1914 CLASS HOLDS

SOPHOMORE HOP.

 Successful Dance Held Last Friday.

The sixth annual Sophomore Hop given by the class of 1914 was held last Friday evening in the gymnasium with the largest assembly in the history of the event in attendance. A concert and reception was held from eight till nine o'clock. This was followed by dancing which lasted until two. The matrons and Mrs. Brackett were in the receiving line and were much admired. As usual the gymnasium was attractively decorated with a number of banners. The matrons' corner at one end of the building was especially tastily arrayed, the artistic draping of the eaves and the American flag and the new battalion Co. A, displayed for the first time, adding much to its attractiveness.

March: March—"Fratt," F. Borth Overture—Hungarian Lapstiep, J. B. Lamphe Medley—"Bits of Remick's Hit," J. B. Lamphe Xylophone Solo—"American Patrol," G. M. Measham Selection—"The Girl of My Dreams," J. Bernstein Characteristic, "Tally-Ho," J. Bernstein Following this concert the grand march was formed and led by the direction of Marshal R. W. Smart wasListing until two. The matrons and Pres. Brackett were in the receiving line at the reception. As usual the gymnasium was attractively decorated with a number of banners. The matrons' corner at one end of the building was especially tastily arrayed, the artistic draping of the eaves and the American flag and the new battalion Co. A, displayed for the first time, adding much to its attractiveness.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BEATS AN­

DOVER.

Game Won in Last Three Minutes.

In the most sensational basketball game of the year New Hampshire defeated Andover on the latter's floor by the score of 22-20. The game was uninteresting in the first half but in the last period Came, Thompson, and Holden played wonderful basketball, overcoming a lead of ten points and holding the opponents without a score. Holden scored six baskets from the floor one which was the deciding goal of the contest. Thompson in the last ten minutes of the game made two spectacular shots from the center.

The game started off slowly with Andover easily taking the lead after a few minutes of play. At the end of the first half the score stood 10-10 and Holden had made all of New Hampshire's points. In the second half the style of play changed. Came at center from the floor Holden and Thompson made two free throws each. With three minutes to play Thompson dropped two neat goals from the middle of the floor in rapid succession and with seconds instead of minutes to play Captain Holden clinched the game by a magnificent goal from a difficult angle at the center of the gymnasium. The work of Lowd and Watson at guards speaks for itself for Andover did not score for itself for Andover did not score in the second period. The summary:

VARSITY 43, ALUMNI 14.

Last Saturday afternoon in a desul­ tory but interesting and amusing basketball game before a large audience of guests at the various house parties, the varsity defeated the alumni by the score of 43-14. The substitutes played during the game with the Alumni to the score 4-3 in favor of the alumni, but the first team went into the game at the beginning of the second quarter and the game immediately lost its closeness.

The varsity was able to score almost at will, Holden and Jones scoring in floor work and in shooting. Wyman for the Alumni scored three difficult goals from the floor. The summary:

MY MACKINAW.

E—The Junior class has recently purchased a mackinaw coat of red plaid for every member. Prof. Brooks new custom is the stimulus of the following poem. A Junior mackinaw I wear.

In comfort, every breath I draw, There's lots of room to grow,

He's green with envy I am told.

We'll wear the plaid through senior year, And then give you a chance.

Construction and Management, and A. H. Sawyer read a paper on Sanitary Milk.

In comfort, every breath I draw,

There's lots of room to grow,

He's green with envy I am told.

We'll wear the plaid through senior year, And then give you a chance.

Ten years or even five years ago the prospective intimate relations between Phillips Exeter Academy and our own institution would have been considered impossible or impracticable. The past few years have given us an impetus in all colleges and other large schools to close relations among one another. We are very glad that we can have such close friendship with the Academy and particularly at this time does the New Hampshire desire to express its appreciation of the generous way in which the relay squad was treated and assisted in its recent workouts on the board track. Coach ... and Physical Director Ross did much toward making our men feel at home, and thanks are due them as well as to the school authorities.

Some time ago Prof. W. C. O'Kane was appointed to one of the important offices of the commonwealth, that of State Health Inspector; then, shortly following that came the announcement of the placing of Mr. H. P. Judkins, '11, as his assistant. These two appointments coming so closely together, bring with them the feeling that in the past, offices of public trust and worth seem to have been sidestepped or shunned by men.

Frank A. Davis, '86.

Frank A. Davis ’86, is one of the most enthusiastic and energetic supporters of New Hampshire College. He believes in progressivism and has proved his loyalty to the expenditure of time and money in the interest of his Alma Mater.

He was born in Lee, N. H., August 25, 1866, of old New England stock. He obtained his early education in the schools of his native town and Franklin Academy, Dover, N. H. He entered college at Hanover in 1883 and graduated in 1886.

Graduating he engaged in school teaching and newspaper work until 1890. He entered the U. S. Signal Corps March 4, 1890, and continued them until the formation of the Weather Bureau under the charge of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Having chosen the course of a strictly military life in the signal corps, or a position in the new Weather Bureau, he chose the latter. He continued in the Weather Bureau until Sept. 1, 1896. While in the Weather Bureau he was stationed at the most important stations of Boston, Baltimore and New York. He was in charge temporarily of the Manchester, N. H., station in 1892.

While in the government service he studied medicine and was graduated from Boston University School of Medicine in 1898. During the latter part of his junior year he took the Massachusetts State Board Examination, which entitled him to practise medicine in Massachusetts. The same year he also received honorary degree of Bachelor of Medicine from the college for good scholarship. After graduating he did post-graduate work in several of the large hospitals in New York City, then returned to Boston and took up the practice of medicine, which he still continues.

He was president of his class the first year in Medical College. He was president of the New England Electro-Therapeutic Association in 1909. He has served as Chairman of several important committees in various medical societies. He is one of the visiting physicians in charge of the Electrical and X-Ray Department of the Boston Dispensary, the largest out patient institution in Boston. He has published several important papers on various medical subjects. He has contributed numerous poems, short stories, essays, etc., to various papers and magazines. He has been deeply interested in the recent welfare of the New Hampshire College and has served as Chairman of the Visiting Committee of the Alumni Association for two years. He has been successful in the several activities in which he has been engaged.

He has obtained success through diligent and conscientious effort. He has lived in Boston’s Back Bay district for eleven years. His residence and office at the present time are at 40 Beacon street. He is not married.

Dr. Davis is a strong man, strong in his profession, strong in his desire to assist in the development of our College. We need the aid of more such men.

Charles H. Hood, '80.

The only survivor of the class of 1890 at graduation was Charles Harvey Hood.
