Most Remarkable Game of Season.

What proved to be the most remarkable exhibition of football that the team has yet given this year took place on the College field October 11, when the New Hampshire eleven held Bates' husky team 7-6, the difference being failure to kick the goal.

Outweighed by at least 20 pounds to a man, and handicapped by a wet field, New Hampshire gained consistently by use of the open play, and the big Bates players were not fast enough to stop their first attack. Bates kicked off to N. H. Brackett caught the kick and ran it back for a small gain. Use of the forward pass for long gains quickly placed the oval over the line, and N. H. had the first touchdown in the first three minutes of play. The ball was wet and Woodman failed to kick the goal.

Bates stuck to the old style game, and in the second period by a series of runs gained her touchdown. T. Cobb kicked the goal.

Not until the last period did Bates again threaten our goal, when they rushed the ball to the 2-yd. line. Here they were held for downs, and N. H. rushed the ball to the 30 yd line when the whistle blew. Brackett, Westover, and Woodman starred for N. H., and Donahy for the visitors.

Under the direction of Prof. F. W. Taylor, the sophomore students in agriculture recently began their work in map making. The students were given instruction in the use of the plane table and spent the afternoon on the campus. The course fits the student to make maps of farms, determine boundary lines and other work of that nature.

FOOTBALL RALLY.

The first football rally of the year was recently held in the college chapel. Although only a little over one hundred students were present, the speaking was superb, and enthusiasm ran high among the few who were there.

Captain W. H. L. Brackett acted as chairman, and opened the meeting by a few straight forward words, which ably served their purpose. He outlined the football situation, emphasizing the need of support and then called on Prof. Richard Whoriskey to deliver a few remarks. As usual, Prof. Whoriskey delivered an appropriate address, mixed with varied amounts of humor and pathos. Prof. G. A. Ferley was then introduced. Prof. Ferley presented some startling facts, which caused all who heard them to wonder at their meaning and significance. He showed what a "little spirit" was capable of doing, and then applied the principle to the present situation.

Coach Tod Eberle was the next one to address the assembly. Tod's remarks were very opportune, and his words, so full of that inexpressible spirit of enthusiasm, thrilled the hearts of the audience with admiration and respect.

The last speaker was President E. T. Fairchild. The president gave words of encouragement by emphasizing the fact that it was not always the largest persons and heaviest teams that won. He illustrated his point by citing a number of striking tales and stories, which brought praise and laughter from the audience.

The speaking was interspersed with college songs, led by Prof. A. E. Richards and yells and cheers, led by Brackett Fernald. An individual cheer was given to each speaker, while the singing was accompanied by music from the college orchestra.

MEETING OF THE FRESHMEN.

At the meeting of the class of 1917 called in order to elect football and basketball managers, more interest was shown than at any previous meeting. R. C. Wiggin was elected football manager and W. I. Brown basketball manager. As a large number of challenges have been received, a good football schedule is expected. The class voted to buy the rope, with which they pulled the sophomores across Oyster River. A vote of thanks was extended to President Harriman for his leadership in the successful class picture.

FRESHMAN CLASS PICTURE.

The Freshman made a successful departure for Dover Friday morning for the annual class photograph. Of the seventy-five or more male students of the class, only two were captured by the sophomores. The girls arrived in Dover on the 8.10 train and the class met at the city hall, where they had a group picture taken. After the picture the majority of the students returned to Durham, in order to be present at the class meeting.

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

Miss R. R. Rowan was the chapel speaker Wednesday and her subject was Temperance. Miss Rowan is touring New Hampshire and accepted Pres. Fairchild's invitation to address the student body.

TRUSTEES OF COLLEGE MEET AT DURHAM. REPORT OF MEETING.

Acting on an application made by the fraternities here, the trustees have voted that the college may lease land to student fraternities, on which the organizations may build.

The college has heretofore been unable to assist those wishing to buy land, as selling college land is distinctly prohibited by a clause in the will of Benjamin Thompson, who gave New Hampshire College the land it uses. The long time lease will enable the institution to assist student organizations when such assistance seems wise.

It is expected that the trustees will soon extend the leasing privilege to members of the faculty. There is practically no land suitable for home building in the village of Durham which is for sale, and there seems to be no probability that this situation will be altered for years to come. A result is that the existing houses are all occupied and those members of the faculty who are ready to build homes here are unable to do so unless the college is allowed to lease land.

The trustees have approved the election by the alumni of Edward H. Wason, of Nashua, N. H., as alumni trustee, and have voted that Director John C. Kendall of the experiment station be a member of the college faculty. This is the first time that a station director has been on the faculty of the college.

The trustees also adopted the following resolutions on the death of Albert DeMeritt:

Resolved That in the untimely death of Albert DeMeritt, Esquire, of Durham, N. H., the New Hampshire College has lost a strong friend and willing helper, who has always worked untiringly to promote the interests of this college.

That as a citizen of Durham he was the acknowledged leader in all that pertained to its best interests. He was also foremost in bringing about the consolidation of the college, town and Durham Library Association libraries.

That as a legislator and member of the standing committee on the New Hampshire College in 1911, and as a member of the House Committee on Appropriations in 1913, he exerted a great influence in securing an appropriation of $80,000. for the engineering building, besides appropriations for the running expenses of our college.

ORCHESTRA TEAM MAKES TRIP.

The five piece team from the College Orchestra journeyed to Exeter last Wednesday evening, on a second trip of a series, which they intend to make during the coming season. After playing at a dance, they returned home at a late hour.

On October 14th and 15th Professor Cardullo delivered two lectures for the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration on Power Plant and other equipment. The lectures were illustrated by nearly 100 slides as well as by some interesting problems in the cost of power, value of second hand equipment, etc.

GOV. FELKER RECENTLY MADE A TWENTY-FOUR HOUR STAY IN DURHAM.

The governor was the guest of President E. T. Fairchild while here and came to attend the meeting of the board of trustees of the college. He spoke at chapel and gave the school his hearty endorsement and prophesied a successful future. In the afternoon he made a thorough inspection of the buildings and went over the farm and through the college woods. Nahum J. Bachelder, former governor, was also present at the meeting.

A call was issued Wednesday by Manager Wiggin to candidates for the freshman football team. A short meeting was held at the gym, where the men were given instructions. About thirty candidates reported and they were put through a series of signal practise.

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Oct. 16:—The second annual orchard day will be held in Durham, October 30. There will be talks on orchard work by members of the New Hampshire College faculty and orchardists of experience will tell what they do to produce high grade apples in New Hampshire.

There will be an exhibit of fine fruit. Many individuals have announced their intention of showing apples and there has been a gratifying response on the part of the granges to the invitation of Director John C. Kendall to take part. Several will send collections of fruit.

Already the room intended for the exhibition is manifestly too small and the college gymnasium will probably have to be called into service.

Among the interesting features will be a demonstration in apple packing by Professor Wolff, who will show the methods in use by the orchardists of the Pacific Northwest who ship their apples in boxes exclusively.

Mr. W. E. Stokes, of the agronomy department of New Hampshire College, is now harvesting an unusually heavy and uniform crop of potatoes from some plants on the college farm. One of Mr. Stokes' potatoes is a monster. It weighs two pounds and from a central bulb eight others branch out.

The members of the agricultural committee of the Amoskeag Textile Club of Manchester, N. H., visited the college yesterday and were shown over the grounds and buildings by Mr. David Lumsden, of the department of horticulture.

Mr. Lumsden, at a lecture given in Manchester last winter, started the garden movement for children of employees of the Amoskeag Corporation. These gardens have just come through their first season and have been so successful that the big corporation finds itself hard pressed for land with which to supply the applicants for plots.

The delegates, headed by F. R. Vose, chairman of the committee, expressed themselves as much pleased with what they saw here.

RECITAL IN THOMPSON HALL.

Next Friday evening a recital will be given by L. E. Lewis and the N. H. C. orchestra. The concert will include mandolin, guitar, and banjo music and undergraduate singing. Admission will be free. Please bring song books.

DURHAM, N. H., OCT. 22, 1913.

We cannot all be gridiron stars, neither can we all be heroes of the diamond or cinder path, but there is one thing which is within the power of every student of New Hampshire College:—that is, to reveal our college spirit, which should be in every loyal undergraduate, and manifest that spirit with the proper amount of enthusiasm and demonstration.

With a football team fighting its hardest and giving its very best that they may uphold the glory of their alma mater, does it not seem that the least the student body can do is to render its heartiest support by showing that they are behind the team and are eager to do all in their power to bring them to victory? The spirit which the students of the college have manifested in supporting the men, who are on the field, during the early weeks of the present collegiate year is far from commendable. With nearly four hundred students enrolled, slightly over a hundred attended the football rally recently held in the chapel. As one of the speakers ably expressed it, the spirit was not lacking but it was dormant. What good can any amount of college spirit be if it is not expressed by some outward form of demonstration? It is the outer acts of enthusiasm which instills fight and courage into the hearts of the players; and the degree of spirit, manifested in this way, is a most important factor in determining, the efficiency and number of victories, acquired by any team.

Every student in New Hampshire College should consider it not only a duty but a great privilege of the opportunity of cheering and supporting the college teams in every possible way. When every student in the college regards the situation in this light, a new era will have taken place at this institution, and the athletic problem will be practically solved.

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Oct. 9:—President E. T. Fairchild went to Boston recently where he attended the luncheon given by the Boston Chamber of Commerce to James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad. Dr. G. E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, Joseph Chapman, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and Education of the American Bankers' Association, and Sam Lettis, of Lettis County, Missouri, were the other guests of honor.

The gathering was planned to give new impetus to the development of New England's agricultural resources, and all prominent in agricultural work in these states were invited to hear the Great Northern head tell what he had done at empire building in the Northwest.

OF INTEREST TO ALUMNI AND STUDENTS.

Dear Sir:—
 As chairman of the N. H. '09 class gift committee and thus directly interested in the trophy room and cases at the gym, I would like to make use of a small space in the New Hampshire to say a few words to the Alumni and student body. Returning to New Hampshire this autumn found the trophy room and cases still ready for all our footballs, baseballs and other trophies of an athletic nature, but that only a very small percentage of the same had been collected, lettered and placed in the room. Therefore I would urge the Alumni, if they have monuments of our victories or if they know where any momentos are, to make a special effort to to get them at once to the college.

I would also suggest to the student body or athletic association that a committee be elected or appointed to take direct charge of collecting trophies from former and present captains and managers and of seeing that they were properly lettered and well arranged in the room. The trophy room, as it is, is a great thing for the college but a great deal more might be made of it. This is a matter the importance of which perhaps does not appeal to every student of the institution now, but in later years when he returns to the college its force and significance will be apparent. With the cases filled with trophies which we have won and an increasing number of them coming in every year, as is bound to happen, we shall soon have a trophy room which will be a pride to the college and a great advertisement to every visiting prospective student. We have a small college it is true but let us take advantage of what we now have and our college will grow to be as prominent in all things as it now is in some things.

Thanking you for this space and past favors I am very truly yours,
 Dana Kennedy, '09.

Prof. Woolf judged at the exhibit of fruit and vegetables held in the town of Derry, Oct. 1st and reports having found a most creditable showing. The quality of the fruits surpassed those of many of the larger county shows. Prof. Woolf believes this advance is due in part, at least, to the extension work done by the horticultural department in that town and also the live interest the citizens are taking in the work the college is doing for them. Derry is apparently among the leading towns of the state in its appreciation of the invitation our extension department is making to every town that is willing to show an interest in some of the various lines of agriculture. The 1915 two year class in horticulture have been judging and grading vegetables for exhibition and market.

President E. T. Fairchild left Durham last Thursday on a trip through the state which covered several days. His first stop was North Conway, where he spoke before the Pomona grange.

The next night, October 16th, he was present at the meeting of the Schoolmasters' Club at Concord, the first meeting he has attended. He spoke briefly there on the relations of the New Hampshire College to the schools of the state. Other members of the college faculty who were present are Professors Richard Whoriskey, of the department of modern languages; Fred Rasmussen, dairying; E. R. Groves, sociology, and Frank C. Moore, mathematics.

Saturday afternoon President Fairchild addressed the Woman's Club of Peterborough on some phase of educational work.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Are equipped with a perfect oiling system

In a machine which is operated at the speed required for a cream separator perfect oiling is very necessary.

The new system of De Laval automatic oiling provides for a constant and liberal supply of CLEAN oil to every wearing surface of the machine at all times. There are no oil holes to fill up with dirt or perhaps to be neglected altogether, and every part is supplied with clean oil from the oil reservoir automatically and constantly.

In other, so-called, automatic oiling systems some of the parts have to be oiled by hand and no provision is made for getting rid of dirt that may get into the oil from the outside or of small particles of metal that come from wear, so that after a short time the oil supply becomes foul and injurious to the finely adjusted wearing parts.

have the only automatic oiling system which provides for a constant supply of fresh oil and at same time the constant discharge of the used oil together with all worn metal particles or dirt which may have gotten into the used oil.

The perfect system of De Laval lubrication means an easier running and a much longer wearing machine. Visit the local De Laval agent and ask him to explain the advantages of De Laval automatic oiling.

The new 72-page De Laval Dairy Hand Book, in which important dairy questions are ably discussed by the best authorities, is a book that every cow owner should have. Mailed free upon request if you mention this paper. New 1913 De Laval catalog also mailed upon request. Write to nearest office.

President E. T. Fairchild, who is vice president for New Hampshire of the National Conservation Congress, said today that the Congress has arranged to establish an organization in every state, for the first time in the history of the conservation movement. The state organizations are to be under the direction of the Congress and are being formed under a policy that will give powerful impetus to the work of the national body. Plans have been made for nation-wide activity by the state organizations prior to the fifth session of the Congress, which is called to meet in Washington, November 18, 19 and 20.

Through the machinery thus created the Congress expects to be able to set in motion the various stated concrete plans for putting into practical effect the conservation principles for which the Congress stands. Heretofore the Congress has contented itself for the most part with working up public sentiment through its annual meetings. In this it has been highly successful. Each of the four great annual meetings of the body has had a noticeable effect on sentiment and legislation.

The Congress is already powerful in its function as a clearing house among the state conservation commissions and the conservation committees of various national organizations. Through these, and particularly the latter, it has been able to exert great influence. President Charles Lathrop Pack feels that its scope should become still broader. To this end he has caused the state organizations to be perfected. Each state organization will consist primarily of a state vice president and a state secretary. The secretary for New Hampshire is Philip W. Ayres, of Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin G. Hall announce the marriage of their daughter, Olive Marie to Mr. Guy Chester Robinson [ex-2 yr. '13] on Tuesday the seventeenth day of October one thousand nine hundred thirteen, Marlboro New Hampshire.

The Universal Pet.

Everybody must have a pet. If you haven't a baby, you must at least own a dog. If it isn't a dog, it may be a cat or a kitten. In other lands it may be a monkey. I have even known of those who have alligators as pets—little ones, of course. Perhaps this explains why, on a single Sunday, 40,000 men, women and children, principally children, will flock into the Zoological garden at Bronx park in the northern part of New York city. This may explain, too, why, in a single calendar year nearly one million and a half visitors at the park take time—and do it with pleasure—to visit what is known as the finest zoological exhibit as well as the largest in the world.—Harriet Quimby, in Leslie's.

Picked Up Here and There.

"It's a shame the way they crowd these cars. The passengers should rise up and insist on getting a chance to sit down."

"You may send me up the complete work of Shakespeare, Goethe and Emerson—also something to read."

"I'd like to dance and I should dance, only the music puts me out and the girl gets in my way."

"Yes, her husband robbed her of every cent she had—and just think, she only married him because she was afraid of burglars!"

"Hello! Is this the butcher? Well, you may send me up a roast of beef, and remember, please, butcher, to have it rare. That's the only way my husband can eat it."—Boston Transcript.

CONVOCATION EXERCISES.

A short time ago at the convocation exercises, some of the trustees of the college delivered a few remarks to the student body. As the governing board of the college were assembled here in their semi-annual gathering. President Fairchild endeavored to secure their services, as speakers. He succeeded in obtaining Governor Samuel D. Felker and Hon. H. L. Boutwell to respond with a few interesting and helpful words.

After the routine exercises and preliminary remarks by the president, Gov. Felker was introduced. He spoke in the highest terms of the work of the institution, and lauded the advantages and privileges of the college with words of praise and admiration. He also spoke of the tremendous growth of New Hampshire College and emphasized the possibilities which it might attain with proper support, which he sincerely believed was forthcoming.

After the round of applause had subsided, Hon. H. L. Boutwell responded to the president's call for speakers. Mr. Boutwell, who is one of the alumni trustees of the college, compared the institution at the present time with the time when he attended it at Hanover. He expressed his delight in the growth of the college, and said that it was the duty of all alumni to do all in their power in promoting the progress and welfare of New Hampshire College, and in repaying the debt which they owed their alma mater.

Dean C. H. Pettee said this afternoon that in all his study of meteorology of a quarter of a century he had never seen a storm of the sort that visited this section Tuesday.

There was rain, hail and snow and it was driven along by a northwest wind. This wind is the fair weather wind. While showers come with it at times, nothing prolonged does, says the dean. This storm, contrary to all rule, has at this writing continued for four hours.

They Want Better Milk.

If you ask any Dairy Inspector what to use for cleaning dairy utensils he will say

His mind is set upon bettering milk quality and he knows the cleanliness produced by Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser is just the kind necessary to protect milk quality from germs, odors or dirt.

And for the creamery and cheese factory all inspectors advise Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser because the last step of the dairy producing business is quite as important as the first, and "Wyandotte" keeps the butter and cheese utensils thoroughly sweet and sanitary.

This "Wyandotte" cleanliness cannot be duplicated by any other cleaning agent, otherwise Dairy Inspectors and Agricultural College Authorities would not recommend it exclusively. "Wyandotte" is made purposely for dairy cleaning and that is why no grease, soapy substances, or strong chemicals are found in it.

You will find it most satisfactory, as well as the most economical cleaning material to use. Ask your dealer for a sack or write your supply house for a keg or barrel.
