "Hand-work" as a name is likely to fix attention too closely on the hand itself, when as a matter of fact, all such work when suitably chosen is more important for the mental work it demands and the mental power it promotes.

Simple activities like paper cutting, clay modeling and cardboard work will do for the younger children. In the middle grades the condition is unsatisfactory for it is difficult to plan any line of hand-work suited to the pupil's stage of development and also to the limitations of the schoolroom.

In practice industrial training divides into several branches. From the beginning of school life we may and should use the oldest and most necessary of all occupations, agriculture, including under that name all that school children can do with growing things, both vegetable and animal, from the little one with his penny packet of seeds to the boys and girls in their teens who hold the highest records in several lines of crop growing and care of animals. Your superintendent has always urged the importance of this work on teachers and encouraged the efforts of the children. For two years school fairs have been held for the exhibition of children's work. Last September, 250 children made 400 exhibits of a high degree of merit and we had about $15 to offer in prizes. There are many things for which it would be well worth while to offer more than that as a single prize. For any important contest prizes and rules ought to be announced before the planting season.

Soon after passing out of the primary grades there appears a natural tendency to a division of industrial training along lines of sex. The fact that all but a very small minority of the girls will be home makers sometime, settles the nature of this training for them. We are providing instruction in cooking and sewing for girls of the seventh and eighth grades. They are not only learning lessons, but doing practical work. In the beginning of the year they made jelly and sold a considerable amount. They regularly prepare and sell at cost to such pupils as desire, a part of the noon lunch. In sewing, they are working to help meet the great need across the water.

Of the varied industrial life of men wood-working meets the conditions of school life and the needs of growing boys best. Our seventh and eighth grade boys are benefiting greatly by their shop work. It is practical, because nearly all the time at the bench is used in making articles which the boy wants and which will be useful to him and to others. The expense of running the domestic arts and manual training rooms has been very slight. One teacher has this year attended to both departments.

Next year another teacher should be employed, preferably a man for manual training. Some of the simplest work should be begun in the sixth grade, and courses should be introduced into the first high school year. Very little in the way of addition to rooms and equipment is needed. A shed can be made for wood outside the present one, the whole lower floor of the building used for manual training and storage, and an additional room provided upstairs. This statement refers to industrial training only and has no reference to our great need for more and better rooms for schools. A dining table and set of dishes upstairs and one or two lathes downstairs, are most of the additional equipment needed.

PLAY

Play is an essential part of a child's life. It is Nature's way of providing for bodily growth and skill, mental power, and strengthening of will and character. It is so important that it must not be overlooked by those having in charge the training of children, and so much a part of child life that older people should exercise great care in dealing with the subject. For several years we have provided twice a year a contest of athletic games, so planned as to promote all round bodily development and bring out the best effort from every child in the upper grades. It is the testimony of the teachers that during the weeks when the children are preparing for the contest play ground troubles are least and school room attention at its best. A healthy class and school spirit is developed, which is having a beneficial effect as these pupils go on into the high school.

PROGRESS

In communities where united progressive public effort is natural and common, the schools as well as other public activities will be good. In the conditions which exist in Littleton we have done more than hold our own. Standards have been raised, methods of instruction improved, many problems studied and solved, wholly or in part. The rural schools have been brought as far as possible under the same standards and up to the same level as the graded schools. An old shed has been changed into a valuable building and manual training and domestic arts are beginning to have their rightful place in the education of our children. Your board is to be congratulated that so much has been done in spite of difficulties. It may be good for us to exercise our ingenuity and overcome obstacles, but it would be better for the children if some of the obstacles were removed. The district meets current expenses generously. There is opportunity for the same generosity in providing suitable housing. Money is not all. There is room for greater personal acquaintance and more organized assistance.

TEACHERS

Last spring every teacher in the village grades accepted reelection. It is a very satisfactory record, both that all were deemed worthy of reelection and that all were willing to stay. Two teachers were added, one for manual training and domestic arts, and one for the seventh and eighth grade assistance. One teacher resigned before school began, and during the year we have had to make three changes, all of which we regretted, although the service is being continued in excellent fashion. One new assistant has been employed for the fifth and sixth grades in the high school building. Two changes were made in the high school staff and two among the rural schools.

NEEDS

Littleton has long needed a new high school building. At the present rate of progress, two buildings will be needed long before one is ready. The demand for room has become so imperative that we cannot be too hard to suit as to quality. The old building must be made to serve for the grades if nothing better can be done. Completing the two rooms at Apthorp would help and ought to be done, It must be remembered that this is only a partial relief, for the present overcrowding is in the main part of the village and it is an advantage to have all seventh and eighth grade pupils together.

A new high school building with a good basement, gymnasium and other modern features should be at once provided. It is true that the third story of the present building is of little use except for games, but it can only be reached by passing through schoolrooms, a distinct invitation to bad order. In our long northern winters two places for indoor athletics are none too many for the number of young people interested. When the new building is provided, one of the things that should be done to the old is to make a better entrance to the third story, either by building a new one at the rear, or by returning the stairways to the front where they were originally.

Our needs in the matter of buildings are not growing less by being put off, as the following summary will show :

A new high school building.

Improvements to (or replacement of) the old building.

New heating and sanitary equipment under Kilburn building.

Completion of the Apthorp building.

Improvements of Mitchell building.

New floors at North Littleton and Pattenville, with remodeling of rural school buildings to meet modern conditions.

These further recommendations are also made :

Medical inspection.

Extension of industrial training to first year of high school, sixth grade, and upper grades of rural schools.

In conclusion it seems highly fitting to speak of our great regret and feeling of loss caused by the removal of Rev. Dr. T. W. Harris. The town is the loser in school matters as in many other ways. Dr. Harris' good sense, wide knowledge and experience made him a valuable member of the school and especially helpful as counsel to the superintendent. Our best wishes go with him to his new home.

With thanks to school board and citizens for their kindness and good will and with gratification for the patience and harmony that have been exhibited, this report is

Respectfully submitted,

D. F. CARPENTER.

Report of Supervisor of Music

Mr. D. F. Carpenter,
Supt. of Schools.

Dear Sir :

It has been my endeavor, during thirty years of teaching music in Littleton Public Schools, to place my subject on the level with the other studies of the school curriculum.

The educational value of music is much better understood today than ever before, and few subjects in the school and college curriculum have so many and so great educational values. These values are not only ethical, emotional, cultural and esthetic, but social, intellectual and vocational. Educators are ready to bear witness that music in schools tends to induce and strengthen school spirit, as its development is fundamental in character, broad in its influence and far reaching in its effects.

The object of music in the schools is not to make musicians of the students, but rather to fit music into their normal general life, where its artistic leaven may work toward higher elevation. Is it not worth as much to a child to be able to read at sight the printed page of music as it is to translate a page of Greek or Latin ?

Looking back over the years work in music, I take pleasure in reporting a satisfactory rate of progress. Every school gives evidence of greater accuracy and improved tone qualities. The high school has one hundred fifty-six pupils and of these one hundred twenty-four are in the music class. As you know, music in the high school is elective, so I think this speaks for itself. as regards the popularity of the course with the pupils. It has been a pleasure to look forward from week to week to my periods in the high school, for the students are interested and enthusiastic.

One pleasant event of the year was the work of the pupils of the high school chorus on Feb. 5, 1915, at the opera house, giving as their part of the program, "The Lord is Great," by Mendelsshon, and "Slumber Song," by Lohr.

At no time do I remember having more willing and hearty cooperation from the teachers. My thanks are due and are hereby extended to them for their help, also to to the Board of Education, to you, Mr. Carpenter, to Mr. Speare, and to Miss Kinne, the assistant music teacher. With the right kind of teachers and supervisors, and the cooperation of principal, superintendent and Board of Education, we can bring school music to a higher standard and help to develop an America greater in music.

Respectfully submitted,

HATTIE QUIMBY BINGHAM,

Supervisor of Music.

High School Report

School Board of Littleton :

The present school year has been a prosperous one in many respects for Littleton High School. The enrollment has reached 161, the largest number in the history of the school. Of these almost none have left except for reason of removal from town. The scholarship average has been high, a fact which speaks well for the industry of the pupils, the efficiency of the teachers, and the cooperation of the parents.

We were extremely fortunate in retaining Mr. Doody as submaster. He has proved his efficiency in teaching and management and is, unquestionably, one of the best men in a position of this kind in the state. I advise that every possible effort be made to keep him in Littleton High school.

It was our good fortune also to retain Miss Gibbs and Miss Foster. Both have maintained a high standard of efficiency. The work in stenography was especially commended by the State Department of Public Instruction.

In Miss Wilcox and Miss Fairbanks we have found two instructors of proved ability in teaching.

In general the work of the high school teachers should be commended.

The student activities of the high school are receiving helpful encouragement. Athletics are on a safe and sane basis. Our school ranks high in basketball. The school paper, The Record, has been a success. The Agora, our school society, is continuing its work. Debating is arousing greater interest this year. Doubtless the work begun in the debate with Lebanon High school will be kept up.

The physical equipment of the school has been improved. The gymnasium on the third floor was repaired during the summer vacation, when sheathing was substituted for the dilapidated plastering. The gymnasium has been a scene of busy activity in athletics, being in pretty constant use, and has become one of the most useful places in town. There is further need, however, of a new hardwood floor. The recitation room on the third floor was newly repaired and refurnished, and equipped with satisfactory heating. The freshman room, during the Christmas vacation, was changed into a recitation room by the removal of the pupils' desks to the main room, where, according to the advice of State Superintendent Morrison the desks were banked double, thus providing for the seating of nearly the whole school. Two new chemical desks for the laboratory have been ordered, and we are anxiously awaiting their installation.

Judged by the standards of the state department of education the school is making satisfactory progress. Last November State Superintendent H. C. Morrison spent two days in inspecting the high school. He expressed his satisfaction with all lines of the work, basing his judgment upon the efficiency of the teaching, as measured by the activity and preparation of the pupils. He was especially pleased with the class in American Constitutional history. Because the course in this subject, both in method and content, met the approval of the State Superintendent, the principal has had the pleasure of presenting his practice in this work at several Teachers' Institutes throughout the state.

In American History the plan is being consistently carried out to teach the origins and development of our forms of government, as a preparation for good citizenship. In other courses similar aims are being kept in mind. The sciences, especially, are undergoing a reorganization that gives them a practical value to the pupil in his daily life. Littleton high school is doing as much as possible in the direction of giving an education of real value to your boys and girls.

This year we expect to graduate 31 boys and girls, the largest class in our history. Of this number are several very capable young women from the Commercial Course who can, without hesitation, be recommended for employment in business offices. Thus this Commercial Course is proving its value in fitting your young people for life.

Two vocational courses, however, should be added another year, viz., Domestic Arts and Mechanics Arts. These are being taught in the elementary schools this year. No adequate reason can be given for not continuing them in the high school. There is a real demand for these courses, not only to keep the school progressive, but also to give to your boys and girls the greater opportunity of education. They should be established for the next school year.

But more room is needed. Our large enrollment has, this year, filled our available space. What shall we do with the pupils if the school continues to grow next year? There is, of course, some space still available on the third floor, which will require considerable expense to make it safe and adequate. It ought to be evident before long that a new school building is essential in Littleton. I wish to register my belief in the immediate necessity for such a structure, in a way that will preclude any possibility of misunderstanding my position in this matter.

I wish to thank the parents of Littleton for their cooperation. To you, gentlemen of the School Board, in behalf of the teachers of Littleton High School, I express gratitude for your loyal support.

GUY E. SPEARE, Principal.

VITAL STATISTICS

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1914

Of the 76 deaths occurring in Littleton during the year 1914, 40 were males and 36 females. The oldest person was 98 years, 2 days ; there were 2 between 90 and 100 ; 5 between 80 and 90 ; 11 between 70 and 80 ; 12 between 60 and 70 ; 10 between 50 and 60 ; 6 between 40 and 50 ; 8 between 30 and 40 ; 3 between 20 and 30 ; 2 between 10 and 20 ; and 17 under 10 ; of this latter number 9 were stillborn. The average age at death, exclusive of the stillborn, was 51 years, 4 months and 1 day.

Of the 103 births occurring in Littleton during the year 1914, 46 were males and 57 females.

Every birth should be recorded as required by the public statutes. The law of this state makes it obligatory upon the physician, or midwife, in attendance to make a return of every birth to the town clerk within six days thereafter, and a certified copy of the return to be made by the clerk to the State Department of Vital Statistics, where it is filed for future reference in fireproof compartments in the State House. Such a record, as is required by law, is due the child, and it may become of great importance later in life.

This is not simply a matter of interest to historians, genealogists, statisticians and insurance actuaries. It directly affects the whole structure of society. It may settle legal questions, establishes proof of voting age, inheritance, nationality, military duty, citizenship, etc.

It is required by many corporations before employment is given ; it is necessary to allow school children of a certain age to be employed during vacation periods ; it is required in civil service examinations ; appointment to certain official positions, to establish property, pensions, insurance and various other rights.
