BROWN DEFEATS NEW HAMPSHIRE Stronger Team Scores At Will.

Without four of the team's best players, three of whom are veterans, New Hampshire was defeated by Brown on last Saturday in Providence by the overwhelming score of 56 to 0. Circumstances compelling the team to start the game badly crippled and the fact that Brown had nine of last year's victorious veterans, were responsible for the defeat.

Brackett was not at quarterback on account of injuries received against Bates last Saturday. He was compelled to go home and returned to college only Sunday evening. Leach was not permitted to play at guard, being more than seven hours down. Both Pettengill and Davison were hurt in the scrimmage last week, the former straining his knee and the latter, his ankle. Pettengill did not go on the trip. Davison started the game, but was taken out after a few minutes of play.

The substitutes, Robinson at tackle, Jenness at guard, Crosby at guard and Jones at quarterback, played a good game, considering that they were pitted against far heavier and more experienced men. The linemen were outweighed at least 20 pounds.

Kiley at end, played a star game, getting into every play and spilling the interference. One time he dumped every man in the Brown backfield, including the runner. The playing of Reardon on the other end was fair at times. The playing of Perkins was the feature of the game. His hard and consistent tackling both at center and on the ends kept down the score. The tackling of the team as a whole was bad and many times the Brown runner slipped away, because a New Hampshire men would not dive for him.

Brown has a strong team. Nine of last year's letter men are playing, including Sprackling, the All America quarterback. The latter man is a star and proved very elusive. His long runs around the ends paved the way for many of Brown's touchdowns. Brown's line from tackle to tackle averaged 190 pounds, and the heavy linemen came through and spilled New Hampshire's secondary defense. New Hampshire could not cope with Brown's forward passes. Three touchdowns were made on passes from Sprackling to the ends. Other long gains were made by the same method.

The Game.

New Hampshire won the toss and Brown kicked to Swasey. Lowd made three yards on a fake run and Crosby punted to Brown's 30 yard line. Brown could not gain and punted, recovering the ball on New Hampshire's 30 yard line. Sprackling carried the ball over for a touchdown on an end run. New Hampshire kicked off, Sprackling receiving the ball and carrying it back to the 55 yard line. Two end runs resulted in another score. New Hampshire again kicked off to Brown. An exchange of punts gave Brown the ball on her own 20 yard line. A long end run and a forward pass resulted in another touchdown. The period ended with the ball in Brown's possession in the middle of the field. Score-Brown 18, New Hampshire 0.

In the second period with three forward passes, Brown carried the ball over the line. New Hampshire again kicked to Brown and on the first play the latter team carried the ball to New Hampshire's 20 yard line, where she lost it on a fumble. New Hampshire kicked to the middle of the field. On a long end run and a forward pass, Brown again scored. On receiving the kick-off, Brown tallied once more on three long end runs. New Hampshire made first down once before the half ended in a ten yard run around the end by Swasey. Score-Brown 34, New Hampshire 0.

Second Half.

The third period opened with a number of substitutes in the Brown line-up. Reardon received the kick-off and fumbled when tackled. New Hampshire, however, recovered the ball on a fumble. Lowd made ten yards around right end. An exchange of punts gave New Hampshire the ball on her 40 yard line. Crosby punted over the goal line and Brown placed the ball in scrimmage on the 25 yard line. Marble of Brown on the first play, ran the length of the field for a touchdown. A few minutes later the period ended. Score-Brown 41, New Hampshire 0.

The last period, the original Brown team was again in the line-up. The ball was in Brown's possession on her own 15 yard line. End runs by Sprackling and the halfbacks carried the ball to New Hampshire's 12 yard line, where Haine's recovered a fumble. Crosby punted outside on his own 22 yard line and then a Brown player went around end for a touchdown. The next and last touchdown followed soon after the kick-off on three long end runs.

It was the same old story after the next kick-off and Brown again carried the ball almost to New Hampshire's goal line, where she was held for downs on the five yard line. New Hampshire punted. Sprackling tried for a field goal and failed. Crosby punted out from the 25 yard line. Brown made 25 yards on a forward pass and then Sprackling dropped the ball over the bar from the 35 yard line. The game ended. Score-Brown 56, New Hampshire 0.

AT THE ROCHESTER FAIR. New Hampshire College Makes Exhibit.

New Hampshire college had a splendid exhibit at the Rochester Fair last week.

The Mechanical Engineering department had numerous exhibits in the line of patterns from the wood shop. Among these were patterns of gears, shaft hangers, clamps, pulleys, back rests for engine lathes, circular saw sets, speed lathe rests and other articles embracing the underlying principles of the pattern maker's trade, some of them showing the uses of dry sand cones in foundry work.

Another case contained work from the machine and forge shops together with a generator capable of generating current sufficient for 5.32 candle power lamps. This generator was made and designed by a present member of the senior class.

Agronomy Department.

The Agronomy department had displays of forage grains and showed by the use of charts the result of fertilizers on hay yields. Commercial grass and clover with all the impurities were shown, as was also a complete line of foreign seed.

Botany and Entomology Departments.

The Botany and Entomology departments were represented together. The former had a display illustrating the various diseases of orchard trees and plants, while the latter had a most interesting demonstration of the work of the apple maggot which is found so often in this state.

The series of experiments on the extermination of the root maggot received much attention. The design of the experiments was to show the value of the commercial insecticides and the effects of different chemical compounds on the lives of these pests. Ants were used in the demonstration as they were more easily obtained and are better able to resist chemicals than the maggots themselves.

Horticultural Department.

This department had attractive displays of improved varieties of melons and cucumbers.

General.

Aside from these the college had exhibits of large pictures of its buildings, scenes about the campus and cups won by the several judging teams of the agricultural department.

CONVOCATION.

At the convocation exercises, Wed. Sept. 27, the students and faculty of the college and the delegates of the Stratford Congregational churches had a joint meeting. Mr. Ernest S. Butler, of Boston, gave the address on "The Men and Religion Forward Movement."

THE DUTY OF THE STATE TO THE COLLEGE.

By Hon. A. L. BOUTWELL, '82

President Gibbs on more than one occasion has aptly and truly said that the New Hampshire College is the "capstone of the public school system of New Hampshire."

The legislature has provided that cities, towns, or school districts must establish and maintain public schools including in most cases high schools. Each city, town or school district within the limitations of the statute is responsible for the education of the children residing therein. Each is charged with the control and management of its own public schools and must pay the expense thereof. Cities and towns, however, are not required by law to maintain colleges or to furnish a college education to the children residing within their territorial limits. The duty of providing a higher education for the youth of New Hampshire has been reserved to the state itself. The same law giving power, the legislature, which directed cities and towns to establish and maintain grammar and high schools, has provided that the state shall establish and maintain a college of the higher education for young men and young women. The law provides that the state shall have the control and management of the state college and shall pay the expenses thereof, that is to say, the amount required in addition to the sum supplied by the United States Government, by gift, etc.

The work of the state college is supplemental to the work of the schools maintained by cities and towns. In other words, the state college is intended to extend, complete and round out the education furnished by the public school system of New Hampshire. It therefore follows that the relation and duty of the State of New Hampshire to our college is similar in principle to the relation and duty of cities, town or school districts to secondary schools.

The statutes of many states provide that, if a city or town neglects to provide suitable school accommodations for its public schools or the reasonable and necessary supplies and equipment therefor, the school committee or other proper board may provide the same upon the credit of the city or town without any appropriation therefor. Statutes involving the same principles are in force in the State of New Hampshire. No such statute, however, applies to the state college and the trustees are limited to the appropriations made by the state. The moral duty of providing suitable buildings and equipment remains in full force and virtue upon the State of New Hampshire.

When an able, experienced, and learned professor feels called upon to resign his position because appropriations are not available for the furnishing of proper equipment for carrying on instruction in his department and comfortable accommodations for New Hampshire boys and girls who desire instruction in his course, is it not fair to say that the state is negligent in its duty? Is it not the duty of the state to furnish proper accommodations and equipment for all those New Hampshire boys and girls who desire to pursue the courses laid down in the curriculum of the state college?

PROFESSIONAL COACHES.

As one watches the athletic contests here or in other colleges, one is impressed with the methods of the coach (generally professional) either on or off the field. These methods are of two classes: those that are clean and above board, and those that are underhanded and unsportsmanlike. The man who shows himself to be of the second class does much to injure the name of the institution which engages him. Frequently in the experience of the writer such men have visited our college, and each time have left an unpleasant odor of mucker tricks and childish anger, thus straining relations between the colleges. This only shows us the more how careful we must be in choosing a man to teach our teams "the games." At present we feel that we are particularly fortunate in having as football coach one of the men of the first class, George McCaa, a man who teaches the clean article, and we are glad, for when the season is over no one can say that anything but clean team-play has prevailed.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

We are in receipt of an announcement from the United States Civil Service Commission calling attention to the regular fall examinations on October 18-19, 1911, for position in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Examinations will be given in the following subjects: Agronomy, Dairying, Entomology, Farm Management, Forage Crops, Horticulture, Library Science, Physiology and Nutrition of Man, Plant Breeding, Plant Pathology, Pomology, Seed Testing, Soil Surveying, Soil Bacteriology, and Animal Husbandry. Persons interested are invited to communicate with the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and full information regarding the opportunities in the service, scope of examinations, salaries, etc., will be furnished.

We congratulate Editor-in-Chief Alan Leighton, Business Manager Thomas Twomey, and their associates upon "The New Hampshire," the weekly newspaper which is the new form of the official publication at the State college, Durham. It is handsome and newsy, a credit to the institution it represents and to the young men whose enterprise and hard work make its existence possible.—Concord Evening Monitor.

The state college eleven showed excellent symptoms Saturday; some of which presage greater success on the gridiron this year than it has ever experienced before. And this is saying much, for opponents have always realized that the football field was no napping place with New Hampshire against them.—Foster's Daily Democrat of Sept. 25.

The Democrat welcomes another enterprise in New Hampshire journalism, the first number of "The New Hampshire" having left the press today. Editor Leighton is to be congratulated over the excellent appearance of this weekly, which will be a valuable institution at the state college. Foster's Daily Democrat.

Long life and success to New Hampshire college's new weekly newspaper, The New Hampshire, which takes the place of The College Monthly. It starts with the advantage of a sublime name and has a correspondingly high standard to establish and maintain. Long may it wave.—Manchester Union.

New Hampshire state made a creditable beginning. McCaa, the old Lafayette kicker, was a splendid all round man in college and the state college boys should be well coached.—Boston Globe.

New Hampshire State college made a ten strike when she secured McCaa, captain of the 1909 Lafayette eleven, and one of the greatest field goal kickers the game has ever known, to coach the Durham football team this fall.—Manchester Union.

LECTURE COURSE.

The lecture course committee consisting of Professors Whoriskey, Moore, and O'Kane, is trying to get three prominent lectures for the lecture course this winter. They also expect to have two of the best musical entertainments ever given in Durham. The chairman of the committee requests that the evening of January 13 be reserved by the student body exclusively for the use of the committee.

De Laval

which all others are judged

For more than thirty years the DE LAVAL has been acknowledged as the World's Standard.

You may hear it said of some separator that "It's as good as a DE LAVAL;" or if some competing salesman wants to make his argument particularly strong he'll say "It's better than a DE LAVAL." The concern with a cheaply and poorly constructed machine says "Just as good as a DE LAVAL and costs less."

But everywhere the DE LAVAL is recognized by experienced creamerymen and dairymen and even by makers of would-be competing machines as the

World's Standard

The cream separator is more frequently used than any other machine on the farm, and for that reason, if for no other, only the very best should be purchased, and that's the DE LAVAL.

The more you come to know about cream separators the more certain you will be to buy a DE LAVAL.

A river never rises higher than its source. A state never rises higher than the people residing therein. Public education is not furnished solely for the benefit of the individual but also for the benefit of the state. A state whose people are honest, industrious and intellectual is far more prosperous and takes a far higher rank than those states whose people do not possess those qualifications. If New Hampshire is to prosper in the future it must be because its agriculture, its manufactures, and its industries along every line are carried on upon a higher scientific plain. In all these lines success can come only by the use of brains.

The New Hampshire College, if properly supported, will do more toward the development of brains along industrial lines than any other institution of learning in New Hampshire. Properly supported its present rapid increase in numbers and efficiency will be continued. If the people of New Hampshire can fully realize the full relation and duty of the state to the college, we believe that the college will no longer lack proper financial and moral support. Let the Publicity Board continue its good work until every man and woman in New Hampshire appreciates the true relation and duty of the state to the college.

RIFLE CLUB.

Last year a rifle team was organized here at New Hampshire, which shot in the National Rifle Association of America's inter-collegiate league and made a very creditable showing. This year the indoor range at the gymnasium has been improved and now eight targets may be mounted at a time. New light proof shades have been installed and it is expected the range will be used off from the rest of the basement and that mats will be provided for prone shooting.

Owing to the large number of college teams entering the league this year, the league will probably be divided into three or four divisions, the winners in each division completing together for the championship. This method will shorten the number of matches each team will shoot. It is also expected that an association medal will be given to the man on each team obtaining the highest total score of the season.

The first meeting of the club is called for Thursday (tomorrow) night at 4 p. m., in the gymnasium. All new men interested in indoor shooting are requested to attend as are all the members. With proper support and an early start New Hampshire should produce an especially good team this year.

RANGE UNDERGOING REPAIRS.

Repairs are being made on the outdoor range and it will probably be ready for use in a few days. A small storage shed is being erected in which to put the equipment and the students may then shoot the courses prescribed for the 200 and 300 yard ranges at any time convenient to them.

Cole, '14; D. O. Worster, '14.

We wish to correct an item which appeared in our last issue, in regard to the
"Alumni Secretary." F. E. McKone,
'09 has been appointed assistant secretary. L. A. Pratt, '09 is still secretary of the Association and will continue to do all the regular work of secretary.
Mr. McKone will do much of the routine work that can be done to better advantage here in Durham.

Mr. B. W. Sherburne has gone to Methuen, Mass., testing for advanced registry at the Searles estate.
