DURHAM, NH – Kelly Ayotte and Bill Binnie continue to lead the Republican field against Democrat Paul Hodes in the race for the US Senate seat from New Hampshire. However, the electorate remains very fluid and only 15% say they have definitely decided who they will support.

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll,* conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred four (504) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by telephone between July 19 and July 27, 2010. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.4 percent. Included was a subsample of 453 likely 2010 general election voters (margin of sampling error +/-4.6%).

2010 U.S. Senate Race

The New Hampshire Senate seat continues to be one of the most closely watched in the country and campaign activity has been increasing as the September 14th primary approaches. Both Republicans and Democrats see this seat as critical and are investing heavily. Second District Congressman Paul Hodes is giving up his seat in Congress to run for the Senate against four Republicans; former Attorney General Kelly Ayotte, Manchester attorney and former gubernatorial candidate Ovide Lamontagne, and businessmen Bill Binnie and Jim Bender.

But it is summertime, and most voters are more interested in their vacations and baseball than they are in the Senate race. Only 15% say they have definitely decided who they plan to vote for, 19% say they are leaning toward a candidate, and 66% say they have considered some candidates, but are still trying to decide who to support.

It is not surprising that Republicans and Independents would be undecided about who they will back, but even 58% of Democrats say are undecided about who they will support.

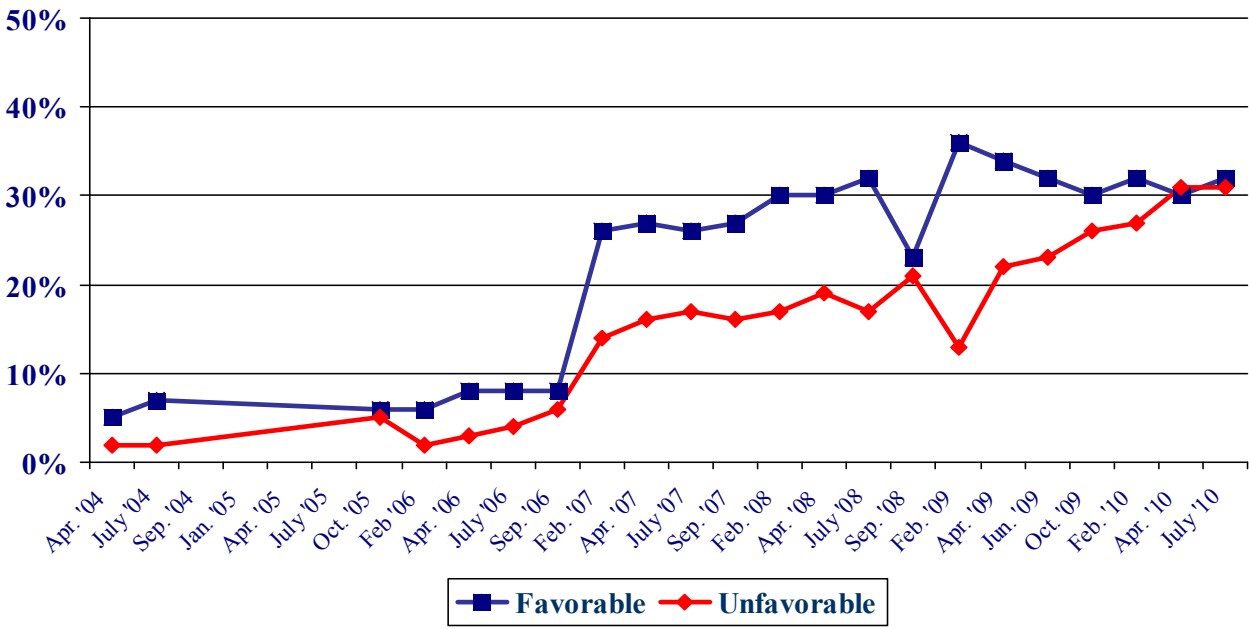

Favorability Ratings of Senate Candidates

Paul Hodes remains unpopular in the Granite State. Currently, only 32% of Granite Staters have a favorable opinion of Hodes, 31% have an unfavorable opinion, 8% are neutral, and 29% don't know enough about him to say. Hodes' net favorability rating, the percentage having a favorable opinion minus the percentage having an unfavorable opinion, is +1%, down from and has been below +10% since June 2009.

“Hodes has had low favorability ratings for some time now and this has affected how he runs his campaign,” said Andrew Smith, Director of the UNH Survey Center. “Because it is difficult to improve his own popularity in a short period of time, he is working to lessen the popularity of his Republican opponents, especially Kelly Ayotte.”

Favorability Ratings – Paul Hodes Statewide

Hodes strategy appears to be working as unfavorable ratings for former New Hampshire Attorney General Kelly Ayotte have more than doubled since April. In the most recent Granite State Poll, 36% of New Hampshire adults have a favorable opinion of Ayotte, 27% have an unfavorable opinion of her, 7% are neutral, and 30% don't know enough about her to say. Ayotte's net favorability is only +9%, down from +25% in April and from +37% a year ago.

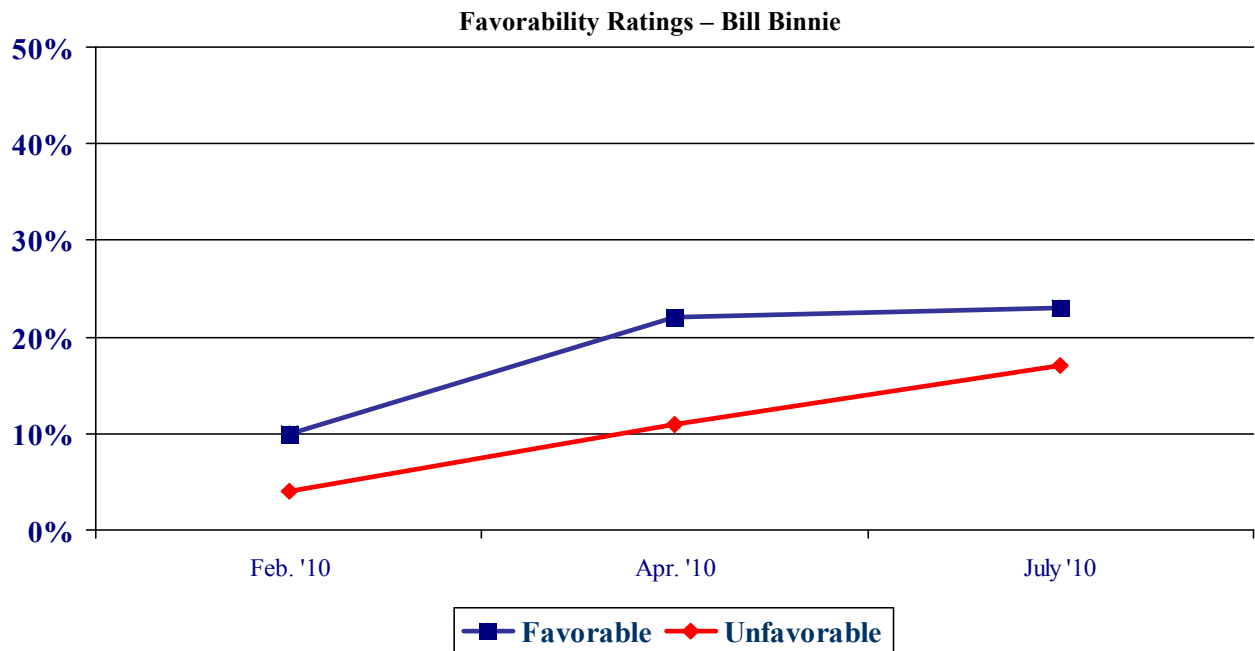

Ayotte's decline in favorability rating has largely come from Democrats. Currently, Ayotte has a -22% favorability rating among Democrats, down from +2% in April. Her net favorability rating among Republicans has declined slightly, from +48% to +40%, and she has had seen somewhat sharper decline among Independents, from +30% to +18%.

Favorability Ratings – Kelly Ayotte Statewide

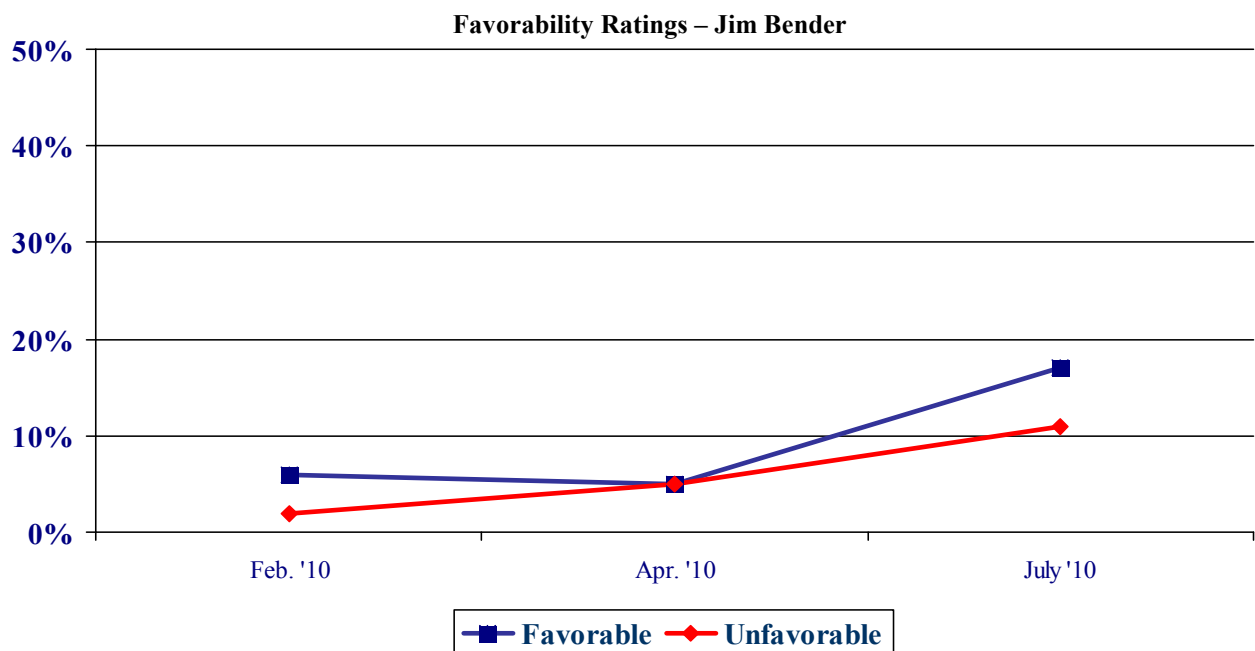

Businessmen Bill Binnie has invested heavily in both print and broadcast media, but this strategy is not yet visible in his favorability ratings. Currently, 23% have a favorable opinion of Binnie, 17% have an unfavorable opinion of him, 7% are neutral, and 53% don't know enough about him to say. Binnie's net favorability is +6%, down slightly from +11% in April.

Among Republicans, Binnie's net favorability rating is currently +30%, unchanged from April when it stood at +31%.

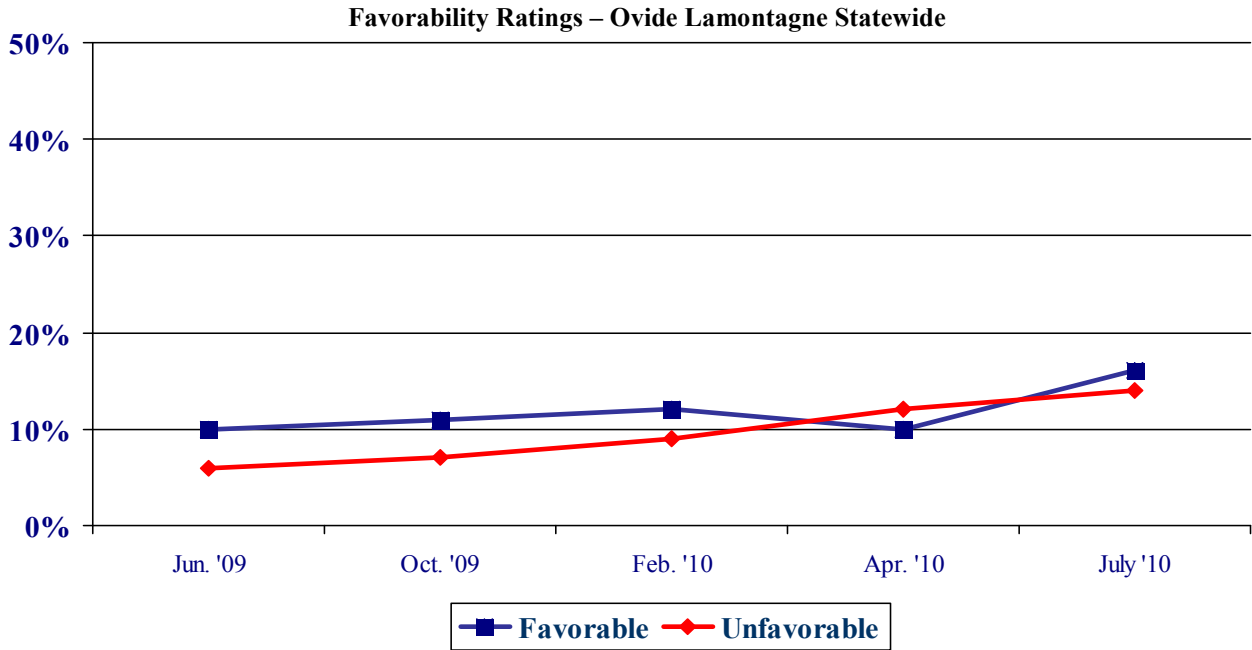

Hollis businessman Jim Bender has also been advertising on television and his name recognition has climbed in recent months. Currently, 17% of Granite Staters have a favorable opinion of Bender, 11% have an unfavorable opinion, 4% are neutral, and 68% don't know enough about him to say. Bender's net favorability rating is +6%, up from 0% in April.

Bender's favorability ratings among Republicans, all important for the September primary, have jumped in recent months. In April, only 7% of Republicans had a favorable opinion of Bender while 28% have a favorable opinion of him in the latest Granite State Poll.

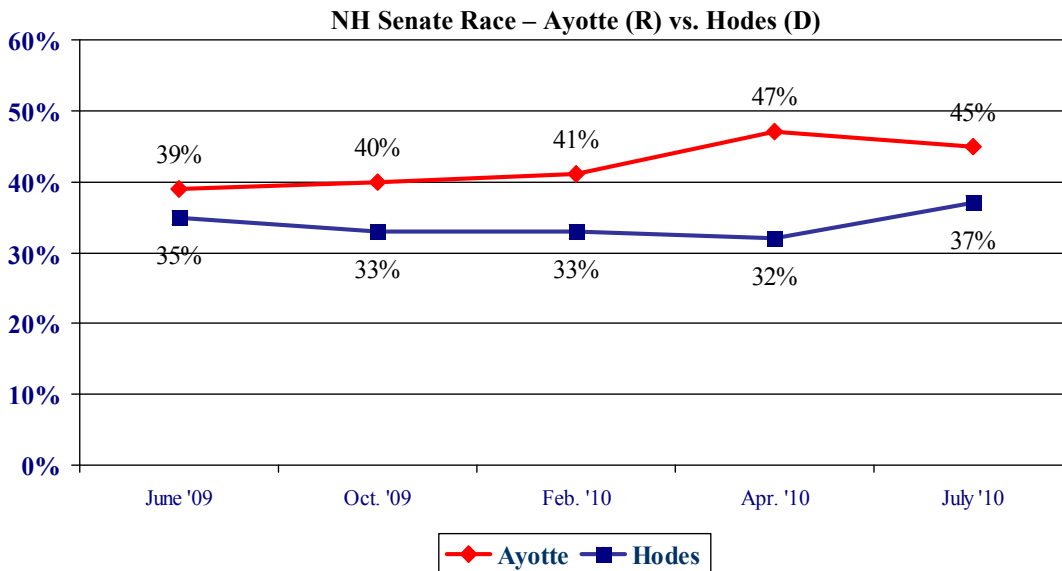

Manchester attorney Ovide Lamontagne remains largely unknown across the state -- 16% of New Hampshire adults have a favorable opinion of him, 14% have an unfavorable opinion, 6% are neutral, and 65% don't know enough about him to say. Lamontagne's net favorability rating is +2%, up from -2% in April.

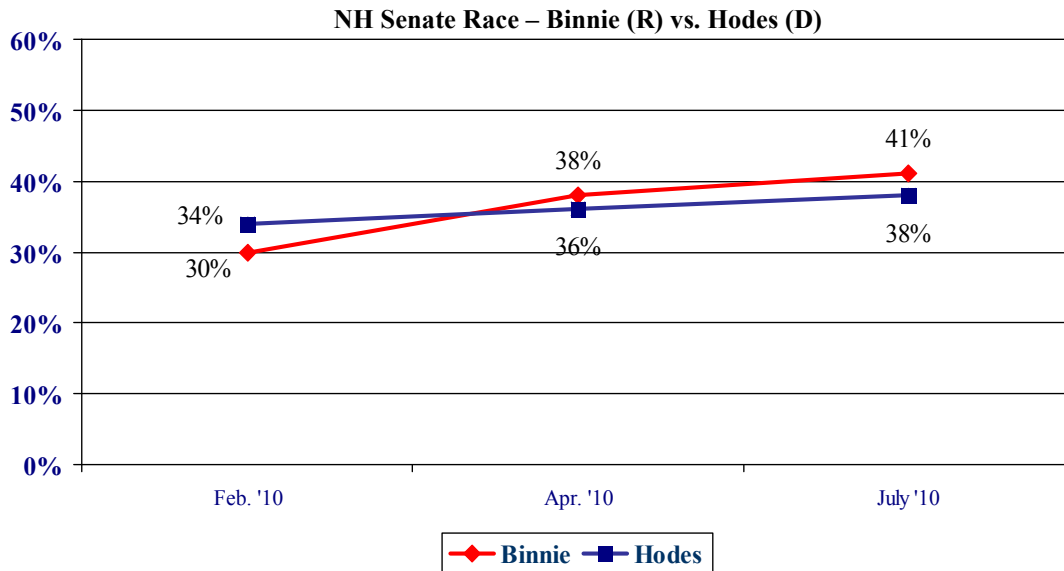

Senate Trial Heats

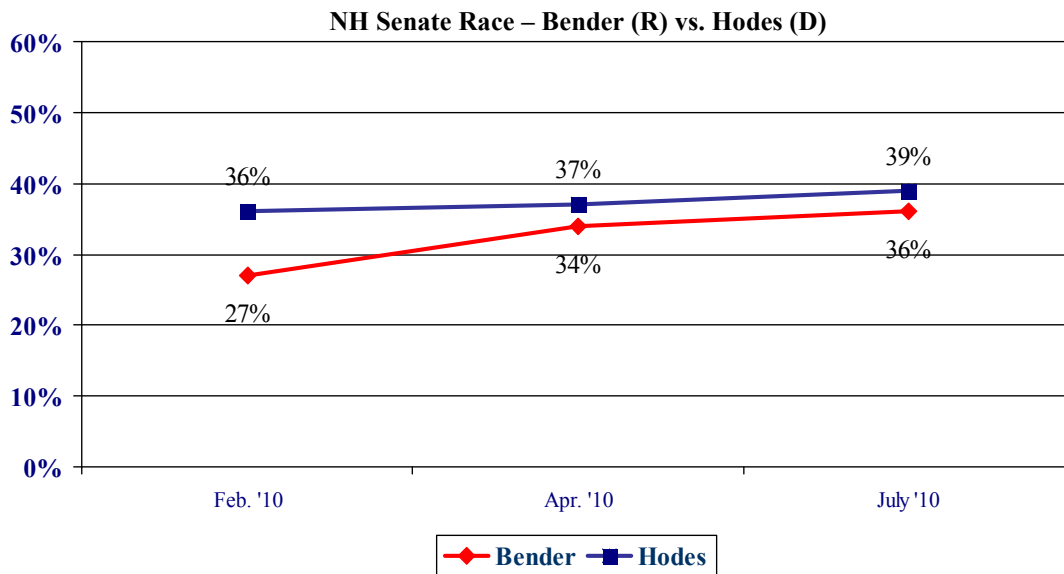

Ayotte continues to be the strongest Republican in a race with Hodes but her lead has narrowed in the latest Granite State Poll. In a hypothetical matchup between Hodes and Ayotte, 45% of New Hampshire likely voters say they would vote for Ayotte, 37% would back Hodes, 1% back some other candidate and 17% are undecided. Hodes has narrowed this gap largely by bringing Democrats back to him. Currently, 72% of Democrats say they would vote for Hodes against Ayotte, up from 65% in April. Ayotte has continued to lead among political independents by 45% to 19%, essentially unchanged since April when she led by 44% to 23%.

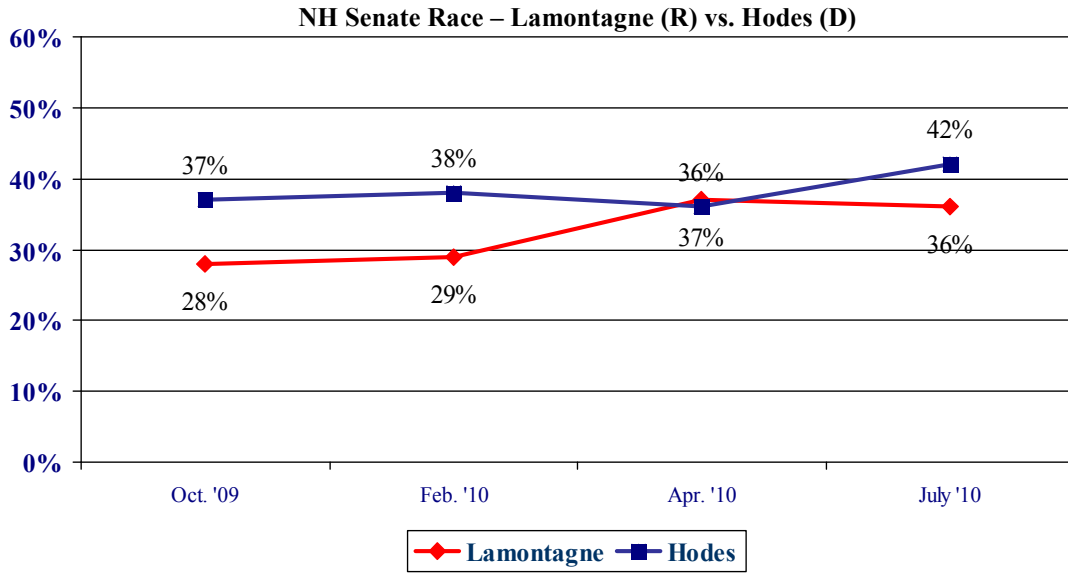

Businessman Bill Binnie has also maintained a slight lead over Hodes since April. Currently, 41% of likely voters say they will vote for Binnie, 38% prefer Hodes, and 21% are undecided. Binnie leads among Independents by 40% to 21%.

Jim Bender, the least known GOP candidate, continues to narrowly trail Hodes. In a Hodes, Bender matchup, 39% of likely voters say they will vote for Hodes, 36% prefer Bender, and 25% are undecided. Bender, like other Republicans, also leads Hodes among Independents, by a narrow 31% to 24% margin.

Manchester attorney Ovide Lamontagne fares worst among Republicans against Hodes – 42% of likely voters say they would vote for Hodes, 36% would vote for Lamontagne, 1% prefer some other candidate and 21% are undecided.

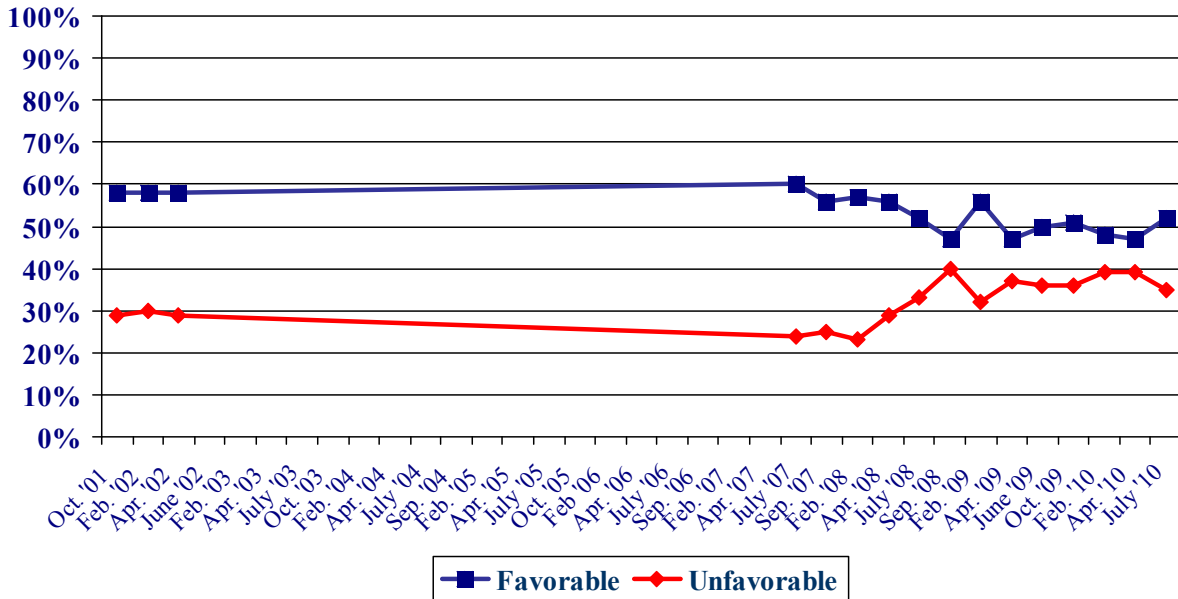

Favorability Ratings – Jeanne Shaheen

Senator Jeanne Shaheen has remained largely out of the political limelight and her popularity has improved slightly. In the most recent Granite State Poll, 52% of New Hampshire adults view her favorably, 35% view her unfavorably, and 14% are neutral or don't know enough about her to say. Shaheen's net favorability rating is +17%, up from +8% in April.

Shaheen is viewed very favorably by Democrats (net +76%), favorably by Independents (net +18%), but very unfavorably by Republicans (net -52%).

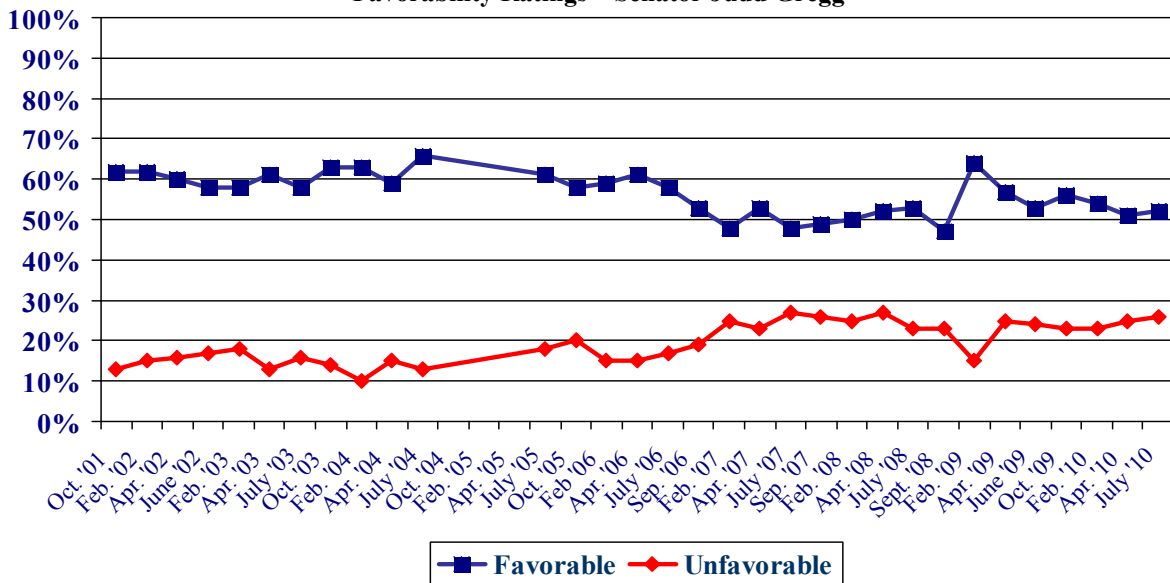

Favorability Ratings – Jeanne Shaheen

Favorability Ratings – Senator Judd Gregg

In his final months in office, Republican Senator Judd Gregg is still popular in the Granite State. Currently, 52% of New Hampshire residents have a favorable opinion of Gregg, 26% have an unfavorable opinion of him, and 22% are neutral or don't know enough about him to say. Gregg's net favorability rating is +26%, unchanged since April. Gregg is viewed very favorably by Republicans (net +65%) and by Independents (net +26%), and somewhat unfavorably by Democrats (net -6%).

Favorability Ratings – Senator Judd Gregg

These findings are based on the latest WMUR Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Five hundred four (504) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by telephone between July 19 and July 27, 2010. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.4 percent. Included was a subsample of 453 likely 2010 general election voters (margin of sampling error +/-4.6%). The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response.
