Fumbling Proved Costly For Our Team.

There was joy at Kingston, R. I., Saturday evening, and a corresponding gloom at Durham, when the result of the football game, between New Hampshire and Rhode Island became known. Rhode Island won, 25 to 0.

The student body would not at first believe the report it saw on the bulletin board at Thompson Hall. It was not thought possible that diminutive Rhode Island would be able to run up a score. However, the bulletin was true, but a few accompanying words beside the score, which were "Considerable Fumbling," partly explains the story of the defeat.

The New Hampshire backfield could not hold the ball and Rhode Island was ever alert to take advantage of the mistakes. This alertness won the game. There is no doubt about that. The recovery of fumbles alone gave Rhode Island enough opportunities to win.

Sullivan's kicking, which New Hampshire has had cause to fear for the last two years, also figured prominently in the scoring. He kicked two drop kicks from the field, netting his team six points.

There was considerable contrast as to the method of play the teams used. Rhode Island used straight football, while New Hampshire resorted to the forward pass. New Hampshire seemed unable to stop the onslaughts of Sherwin and Newton just outside of tackle, and it was Brackett, who finally brought the runner to the ground.

Woodman, Corriveau and Brackett starred for New Hampshire. A shift in the backfield let Hobbs start the game at left halfback, and with Bissell at fullback. Woodman, later substituted for Hobbs and played a good game.

First Half.

With the wind blowing in the faces of the team, New Hampshire kicked off. Rhode Island immediately began plowing down the field, making 30 yards in five downs. The line then held and Sullivan was forced to punt. The ball landed on the one yard line. In the first formation, Hobbs made 30 yards around the end, and Sullivan was the only man between him and a touchdown. He slipped and was downed by two Rhode Island players, fumbling the ball as he fell. When the pile was uncovered, the ball was found underneath a Rhode Island jersey. Sullivan raked around the end for 20 yards, and Newton made ten yards through tackle aided by great interference. The ball was now on New Hampshire's three yard line. Two more plunges secured a touchdown. Sullivan failed to kick the goal.

Rhode Island kicked off. On the first play Brackett skirted the end for 35 yards. New Hampshire fumbled, however, on the next down, and Rhode Island recovered the ball. Sullivan attempted to duplicate his feat of a few minutes before, but Clark broke through the interference and nailed him for a big loss. A try at the other end was more successful. Brackett finally stopped him within 35 yards of the goal line. Corriveau replaced Kiley, whose side was injured. Sullivan finished the half with a pretty drop kick from 35 yard line. Score R. I. 9, N. H. 0.

Second Period.

At the start, New Hampshire was penalized 15 yards for holding. A forward pass, Jones to Jenness, gained 15 yards, and another on the next down, four more. New Hampshire lost the ball on downs. Sullivan lost ten yards on an attempted end run, and Hobbs downed Newton in his tracks for no-gain. Sullivan was forced to punt. For New Hampshire, a forward pass, Brackett to Jenness netted 12 yards; another, Jones to Clark, made 28 yards. Woodman replaced Hobbs. New Hampshire made another costly fumble which Rhode Island again recovered. Sherwin, on an end run, gained 25 yards. Woodman stopped Sullivan for no-gain. Rhode Island was penalized 15 yards for holding. Newton finished the half with a 35 yard run round the end, placing the ball on the 15 yard line. Score—R. I. 9, N. H. 0.

Second Half.

Rhode Island kicked off. New Hampshire made first down once and then had to punt. Briden rushed through and blocked the ball just as it left Woodman's toe. There was a mad scramble, and a Rhode Island player recovered the ball on New Hampshire's 25 yard line. Sullivan and Newton were thrown for losses by Jones and Corriveau. Sullivan kicked another goal, this time from 32 yard line. New Hampshire started off well again, but fumbled, and as usual, a Rhode Island man recovered. An exchange of punts followed, leaving the ball in Rhode Island's possession on the 30 yard line. After two plays, Sherwin tore around the end for a long run and a touchdown. Sullivan failed to kick the goal. Score—R. I. 18, N. H. 0.

Fourth Period.

Rhode Island kicked off and New Hampshire rushed the ball back a short distance. An intercepted forward pass gave Rhode Island the ball in the middle of the field. Holton was injured, and Foster went in, taking left halfback, Woodman going to center, and Parker replacing Clark. A try for goal failed and Jones punted. Rhode Island carried the ball straight up the field on a series of tackle plays and over the line for a touchdown. Sullivan kicked the goal. Thompson replaced Peavey. The half ended a few minutes later. Final score—R. I. 25, N. H. 0.

"PARKERS' BOSTON IMPERIALS."

The second number of the Lecture Course will appear in Thompson Hall next Monday evening Nov. 11. It will be a concert, called "Parkers' Boston Imperials," and will include the famous soprano singer, Miss Hiltz, who traveled with Signor Victor's Italian band last year.

This number will be one of the special attractions of the course and everyone should make an effort to be there. The College Orchestra will furnish music.

DANCE AFTER THE GAME.

After the Manchester game, the New Hampshire College Orchestra will furnish music in the evening for a dance in Odd Fellows' Hall, Hanover street. Manchester High School patronesses will be present and, although the special train will not wait, it is hoped that as many as possible will remain to the affair. The subscription will be fifty cents, and tickets may be purchased in advance from C. J. Dresser.

BUGBEE CAPTAIN OF FRESHMAN TEAM.

On Thursday, Oct. 31, Ralph J. Bugbee of Claremont, N. H., was chosen captain of the freshman football team.

NEW RUNNING TRACK.

Money has been raised by the Athletic Association to build a new board track for the use of the track team. It will probably be built directly back of the gymnasium, and will be ready for use during the coming winter season.

Last year the candidates for the relay team were obliged to go to Exeter once or twice a week, in order to have a board track to run on, and the building of one in Durham will fulfill a long felt need.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE WEEKLY NEWS LETTER.

New Hampshire College feels that the rural schools of the state will find an able ally in Edward T. Fairchild, the president elect of the college. A recent editorial in the Kansas City Journal thus summarizes the reforms actually accomplished by Mr. Fairchild a uniform course of study in the rural, graded and high schools; the appropriation, by the legislature, of $75,000 toward the introduction of normal training in 130 high schools in the state; the enactment of the law that after 1907 all teachers in the rural schools must be high school graduates or the equivalent; the teaching of farming in the rural schools and preparing students to take training in agriculture and the domestic science; the minimum limit of seven months for the counter school term; the construction of 16 modern school buildings, and the consolidation of several weaker schools into one strong one.

John Powers '07, Arthur Colby '11, Miss Chesley '08, Hollie Whittemore '12, and Miss Stokes were attendants at the New Hampshire Teacher's Convention, held in Manchester last week. "Charlie" Cone '03 writes that he is as much interested in football as ever and would like to get into the game again. He is now on the road working for the General Electric Co., with headquarters in Pittsburg, Pa.

DR. F. N. SEERLEY'S LECTURE.

Last Saturday evening under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, Dr. F. N. Seerley of Springfield, Mass., delivered a very impressive lecture on "Sex and Manhood." He gave the same straight from the shoulder heart to heart talk that characterized his visit here last year. During the lecture he likened one's life to a triangle divided into several sections. At the apex was the struggle for existence, while arranged below it were some of the hungers of life; among them being the hunger for food, people, sex, reproduction, and God. In turn he showed how each was necessary for a complete life and yet at the same time how dangerous it was to let any one of them become the master.

The key note of the whole message, however, was in the duty that one owes God and his fellowmen to live a pure, normal, and well balanced life so that the qualitative standard of reproduction will ever grow higher. "This duty," he said, "is especially connected with the college men, for, forming as they do, the best group in the land the world looks for them to produce the very best in life."

All through the evening Dr. Seerley held his audience at closest attention, and there was not one who heard him but what must have obtained some good from his message.

Sunday he held short talks at the different fraternities where he got in a much closer personal touch with the men.

The Young Men's Christian Association is to be congratulated in securing such speakers as Dr. Seerley.

A DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

An enthusiastic, political rally was held in Thompson Hall on Thursday evening last. A goodly number of ardent Democrats listened to three noted speakers, Messrs Harold M. Smith of Rochester, Geo. H. Sherry of Dover, candidate for representative; and Mr. Fred Small of Rochester, candidate for Senator from 12th district.

Mr. Sherry was most certain of the election of the Democratic party and amongst other statements of worthy mention, he said: "In our last presidential election there were two great parties now—but one. He further explained the opportunity this afforded for a Democratic election this fall. Mr. Small, followed with a detailed description of the present day high cost of living which he said was well represented in the term high tariff. He stated that Ex Pres. Roosevelt had failed in his promise to cut down tariffs and was succeeded by Pres. Taft who had also made no advance in this direction. His speech met with much applause. The meeting was led by Chairman W. E. Eastman of the Wilson Club.

A few selections were rendered by the College Orchestra at the opening and closing of the meeting.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Rev. D. G. Vogt of Dover was the speaker in chapel Wed. Oct. 30. He spoke upon the "Cost of Industry."

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 6, 1912.

Rhode Island spirit again triumphs over lethargic New Hampshire. Three victories for the college from the baby state in as many years. Querimoniously the wondering student asks of the abashed football man the cause for the recent overwhelming defeat and the latter growls a non-committal reply. Critical analysis of this unwillingness to discuss the contest would indubitably reveal a loyal hesitancy to express his true feeling and such an attitude would indeed be laudable. Deep in his heart, however, there would still live the conviction of the alarming absence among New Hampshire men of real expressive college spirit.

Compare the two colleges and see wherewith the smaller one excels. Rhode Island has an enrollment of approximately 250 students; inferior facilities for athletics; a coach who is unpopular on account of inefficiency; jealousy on the football field which allows one man to quit the game because of the election of another as captain; serious problems of finance and time for practice; and many other difficulties enhancing the success of her athletic teams. New Hampshire has nearly 350 students; a good gridiron, an excellent gymnasium, ample equipment; a popular and thoroughly competent coach; no apparent personal grievances among the men; a bare sufficiency of money and too little time for practice.

What has Rhode Island in addition? Unanimous and deep rooted loyalty among the students; a willingness to express appreciation, to applaud excellence, and to criticize constructively; the reserve determination to put the ball across the line. On New Hampshire parallel these virtues? Antithesis is the poor substitute. We possess approximately fifty percent efficiency in our expression of love for our alma mater. We reservedly commend a man for his accomplishments; we reluctantly applaud an exhibition of the rarest skill; we exultantly revile existing condition without a suggestion for their improvement. We lack the vital force which wins against all odds.

The spirit of our engineers is latent; the enthusiasm of our cultured brethren is dormant; the loyalty of our farmer is too exclusively to the soil. The lethargic spirit of New Hampshire must be aroused at any cost. Stupendous is the task but inexhaustible is the potentiality of three hundred and fifty sons of our Granite State. The Method? "Start something!" Start anything and then "Don't foul and don't shirk, but hit the line hard!"

At the recent cattle-sale in Schaghticope, N. Y., New Hampshire College purchased a fine Gurnsey heifer.

A. F. McDougall, a student at the Massachusetts Agricultural college, writes to the Courier-Citizen concerning the student judging contest at the national dairy show in Chicago:

"The contest was held Friday, Oct. 25, and 14 teams were entered from as many different agricultural colleges in the country. Each team had to judge a class of bulls and a class of cows of each of the four breeds, Ayrshires, Holsteins, Guernesys and Jerseys. It was run under the auspices of the National Dairy Show association. "Massachusetts won first place in judging the Guernsey breed, and fourth place in judging all four breeds, being beaten only by Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas, in the order named. Massachusetts was beaten only by a small margin by either of the three teams. The men on the Mass. Agricultural College team were: A. R. Lundgren of Orange, J. D. French of Hyde Park, and A. F. McDougall of Westford. Winning first place in the Guernsey breed was especially gratifying because it was through the gift of F. L. Ames, a Massachusetts Guernsey breeder, that we were able to send a team to Chicago, he giving a scholarship of $50 to each of the three highest men in stock judging at the college."

ERRORS IN LAST WEEK'S ISSUE.

Several errors and omissions occurred in last week's issue of "The New Hampshire," which should be corrected.

The 2 yr '14 class officers are as follows: Pres. J. A. Dodge; Vice Pres. E. A. Paul; Sec. G. C. Bishop; Treas. W. Morat.

The Pres. of the Zeta Epsilon Zeta is E. C. Williams, and Sec., is I. W. Garland.

Also Fred C. Smith should be included on "The New Hampshire" board, and R. J. Bean on the Student Council.

Under the Kappa Sigma pledges the names C. S. Pettee '16, and L. M. Crouch '15 should be included and under Beta Phi pledges, Professors J. H. Gourley and F. W. Taylor addressed audiences in Alstead, N. H., and Whitefield, N. H., respectively last week.

More Feed Per Acre

The cost of producing meat or milk would be much less if it required less acres to produce the feed. Both the quantity and quality of the feed improve when the right plant foods are used to supplement the manure and clover. They improve enough to yield a handsome profit on the expenditure.

The right plant food includes enough in available form. Supplement the manure and phosphate with 50 to 100 pounds of Muriate of Potash, or 200 to 400 pounds of Kainit, per acre, and you will raise big corn and fine clover after the grain and at the same time improve the fertility of the soil.

Try Potash salts alone on the swamp land pasture and note the clover and good grasses crowd out the wild hay. Write us for prices of Potash, one bag up.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Cheapest As Well As Best

Every sensible person wants the best of everything, but in many things the best is beyond their means and they must necessarily be content with something less.

In the case of the Cream Separator, however, the best is fortunately the cheapest as well, and it is of the greatest importance that every buyer of a separator should know this.

Moreover, the best is of more importance in the case of the Cream Separator than in anything else, since it means a saving or a waste twice a day every day in the year for many years.

It is true that the DE LAVAL Separators cost a little more in first price than some inferior separators, but that counts for nothing against the fact that they save their cost every year over any other separator, while they last an average twenty years as compared with an average two years in the case of other separators.

And if first cost is a serious consideration a DE LAVAL machine may be bought on such liberal terms that it will actually save and pay for itself.

These are all-important facts which every buyer of a Cream Separator should understand and which every local DE LAVAL agent is glad to explain and demonstrate to the satisfaction of the intending buyer.

If you don't know the nearest DE LAVAL agent please simply address the nearest of our main offices as below.

AT THE INTERNATIONAL DAIRY SHOW SCORING WAS CLOSE

The stock judging team, which represented New Hampshire College at Chicago this year, returned last week. The team was composed of M. G. Eastman, J. E. Ladd and R. E. Batchelder, and was accompanied by Prof. O. L. Eckman.

Teams representing some of the largest institutions in the United States competed, and, although New Hampshire obtained only last place, it is gratifying to note that only about two hundred points separated the last six teams. The University of Nebraska took first place, while Ohio State University, with about four thousand students, succeeded in obtaining only Twelfth. Massachusetts, which was represented by the same team that New Hampshire easily defeated at Brockton this year, took fourth place.

Although New Hampshire's showing was not the best, it was indeed creditable, considering the high class institutions with whom it competed, and also the closeness in the scoring of all the competitors. The team was competing against men who had had several years of training along these lines; and this clearly emphasized the imperative need at New Hampshire of men trying out for the judging teams while they are yet lower classmen, in order that they may acquire the training and experience which will enable them to successfully compete with the larger institutions during their Junior and Senior years.

A number of the "Aggie" faculty took a prominent part in the eighteenth Annual Meeting of the New Hampshire Horticultural Society which was held at Alton, N. H., this week. Prof. W. H. Wolff, Prof. J. H. Gourley, Prof. David Lumsden, Prof. W. C. O'Kane, and Prof. O. F. Butler were among the list of speakers. Six of the thirteen numbers on the program relating to horticultural subjects were delivered by the New Hampshire College faculty.

John Crogan '08 is to have charge of putting up an electric plant in Delos, Texas.

Always ready to write at the first stroke without shaking.

That is a vital point which is lacking in ordinary fountain pens. You can readily understand how this is made possible in a Moore when we explain that the pen when not in use lies submerged in ink which keeps it moist and prepared for instant writing, positively eliminating the necessity of shaking.

But that is not all of its strong features. The Moore can be carried in any position without the least fear of leaking. Has a large ink capacity. Always writes freely and evenly, and is easily filled.

Does It Pay To Exaggerate?

We have been in business for a great many years and we believe we know that it does not. We never believed in selling, as you might say, $4.98 merchandise for $4.98 and calling it $10.00 value. Our stores consider a customer first and itself last—customers' needs—customers' limited purse—customers' ignorance of goods. Then gives good honest measure in every way.

We believe we understand modern merchandise, and say to each and every one of our customers, "If anything you buy at either of our two stores is not satisfactory in every way, meet us face to face and we will make it right." We believe this is the square way of conducting business, and builds onto a business year after year, no matter what its size is.
